

Cotton pickin' time again!

Coogs knock off Owls for conference crown

by t. edward bell

The only thing more entertaining than the Rice's Marching Owl Band show in the Astrodome Saturday night was the first half performance of the Danny Davis and Co. Traveling Clown Show and Juggling Act.

Or so it appeared to be for two quarters, before the UH Cougars pinched themselves, put their butts in gear, and racked up an impressive 685 yards offense against the persistently pesky Owls.

The ensuing 49-25 victory over the Owls gave the Cougars their first outright Southwest Conference title, and their second trip to the Cotton Bowl in three years.

Judging from the Coogs' performance last week against Texas Tech, which they lost 22-21, and their first half showing against Rice, wherein they lost five fumbles, the 9-2 team did not deserve to meet Notre Dame in Dallas on Jan 1.

But from the beginning of the second half of the Saturday game the Cougars looked very much like the team which put the Cotton Bowl hopes of Texas, A&M and Arkansas at about the same distance of those of Rice and TCU.

The Cougars were booed roundly as they left the field after the first half. Apparently, the taunts had some effect. The Cougars had only a paltry 14-10 lead on the Owls when the first half gun sounded. Owl quarterback Randy Hertel riddled the Cougar secondary, hitting 13 of 27 passes for 159 yards. By game's end, the sophomore throwing wizard from Hacienda Heights, Calif., had dazzled the Dome crowd of 33,186 with his aerial artistry.

But it was all for naught. On the Cougars' first possession of the second half, Davis led his crew 83 yards downfield without incident. Reserve quarterback Delrick Brown came in with 6:40 to play in the third quarter and put the lid on the drive with a five-yard keeper around right end making the score 21-13, UH.

The third period was a big one in more ways than one for senior fullback Randy Love went over the 1,000 yard rushing mark for the season. Teammate Emmett King had passed the magical mark in the first quarter on an 80-yard scoring scamper, the fourth-longest rushing play in UH history. Those statistics make the two backs the first pair of runners on the same team to break a thousand in Southwest Conference history.

While the UH offense spent the second half moving the ball and scoring at will, the defense was being totally frustrated by the gifted arm of Hertel, and the equally talented hands of Owl receivers Doug Cunningham, who had six receptions for 78 yards, and Weldon Meeks, who caught five six for 64. Overall, Hertel hit on 27 of 51 passes for an amazing 368 yards, burning the UH defenders with abandon.

The Owl defense had as much trouble with the UH ground game as the Cougars did with Hertel's arm. King and Love racked up 147 and 60 yards, respectively. Sophomore reserve backs John Newhouse and Terald Clark, considered to be among the most promising runners in the conference, gathered 48 and 61 yards after coming in late in the game.

The UH defensive line applied pressure on the Rice backfield for the duration of the game, but it proved merely an exercise in frustration. The Owl offensive line was too good at guarding their gilded passer, and held the defenders at bay.

Now that the conference title is safe at hand, as well as the semi-coveted Bayou Bucket, the trophy which goes to the winner of each year's Cougar-Owl contest, Coach Bill Yeoman's Cougars will be turning their attention to tenth-ranked Notre Dame. Most of the post-game talk centered around the Fighting Irish.

"Our coverage will need to be better," said Coach Yeoman, "our linebackers and defensive backs will need a lot of work before Notre Dame. Montana (the Notre Dame quarterback Joe) will probably throw for 72,000 yards against us."

"We weren't getting good pressure on their quarterback," added Linebacker David Hodge. "It was just like practice for them, all he (Hertel) had to do was have his timing down."

DON JONES

Linebacker David Hodge shows off Bayou Bucket

Despite Randy Hertel's fine game, the morale of the team was high as their thoughts drifted to the ensuing game with

Notre Dame. Offensive tackle Robert Jones said it best, "Dallas Texas, January first, y'all be there, if not, watch us on TV, we'll be there. Notre Dame should stay home."

UH backs set SWC rushing record

by p. micheal madden

King

Emmett King was the first to do it when he broke over left tackle and sprinted 80 yards for a touchdown late in the first quarter. Randy Love joined him in the select circle midway through the third quarter when he ran over the right side for an eight yard gain.

No other team in Southwest Conference football history has had two running backs do in one year what King and Love did the past season. Not even that celebrated pair from Texas A&M, George Woodard and Curtis Dickey, have accomplished in the same year what Emmett King and Randy Love both did this year.

After Love ran over the right side in the third quarter for eight yards to join Emmett King in breaking the 1,000 yard mark for the season, the game was stopped and the ball was presented to Randy Love.

"Our offensive line told us that they were going to help us both get 1,000 yards," said Love after the game.

"I figured that if I stayed healthy and the team won a lot of games that 1,000 yards would take care of itself," said King.

Love had it in mind at the start of the season that he could gain 1,000 yards if he could stay free of injuries. He did.

"Two Cotton Bowls in three is a pretty good record," said King. "We knew that the rest of the conference didn't want us there this year so we had to work extra hard to get there. I hope Notre Dame will be there too at the Cotton Bowl."

Love agreed. "Winning the conference outright this year makes me feel better," he said.

The Daily Cougar is the official student paper of the University of Houston Central Campus, 4800 Calhoun, Houston, Texas 77004. It is published Monday through Friday, September through April. Opinions expressed in this paper are those of the writer or cartoonist and do not necessarily reflect those of The Daily Cougar, the administration or anyone else on this campus for that matter. News, editorial—749-4141. Advertising—749-1212.

THE COFFEEHOUSE—"Laast cailll for alcohooooo!!!!" The scream, delivered by one of the UC Coffeehouse bartenders in a distinctly New York accent, is greeted with taunts, jeers, and plastic cups thrown by the 30 or so drinkers and drunks in attendance. It is 10:40, a ludicrously Christian hour for a bar to be calling in its pitchers and highball glasses.

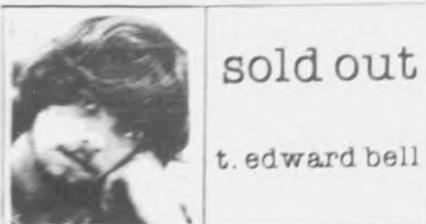

UH is one of a limited number of college campuses to have its own bar run under the auspices of the university itself. The UH Coffeehouse is actually controlled by Mannings, Inc., the same people who give you those magnificent hamburgers in the Cougar Den. Fortunately, under the watchful eye of Program Council's Coffeehouse Committee, Manning's makes a better bourbon and Coke than burger and fries.

The beer and booze are relatively cheap, and the mix of people makes the joint the ideal place to get drunk and complain about the incompetent stooge who just flunked you on that QMS final.

If you sit in a dark corner on any given night, you are guaranteed some form of entertainment. My favorites are the lecherous English professors who come in nightly to pick up nubile freshman women ("My dear, would you like to feel my huge, throbbing volume of Proust?")

And then there are the foreign students who get smashed out of their international gourds and argue at the tops of their lungs about some obscure border skirmish which occurred in 1963. And while you're down there, check out the pathetic alcoholic professional students who have been at the same table since 1969.

The Coffeehouse is noted for some of the outstanding, mostly local talent it draws to its tiny stage on weekends. There are folk artists, rock bands, magicians, hypnotists, comedians, and whatever else can fit the stage. Musical acts such as Dan Hill and Jimmy Buffett have at one time entertained smallish crowds there.

What is most missing from the joint is non-human atmosphere. The decor is made up of putrid red walls and vinyl chairs which give the effect of a Sambos gone to Hell. Usually it is dark, and if there are enough characters, the plastic environment is quickly forgotten.

There are obstacles to overcome to make the Coffeehouse the best bar for an academic environment. There is the decoration of course, but plans are underway to have the place redecorated. And then there are the ridiculous hours—3-11 p.m.—the crowded conditions on entertainment nights, and the fact that the only draft beer available is 1000's.

The hours and the beer situation are the products of some assinine decisions on the part of the UC policy board, and could be changed. As for the crowding, I suppose we should consider ourselves lucky to have a coffeehouse in the first place.

If you are into finding a hangout where you can drink alcohol without having to sit next to a drunken insurance salesman, without having to listen to an embolic bartender who likes to reminisce about the 1938 Yankees, you have it in your own back yard.

The Coffeehouse is located on the bottom floor of the UC next to the Cougar Den. Don't tell just everyone about it. After all, you don't want just anyone in your bar do you?

KKK proves many Americans 'still stupid'

To the Editor:

I don't know Boyd Lewis's reason or reasons for writing up the story on the comeback being made by the Ku Klux Klan, but to him I say thank you. The story, which appeared in the Nov. 30 issue of the Cougar, once again verifies the well known (and unmistakable) fact that stupidity still exists in the minds of thousands of Americans.

The views expressed in the column are as tragic and terrible as any mass-murder or disaster headline I have ever read in any paper or heard reported on the news. I am not putting down Mr. Lewis because I know these are not his personal views. What I read, I just could not believe.

"We do not burn a cross but rather we light it to show that the Christian religion and the white race excluded darkness." Now there is an intelligent statement. If the beliefs of the KKK are congruent to the Christian religion, or to any religion for that matter, then I would be damned proud to change my present views and voice my opinion as an atheist.

It is quite obvious when the KKK was formed. It is rather a classic example of stagnating intelligence—20th century "Americans" with 18th century views.

For the sake of everyone, white, black, green, yellow, purple, or brown, this race hatred must end. "Americans" seem to enjoy a fight, and prejudice will only lead to one.

I feel sorry for the people of any race who would instigate such hatred against other individuals because it can only lead to trouble, and trouble is not what this world needs in greater abundance.

In summer we have blue water boats, big fish and tight lines

In fall and winter we have surf, some large fish and fresh shrimp

But I have books, papers and pens, and Contracts.

Warm dry days are for bikes and women—the sun

And football, the big games.

I see a pegboard cubicle with flourescent light.

I'll take it now, in return for forever

I get a glimpse of forever through the window of a weekend.

Liberal lambasted

To the Editor:

It has never ceased to amaze me when I see the extent to which some people will blame society for their own lack of initiative as in the commentary of Nov. 30. From this article one is to understand that these kids are so poor and cold that sex is the only recreational alternative for 12-year-olds. One is furthermore led to believe that they arrived at this situation because somehow "the system" screwed them and thus they drop out of high school at a rate of up to 80 percent. They are "raised on the American dream that . . . gave them nothing."

The idea that society must GIVE them anything more than an opportunity and basic freedoms is averse to me. The fact that they are able to drop out of high school proves that an education is available to them if they want it.

I suspect that juvenile authorities would paint quite a different picture of these youngsters. Too often I read about juvenile felons who will be given a mere slap on the hand, if anything. This "give me or I'll take it" attitude is not at all consistent with a civilized society or my perception of the American dream.

To these kids I would suggest that "labor omnia vincit," so get off your collective asses and abandon these parasitic attitudes and you might realize the elusive American dream.

Fire rips through arch annex; $100,000 damage

by jay jorden

Charred classrooms will hamper the close of semester's classes and labs for about 500 students, after forty-foot flames gutted a portion of the Art and Architecture Annex late Friday, causing an estimated $100,000 damage to the structure's south side.

More than 50 firefighters battled the blaze about 9 p.m., which began after an apparent burnout of a master electrical panel on the southwest corner cut power to the building, then destroyed three faculty offices and a third-year architecture studio.

Many architecture students' projects and equipment were destroyed and administration officials said this weekend they plan emergency classrooms today for them and other art and architecture students registered for labs and classes in the building, which is without heat.

Six pumpers and two trucks responded after a one-alarm call at around 8:30 p.m. by architecture students who warned art students also in the building.

A delayed alarm slowed firemen's efforts to put out the blaze, which warped the heavy metal beams in the building with temperatures over 1,000 degrees.

The fire, which caused heavy smoke and water damage to the annex's south side, was contained in about 20 minutes and confined to the south 75 feet of the building, Senior Captain Ben Bryner said. The remainder of the structure, housing art classes, sustained some smoke damage, he said.

Heavy smoke and water damage was received by the annex's south-side facilities, Bryner said, which included a first floor lecture hall.

"On the east side of the building, things were relatively untouched," said Architecture Dean Dr. William R. Jenkins. "Fourth-year and graduate studios just sustained smoke damage and these students should be able to get their projects Monday.

"As far as affecting other students' projects, the third-year studios were burned up," Jenkins said. "Their individual faculty will have to meet with them and talk individually about their projects, and I would recommend that they look at the quality of work that students had been doing during the semester and anticipate what they were working on. We will just have to find somewhere to hold the lecture classes."

Until power is restored to the annex this week, alternate class meetings will be posted at the annex, Dr. Andrew J. Rudnick, associate chancellor, said. "Dr. Jenkins and Edmund Furley, his associate dean, are seeing if they can schedule classes in other buildings."

The fire will not speed the College of Architecture's acquisition of new facilities, Jenkins said. "This particular situation will not do anything that hasn't already been done," he said. "We got on-line priority rating for a new building this year. We have been told by the Chancellor's Office that as soon as the ad valorem tax issue is resolved by the Texas Legislature, we and business and engineering will be top priority for construction."

Insurance investigators today will make an estimate of damage, Rudnick said. "There are some things in the building which were irretrievable, such as faculty slides," he said.

Five architecture faculty members lost offices because of the fire, Jenkins said.

About 10 architecture students were in the building when the fire broke out, he said. Elsewhere in the annex, more art students were moving a one-ton sculpture when they were warned.

"I was hacking my brains out, the smoke was so thick," said art post-graduate Robert Graham. "The lights had gone out, and we were in the dark trying to recruit people to lift the hoist over it and get it out of there."

Internationals: Spend Xmas with U.S. hosts

by Tai Leung

Christmas International House (CIH) provides an opportunity for students to share homes with American hosts over the Christmas holidays. The program, sponsored by local churches, will extend from Dec. 18 until Jan. 2.

The only cost to international students is a $5 registration fee and round trip transportation from Houston to the CIH host community in which the students will stay.

During the CIH period, the students will be the guests of American families. They will be able to get a closer look at the American way of life. There will be recreation, parties, movies and tours. And, of course, the students will be able to celebrate the holiday season in the United States.

Application forms can be obtained from the International Student Organization in the U.C. Underground.

WHAT IS A PARALEGAL?

A paralegal is a person with one of the most exciting new careers going!

A paralegal is a lawyer's assistant who is able to do many tasks traditionally done by attorneys. Not a clerical or secretarial role, the paralegal is a new legal specialty with excellent job opportunities in law firms, corporate legal departments, and banks.

Three months of intensive training in courses taught by law professors and lawyers can give you the skills to interview witnesses, conduct legal research, prepare leadings, draft transaction documents, and prepare cases for trial under the supervision of an attorney.

The Basic Legal Assistant Course begins January 29, 1979. A representative will be on campus Wednesday, December 6, 1978 at the Career Placement Center. Sign-ups for interviews are available now.

Six Coogs named to Ap All-SWC

(AP)—The Associated Press 1978 All-Southwest Conference football team is a mirror of one of the wildest seasons in the league's long history, with a converted tight end, James Hadnot of Texas Tech, incredibly taking Offensive Player of the Year honors.

As selected by the SWC coaches, the team has firepower and a seasoned defensive unit that would rival any in America.

There are 1,000-yard gainers galore in the backfield led by the powerful Hadnot, a junior, Texas A&M's Curtis Dickey, Ben Cowins of Arkansas and Emmett King of Houston. Cowins and King tied in the balloting.

Danny Davis, the slick senior quarterback from Houston delivered in the clutch in vital games against Texas and Arkansas, wrested the No. 1 signal caller honors away from the likes of Southern Methodist's Mike Ford and Texas Tech freshman sensation Ron Reeves.

Reeves, who only a year ago was leading Lubbock Monterey High School, was named The Newcomer of the Year.

The first team receivers, part of "Mustang Mania," fleet wide receiver Emanuel Tolbert and tight end Elton Garrett.

The tackles were Greg Kolenda of Arkansas and rangy Cody Risien of Texas A&M. The guards were Dennis Greenawalt of Houston and David Sledge of Baylor.

The center went to steady Chuck Brown of Houston.

No mythical offensive team is complete without the kickers. In this case, there are two dandies—placekicker Tony Franklin of Texas A&M and punter Russell Erxleben of Texas.

Texas' ball-hawk Johnnie Johnson and linemen Dan Hampton and Jimmy Walker, both of Arkansas, anchor a rugged defense.

Up front with Hampton and Walker there's Texas A&M's Jacob Green, Houston's Hosea Taylor and Texas' Steve McMichael.

Bowl tickets on sale this week

Student tickets for the Cotton Bowl game on New Year's Day will go on sale at 9 a.m. Wednesday at the Hofheinz Pavilion Ticket Office.

Due to the limited number of tickets available, UH athletic office officials said each student will be limited to only two tickets, one ticket at a reduced price of $6.50 and the other ticket at the full price of $12.50.

Students must present a validated UH ID card at the ticket window to purchase tickets.

Applications for ticket purchases will be mailed to non-student season ticket holders.

Cougars roundballers hoping for first win in Hofheinz tonight

by p. michael madden

The Houston Cougar Basketball team will attempt to win for the first time this season tonight against St. Mary's in Hofheinz Pavilion.

Both of the Cougar losses so far this season have come at the hands of nationally ranked teams, Nevada (Reno) and Southern California. In both games, the Cougar Cagers played hard and had their chances at winning both games. However, Nevada (Reno) was able to win in the closing minutes by a margin of 74-71. In the Southern California game, except for a dry spell early in the second half in which the Cougars were outscored 18-4, the Cougars outplayed the Trojans in Los Angeles.

In both games, the lack of a good pivot man hurt the Cougars. Both of the opposing centers enjoyed fine games against the smaller Coogs. Hopefully, the return of Leonard Mitchell after the Cotton Bowl will help the Cougars with this problem for the remainder of the season.

Victor Ewing, a junior college transfer, is the leading scorer for the Cougars in this young season. Ewing is a 6-foot-6 forward with a deadly shot from the corners. As the season progresses, Ewing could turn out to be one of the top forwards in the Southwest Conference.

Ken "Juice" Williams, a guard, had an off night against Southern California but will be counted on heavily to provide a consistent scoring punch from his position if the Cougars are to do well this year.

The Cougars will play Hardin Simmons University at home Wednesday night. After that, the Cougars will play in the Bluebonnet Classic, a game that UH has won for the past several years.

Here is an anecdotal history of the first half century of the University of Houston. The author, who has been vice president of the University of Houston since 1957, has written his history in a style totally different from the usual account of an institution of higher education: against the rich fabric of the ongoing development of the city that had to have a major public university and of the personalities and motivational patterns, events, traditions, and needs that shaped the institution and the metropolis.

Anyone interested in the history of the University of Houston or interested in the history of Houston will find this book both fascinating and informative.
