Author Appearance at Inklings Bookshop: Achy Obejas, author of We Came All The Way From Cuba So You Could Dress Like This Sunday, March 24 3:00 p.m.

Achy Obejas is a widely published poet, fiction writer and journalist. Her poetry has been published in Conditions, Revista Chicano-Riquena, and Beloit Poetry Journal, among others. In 1986, she received an NEA fellowship in poetry. Her short stories have been published in magazines such as Antioch Review, Phoebe, and Third Woman, and in numerous anthologies, including Discontents (Amethyst). She writes a weekly column for the Chicago Tribune and is a regular contributor to High Performance, The Chicago Reader and Windy City Times. She has been awarded an 1994 Literary Award from the Illinois Arts Council.

The following review is excerpted from Lambda Book Report.

Island People

by Terri de la Perla

During my early childhood, my parents were friends with Reina and Fico, a middle-aged Cuban couple. Cubans were rare (at least to me) in 1950s southern California, and in my little girl eyes more fascinating than provincial Mexican-American relatives. Cubans were Latinos like us--yet totally unlike us. They came from an island, spoke Spanish faster, used different phrases and dropped their syllables. They even spiced their meals with unusual flavors. Though I have faded memories of bird-like Reina, and no doubt my reminiscences confuse boisterous Fico with my beloved Desi Arnaz, I definitely recall that couple's fun-loving personalities, their contagious laughter! My 85 year old mother remembers her friends with fondness, she honors Reina every Thanksgiving by recreating her tantalizing cornbread-and-raisin turkey stuffing.

While reading Achy Obejas' seven brilliant stories in We Came All The Way From Cuba So You Could Dress Like This?, I wondered what Reina and Fico or even my mother would think about this intimate look by a Cuban immigrant writer into an urban Chicago filled with Latina lesbians, Latino gays, people with AIDS, immigrants and addicts. Doubtless the older folks would be scandalized by these stories, which means the rest of us are guaranteed to love them, no? My immediate response to both the cuentos and the book's title is this: anyone who can write with the fluid versatility, the sensitivity, honesty and humor of Achy Obejas can wear any damn thing she wants! For clarity's sake, the title refers to the horrified reaction of a Cuban-born father to his consciousness-raised daughter's suede, fringe and bell-bottomed outfit. She answers him "...you didn't come [to the U.S.] for me, you came for you." While this story seems the most personal, the other six stories are unparalleled in their first-person candor, their blunt realism.

Each story reminds me of a performance piece, a spoken monologue rife with on-the-edge-hilarity. In "Wrecks", a Latina lesbian admits to an inevitable car accident after each break-up. Though "The Cradleland" recounts a sexual fantasy turned real, its finely crafted lines reveal more substance: the long friendship between a Latina Lesbian and a Latino gay with AIDS. "Man, Oh Man" actually was adapted for the stage; I won't give away its grittiness. The lesbian activist in "Forever" tells us about "being a woman-loving-woman in the face of danger as well as boredom." In this story, Obejas write of the pleasures -- and troubles -- of being out, and a sometimes unwilling role model.

Achy Obejas is one companera whose works I want to feast on again and again. Her fiction is sumptuous, delicious, spiced with credible characters and on-the-mark dialogue--and I want to read many, many more of her stories.

Terri de la Perla is the author of two novels, Latin Satins and Margins, both from Seal Press.

PROPOSAL

My Food, My Feelings

I need to stop drinking
Raspberry beer
It reminds me of her
And she's no longer here.

I suppose the warm, comforting,
Toll House cookies must go
A gentle reminder
Of childhood long ago.
I look back with longing
On intimate nights
Devouring hot pizza
Till it was lost out of sight.

The chips, the chocolate
The raspberry beer
All methods of numbing
The feelings I fear.
The shame and self-hatred
The feelings of doubt
The food is not the problem
It's what I'm all about.

The lost little girl
Whose needs were never met
Stopped feeling her feelings
And ate instead.
Happiness, sadness
Feelings of shame
Food was used
To anesthetize the pain.

I've served my time in 12-step groups
Trying to live "one day at a time"
I've journaled, I've sponsored, I've read the Big Book
And now I've come to find
A broken soul, a misfit child
Who ate instead of feel
Learns how to cope without the food
And face in life what's real.

Coming out of the shadows
Out of the past
My "self" emerges
Finally, at last!

Grandmother Mills' Recipes

JELLO SALAD

- 2 cups Applesauce
- 2 packages Jello (any flavor)
- 2 cups 7-Up

Heat applesauce to boiling. Stir in Jello and continue cooking until all the gelatin is dissolved. Remove from heat and stir in 7-Up. Pour in suitably sized pan and refrigerate until set. Serve with whipped cream. Note: This recipe is just as tasty with unsweetened applesauce, sugar-free Jello, diet 7-Up and low-cal whipped topping but don't tell Grandmother Mills. --Beth Killfoile

JADS POLICY STATEMENT

JADS (John, Angel, Don & Scott) Enterprises is a newly formed gay-owned company with the purpose of making a variety of pride products available to our community.

We are four professionals (pharmacist, computer programmer, lawyer & teacher) who have recently discovered the freedom of expressing pride in ourselves and our community.

Our goal through JADS Enterprises is to make pride products available to you at prices that aren't shocking. Additionally, we aspire to put some new, innovative products on the market, like our history-with-a-twist t-shirt line.

We are new and we are doing our best to avoid mistakes and pitfalls in this venture. We are anxious to release our catalogue of 300-plus items in the coming months, including 25 t-shirts, large and small stained-glass sunchatchers, and novel pride items you haven't seen anywhere!

We encourage your suggestions. If there is something you would like to see us carry, please let us know. Our sincerest hope is that our products will help you express yourself and express your pride wherever you are.

To help us continue to make these products available at attractive prices, please tell others about us.

Breast Cancer Prevention Study

The Breast Cancer Prevention Trial (BCPT) is still seeking women at increased risk for developing breast cancer to participate in its ongoing study. Tamoxifen, the most commonly prescribed and widely studied cancer therapy in the world, is being investigated to determine if it can be used to reduce the development of breast cancer.

To be eligible for the Trial, a woman must be at least 60 years old OR 35 to 59 with some risk factors that would increase her likelihood of developing breast cancer.

Trial participants in the Houston area are screened and treated at M. D. Anderson Cancer Center. If you would like a risk assessment to determine if you might be eligible for this study, please contact Elizabeth Killfoile at 728-3637.

Diana Jones' CD Release Party at Ms. Bs Saturday, April 13

Come celebrate the release of Diana Jones' first compact disc recording Saturday, April 13th at Ms. B's in the Ranch. Diana Jones, the Austin-based singer/songwriter/guitarist, is known for her impassioned songs and her distinctly beautiful voice.

With a musical style that combines folk, country, pop, and jazz, Diana Jones engages the audience in a delightful journey for both the soul and the mind. Jones' original music conveys vivid images, heartfelt truth and poignant desire. With humor, grace, and insight, Jones both enlightens and entertains.

Jones is a frequent headliner at Austin-area clubs and is currently touring the major cities in Texas. She is regularly invited to perform at the annual Lone Star Women's Music Festival where she appears on both the main stage and at the closing night campfire. She was last seen in Houston at the Houston Women's Festival (October 28, 1995) where she was a crowd favorite.

Her first compact disc recording titled "Imagine Me" is eagerly anticipated by her many fans. Jones will sign copies of her new CD after her performance.

The event will kick off at 8 p.m. with opening act Girls with Guitars. Ms. B's is located at 9218 Buffalo Speedway. Admission is $4. The event is produced by The Athena Art Project, a non-profit organization supporting the artistic endeavors of women.

The WAND is a monthly publication of Womynspace, a 100% volunteer organization.

Opinions expressed in articles printed herein do not necessarily reflect the views of the editors of the WAND or the Womynspace organization as a whole.

Submissions to the calendar: Groups may send us notice of their regular meetings and special events by the 15th of the month for next month's issue. We are glad to network with other groups that work for social change and share a feminist perspective.

Submissions of articles, poetry and cover art should have positive, coalition building content. Articles may be submitted on IBM 3.5" diskettes, ASCII or WordPerfect format. Please use 3" columns for typed submissions. Sign and include a phone number. WAND Layout is scheduled around the 20th of the month. Check the calendar for date or call 664-9215. We need community support to ensure the WAND is a comprehensive networking directory for the women's community. WAND distribution is 2,000 copies.

The Houston Area Women's Center offers free individual counseling and support services for lesbian and bisexual survivors of domestic violence.

Battered lesbians/bisexual women must overcome the obstacles that all battered women must face including: fear for their lives and their children's lives, lack of resources, isolation, self-blame and denial. Additionally, if battered lesbians report the assault, they often face the problem of being "outed" to police officers, the District Attorney's office, the local women's center and often their families. There is now help available for lesbians/bisexual women who are confronting these issues.

The Women's Center offers free individual counseling, support services and shelter to all women and children who have been battered or sexually assaulted. To schedule an appointment, call 528-2121.
