

THE WEEKLY ADVOCATE
10-18-17

October 27, 1917.

Mrs. Minnie Fisher Cunningham, president of the Texas Woman's Suffrage Association, declares that the great mass of suffragists of the U. S. have no sympathy with Mrs. Havemeyer in her opposition to the Liberty Loan. We hope this may be true, but wonder how Mrs. Cunningham has found it out so soon! Mrs. Havemeyer herself advocated and worked for the first Liberty Loan, and then with the inconsistency, which is the privilege of women, opposes the second loan—she should be arrested for treason, for her action is just as criminal as opposing enlistments or the draft.

Press Clipping Bureau,
Washington,
Texas.

The attached heading, we have just cut from a clipping included in the lot mailed us weekly. The article contains the name of Mrs. Minnie Fisher Cunningham, and states that the great mass of suffragists of the U.S. have no sympathy with Mrs. Havemeyer "in her opposition to the Liberty Loan," and proceeds to wonder how she has found it out so soon, etc. An article such as this, Mrs. Cunningham takes up with the editor, explaining her position. The clipping shows merely "The Weekly Advocate," and the place where it is published is not included, we have no way of knowing whom to address. Of course we realize this is a mistake in your office, Will you kindly repair by sending the necessary information, and oblige,

~~Yours very truly,~~
Yours truly,

Enc.

Headquarters Secretary.

October 27, 1917.

Texas Press Clipping Bureau,
Arlington,
Texas.

Dear Sirs:

The attached heading, we have just cut from a clipping included in the lot mailed us weekly. The article starts with the name of Mrs. Minnie Fisher Cunningham, declaring that the great mass of suffragists of the U.S. have no sympathy with Mrs. Havemeyer "in her opposition to the Liberty Loan," and proceeds to wonder how she has found it out so soon, etc. An article such as this, Mrs. Cunningham always takes up with the editor, explaining her position. As this shows merely "The Weekly Advocate," and the place where it is published is not included, we have no way of knowing whom to address. Of course we realize this is an oversight in your office, Will you kindly repair by sending the necessary information, and oblige,

~~Yours very truly,~~
Yours truly,

Enc.

Headquarters Secretary.