Open Letter To Malenkov

If We Annex Hawaii Maybe Hula Hula Dancers Will Be Elected To Congress

Although members of Congress have sometimes taken collective action which inspired the strong suspicion that when God was distributing brains, they ducked their heads, we cannot believe that the bill to make an Asiatic colony the forty-ninth State of the American Union, will be passed.

This measure has already been adopted by the House but the Senate is traditionally regarded as the safety brake to protect the Lower House from its own folly. In fact, it is conceded that the House often passes a bill which its members know to be unwise with the almost certain assurance that the Senate will defeat it and take them off the hook.

In the interest of all Americans, we sincerely hope that the Senate comes to the rescue in the matter of the Hawaiian Statehood bill and snuffs it under.

How thinking persons could have ever evolved the plan for annexing an Oriental territory to the Continental United States in the first place, defies comprehension.

The rumor persists that the plan was born when a committee of middle-aged Washington officials once made an inspection trip to Honolulu and that the promise of Statehood was exacted of them by members of a group of Hula Hula dancers who were their gay companions on some enchanted evenings.

Well, if this is true, perhaps it sounded like a good idea at the time.

But we submit that the white sands on the beach at Waikiki, with a pale Hawaiian moon blending its intoxicating rays with the soft and haunting strains of Aloha, is hardly the proper setting for commitments on legislation vitally affecting the interests and security of one hundred and sixty million citizens of this Republic.

After all, the majority of Americans have never been to Honolulu, have never witnessed, at first-hand, the contortions of an Island charmer in action, and can't be expected to understand, accept or approve the bizarre aftermath of a midsummer night's madness.

Those members of the Senate who have never been exposed to the seductive lobbying tactics of dusky maidens clad only in garlands of orchids, white ginger leis and shimmering grass skirts, should consider the plain, unromantic and practical reasons why the annexation of Hawaii would constitute a national tragedy.

The people of Hawaii, two thousand miles away from our mainland, have nothing in common with the principles of the American Republic. Ethnically, culturally and ideologically, their hearts belong to the Orient.

Haven't we got enough persons here now whose conception of government and economics is based on the ideals of lands across the ocean from which they came?

Harry Bridges, with his twenty thousand card-carrying Communists, is the dominant figure in the Islands and if our Supreme Court is unable to rule him out of the United States, how can we expect to oust him from his Communist Paradise by annexing his dominion?

Out of the total population in Hawaii of 450,000, only 68,600 are white, the balance being Chinese, Japanese and various other mixtures of Asiatic stock.

With all the trouble we are having now, with politicians falling all over their own feet to favor racial minority groups, for heaven's sake, it seems nothing less than suicidal to add almost a half million more non-whites to contribute to our national headache.

If there just must be swapping of alien groups between Hawaii and the United States, why not send some of ours over there?

In other words, why not rig up a substitute bill which would give New York and California to the Hawaiians and, thus, instead of taking over their undesirable aliens, we could unload some of ours on them.

We concede the astounding success of the Kremlin in bending weak leaders of strong nations to its iron will and subverting them to its evil designs. We recognize the amazing progress you have made toward the ideological subjugation of many countries, including our own. We acknowledge your proved power in the past to influence American legislation, to sway Supreme Court decisions and to dictate official action in the White House. But we warn you that there is a swelling tide of resentment on the part of plain Americans against Soviet dictation of the economic and social policies of the United States. Remembering as we do, that only thirty thousand organized Bolsheviki were able to physically overthrow the great Russian Empire and realizing that many times that number are presently operating here to effect the moral, spiritual and political conquest of this country, we would remind you that millions of patriotic Americans are now alerted to the danger and are resolved to exert every resource to save the Republic from this fate.

TO GEORGI MALENKOV, THE KREMLIN, MOSCOW:

As we step through the open door of 1954, we are moved to hail you—not for any humanitarian achievements you have accomplished, for there are none to your credit.

We acclaim you for adhering, without deviation, to the one sure and certain policy which renders a nation strong and invulnerable and that is its determination to preserve, through hell and high water, its own form of government, without concession to foreign elements which seek to change or emasculate it.

By every accepted standard of civilized humanity, yours is the vilest and most despotic system of government ever conceived by sinister and twisted minds for keeping the human spirit in bondage.

Your leaders are universally recognized as heartless assassins to whom the qualities of mercy, compassion and justice are unknown but, at least, you have kept your own particular type of government intact and have preserved your chosen way of life from violation by foreign forces.

For this, and this alone, we salute you.

Here in the United States, we have not been so fortunate.

In contradistinction to you, we have not only been unable to convert other countries to our good, sound Free Enterprise system of government, but we have allowed alien enemies to swarm in and practically destroy it.

With a vicious governing system instituted by human fiends, you have managed to preserve it; with a perfect governing system devised by dedicated patriots, we are gradually managing to lose it.

In your case, for instance, we have fawned, kowtowed and toadied in attempts to placate and appease you. We have humiliated ourselves and sacrificed our national pride in futile efforts to convert you from the ways of barbarism to those of civilization but we have not made a dent in your armor.

On the other hand, without ever leaving your impregnable Kremlin fortress, you have been able—through your hundreds of thousands of emissaries here—to bring about the abandonment of our fundamental American principles, the repudiation of our cherished tradi-

Millions of Americans Think It-The Southern Conservative Says It

Stealing From Government Agency Was As Easy As Taking Candy From A Baby

Americans Resent Official Vulgarly and Personal Bad Taste Displayed By Leaders

Recently we have learned more of the nauseating details of the big counterfeiting plot of several years ago in which representatives of the American government were the participants and Russia the beneficiary.

Russian agents in Washington government agencies were as thick as fleas on a sharecropper's coon dog and one of them in the Treasury Department stole plates out of the Bureau of Printing and Engraving and calmly turned them over to the Kremlin.

The Russians printed tons of money from these plates, even though we had generously donated $11,000,000 to them as a gift. Being natural-born thieves and cut-throats, they preferred stealing the plates and counterfeiting the money to having it given them outright.

The plates were taken during the time the Treasury was in charge of an outstanding dim-wit who would not have known what was going on even if the Russians had decided to remove his trousers along with the plates.

Another stuffed-shirt Socialist followed this muddle-head in that office but if he discovered the theft of the plates, he kept still about it in order that the American people might not be informed of the manner in which the Russians exploited us under Roosevelt and Truman.

It was many years later that this information was flushed out and even yet all the facts in connection with the infamous transaction are being dragged out piece-meal.

As the over-all picture of treason develops, it staggers the imagination to contemplate the stupidity and ineptness of American officials who were responsible for the security and protection of American interests and who bungled the job outrageously.

Those same sinister forces who were working for our betrayal during the Roosevelt and Truman regimes are no less active now and it is up to the American people to do sentinel duty against a repetition of the inglorious history of the past twenty years.

Not only must Communist spies be removed from government agencies where, in the past, they have stolen us deaf, dumb and blind, but the citizenship must exercise extra precaution to insure that, in future, policies adopted by our national leaders are not prepared and shipped here, ready-made, from Moscow.

Prime Minister D. F. Malan of South Africa in an address to their Nationalist Party recently said that "the United Nations is a failure—a cancer eating at the peace and tranquility of the world." Then he added this timely warning: "Unless the United Nations is radically reformed, it should disappear from the face of the earth."

Another Methodist Bishop Who Runs True To Form

Methodist Bishop William C. Martin, president of the National Council of Churches, addressed some sort of gathering in Washington recently and deplored "unwarranted and irresponsible attacks upon the good name of men who have been assigned by their churches to places of leadership."

Dr. Martin is wrong. No one has made any attack, unwarranted, irresponsible or otherwise, upon the type of minister he mentions.

Attacks have very properly been made on pink preachers who are playing the Communists' game and bringing discredit to the church and disgrace to themselves by peddling the Party Line from the pulpit.

"If I were a Communist agent in this country with an unlimited expense account for the promotion of my nefarious work," continued the Bishop, "I would spend the major portion of my time and money in undermining the confidence of the Christian layman in his church and the leaders of his church."

The answer to that is that the type of minister under attack is a Communist agent doing nefarious work and he has an unlimited expense account contributed by his congregation. He may not know he is a Communist agent, but the time has come to separate the sheep from the goats and those who defend Communists and oppose American patriots seeking to expose Communist traitors, are a more effective agent for the Kremlin than those sent out by Moscow.

Confidence in the church and its leaders is being undermined all right but it is the Communist sympathizers in church leadership who are doing the job of undermining.

The survival of the American Republic depends on the passage of the Bricker Amendment by the Congress of the United States.

From a woman subscriber in Seattle: "I always get a kick out of the way you needle Washington politicians but I don't understand how you know so many angles since you are not in Washington. Surely, you don't get your inspiration for your editorials from the newspapers. How on earth do you always know what politicians are doing?" We don't, but neither do they.

In the 1920's, the United States was afflicted with an evil and malignant growth which sprang up in mushroom proportions and spread all over the country.

It was called the Ku Klux Klan—an honorable name it had stolen from an earlier Southern group—and it was able to enlist hundreds of thousands of persons under its banner, principally from among the clergy and Protestant church members in all states of the Union.

It was a despicable, politically inspired movement whose objective was to humiliate, browbeat and intimidate minority groups because of their race or religion, and to control elections and elect and keep in office its own members, to the exclusion of all others.

For years it thrived and prospered, fed by bigotry, prejudice and intolerance, but even at the peak of its evil achievements, no high public official representing the American people would have dared appear openly at one of its meetings.

Even its own members did not attend without first hiding their faces behind bed sheets.

If a president of the United States and members of the Supreme Court had been photographed while attending a banquet of the Ku Klux Klan, accepting a medal from its Kleagle, pledging government support of its objectives and paying extravagant tribute to its Imperial Wizard, they not only would have been hounded out of office but probably would have been burned in effigy.

By the same token, it is just as immoral, depraved and outrageous for high government officials to attend gatherings of groups which operate like the Ku Klux Klan in reverse, and whose objectives are the same.

If it was un-American for an organization composed of the ma-

The survival of the American Republic depends on the passage of the Bricker Amendment by the Congress of the United States.

From a retired army general in Atlanta, Georgia: "The opinion was expressed in some quarters that when Ike was elected, there would be no further need of the Southern Conservative, for he would clean house and solve, or begin the solution, of all our difficulties. But Ike missed the boat completely and we are back where we were some twenty years ago. You must stay in the front line trenches, replenishing your ammunition pile and commence firing all over again. The enemy has not changed, he is in the same positions, but in many places—for the purpose of camouflage only—he has a new front line leader".

For high government officials to lend the influence and prestige of their office to un-American propaganda groups by attending their public gatherings, endorsing their aims and promising government support of their objectives, is a craven betrayal of the electorate which every decent and self-respecting American resents to the very core of his being.

And it matters not whether such propaganda groups are composed of a majority seeking to subjugate a minority or a minority attempting to force their conception of human behavior on the majority.

A president of the United States is the president of all the American people and is traditionally credited with possession of the firmness, integrity and attributes of character which would preclude a display of partiality on his part toward any group of citizenship regardless of such group's influence, voting power or control of newspapers or other publicity and communication mediums.

By the same token the members of the Supreme Court of the United States are charged with the sole responsibility of impartially interpreting the Constitution in the interest of all Americans and established American tradition.

For them to publicly appear as guests of any pressure group which is demanding special concessions in a court ruling, is the most blatant display of official vulgarity and personal bad taste the American people could possibly be called on to witness.

It is to be hoped that we will not often be subjected to similar degrading spectacles.

The survival of the American Republic depends on the passage of the Bricker Amendment by the Congress of the United States.

Maybe Point-4 Program Has Softened Him Up

On January 2nd, American newspapers carried a story from Morocco to the effect that the Sultan there had bashed out the brains of one of his harem attendants, after charging him with being the father of a child expected by one of his favorite harem beauties.

These modern Sultans must be slipping and getting careless about details.

All the Sultans we ever read about always took effective measures to insure the model behavior of all male employees.

American Citizens Must Exercise Their Sovereignty Or Risk Losing It Forever

If the American people make no other resolution for the New Year of 1954, they should resolve to become familiar with the fundamentals of the American government and dedicate themselves to the task of helping to preserve it, or rather to reclaiming it.

There are many popular misconceptions to overcome and many fallacies to explode in connection with the average American's understanding of the functions and authority of our government in Washington.

First, they should get it straight in their minds that elected public officials in the national government, from the president on down, are the servants and the people are the masters.

Roosevelt operated on the theory—and got by with it—that it was the other way round and proceeded on the assumption that he was a super-dictator with supreme power and that not only the citizens, but members of Congress, were his puppets.

This false conception of the presidency, and the general tendency of regarding Washington politicians as little tin gods, still prevails among millions of young people who were unfortunate enough to grow up under the New Deal and Fair Deal and who have no understanding whatever of the proper relation between the citizen and governing officials of this Republic.

In this country, it was planned by the founders that the will of the people should be supreme and that organized public opinion should be the guiding force for shaping official policies and framing legislation in the United States.

It is also important for the citizen to realize that the Federal government does not have one penny of its own and that it possesses only such funds as it takes through taxation of the people of the various States. Therefore, there is no such thing as "Federal Aid" and every foreign spending program which has been launched for the benefit of alien idlers and the impoverishment of American taxpayers, is un-Constitutional and would be so declared if we had a Supreme Court to properly interpret the organic law of the land.

The Federal government was set up by the States and given limited powers as set forth in the Constitution. All power not delegated to the Federal government was, under the Tenth Amendment to the Bill of

The survival of the American Republic depends on the passage of the Bricker Amendment by the Congress of the United States.

Rights, reserved to the States. The States have failed miserably to exercise this power in recent years but they still possess it.

Another fundamental fact which should be learned by those who do not know, and re-learned by those who have forgotten, is that the State Legislatures are more powerful than Congress and, collectively, they could even abolish Congress if they so desired.

This authority is given them under the second method provided for amending the Constitution. If thirty-two States memorialize Congress to submit an amendment back to the State Legislatures for ratification, Congress is compelled to comply, and when thirty-six states have ratified, such amendment is adopted.

If members of the various State Legislatures had possessed the brains, understanding and initiative to proceed under this authority twenty years ago, Roosevelt could have been stopped dead in his tracks when he embarked on his squandering spree and headed this country into National Socialism.

The State legislatures could have demanded the complete repeal of the iniquitous income tax amendment which would have cut his water off and saved this nation from the threat of national bankruptcy which hovers like a vulture on the horizon.

Americans, as a whole, are the most highly educated people on earth but they know less about their own form of government, its authority and its limitations, than a pig does about higher mathematics.

So we hope that in this year of 1954, the citizens will come to realize their power and responsibility as sovereigns and will exercise it.

The president, your United States senator and your Congressman are your servants and it is your duty as their master to tell them just exactly how you want the job done.

Stereotyped petitions are perhaps of some effect but not nearly so much as personalized messages, such as a letter, a telegram or even a telephone call, conveying expressions and individual convictions which come from the heart. This will make them sit up and take notice and watch their step.

This power of the people, if not exercised, may eventually be lost and the sovereignty of the citizen abdicated through neglect and dis-use.

Who Cares What Happens to Either Political Party If The Republic Itself Is Destroyed?

A Propaganda Organization Horns In On Charity Funds

When Roosevelt committed the Federal government to the responsibility of supporting private citizens through relief, social security, unemployment compensation, old age pensions and other foreign-inspired Socialistic legislation, it was assumed, naturally, that local charity burdens would be lightened.

However the funds donated to community chests have increased each year and during 1953, the total raised by these agencies was the highest in history.

And as money for organized "charity" has increased, rackets attending it have multiplied.

In some cities, for instance, where charity is dispensed through various organizations who receive their proportion of the funds resulting from the drives, the name of the Urban League appears as one eligible to receive such donations.

The Urban League is a national propaganda organization which, by no stretch of the imagination, can be classed as "charitable" unless efforts to stir up racial strife throughout the country can be so designated.

Even Hodding Carter, the Mississippi "Liberal" who usually goes along with Party Line propaganda on racial matters, stated in a recent magazine article with nationwide circulation: "Racial tension and hate organizations flourish in areas where the Urban League is popular."

Much of the activity of this Urban League in recent years has been devoted toward the promotion of a movement to get Negroes into white neighborhoods—a field in which it has been successful in many cases.

In Fort Worth, the Urban League is one of the groups receiving funds donated for charity although few of the contributors who give their money for the benefit of the hungry and sick are aware of this.

Lester Granger, a Negro cited for membership in two Communist fronts, is the executive head of the Urban League, with headquarters in New York and branches in various cities.

Sometime ago, he addressed an audience in Fort Worth, following a bi-racial dinner, attended by the type of white persons usually found at such functions.

When Granger left Fort Worth for California, he gave out an interview to a Negro Los Angeles newspaper in which he spoke contemptuously of Fort Worth, although he boasted that "in that tight capital of hide-bound segregation" he was invited to a meal "in one of the city's principal hotels which two years before would have shaken as if in an earthquake at the very suggestion

A Washington newspaper man observes that word has been passed quietly among the Democrats that Governor Thomas E. Dewey has been appointed "hatchet man" by the Republicans to "bring about the destruction of the Democratic Party."

Holy Smokes!

Can any American really be so stupid and uninformed as not to realize that the Democratic Party was destroyed lock, stock and barrel by the combined efforts of Roosevelt and Truman?

Any resemblance between the great party of Jefferson, Jackson and Madison, as set up by its founders, and the current outfit manipulated and controlled by political mongrels and half-breeds, is strictly non-existent.

Any way, it is not of the slightest importance whether the so-called Democratic Party is, or is not, destroyed, nor, for that matter, whether the Republican Party survives, but it is of vital and deadly importance to every honorable and patriotic American, that the Republic be preserved.

of a brown gentleman breaking bread within its doors."

Granger spoke of a "lower middle-class white neighborhood" in Fort Worth in which Negroes were infiltrating and insisted that, in spite of bombings, they "intend to stick it out." Referring to the Fort Worth Police Department's efforts to keep down trouble in that neighborhood he said that: "While the Police Department has assigned a detail to guard the home, it's the most lackadaisical guard within a thousand miles."

In a frank reference to objectives, Granger added: "If our Northern civil rights laws are making the frontal attack on our enemy, these Southern battles are protecting our rear."

He also told of a banquet given in his honor while he was in Fort Worth by one hundred and fifty members of the American Association of Social Workers but complained that although a press representative was sent to cover the affair, he had "seen no result of the coverage."

What he didn't realize apparently was that there was probably no intention of giving the affair publicity and that it was the last thing those giving the dinner wanted.

His interview appeared in the "California Eagle" on December 10th, 1953, published in Los Angeles, and if there was any reference to "charitable" activities by his Fort Worth branch, or any other division of his League, we could not find it.

We have been informed that there will be a revision of the list of groups receiving charity funds hereafter or else a definite decrease in the contributions in future.

We'll Make A Side Bet That He Won't Show Up

Officials in Washington are still muttering in their beard about getting Tom Clark to appear before investigating committees to answer some puzzling questions but, in our humble opinion, they are wasting their time and breath.

Clark is an able and experienced probe-dodger from way back and his would-be questioners will find that when it comes to giving an account of his actions, he is as elusive and slippery as an eel in a bucket of oil.

Perhaps those who wish to interrogate him should just leave him alone in his aloof and lofty eminence in order that he may better ponder the deep and profound Constitutional questions which Mr. Truman felt he was so highly qualified to solve.

From an ex-Marine in New Orleans: "I have read every edition of your paper for over a year and agree with you one hundred per cent. I have always felt, though, that any woman with that kind of brains and who could write like you, must be an ugly old frump. Since seeing your picture on a Christmas card sent to another of your readers here, I find that you are a charming lady. Since you are nice looking and also have brains, it is clear that "what you ain't got, you don't need". Thank you very much indeed, but you are all wrong. We need lots of things "we ain't got". Money, for instance.

"We have no commission from God to police the world"—Benjamin Harrison, twenty-third President of the United States.

France Launches a Sort of Point-2 Deflation Program

The French who are accused by their allies of negligence in connection with international cooperation and of lagging behind in the matter of security measures for European nations, have apparently been occupied with far more world-shaking subjects.

In an edict which has gone out from Paris fashion dictators, it is decreed that there will be a drastic reduction in the dimensions of the female bosom and smart women of 1954 are warned that they must conform to the flat chests and boyish lines of the 1920's in order to measure up to modern beauty standards.

The order is said to have caused a general collapse in certain circles where the build-up has been along other lines.

From Hollywood, it is reported that movie stars are making extensive preparations to re-convert to the new streamlined model.

Americans Should Pray For More "McCarthyism"

Because Senator Joseph R. McCarthy told the truth in his radio and television broadcast in November, the "liberal" pack of hyenas set up a howl and started yak-yaking about "McCarthyism". Characteristically refusing to play the demagogue and charge all the evils in government to one party, the Wisconsin statesman and patriot frankly told his millions of listeners how the cow ate the corn.

While the Socialists who stole the Democratic Party twenty years ago were primarily responsible for practically turning the operation of the government over to Communists and Communist sympathizers, the Republicans must accept their share of the blame for leaving many of them there.

All this Senator McCarthy pointed out and used the State Department as an infamous example of continued domination of subversives in policy-making.

And every good American will agree with him and will pray for more, and not less, "McCarthyism" in the management of the Federal government from here on out.

From a prominent Chicago attorney: "Incidentally, I consider that the destruction of our form of government is now inevitable but I honestly admire the courage and patriotism of good people such as yourself in attempting to postpone the oncoming debacle".

"The very essence of a free government consists in considering offices as public trusts, bestowed for the good of the country, and not for the benefit of an individual or a party."—John C. Calhoun.

These Good Old Sisters Had Better Be Praying For Their Own Country

We have been looking over a pamphlet issued by the Board of Missions of the Methodist Church and distributed by the United Church Women with headquarters at 156 Fifth Avenue, New York.

We couldn't find anything in it about missions but this was probably due to the fact that its space was all taken up with plugs for the United Nations.

Although it is obvious that these good ladies do not have any more understanding about this world organization and its villainous ramifications than a chipmunk has about nuclear fission, this did not prevent them from recommending it without qualification.

In fact, they warn that "failure to support the United Nations is as unthinkable as to decide that the family two-year-old child is too much trouble and too expensive."

Well, we do not have a two-year-old child but if we did, we have a sneaking suspicion we would be just a bit more partial to it than we would to—let us say—Vishinsky or Molotov and we would probably be slightly more concerned in seeing that it developed into a good American than we would in making sure that Genocide or Human Rights Covenants were adopted as treaties by the United States Senate.

Although United Nations is so atheistic in its make-up that prayer was outlawed at its opening session, these deluded dames suggest that all families should "include it in family prayers" and that it be mentioned "every time grace is said at the table."

We can just see certain gents in Moscow and in the capitals of other Iron Curtain countries jumping up and down with glee as they contemplate the spectacle of bourgeois boobs praying for the success of their conspiracy to control the world.

After All He Is Nearsighted

In a televised interview, Harry Truman asserted that there is no danger of "an interior Communist uprising here".

He also invited "anybody that knows a Communist" to put him in touch with them, insisting that he had never seen one.

We are sure that he has seen plenty of Communists but he probably mistook them for Red Herrings.

After the Harry Dexter White debacle, it would seem that what is called for now on the part of the ex-President is a long, forceful and eloquent silence.

They Leaned On Government So Long They Can't Stand Alone

The success achieved by the Roosevelt and Truman administrations in Socializing the American farmer and bringing about a moral collapse of this segment of the citizenship, is indicated in a national poll of cotton and peanut growers to find out whether or not they favored government price control of their product.

In separate polls, they agreed to limit plantings in return for continued high support prices by the Federal government.

Twenty States voted 441,261 to 26,990 to accept Socialism as our national policy and continue supports on 1954 crops.

Reluctant American Comes Back Home

One of the GI's from Texas who had expressed his determination to remain with the Communists and who had refused repatriation, has changed his mind and come home.

His delayed arrival and the circumstances attending it has given him front page publicity in the newspapers and a lot of attention which, no doubt, pleases him greatly.

We can't see why he should not be marked off and forgotten. Love of country and patriotism for our institutions is supposed to be instinctive in an American's heart and the fact that an American soldier could deliberately desert and go over to the enemy shows that he is constructed of very inferior material.

Naturally, the families of these men are delighted at their return but the country gains nothing.

They proved traitors once and can never be fully trusted again.

Bridges and Coplon Still Running Loose

Well, here we are entering another year and Harry Bridges is still "undepoited" and going strong.

And as for Judy Coplon, his female prototype, who became hump-shouldered from carrying secret papers out of the Justice Department for delivery to Russian agents—she is still on the loose too.

The Supreme Court seems to be good at lots of things, such as regulating social practices, for instance, but when it comes to handing down decisions which will stand up in the deportation of enemy spies—they are good bird watchers.

Conservative Coalition Has Staved Off Total Communism So They Will Try To Break It Up

A Washington press dispatch says that "Democratic leaders have decided it is time to break up the coalition of Republicans and Democrats which has virtually ruled Congress for at least a decade."

Yes, by all means, let's break up this coalition and in this way make it easier for the Communists to take us over wholly, instead of only partially.

The only thing that has stood in the way of complete capitulation to the Soviets in recent years has been the unified action of Conservatives in both major parties.

It must be embarrassing to the Kremlin to be thwarted by those members in both Houses of Congress who doggedly insist on defeating legislation inimical to the interests of their own country.

So the word has apparently gone out to Soviet agents in this country that the coalition in the American Congress must be ended.

We still think that there are enough red-blooded Americans in the Congress to continue the coalition but we admit that it is possible, of course, that the wish is father to the thought, and we could be whistling in the dark.

An Indiana Woman Points the Way to Good American Citizenship

When our faith in everything reaches a low point, as it sometimes does, it is always revived by the actions of some outstanding American patriot.

Such as those of Marguerite Dice of Indianapolis, Indiana, for instance.

Aside from the fact that we have personal reasons to be grateful to her for encouragement and assistance, we respect and admire her for her unselfish and patriotic service to her country, above and beyond the line of duty.

Every Tuesday night, her beautiful Indiana home is thrown open for discussion by various groups on the issues and problems now facing the American people.

Friends and neighbors are invited to come and participate in these heart-to-heart talks about the official conduct of the men in Washington who have been trusted with the sacred responsibility of representing the interests of the American people.

If every good American would follow the precedent of Marguerite Dice and hold similar gatherings, the result is bound to have a wholesome effect on the national economy.

Since the American home is under direct attack from the sinister forces who would destroy all this sacred institution stands for, it could be put to no better use than to be thrown open for discussion of ways and means to preserve it.

An Attack on McCarthy Is A Defense of Communism

A Fort Worth minister who regards himself, and who is regarded by his congregation, as a strong opponent of Communism employed a rather peculiar and unconvincing method recently to emphasize his disapproval of this ideology.

From the pulpit, he made a lashing attack on Senator Joseph R. McCarthy and all the "little McCarthys" who are similarly seeking to oust Communists from government, from our schools, churches and all other institutions in this country where they have become entrenched.

Unfortunately, we have reached a point in this country where an American must choose between Americanism as expressed by the investigating committees who are exposing subversion, and Communism as typified by those whom the committees are exposing.

Therefore, a denunciation of Senator McCarthy, or any other chairman of committees probing Communist infiltration, is a defense of Communism and such denunciations are gleefully hailed by the Daily Worker and similar Communist mouthpieces as evidence of the success of their campaign to smear an outstanding, courageous and unafraid American statesman.

Why Wouldn't Morale Of Fighting Forces Be Low?

In an address to the National Securities Training Commission, the president expressed his deep concern over the low morale of the American armed forces and well he might.

It does not require the brain of a genius to figure out the cause for unrest, disgust and discontent among American troops.

This has been building up since 1948 when Truman launched his "integration program", in response to demands of invisible rulers who call the shots.

This program provided that white draftees would be thrown into the most intimate contact with Negroes and would be compelled to eat, sleep, work, play with, and take orders from them.

We wonder what was expected of respectable, well-bred and carefully-reared young Americans as a result of this unnatural and ghastly order which broke all precedents in American history.

What were they supposed to do? Jump up and down with joy?

War Crimes Commission Farce About to Be Repeated in UN

Following World War II, the War Crimes Commission made a gesture of punishing those responsible for the war but it was only a farce in which a job was done on the Germans but Churchill, Stalin and Roosevelt were allowed to go Scot free.

Now the same farce is about to be repeated as the United Nations seeks to place the blame for Police Action in Korea and the chances are the job will again be fumbled and that the real criminals will slip through the net.

Regardless of how the facts are jumbled, distorted or plain suppressed by the United Nations, the reasons for the Police Action in Korea are easy to figure out.

Truman's Fair Deal was trembling on the brink, even as Roosevelt's empire was shaky until he latched on to World War II in order to save his skin.

Early in 1950 the late Phillip Murray, who was then president of the CIO and who bossed Truman as a section boss does a Mexican track-walker, called at the White House and reported that 4,000,000 American labor union members were out of work and that jobs were getting harder to secure each day.

The Missouri midget who operated under the Pendergast code of ethics, couldn't let the boys down. The fact that over a hundred thousand American soldiers would be the victims was beside the point. Union labor's demand for full employment was more important.

Now, the United Nations announces that data on Korean atrocities will be assembled as a means of smoking out and punishing those who are guilty.

If they knew their heads from a hole in the ground, they would already have the facts assembled to prove who is responsible and why, and also that the data on atrocities, tortures and brutalities was prepared by General Douglas MacArthur who collected this information more than two years ago and documented with testimony of eye witnesses and photographs and sworn to by both American soldiers and captured Communist prisoners.

They could have this information free, unless it was destroyed at the same time General MacArthur was fired because he was winning the war.

Dulles Vouched For The Loyalty Of Hiss

A Washington columnist has made public a letter which John Foster Dulles wrote to one of those who advised him that Alger Hiss had been accused of subversive activities and was perhaps unfit to serve as president of the Carnegie Foundation, a position Hiss held at the time.

This letter which the Secretary of State no doubt regrets having written said:

"I have your letter of December 23rd. Mr. Hiss was elected president of the Carnegie Endowment at a meeting of the trustees held earlier this month at the same time that I was elected Chairman of the Board. 'I have heard of the report which

Idaho Patriot Is Still On The Job

Even though no longer in Congress, Dr. John T. Wood of Coeur d'Alene, Idaho, still takes a deep and abiding interest in the issues confronting the American people.

He was one of the most informed and patriotic members of the Congress until defeated through the combined efforts of ADA, CIO and other anti-anti-Communist forces who worked like beavers in his district to displace him with one of their own kind.

Excerpts from bulletins he frequently sends out depicting the State of the Union include these timely suggestions:

"The writer urges all men of good will to again read and study the plan of the great Prince of Peace for the attainment of peace in the world. Then compare this plan with that of the United Nations to divide the world into two great opposing hostile groups. Then draw your own conclusions to which offers the best hope of lasting peace to the world."

"The cuckoo is a European bird which never builds its own nest, but steals those built by other birds. Privately owned power companies have spent many hundreds of billion dollars in research and invention since Edison constructed the first incandescent lamp. These costs have been met by the companies themselves. If the Federal power system has ever invented any electrical device of any sort, even a nut or a bolt, the writer has never heard of it. It has consistently plucked the brains of bigger, better and infinitely more honest public servants than have ever existed in government-controlled power projects."

"We should get out of the United Nations and most of our global commitments. Build up our national defenses, especially in the air. We should strengthen all our ties under the Monroe Doctrine. Otherwise, we should stay home and mind our own business, and trust the God of the Founding Fathers for the rest. This remedy worked perfectly for 175 years."

you have referred to, but I am confident that there is no reason to doubt Mr. Hiss' complete loyalty to our American institutions. I have been thrown in intimate contact with him at San Francisco, London, and Washington, and I doubt that the people you refer to in Washington know him any better than I do or have seen him actually at work in alien efforts.

"I have myself in the past, particularly during the campaign in 1944, been the victim of so-called 'documentary proof' that I was various things which I was not.

"Under the circumstances, I feel a little skeptical about information which seems inconsistent with all that I personally know and of what is the judgment of reliable friends and associates in Washington."

We imagine that Hiss has a large collection of similar testimonials from his associates in Washington during the time he was demonstrating his "complete loyalty" to his country.

MALENKOV

tions and the realignment of our national policies to conform to Soviet thinking.

You have perfected the art of government-by-remote-control to a degree never before achieved in human history.

From your far-away point of vantage, you have pulled the wires which have inspired our foreign and domestic policy, you have dictated judicial rulings, altered our immigration laws, influenced Congressional action, authored executive pronouncements, smeared our patriots, selected our educational text-books, caused our Holy Bible to be rewritten, promoted squandering of our taxpayers' money, instigated labor union strikes, abolished social customs and forced us to accept abhorrent and degrading racial practices which both white and black decent Americans heartily disapprove.

And although you have wrought all these alterations in a land thousands of miles removed from your borders, you have maintained your own economic and social order, without change, since you took over the Russian Empire at gun-point almost four decades ago.

While we utterly loathe and despise your methods and hold your institutions in contempt, we only wish, in the interest of our own Republic, that our leaders possessed your spirit of self-preservation, your national pride and your unyielding determination to keep your enemies out of your country.

Your comrades in the United States who are rendering the most effective service to the Communist cause are not your party members, as card-carrying Communists have no standing and command no respect in this country.

Your devoted and dedicated followers here are known as "Liberals" and they are to be found in every sector of American life—in the government, in both Houses of Congress, in both major political parties, in the ministry, in minority group organizations, in the schools, colleges and universities, in women's clubs, school boards, parent teacher organizations, in the press, in libraries, in publishing houses, among authors and fiction writers, radio and television commentators, business and professional groups, columnists, editorial writers, organized charity groups and in all other forms of human activity in which Americans participate.

These little "mothers helpers" who spread your propaganda will strenuously deny that they are Communist sympathizers and they will scream like banshees if called by their proper designation but it is they, collectively, who have carried the ball for you during the years in which your program has gradually been put into effect.

The more intelligent among them know what they are doing and their treasonable actions are deliberate but a large majority of them are simple-minded fools with an inborn, sheep-like tendency to follow the leader in order to save wear and tear on such brains as God gave them.

A Greek poet said in the long ago: "Let me write the songs of a country and I care not who makes its laws".

In your over-all plan for world domination, you paraphrased this sentiment to forcefully express your intentions toward all nations of the earth: "Let us control the leaders of a country and we won't have to worry about its laws".

You instituted your master plan for ideological conquest of the United States more than thirty years ago; it was accepted by our national leaders in 1933 and launched on its course.

How successfully your program has been carried out is proved by the record which shows that more than half of the policies set out in your American Communist Party platforms—before that party was absorbed by our national Democratic Party—have been placed on the statute books of the United States or have been enacted into law by Executive order or Supreme Court rulings.

We are listing, briefly some of your additional accomplishments in this Republic—not for your benefit as you, of course, keep a strict record of your victories here and check them off, one by one, as they are achieved, but for the information of such Americans as may not realize the extent to which your evil philosophy has penetrated the American economy.

Your main objective was to break down American power and influence and to dethrone the United States as the strongest and most respected nation on earth.

This you planned to do by destroying American sovereignty and knocking out safeguards in our Constitution which were placed there by the wise and understanding patriots who framed it.

Accordingly, you had your master minds draw up detailed plans for a world body which was later to be known as the United Nations and which your representatives here, including Alger Hiss, were to spring on gullible Americans as a noble experiment in achieving universal peace.

The cold-blooded fact is that it was, from its inception, an international plot to render all nations impotent except Russia and to make puppets of such powerful countries as the United States and politically castrate them through the World Government which you meant to dominate.

(The fact that even as you were offering the United Nations to the world as an instrument of peace, you were busy as a one-armed paper hanger supplying Chinese Communists with men and materials to make war on the United States was beside the point and a matter which was supposed to be ignored by the American people whom you regard—often justifiably—as congenital idiots)

You were fully aware of the weak point in our Constitution which provided that international treaties would supersede that instrument and you were working overtime in taking advantage of this loophole in order to get world government perfected to the point where American citizens would become slaves and vassals subject to control and punishment by international law.

Fifty-six alert American patriots in the United States Senate detected this flaw and the plot which was building up around it and jointly signed a measure known as the Bricker Amendment which would make the Constitution of the United States a supreme instrument not subject to over-riding through treaties with foreign governments or a collection of foreign governments.

This slowed you down, but not for long.

The Kremlin went into a huddle and came up with the answer.

The idea was put out, and echoed in Washington, that the passage of the Bricker Amendment would handicap the handling of our foreign policy and that it must not, under any circumstances, be allowed to pass. All the weak, inane and asinine arguments which were finally effective in pigeon-holing this legislation, were urged upon the members of the Senate by your invisible agents who were on the job behind the scene.

However, millions of good, plain, every-day Americans have caught on in the meantime and are seething with fury because of this treacherous attempt to invalidate provisions of the Constitution and are planning to storm the gates of the Senate by every means granted American citizens through petition to their lawmakers for the redress of wrongs.

Temporarily, you are victor in the matter of preventing the passage of the Bricker Amendment but the show-down is yet to come.

After all, your slaves over there don't vote for the re-election or defeat of the members of the American Congress. In fact, they don't vote for anybody or anything since they are nothing but political enunchs.

But to get back to the United Nations.

When this international conspiracy was launched at San Francisco in 1945, after having been framed in Moscow in 1941, the American people were led to believe that its one and only objective was peace on earth and good will among men.

They were not informed that scores of illegitimate auxiliaries were to be tacked on to it through which you planned to perfect your dream of World Communism. We are referring (as if you didn't know) to the Covenant on Human Rights, UNESCO, the World Court, Genocide, International Labor Organization and other "subversive sub-divisions through which much of your dirty work was to be accomplished.

Through the Covenant on Human Rights which you plan to have adopted by the United States Senate as a treaty, you propose to regulate the most intimate and personal affairs of the American citizen and to institute indefensible social customs in this country.

Through UNESCO which you were able to slip into the Charter and which is now in operation, you planned that already infiltrated American schools would take over children of kindergarten age as you do in Russia, remove them from parental influence as much as possible and poison their tender minds with the fatal virus of Communism.

Before UNESCO was launched on its program your propaganda had already permeated American public schools, colleges and universities to such an extent that there were few institutions of learning where your educational agents did not either teach or, in some form, direct the curricula.

UNESCO served to correlate your plans for communizing American students and as a result, our educational institutions are spewing out thousands of pimply adolescents who spout Karl Marx all over the place.

They know nothing about American history; they are totally unfamiliar with fundamental American principles and they hold our matchless American form of government in contempt. In fact, most of them can't even spell but they can practically recite the Communist Manifesto backwards.

Offhand, we would say that your heaviest infiltration has been accomplished in the schools, although your penetration of the ministry and the churches runs it a close second. It is reliably estimated that we have seven thousand Protestant ministers in the United States who wilfully and knowingly follow the Communist Party line and disseminate your ideological views from the pulpit. Many Americans believe that this figure is greatly exaggerated while others regard it as the under-statement of all time.

At any rate, you have demonstrated your superior wisdom as world propagandists in your assault on these two segments of our society, for the school children of today will shape our policies and way of life tomorrow and without the spiritual ministrations of the churches, our civilization will wither and die.

You ordained that the American Free Enterprise System must be abandoned in favor of your form of economy and made suggestions as to how this should be accomplished.

You pointed out that government competition with private industry was a sure means to this end and two Presidents of the United States practically busted their suspenders in setting up government projects designed to accomplish this aim.

Another of your proposals for quietly liquidating this nation was your suggestion that politicians should spend it out of existence and scatter the taxpayers' money all over the world.

Georgi, old boy, you hit the jackpot there.

So meticulously have your ideas along this line been carried out that every possible excuse for gouging American taxpayers has been advanced, including the argument that it is our moral responsibility to replace the worn-out bedsprings in a Mohammedan Sultan's harem.

When the Chinese Communists were losing the war to the superior generalship of Douglas MacArthur, the Kremlin sent word down the line that our greatest military genius of all history must be relieved of his command. By a strange coincidence, the President of the United States came to the same conclusion and General MacArthur got the axe.

When a courageous and unafraid American senator started exposing and smoking out your stooges in policy-making positions of government you decreed that your spokesmen here should give him the business.

From "Liberals" all over the country, there was a crescendo of moaning, groaning and screaming against "violation of academic freedom and civil liberties" which would have made the kneelers at the Wailing Wall in Jerusalem sound like deaf mutes.

But your master stroke in planning the complete demoralization and annihilation of the American Republic was hit upon that day in October of 1928 when the bright boys in your Third International sat around the table and mapped the degrading racial program for the United States which politicians here have worked overtime to complete.

Your blueprint perfected at that meeting called for agitating and, if necessary, stirring up "bloody revolution among the proletarians and peasantry in the Black Belt of the South". In the resultant confusion, it was said at your meeting, the Communists would seize power and destroy the American Republic even as they laid waste the Russian Empire.

Southern Negroes, in general, refused to fall for the bait and did not play ball with you. By and large they remained good Americans with pride in their race and a desire to mix socially only with their own kind.

It was the rich white trash of the North who went over-board on this issue and who have steered your program to near-completion, and especially maritally frustrated females who sought to fill in the emotional vacuum with a "cause". They were joined by scores of old maid social workers "without pride of ancestry or hope of posterity", intellectuals, reformers, screwballs and various other species of human driftwood cast up on our ideological shore.

There was no "Negro problem" in the South until you created it and set your puppets in action to agitate it. It was just a few centuries ago that we imported the first slaves from the wilds of Africa—some of whom ate each other on the boat coming over—and their race has made extraordinary progress since then and they enjoy comforts of civilization of which their jungle ancestors never dreamed such as television, electric refrigeration, radios, automobiles and modern housing.

They are a small minority which has fared extremely well with minimum contribution on their part, and yet, a stranger dropping down from Mars would get the impression, from the behavior of American politicians, that our colored population is the dominant race in the United States and one which had pioneered this country, conquered the mountains and swamps, girded the nation with steel and built an Empire from a wilderness.

The Martian visitor would also learn that our leaders who propose "crusades against corruption in government" sometimes turn them into crusades against the white race.

All these objectives you have accomplished through a carefully prepared plan conceived in Moscow under which you planted your spies in Washington agencies—in the State Department, in the Treasury, in the War Department, in the Office of Strategic Services and in every other branch of the Federal government, including the White House itself.

Up to this point, we must concede that in the game you have been playing with American politicians, your batting average has been high, but your dealings so far have been exclusively with our leaders and the grass roots reactions are just now coming in.

The collective wrath of American citizens, when finally aroused, is a fearful and awesome sight and a spectacle your planners have not been forced to take into consideration, up to this good hour.

So perhaps this little bit of sound advice to you is not out of order—don't sell the American people short.

An English King made that mistake way back in the 1770's, but when the shouting had all died down and the smoke had cleared away, he had to mop up his Red Coats with a blotter.

THE SOUTHERN CONSERVATIVE.

Federal Government Has No More Right to Decide Segregation Than States Have to Print Currency

Hollywood Slips Back In Efforts To Clean House

It is too bad that some movie producers insist on making pictures that offend the standards of morals and decency which most Americans demand.

In St. Louis recently, a religious group found it necessary to issue a ban against one of Howard Hughes' productions starring Jane Russell called the "French Line" on the ground of its immoral tone and its general unfitness as public entertainment.

Hollywood is forever declaring its intentions to clean its "Augean stables" of filth but this proposal does not seem to have unanimous approval of the bigwigs of the industry.

Then, there was the case of the Hollywood actress who went to Korea Christmas and undertook to "boost the morale" of the fighting forces by taking off her clothes and appearing before them in a scant and suggestive bathing suit.

We have no doubt that the young woman's act was a show-stopper or that the resulting wolf whistles must have drowned out the whirring of any bombing planes which may have been engaged in target practice in the vicinity.

But there is a time and place for everything and this includes the act of disrobing.

The big middle of a bunch of lonely and homesick American soldiers would hardly seem to afford either.

These three film personalities, at least, have contributed nothing to the good name of the cinema metropolis.

New Dealers Oppose Further Disclosures on Communism

New Deal Democrats, smarting under disclosures which indicate a general cover-up of Communist spies in government during the Roosevelt and Truman administrations, are making strenuous efforts to hamstring the work of the McCarthy Committee in future.

Ellender of Louisiana and McClellan of Arkansas have been especially active along this line, Ellender urging a reduction in appropriations for carrying on the Committee's work and McClellan planning to introduce a resolution to take the matter of investigating Communism out of McCarthy's hands.

It is not revealed whether the senators are personally concerned in suppressing revelations which McCarthy may make in future or whether they are merely following their party's undeviating policy of whitewashing treason.

The Federal government, as any half-way intelligent person knows, has only such powers as are delegated to it in the Constitution.

Regulating the social and racial customs in the several States is definitely not within its jurisdiction. Dwight D. Eisenhower pointed this out in a brilliant and forceful manner when he made several addresses in Texas long before his nomination as Chief Executive was ever contemplated. He said that FEPC was a matter over which the Federal government had no jurisdiction and one which only the States had the right to decide.

As men often do, he seems to have changed his mind since election and in the segregation fight now before the Supreme Court, his attorney general appeared before that body to plead the case of the minority against the majority of the citizens of the United States.

The Federal authorities, including the Supreme Court, have no more right to decide this matter than the various States have to set up a mint and start coining money.

When Mr. Eisenhower told the people of Texas of his belief in the prerogatives of the sovereign states, he received unstinted applause but any reference by his administration to States Rights in future, after Brownell's performance before the Supreme Court, will get nothing but a horse laugh or the Bronx Cheer.

Chickens Always Come Home to Roost

Although Harry Truman was the most abject and spectacular failure as a president of the United States of any man ever to hold that office and even though he commands practically no respect even from members of his own party, there seemed to be a universal feeling of shame and regret when he was caught red-handed in a falsehood concerning Harry Dexter White.

Somehow, regardless of our lack of regard for the occupant, by tradition we like to hold the White House and the office of president in high esteem and it is hard for us to admit that any one who has been honored to this revered position could deliberately distort facts and employ misrepresentations to save his own face.

Even we, who have less use for him than perhaps any individual in the nation, were sorry when the record proved his assertions untrue, and branded him with the title he has so often bestowed on others.

Centralization Of Education Is Aim Of National Education Ass'n

Efforts of unscrupulous politicians to concentrate power in Washington during recent years have been copied by the National Education Association which has sought to centralize American education and place it under the control of NEA.

This association, which sponsors and approves UNESCO, not only dictates largely the procedure and curricula of the public schools of the nation but also sends its representatives into various states to meddle in school affairs which are not of the slightest concern to any one except local school authorities.

When some school in a certain state decides to dispense with the services of some undesirable teacher or official connected with the public schools, representatives of NEA swarm into the area like horse flies and start an "investigation" to see if some one's "academic freedom" has been violated or his "right of tenure" infringed upon.

Instead of meeting these Meddlesome Matties at the door and telling them firmly to go back home and attend to their own business, many officials allow them to pry into local affairs, make slanted reports on the situation for publication in left-wing periodicals and smear those whose responsibility it is to try to operate American public schools in accordance with American principles.

It is this organization which is largely responsible for creating in the minds of teachers and instructors in the schools the impression that their profession gives them a wider scope of responsibility than they actually possess.

The school teacher in this country is hired for one job and one job only and that is to instruct pupils in fundamental subjects laid down in recognized American text-books.

It is not his or her responsibility to make "citizens of the world" of the students in their classes, or citizens of any other place, including Mars.

Local school authorities all over the country need to engage in earnest discussions with teachers when they hire them, inform them in no uncertain terms what their duties consist of and disabuse their minds of the big idea that they are to shape the student's political, ideological or social thinking.

Local School Boards and parents of school children are the proper custodians of local schools but when school patrons seek to prevent the infiltration of subversive text-books into their class rooms, the agents of this National Education Association Gestapo rush into print in pink publications and charge that these parents are trying to "ruin the public schools."

If local school authorities can't run their own institutions without outside interference, they should resign, get out and let those take over who can.

Americans Strongly Reject UMT So They Get It Anyway

Sentiment against Universal Military Training in the United States has proved to be overwhelming which prevented the passage of such legislation by the Congress, time and again.

But did this prevent us from having Universal Military Training? Not by a long shot.

One thing Roosevelt taught politicians who were to come after him was that Congress can be bypassed in achieving un-wanted legislation if you learn the angles and play it smart.

Legislation by Executive decree, by Supreme Court decision or by simply going ahead and defiantly putting repudiated policies into effect any way, regardless of public opinion, was the formula he laid down and left as a heritage to his successors.

In this way, Universal Military Training seems to be rapidly becoming the national policy of the United States and the recruiting of young American manhood goes merrily on, even though we are not officially at war.

These men are not being conscripted to defend the United States but to fight the battles of foreign countries who have been engaged in war, off and on, for centuries and who will probably continue to fight, squabble and brawl until the end of time.

Also, we wonder if American mothers realize that, if NATO is finally perfected, their sons will be committed to serve in Europe for the next twenty years. And France is holding back from participating in NATO because the French want our soldiers committed to fifty years service over there.

The survival of the American Republic depends on the passage of the Bricker Amendment by the Congress of the United States.

General Eisenhower cannot do the job by himself. The same organized groups that forced Congress, step by step, deep into socialism are still organized. And there is a very, very slight majority of votes in Congress that stands for freedom as against socialism and communism. Therefore, the groups for the right must organize throughout the entire nation, to inform and to arouse citizens in all walks to speak up to their representatives in Washington and to support them with their constituents at home. Only thus can the Members of Congress be shielded against the demands of the ever-present, highly organized pressure groups, seeking to milk the Treasury! Only by such intensive and persistent educational work can the road be cleared for the needed retreat from socialism and Welfare State-ism.—Ralph W. Gwinn, Member of Congress from New York.

If Beria Had Lived Here He Would Not Have Been Shot But Promoted

Lavrentia P. Beria, former deputy premier of the Soviet Union was Number Two man in the Union of Soviet Socialist Republics, as Russia is now called, for many years.

He was Premier Malenkov's first deputy. In this capacity he exercised almost unlimited influence over all Soviet Policy.

He was also minister of internal affairs. As such, he controlled all secret police and intelligence, all normal police, the private armies of the Ministry of the Interior, the border guards, the intricate system of concentration camps and forced labor, all construction projects in Siberia and most of the Far East.

He was also the Soviet atomic energy head and held numerous other confidential and influential positions in the former land of the czars.

But word got around that Beria was not playing ball with his comrades and that he was trying to seize power in Russia and convert it to a "Capitalistic State".

So the Soviet firing squad rubbed him out on December 24 and presented him with a Christmas gift in the form of a nice little round leaden bullet which they delivered to the back of his head while he was looking the other way.

Beria should have moved over

The latest contribution to American civilization is the organization of a "Miscegenation Club" in Harlem with membership open to all "interracial" couples. The idea, imported from Moscow, of course, was first tried out in Japan when GI's who married Japanese girls formed a club with this revolting title. Come on Moscow, give us some more suggestions for rubbing out the white race and mongrelizing all those who oppose the Soviet conception of morality and decency.

The British Parliament has just rejected a proposal, by an overwhelming majority, that licenses be denied to any hotel or restaurant that practiced racial discrimination. According to the Chicago Tribune we should "listen closely now for the next bit of free advice from Britain on the evils of racial discrimination in the United States."

The survival of the American Republic depends on the passage of the Bricker Amendment by the Congress of the United States.

From a recent speech by John Foster Dulles — "Threatened withdrawal of foreign aid from our allies who wish to trade with the Soviet Bloc is an attempted interference with their national sovereignty and their foreign policy. To all such efforts we are unalterably opposed." No, by all means, let's not interfere with any nation's national sovereignty—no sovereignty, that is, except that of the United States.

here long ago while he was still in one piece, gotten him a job in the government and engaged in treason to his heart's content.

Instead of getting shot, he would probably have been promoted.

Harry Dexter White wasn't the Big Shot in Washington that Beria was in Moscow, but he got around.

He maneuvered the theft of the steel plates from the government mint and gave them to Russia so that the Soviets might make billions of dollars without having to go to the trouble of asking us for it or having it given to them on a silver platter.

He prepared the plan for Germany which dismantled that anti Communist country and gave the best part of it to Russia.

He stole documents from various branches and agencies of the government for delivery to Russian agents and served as a member of a Communist spy ring operating within the government.

Did he get shot? Don't be silly. He got a better job with a larger scope for his operations and a big raise in salary.

That's how we treated our pampered traitors over here for twenty years and Beria was just a sap for not getting in on the deal in a country where there is a statute of limitations on treason, and no open season on domestic spies.

The survival of the American Republic depends on the passage of the Bricker Amendment by the Congress of the United States.

A recent statement by the head of the Tulsa League of Women Voters does not seem to bear out the claim of this organization that it is non-political: "Action will concentrate on measures which contribute to world security with emphasis on economic advancement and maximum use of the United Nations. In line with this program the League of Women Voters of Tulsa is at present working on tools to publicize the necessity for a better understanding of the United Nations and its problems, in order to stimulate action and to encourage participation in its behalf . . ." The United Nations is not only political but some of the dirtiest politics on earth is engaged in by this group of international schemers.

Californians Grateful For A Non-Socialist Governor

From all information we can gather from our California contacts, the conservative anti-Socialist element of that State feels that in Governor Goodwin Knight, they will have strong and able leadership as long as he is in office.

Of course he will be the recipient of all the organized pressure that can be exerted by the "Okie" contingent there and it remains to be seen how firmly he will stand against it but it seems to be the consensus of conservative opinion that he will not yield to the Fair Deal viewpoint as his predecessor did.
