Organization With Scores Of Subversive Members Enjoys Probe-Exempt Privileges

It Seems Unfair To Observe United Nations Day While Its Founder Is Still In Stir

On October 24 many groups throughout the country are going to put the little pot in the big pot and whoop it up.

The occasion will be United Nations Day proclaimed to honor the founding of the great international organization set up to end war, restore peace and insure unity among all peoples of the earth.

As a fitting tribute to that great American patriot, Alger Hiss, in whose brilliant mind this superb instrument for universal goodwill was born, a movement should be launched to get him sprung from the jug during that one day in order that he, too, may share in the honor to be accorded the child of his fertile brain.

Petitions should be sent to prison officials demanding that he be released to the temporary custody of some outstanding group of patriots such as the Americans for Democratic Action, for example, who will guarantee his safe return to the institution after he has delivered a stirring address on loyalty as his contribution to the day's program.

In the event an unsympathetic warden refuses to cooperate by giving him a twenty-four hour parole, perhaps it could be arranged to decorate his cell with the flag of the United Nations while his friends and admirers conduct appropriate ceremonies on the ground beneath his window.

To carry out this program a committee on arrangements should be selected from among his staunch supporters which would include, among others, Felix Frankfurter, Harry Truman, Dean Acheson and Eleanor Roosevelt.

As we go to press, the shocking announcement has been made in Washington that Governor Earl Warren of California has been named Chief Justice of the Supreme Court. The news broke too late for comment in this edition.

Let Them Bring On Their Wildcats. We're Ready

Miss Lucille Ball, the Hollywood television actress who is a fast gal with an alibi, has given us an inspiration.

If some congressional committee of the future which is investigating subversion smokes us out and charges us with having voted the New Deal ticket in 1932, we will be ready for them.

We will just break down and tell them the truth and give honest answers like Miss Ball did.

We will first point out to them that we were very young at the time having barely reached ninety and that, in our youthful innocence, we didn't know any better.

We will also explain that our old grandpappy, Simon Legree McFlogger, got out the old blacksnake whip and laid it on our poor back at every step of the way to the polls.

We will make it clear that grandpappy McFlogger was a lifelong member of the Socialist Party and political boss of the family and since we loved him and wanted to keep him happy, there was nothing we could do but vote for Roosevelt.

Thousands Pay Tribute To Chief Justice

The late Chief Justice Fred Vinson's complete lack of respect for fundamental principles of the American system of government was demonstrated many times in his rulings as a member of the Supreme Court, but he was personally popular and enjoyed a wide circle of friends who held him in the highest esteem.

His funeral in Washington recently was attended by thousands of prominent and highly respected citizens from all sections of the country.

Harry Truman was also present.

Some of the most active and aggressive Communist Fronters and Fellow Travelers in this country officiated at the birth, and are contributing to the support, of Americans for Democratic Action, a dedicated clique of ideological deviates serving as a transmission belt for the dissemination of un-American theories of government in the United States.

In the current era of controlled thought and mass action where everything is planned, nothing happens of its own accord and organized minorities largely dictate our economic and social policies, Americans for Democratic Action are striving for a vital and important role.

While screaming to high heaven that they are anti-Communist, their membership roll reads like a "Who's Who" in select Communist Front circles and the record of their stand on controversial issues lines them up on the side of Moscow thinking and definitely places them in opposition to basic principles of the American Republic.

Like the Ku Klux Klan of the 1920's whose members were required to swear that they didn't belong to it, ADA affiliates must shout their denial of Communist sympathy from one side of their mouth while clamoring for the objectives of Karl Marx, father of the Communist Party, from the other.

Organized in 1947 out of the remnants of the notorious Union for Democratic Action set up in 1941 by labor racketeers to push the United States into Socialist England's war against Hitler, ADA emerged under the joint sponsorship of pink polo players from Park Avenue and leftist labor leaders from the wrong side of the railroad track.

In between these two extremes of the American social scale are to be found most of the misfits, riff-raff and rag-tag hangers from the New Deal and Fair Deal snugly holed up in ADA staunchly plugging for any principle of government so long as it does not conform to basic American ideals.

In valiant efforts to assemble under one roof all political birds of a feather, ADA has thrown open its doors to all creeds, classes and colors and the only ones barred from entrance are Americans of unquestioned loyalty to their own country and who have a deep and abiding faith in its institutions as fashioned by the founders of the Republic.

While investigating committees of the Congress probe into the subversive activities of far less dangerous and influential groups, ADA is left free to operate under a phony mantle of respectability as it goes merrily about its job of hacking away at our Free Enterprise System, discrediting the Constitution of the United States and undermining the foundation of the American form of government.

As a forceful example of how much the truth squares with ADA's protestations of anti-Communist sympathies, a brief review of its official actions and of some of the personalities who direct its programs and formulate its policies, is illuminating.

To begin with, one of the chief obstetricians officiating at the birth of ADA was one Reinhold Niebuhr—a professor at Union Theological Seminary which turns out Socialist preachers in assembly-line proportions—and who has not only belonged to, but has been an active participant in, fourteen different revolutionary Communist fronts and which were so described by official investigating committees.

There were fifteen other members of the organization committee, including the international representative of the Brotherhood of Sleeping Car Porters present at ADA's initial meeting to assist in launching the organization.

While sleeping car porters definitely have their useful place

Millions of Americans Think It--The Southern Conservative Says It

Legislation Based On Theory Of A Superior Race Is Passed By The Israeli Parliament

Last month the Israeli Parliament passed a law which makes it illegal for the people of that country to intermarry with Gentiles. Good for them.

Of course, in enacting this legislation, the people of Israel, through their elected representatives, have announced to the world that they consider themselves of a superior race. That's all right, too.

Any race whose members have the pride and self-respect they should have want to keep their particular racial group inviolate from mongrelization through mixture with other strains.

Theirs is a race which has always been exclusive so far as their own people are concerned and now that they have officially taken this firm and determined stand in the interest of self-preservation, it is to be hoped that their good example will be followed here.

In direct contrast to the proud spirit of the Israeli people, here in the United States there are constant and effective attempts to bring about mongrelization through attacks on segregation and efforts to compel by law the indiscriminate mixing of the white and colored races.

Since Israel considers it degrading for their citizens to intermarry even with the people of other white races, it is obvious that they must unanimously agree that the forced social mixing of persons of different colors, with its inevitable consequences, is the ultimate in human depravity.

In view of the fact that the people of that country have close ties in the United States through hundreds of thousands of relatives and friends, they have a wonderful opportunity to repay a debt of gratitude to a nation which befriended them in their hour of need.

They can do this by communicating their racial views to their American contacts and enlisting their support in helping to prevent the tragedy of mongrelization here which the people of Israel had the wisdom to forestall by law.

Since the new state of Israel has begun its national life by instituting a rigid moral code, it goes without saying that they should be only too happy to help set up the same high standards in a country whose support and financial contributions enabled them to found their own nation and formulate their social customs according to their own desires.

In the meantime, we are in the pitiable position of having launched a new nation on its course in history whose people had the foresight to employ legislative enactment to preserve the purity of their race while we seek to invoke the same machinery in achieving the corruption of our own.

Martin Durkin Lived Up To Fair Deal Standards A Modern Horatio Alger Climbs The Ladder Fast

The performance of Martin Durkin in which he made it plain that he considers a Cabinet office as one which is secured and held through "deals" with the president, bears out the late Robert A. Taft's observation that the appointment of Durkin was "incredible" in the first place.

The experience will be well worth what it cost him, if it teaches the president that any confidence reposed in a professional Fair Dealer is about as safe and productive of beneficial results as placing a viper inside his shirt.

That he hasn't yet realized this is evident by his invitation to Adlai Stevenson to visit him and "brief" him on foreign affairs, an act for which his advisers should be fired without notice.

Roosevelt did this same thing in the case of Wendell Wilkie but Roosevelt is the last person in the world, or out of it, whose example should be emulated by an American president.

The East German radio announced that the Communists there will train 1,200 girls as parachutists by the end of this year. In other words, if some Commissar gets funny or starts making passes while 1000 feet in the air, a gal can just bail out and walk home.

The great majority of those who supported Dwight D. Eisenhower for president were favorable to the Taft-Hartley law as it stands and it is impossible to believe Martin Durkin's claim that the president had made any agreement with him to emasculate this law.

Irving Kaplan was employed by the Works Progress Administration in 1936 at a salary of $5000. In six months he was raised to $5400; he was then transferred to the job of assistant attorney general at the same salary.

In 1940 he was promoted to the office of research analyst of the Federal Works Agency at $5600; in 1942 he was made head of the statistical department in the War Production Board at $6500; in 1944 he was made director of a division of Foreign Economic Administration at $8000; in 1945 his salary was raised to $8750 and in 1946 he was transferred to the Office of War Mobilization and Reconversion at a salary of $9012.

In 1952 he was asked by an investigating committee of Congress if he was now, and had been throughout all these years, a member of the Communist Party as Whittaker Chambers had testified.

His reply was "I refuse to answer on the ground that it may tend to incriminate me."

All it takes to get ahead in a government job is to be honest, industrious and loyal, we always say.

From a physician in St. Petersburg, Florida: "From the September edition, I take it that your Steve Brodie down the stairs hasn't hurt you a bit for which Allah be praised!! We need more Peglers, more Lewises, Hurleys, Brickers, McCarthy's and MacArthurs; yea boy, and more Dardens and Southern Conservatives."

ORGANIZATION—

in the national economy through the performance of their professional and personal duties the same as all other citizens, just what part they, as a group, were assigned in helping to overhaul the American government, re-defining its proper functions and enlarging its scope of responsibility, was not made clear.

It has been suggested by irreverent persons that perhaps their service to the cause will consist of spotting Reactionaries among Pullman passengers, creeping up on these sleeping Fascists, yanking the pillow from under their head, hiding their shoes and throwing their pants out the window.

The National Association for Advancement of Colored People was also ably represented at the organization ceremonies of ADA by its president although we were unable to find any envoy having similar interest in the advancement of white people listed as being present.

The heads of the International Garment Workers Union, the United Automobile Workers and allied groups were on hand to give the benefit of their advice and counsel in the matter of discarding the principles of Lincoln and Jefferson and replacing them with ideologies more befitting the modern concepts of progressive citizens in a new world order.

"The New Deal Program must be expanded" read the first line of the first pronouncement issued by ADA following its organization although how they would go about expanding something that already covered everything from providing free nose rings for Bantu tribesmen in the African Bush to guaranteeing riparian rights to the operators of irrigated skunk farms in the Euphrates Valley, was not explained.

Further evidence of how strongly ADA frowns on Communism and Soviet sympathizers is offered by its roster of members which is identical, in many instances, with that of the subversive organizations listed in the files of the House Committee on Un-American Activities and in the official records of the Department of Justice.

The window-dressing sector of ADA is composed of those who have never been listed officially as members of Communist Fronts and who have been able to successfully disguise their left-wing activities as liberal political action but their views are known to parallel in all essential points those of the shady characters who use the Fifth Amendment to the Constitution as a shield.

This sector takes in those whose secure position in political circles makes them exempt from the embarrassment of official investigation to which lesser lights are subjected and includes such high-bracket leftists as Eleanor Roosevelt, Hubert Humphrey, Averill Harriman, Herbert Lehman and scores of other professional bleeding hearts.

One of their prominent members who had official ADA approval of his candidacy for membership on the New York City Council is credited with membership in sixty-nine different Communist Fronts and who, because of his age, can't offer the alibi that his grandpa made him join.

Another ADA member and effective behind-the-scenes worker is shown in the Daily Worker, official Communist Party organ, on February 7, 1936, as a member of the Communist Party.

Another member who takes a prominent part in its affairs is an ex-convict who served a prison term for draft-dodging in World War I and who has proudly described himself as a "philosophical anarchist."

Still another who helped to set up ADA, a Harvard University Faculty member, said in a magazine article: "The faults and injustices in our present system make even freedom-loving Americans look wistfully at Russia."

These instances could be multiplied indefinitely as there have been few Communist Fronts set up in this country to which some members of ADA do not belong or have not belonged in the past and not many types of subversive activity in which some of them have not been engaged.

Also, it is hard to reconcile their alleged aversion to Communism with their official stand on public issues.

They have demanded the right of Communists to organize student groups on the campus of all American colleges; they condemned the Mundt Communist Control bill as a "dangerous and futile attempt to repress Communists"; they protested the release by the Attorney General of the United States of a list of Communist Fronts in this country given out for the information and protection of the American people; they demanded the elimination of loyalty tests "in those agencies and positions which do not clearly affect national security"; they opposed legislation outlawing any political party at a time when legislation was being considered to outlaw the Communist party; they condemned restrictions upon teachers and students because of their political affiliations, in connection with proposals to investigate the infiltration of Communism in our schools; they insisted on the rights of teachers to promote full and free discussion in the class room and their right to join any political organization of their choice, following disclosures that many American teachers were Communists and were teaching Communism in the class room; they charged that the Un-American Activities Committee of Congress set up to investigate Communists was a "threat to freedom of political opinion" and demanded that it be abolished on the ground that it had "demonstrated its appalling ignorance of the rights of American citizens; they proposed the setting up of standards for dealing with student political activity in collaboration with the Civil Liberties Committee on Academic Freedom; they opposed segregation in American schools, urged the passage of national FEPC legislation and endorsed the establishment of a World Government.

It may well be that, as they claim, they are opposed to Communism but as spokesmen for the things for which Communists stand, they will do until a better one comes along.

While ADA is one of the most influential organizations of its kind devoted to breaking down established American institutions, there are many other groups with similar objectives who are chiseling away the rights, freedom and sovereignty of the American people.

That we have survived thus far as a free, independent and Christian nation against repeated assaults of these combined forces, can be attributed only to the grace of a merciful Saviour who, even as He tempers the wind to the shorn lamb, protects frail mortals from the evils of their own weakness, errors and folly.

TO KEEP EATING QUIT HAVING CHILDREN AND GET A DIVORCE

Over in England a sort of theological Dr. Kinsey has turned up who has arrived at all the answers without having made a survey.

His name is Henry Self, president of the Conference of Modern Churchmen in Oxford.

In an address to the annual meeting of that group recently, he told the assembled churchmen that he had found the solution not only for the food shortage problem but also the recipe for "happy marriages, parental responsibility and reverence for life generally."

Pointing out that the fit breed faster than the unfit, he told his listeners that the remedy is for churches to liberalize their attitude on divorce and for people to begin practicing birth control.

Which proves what so-called leaders will do and say to make the headlines.

Treason is Still Treason No Matter Who Commits It

We are mindful of the fact that in the United States in recent years the crime of treason has been not only tolerated but encouraged until it is no longer regarded as a much more serious offense than violation of the traffic laws.

Just the same it is shocking to learn of the official attitude of this country toward American GI's who became converted to Communism while in custody of Red China as war prisoners, and who prefer to exist in slavery with their captors rather than return to the freedom of their native land.

In Panmunjom a Brigadier General A. L. Hamblen representing the "United Nations Command Teams" and who is authorized to speak for this country has assured these disloyal Americans that "being a Progressive is not considered a crime in the United States."

In Tokyo General Mark Clark chimed in with this official statement of policy: "I would remind them of the American tradition of freedom—the freedom for which they fought before their capture."

The right of Americans to betray this country and its institutions under the guise of "liberalism" has been recognized ever since 1933 by the White House, by government agencies and by Congress and now the army brass puts its stamp of approval on treason among the troops.

We can understand how captured American soldiers would have said anything, done anything and promised anything to their savage masters while prisoners of war in order to save their lives. They could, as many did, outsmart the heathens in this way and repudiate it on their return home.

But those few who deliberately accepted Communism and elected to remain in enemy territory should be regarded as common traitors and so treated if they should ever decide to return.

Maybe They Will Color It A Purple Shade Like Spuds

We learn that a "Food Industries Coordinating Committee" in Washington proposes for the Department of Agriculture to continue to buy butter at the national average support price of sixty-five cents per pound and to permit its resale at a reduction of ten or fifteen cents per pound into normal marketing channels.

If the Federal government would attend to its own business such as delivering the mail, levying imposts and the other limited functions which the founders delegated to it, we would not now be confronted with the threat of war, Socialism and national bankruptcy.

We have read the Constitution from cover to cover many times and we have never yet found any provision in that document which authorizes the Federal government to buy butter, lipsticks, safety pins or any other commodity not necessary to the conduct of its legitimate business.

Adlai Admits His Obedience To Bosses

At the Chicago conclave of Socialists who call themselves Democrats early in September, heavy blasts of hot air were released by the wind-jammers who held the center of the stage, but one assertion was made which can't be disputed.

Adlai Stevenson quipped: "I am not a very good politician but I am a very obedient one."

We'll say he is. He proved this following his nomination for president last year when he knuckled under to Harry Truman, the CIO, the ADA and the machine bosses generally and servilely carried out their orders in his campaign pronouncements.

All this, too, after being touted as an independent thinker who had no obligations to the Fair Deal gang whatever.

This Is Cunningly Stated But The Meaning Is Clear

Maintaining her twenty-year record for unflinching defense of subversive forces seeking to undermine the American government, Eleanor Roosevelt runs true to form in outlining the ideological beliefs of the National Issues Committee which she heads.

"The denial of free will, whether by the innocent who profess intellectual belief in totalitarian doctrines or by tyrants and demagogues who try to practice them, is the denial both of man's opportunity to fulfill his destiny and of his responsibility before God", she says in a recent pronouncement on the aims of her committee, and the "abuses" it will try to correct.

That paragraph will bear reading over several times by thinking Americans who, after they have done this, will be forced to the conclusion that we may be investigating the little fish and letting the big ones get away.

France Is Typical Example Of Power Of Communism

In France recently, a demonstration of Communism in practical operation pointed up a clear picture of the power of Russia to bring about national chaos by remote control.

The instruments through which the Soviets operated in attempts to demoralize the French economy were the powerful labor unions headed, in many instances, by a dangerous and lawless element.

In a paralyzing strike throughout that country the unions illustrated what Stalin and Lenin meant when they said that workers could bring about the downfall of "Capitalism" by concerted action without bloodshed.

Not that France had much "Capitalism" to fall since it is mostly a Socialized set-up with nationalized industry and a totalitarian economy, for the most part, based on the same Socialistic policies which prevail in most countries outside the United States, and which is fast gaining foothold here.

Those who are inclined to change and soften the provisions in the Taft-Hartley law could learn a valuable lesson from the disgraceful performance of the unions in France during the nationwide strike there, but the chances are that they won't.

As soon as Congress meets in January attempts will be stepped up to re-write the Taft-Hartley Act and one of the main changes will be the provision which required union members to take a non-Communist oath.

The motivating principle behind legislation in Washington for the past twenty years has been a desire to keep politicians in office and the security, safety and welfare of the Republic has been secondary, in highly controversial issues.

The first foothold of Communism in this country was the labor unions where Communists were holed up by the thousands and, to a large extent, this condition still prevails.

Instead of weakening the Taft-Hartley law, the plain, and inescapable duty of members of Congress is not only to leave that legislation intact but to place unions under the provisions of the anti-trust law.

Maybe He Meant The Four Horsemen

Senator Harry F. Byrd of Virginia, Senator Pat McCarran of Nevada, Governor Eugene Talmadge of Georgia and Governor Allan Shivers of Texas are among the "worst enemies of labor and liberalism to be found in the Democratic Party".

This is the private opinion, publicly expressed, of James B. Carey, national Secretary of the CIO who also issued this warning:

"We cannot afford any longer to permit the Trojan horse of reaction to stable itself in the camp of liberalism".

His rather confusing statement leaves us in the dark as to which one of the four he regards as the "horse".

At any rate it is not likely that the term, in its entirety, would ever be applied to Mr. Carey.

Speaking of Senator Joseph R. McCarthy, a Unitarian preacher in Evanston, Illinois, one Dr. Homer A. Jack, said: "No Communist in America has done as much damage to our American Civil liberties and our whole American Democracy." Perhaps Dr. Matthews should revise his figures and make it 7001.

A Sure Way To End All Wars

World politicians who instigate wars for somebody else to fight should be put in the front line of battle themselves.

The draft age should begin at fifty, instead of eighteen thereby giving the old birds a chance to see how they like to take their own medicine.

World War II could have been prevented if the leaders of the nations involved, together with their top advisers, had been gotten together and had a nice, live bomb dropped on them.

In this way the flower of American manhood would have been saved, and the future of American youth would not have been sacrificed.

Maybe Tito Is Going To Pay What He Owes

Norman Thomas, Socialist leader, is just back from Yugoslavia and has joined in the chorus with Mrs. Roosevelt by chanting the refrain that we are unpopular in Tito's bailiwick.

We wonder, if, by any chance, old man Tito is ready to pay back the millions we "lent" him in 1951.

We don't visit Iron Curtain countries and consequently are not familiar with ethics there but in the only country we know, or care, anything about, it is considered good taste to speak well of a benefactor who bails us out of the clink, and not knock him—at least until we pay him what we owe him.

Writing of the furor in England over "McCarthyism", David Lawrence gives a very logical explanation of their opposition to an American senator's efforts to rid the government of Communists. He points out that in Europe Communists have pretty much of a free hand where they infiltrate governments and nobody seems to care. He called attention to Klaus Fuchs, atomic spy, cleared by the British and sent to work in American atomic energy plants. He also named Guy Burgess and Donald McLean, both known to be spies who had skipped out to Russia carrying secret documents with them. He suggests that perhaps the reason for all the noise over "McCarthyism" is because they want to keep any British McCarthy from investigating what is going on there.

There has never been a more infamous act in the world's history than the division of Germany and Korea by unprincipled politicians who sat around a secret conference table and traded in human destiny as casually as if they were small boys swapping marbles. The perfidy and treason of secret agreements are now being reflected not only in the tragic State of the Union in the United States, but in the sorry plight of every nation in the world.

FROM THE CONSTITUTIONAL GUIDEPOST, DAYTON, OHIO: "... Russia has three votes (in the United Nations) compared with one for the United States. How do you like that? On a population basis, we are outnumbered in the United Nations 7 to 1. On a voting basis, we are outnumbered 59 to 1. . . . It is obvious that in such an organization the United States cannot win."

THE TENTH AMENDMENT TO THE CONSTITUTION OF THE UNITED STATES:

The powers not delegated to the United States by the Constitution, nor prohibited by it to the States are reserved to the States respectively, or to the people.

Pearls Of Wisdom From Feminine Lips

Mrs. Eugene Prince, brilliant San Francisco attorney and an official of the National Pro America organization gives the very timely warning that those Americans who want to see our national sovereignty preserved and Constitutional government restored in the United States, had better get busy and become as expert at propaganda as our domestic enemies have proved themselves to be.

It is her contention that for twenty years the only effective propaganda which has been carried on in this country has been that which was disseminated by the foes of Constitutional government bent on the destruction of the American Republic.

To overcome this twenty-year advantage of subversive over patriotic forces, she urges real Americans to start right now and hammer home the facts in season and out and to extol the superior benefits and exalt the glorious freedoms granted us under the greatest system of government ever devised by the mind of man.

Only by repeated assertions of the truth, day in and day out, she believes, will right ultimately prevail over evil and the nation be reclaimed from its foul and loathsome betrayers.

From the editor of a large Southern daily newspaper: "Here's hoping you are rapidly on the road to recovery. The country never was more in need of a voice like yours than it is today and I am glad to see you back in your stride. How in the world you write so much good stuff is remarkable."

An Honest Man Is One Who Will Stay Bought

If our policy in Washington is to continue to be one in which we must pay the people of various nations not to embrace Communism, we had better draw up a contract for them to sign on receipt of the money which will bind them down to keep their part of the bargain.

An old axiom of Tammany Hall is that "an honest man is one who will stay bought" but it looks like some of those we are hiring to remain pure and uncontaminated, are running out on their part of the deal.

We have channelled millions upon millions of dollars into India to stave off Communism there but she is flirting with both Western diplomats and Iron Curtain gents and playing both ends against the middle. In the end she will probably go not to the highest bidder but to the latest one.

That country is in the attitude of the American GI in the South Pacific during World War II who broke off his engagement to the girl back home and wrote her he was marrying an Australian girl as so many of his buddies were doing. In returning his ring, she wrote him and asked this question: "What have those Australian girls got that American girls don't have?" The GI replied in the next mail: "Australian girls haven't got anything that American girls haven't got, but they've got it here," referring, obviously to their charm, grace and beauty.

Unless we keep steadily pumping American dollars into the Indian treasury, that country will probably topple to the Soviets because the Russians have "got it here."

Iran is also the recipient of untold millions of American taxpayers' dollars and now we are boldly informed by the Shah that we must continue to lay on the line or else, while England and France who drag down the swag in amounts beyond human capacity to compute, start making friendly passes at Russia at the faintest intimation that American currency may dwindle to a trickle.

From a new subscriber in Washington, Pennsylvania: "It may interest you to know that your September edition came to my attention through a relative of one of our Pennsylvania Senators. It appears to me to be the first publication I have seen which can be compared with Harvey's Weekly, published for several years during the first World War by Colonel George Harvey. For many years I have been hoping to read something of a similar nature and now appear to have found it, which pleases me immensely; hence this subscription."

According to the Shreveport Times, Adlai Stevenson is the guy who in the last election could have easily carried India, yet lost all except nine of the forty-eight American states.

Looks Like The United Nations Is Finally Getting Somewhere

Since its organization in 1945, the United Nations has frittered away its time and sloughed off billions of dollars on the consideration of frivolous matters having nothing to do with the high objectives for which it was founded such as ending wars and maintaining universal peace.

Now, however, there's a rainbow of hope in the international sky and it looks like this great world group is finally going to get down to business and take up the solution of a monumental problem, the disposal of which will more than repay American taxpayers for all the sacrifices they have suffered in maintaining this lavish and expensive world organization.

This assumption is based on an Associated Press dispatch which hints that this great temple of universal justice may soon take steps to set up machinery which will make it easier for a deserted wife to collect alimony when her divorced spouse defaults in his payments and skips the country with a platinum blonde.

The story is based on the action of the International Federation of Women's Magistrates and Lawyers during its convention in Naples recently where plans were perfected to demand that the countries comprising the United Nations enter into an agreement to abolish national boundaries and insure worldwide cooperation in the collection of back alimony.

So far as we can figure it out, it will mean a sort of international Mann Act giving process servers unrestricted authority to chase the old boy right into his Riviera love nest and compelling him to cough up the amount of his arrears even if it means selling a couple of the blonde's mink coats in order to get himself out of hock.

Since the United Nations never turns down a humanitarian plea nor refuses a request for its services in readjusting social behavior of the human race, we assume that they will get busy on the project immediately and draw on the U. S. Treasury for a preliminary fund of ten million dollars to get the program under way.

Texans Offer Plan For Debt Reduction Based On Plain Common Horse Sense

The East Texas Chamber of Commerce has suggested a sound, sane and sensible plan whereby the Federal government may cut the national debt in half.

Of course there is one little drawback and that is that the Federal government has not been known to adopt any sound, sane and sensible ideas during the past twenty years but we can hope.

The plan consists of only two parts and involves only two simple procedures:

1. Sell all government-owned property not essential to the functions of the government, which would bring approximately $150,000,000,000.

2. Apply the proceeds to the national debt, which is now $272,000,000,000.

This plan, if put into operation, would not only go a long way toward balancing the budget but would render the invaluable service to the American economy of eliminating government as a competitor of private business.

The proposal is based on honest business procedure and plain, common horse sense, qualities which in the past would have been sufficient cause for its immediate rejection.

Good Americans will await with interest reaction to it in Washington and will be concerned to find out if it is to be accepted, rejected or just plain ignored.

While they wait such Americans could render valuable service by advising their senator and members of Congress of their desire to see, for once, a sensible solution of a national problem.

Florence Fowler Lyons of Los Angeles who was largely instrumental in having UNESCO literature removed from school rooms there has printed excerpts from the original No. 6 pamphlet put out by UNESCO. She has reproduced the paragraph about Italian mothers which caused such reverberations that the new No. 6 pamphlets have omitted all reference to it. We are glad she is bringing this out for Americans to see with their own eyes. We could never bring ourselves to publish the filthy and obscene stuff but she obviously has more courage than we.

A church in Des Moines refused to make their auditorium available to Eleanor Roosevelt in order that she might prattle about World Government on October 5th, but invisible powers intervened, compelled the Des Moines authorities to back down and she was left free to go ahead and spew forth her United Nations and World Government propaganda.

Dag (pronounced dog) Hammarskjöld (we don't know how this is pronounced), Secretary General of the United Nations told the "American Association for United Nations" at a dinner in New York that the "United Nations has no power to encroach upon the national sovereignty of any state against the will of its government and people." How, we wonder, does he explain the California decision, the Oregon decision, and the Vinson decision in the steel seizure? It is somebody else's time to tell a funny one.

In the Presidential Proclamation setting October 4 as United Nations day Americans are requested to learn all about the United Nations. We already know about it.

Americans Should Hesitate Before Denying Charges Of J. B. Matthews

To those who do not realize how far away from religious objectives some churches have travelled attention is called to a most amazing article in the July 24 edition of the Methodist section of the All-Church Press, published in Fort Worth.

This is a column titled "News in the World of Religion" written by one W. W. Reid in which "strong support for land reform in all parts of the world" is reported to have been voiced by the Council of Social Action of Congregational Christian Churches.

"Governments, churches, and men of goodwill are urged to join a movement to arouse the Christian conscience of the world to demand and obtain sound and democratic land reform wherever needed" the article states and points out that "there is a rising tide of demand for more just and equitable land tenure arrangements which is assuming revolutionary proportions in many parts of the world."

"Recent moves by the United States and by certain agencies of the United Nations to encourage land reform wherever needed" the article expressed that these efforts will be continued.

Attention is called by the Council "to the importance of teaching the principles of land reform in the training of missionaries going to foreign fields."

Now just what, we wonder, do they mean by "land reform" and especially as it relates to the United States and movements of "revolutionary proportions" to obtain it?

We knew that in some semi-civilized sections of the world there is often an uprising of peasants which results in a seizure of land held by high potentates but we didn't know that there is any concerted movement to inspire similar action here.

We thought that through the orderly procedure prevailing under a government such as ours and in other civilized sections of the world, a person who wanted land simply bought it from the owner and acquired legal title in this way.

Also, we didn't know about the new methods of training missionaries. We thought they were equipped to preach the gospel of Jesus Christ to the heathen and hadn't realized that they are instructed to teach land reform policies of Karl Marx to the benighted of the world.

Perhaps our ignorance on the subject is due to the fact that we have been closely following the infiltration of Communists and Communist ideas into this country and hadn't kept up with what was going on.

Those Americans who are inclined to dispute Dr. J. B. Matthews' contention that 7,000 American ministers are advocating Communism, had better take another slant at the situation.

John Foster Dulles told the American Bar Association that the Bricker amendment would put Congress in charge of the conduct of foreign policy which would have a "calamitous effect upon the international position and prospects of the United States." Something has already had a "calamitous effect" on the position and prospects of the United States and it wasn't the Bricker amendment.

Noted Author And Patriot Will Be Welcome In Texas

A delightful letter from Taylor Caldwell, author of "The Devil's Advocate" published in 1952 and which exposed evils of Communism not previously revealed, intimates that she may visit Texas some day and write a book depicting the greatness of the Lone Star State.

If she does, she assures us that she will not abuse the hospitality of the "kindest people in America" as Edna Ferber did in her distorted version of Texas people and their customs in the monstrosity called "Giant."

We assure Miss Caldwell that the welcome mat is always out for any great American patriot of her type and that there is no fear on our part that she would be capable of performing in the same manner as fellow traveler Ferber.

There will be no danger of a person with Miss Caldwell's character and integrity betraying the confidence of her hosts or repaying their courtesy with ingratitude and lies.

LEGISLATION WITHOUT BENEFIT OF LAWMAKERS.

The appointment of a committee to see that firms and individuals securing government contracts observe an FEPC law which has never passed Congress is deplorable.

It boils down to the passage of legislation without benefit of lawmakers and is without precedent in the history of American government.

Certainly those who let government contracts have not only the right, but the responsibility, to demand that those who secure these contracts shall carry out their part of the bargain in every possible way by providing the best service, workmanship and commodities available.

They also have the right and the responsibility to see that those securing government business make deliveries or complete projects on dates specified in such contracts and live up to their obligations in every way in regard to service and quality of materials.

Beyond that, officials of the American government cannot go without violating not only the basic rules governing such matters but public morality as well.

In letting a contract to a firm, a government official has no more right to designate the color of the skin of those who shall be employed by such firm than he has to specify what brand of overalls they must wear.

If a bureaucrat can get by with dictatorial demands about the internal management of private business concerns, he can go further and insist that only those be employed who have a wart on their nose, a cast in their left eye and tattoo marks on their chest.

The American Congress has re-

A Mystery Which Can Be Solved Only By Action Of The American Congress

While committees of Congress are probing various phases of subversion, they could render no greater service than by investigating and revealing the identity of the sinister forces who have controlled national policies of government for twenty years.

Unless official action is taken by Congress to identify and expose these unseen masters of our destiny, we cannot hope that their hold will be broken.

One hundred and sixty million Americans are entitled to the answers to these questions and should not stop until they get them:

Who, for instance, ordered the pigeon-holing of the Bricker amendment which was designed to protect American sovereignty?

Who was behind the demand for the passage of legislation at the last session of Congress admitting 214,000 additional aliens in defiance of our well considered immigration law?

Who prompted official defense of the placing of Communist books in German libraries by our State Department?

Who decreed that J. B. Matthews should be hounded out of his job as counsel for an investigation committee because he called attention to approximately 7,000 subversive ministers?

Whose influence reached out into state legislatures and prevented passage of the resolution in four of those bodies which would have resulted in steps for repeal of the income tax amendment and the substitution for one limiting tax levies?

Who called the shots in the Korean "truce" and who ordered that General Douglas MacArthur be recalled when he was winning the war against Communists?

Who insisted that foreign aid be continued and that exorbitant tax levies remain in effect, except for token gestures?

None of these things happened. It was planned that way and to accomplish these ends required organization, cooperative and unified effort and unlimited millions of dollars.

Action in each of the above cases was detrimental to the interests of the United States and favorable to those of some other nation or group.

Will Americans, acting in a collective impulse toward patriotism and a desire to save and preserve the Republic, demand the solution of this mystery, or will they continue to drift and dream?

Countries Who Borrow Money From Us Are Much Better Off Than We.

When an individual lends money to another, it is a sign, ordinarily, that the lender is in a more sound and solvent state than the borrower.

Governments, however, do not observe this economic rule and the amount of money they lend to other countries is influenced by pressure and not by the financial condition of the nation making the loan.

That the countries which American taxpayers have been forced to support in recent years and who have received billions of dollars in loans and gifts from the United States are in better shape than this country is proved by the following figures on the bonded indebtedness of various countries.

These figures were furnished by a Houston business man who takes time out of a busy life to keep tab on what his government is doing with the taxpayers money:

Belgium-Luxemburg .....	$ 4.8 Billion
Denmark .....	1.4 Billion
France .....	12.1 Billion
Greece .....	.1 Billion
Iceland .....	.02 Billion
Italy .....	5.1 Billion
Netherlands .....	6.7 Billion
Norway .....	1.5 Billion
Portugal .....	.3 Billion
Turkey .....	.5 Billion
United Kingdom .....	71.0 Billion
Germany .....	4.3 Billion
Austria .....	.6 Billion
Spain .....	2.0 Billion
Yugoslavia .....	.6 Billion
United States .....	266.7 Billion

fused time and again to enact this law which interferes with the fundamental and Constitutional rights of employers and the legislative function is still vested in that body and will remain there until the Constitution is changed and lawmaking powers are transferred to extraneous committees, bureaus or boards.

It looks like the City of New York is not going to have much of a Mayor regardless of how the election goes there next November. The New Deal's candidate is Robert F. Wagner, Jr., son of the author of the infamous Wagner labor relations act, who will be pitted against a Dewey Republican, Harold Riegelman and a political opportunist Rudolph Halley who was catapulted into the limelight by the Kefauver Committee.

AMERICAN PEOPLE GROSSLY DECEIVED BY FALSE PROPAGANDA ON OBJECTIVES OF UNITED NATIONS

The story of the world conspiracy as embodied in the United Nations has been told to the American people many times but no clearer picture of this subversive organization has been drawn than that presented by Honorable Usher L. Burdick, Congressman from North Dakota.

Addressing a large gathering in attendance at a meeting of the American Flag Committee in Philadelphia, Mr. Burdick, with refreshing candor and honesty, said in part:

As I am a Member of the House and not of the Senate, I was never called upon to vote on the approval of the Charter of the United Nations. I knew the principal authors of this Charter were a Russian representative and Alger Hiss, of the State Department. This conspicuous authorship was full notice to me, and should have been to all others, that a program was being formulated that was inimical to the interests of the United States.

After the San Francisco Convention, where the Charter was approved, I was more certain than before that the people of the United States, if they understood all the proposals set forth in the charter, would not approve the document.

When the matter of the approval of the charter came before the Senate the same universal appeal for world peace was stressed and it was made to appear that this peace depended upon the support to be given to the charter. Under this state of feeling the document was approved by the Senate of the United States, with the dissent of only two Senators in the whole body. To North Dakota and Minnesota goes the credit of having the two Senators who saw in the charter the sinister purposes which later appeared in the open.

Those who sponsored the approval of the charter and continued support to the United Nations issued assurance after assurance that there was nothing contained in the charter, and nothing intended by the United Nations that would in any way interfere with our own national sovereignty.

The public of the United States was bombarded with pamphlets and leaflets, the radio boomed with speeches advocating the united support of our people to this "great document for peace." False propaganda advocating the support of this program for peace was peddled to our higher institutions of learning, to minor colleges, and to the common schools. Many ministers who prayed for peace, were taken off their guard and openly supported the United Nations, and in many cases the pulpits became forums for the United Nations. The irony of this whole procedure was that the people of the United States were paying in taxes for this whole propaganda enterprise of deceit.

When I first read the charter I saw in it an attempt to form a world government, and if possible, to make the United States merely a subservient member of this world organization. We were told again that these fears were wholly unfounded. We were advised again that all the United Nations wanted was to work for world peace, and that no individual nation would be interfered with.

But startling things were to happen. First of all was the Fujii case in California. In this case the district court held that the local law of California (preventing Japanese nationals from holding land) was void because it conflicted with the charter of the United Nations. Here we had the first lesson in imposing upon local communities the will of the United Nations.

The next startling case was the decision of the Supreme Court of the United States in the Truman seizure action. There is nothing in our Constitution to authorize the seizure, but the Chief Justice held it was valid for the reason that the United Nations Charter gave such authority. It is easy to see the importance of this decision, for if the majority of the Court had adopted the views of the Chief Justice the Constitution of the United States would have been overruled by the Charter of the United Nations.

The Declaration of Human Rights, issued by the United Nations, was circulated by the millions of copies in the United States; and the principles therein contained were not very objectionable. That was the document that was circulated and publicized, but the Covenant of Human Rights, headed for the Senate, was an entirely different document. In it an attempt was made to redefine free speech, a free press, and free religion; and this document, ignoring the provisions in our Constitution, undertook to say that everyone was entitled to the privilege of free speech except as limited by law, and except as it might interfere with the purposes of the United Nations. This was such an open and notorious attempt to change our Constitution that the public became alarmed, and the covenant was withdrawn from the Senate.

For many months the United Nations has been working on the provisions of a World Court, in which jurisdiction over what the United Nations is pleased to call a crime is lodged. If, perchance, I made a speech in North Dakota against the insidious attempt of the United Nations to interfere with our local affairs or to surreptitiously change our Constitution, that would be a crime as seen by the United Nations. I am arrested, and where am I tried? Is the trial to be held in North Dakota, under the provisions of the Constitution of North Dakota and the Constitution? No, I will be tried wherever the World Court determines. Thus I, as a citizen of the United States, whose ancestors came here 330 years ago, can be taken out of this country and tried in a foreign country, with no protection under the Constitution of the United States. Is that what the people of the United States want?

Their next move was the propagation of UNESCO, the United Nations Economic Scientific, and Cultural Organization, in which our children were to be prepared for membership in a world government, and it was made specific that loyalty to the United States and reverence for our great leaders like Washington and Jefferson was detrimental to fidelity to a world government. They propose to destroy a strong national spirit and respect for the institutions of the United States and replace them with loyalty to a world government. Is that what the people of the United States want? Yet the propaganda for UNESCO is still going on unabated and paid for by the taxpayers of the United States.

Up until this year, while I fully believed the United Nations had for its main purpose the establishment of a world government, nothing was done in the open in this direction. Now comes the unvarnished truth of this effort.

The House of Commons of England appointed a committee to study the question of whether or not England should join the Confederation of World Government. There have already been two such conferences on this matter, and the second one reported January 21, 1953. . . .

This movement toward a world government is starting to rise not only in England, but in the United States we have had speakers traveling across this country holding meetings and advocating it. I have always seen in the Charter of the United Nations the framework of a world government; hence, it is evident to me that the United Nations is behind this whole scheme.

Not many Americans can believe what this report says the United Nations is trying to do. For years now I have been stating that the ultimate objective of the United Nations could not possibly be less than the establishment of a world government. I could see what was intended from speeches and articles, and although no outright statement was made of an intended world government the conclusion I reached was correct.

Now the situation has cleared. The curtain is up, and the players behind the scenes come forward as leaders of a declared play for world government.

The remarks made by the leaders of the United Nations — American leaders — that the people of this country should not be alarmed over anything the United Nations is doing because they are only working for world peace, were not accepted at their face value at the time they were made; and now I know they were deliberately lying. . . .

Anyone charged with crime here in the United States has all the safeguards against injustice available to him. He must be tried by a jury of his peers; he must be confronted with the witnesses against him; and the place of his trial is that where the crime is alleged to have been committed.

In this new world government all this is repealed and our courts are annulled. In place of them—from the lowest to the Supreme Court of the United States—the world government intends to create a world court and establish its own criminal code; and in case an individual is charged with a crime he will be tried wherever the world court says he will be tried. Under what law or procedure or constitution will he be tried? Under our laws and our Constitution? No. He will be tried under the criminal code set up by the world government, convicted and sentenced as the whims of this world court may dictate. . . .

Not only will the world government have a code and court of its own, completely ignoring the courts and codes of the individual nations, but it will have a system of police to enforce its laws and awe the people into submission to its powers.

How is this world government to be initiated? It will be effected by the same organization that has been conniving to do this thing ever since the Senate of the United States approved its charter; namely, the United Nations. The London Conference proposed two ways of doing this: First, by a revision of the whole Charter of the United Nations; or, second, by amendments to the charter.

So after all the real purpose behind the organization of the United Nations has come to light. Its very purpose was to organize a world government under the false guise that such a structure would result in world peace; and hence it is that its first objective is the building of this world government. That is the reason they have attempted to rewrite the Constitution of the United States and subvert it to their own purposes. What other reason can be given for the attempt of the United Nations, through its Covenant of Human Rights, to redefine free speech, a free press, and free religion?

Not only is it a design to build a world government and undermine our own, but the complexion of such a government is bound to be communistic. Every nation is to be invited to join, and when once they have done so they cannot withdraw. Its proponents don't propose to make the mistakes in the world government that were made in setting up the parent organization, the United Nations. We have a membership in the United Nations, but we can pull out — just as soon as we have the courage and good sense to do so. This is not the case in the world government. Once in, we cannot secede, and that provision is made mandatory. . . .

The greatness of Daniel Webster was demonstrated on almost every occasion on which he arose to speak. His matchless eloquence, exhibited in his debate with Robert Hayne, stands out as a milestone in the progress of human liberty; his speech at the dedication of the Bunker Hill Monument makes every person proud of being an American; but I think his utterances in his speech of Eulogy of George Washington bring home to us his clear and matchless conception of the purposes and objects of this great Government and the caution we must take to preserve it.

On that occasion he said:

"Other misfortunes may be borne, or their effects overcome. If disastrous wars should sweep our commerce from the ocean, another generation may renew it; if it exhaust our Treasury, future industry may replenish it; if it desolate and lay waste our fields, still, under a new cultivation they will grow green again and ripen to future harvests.

"It were but a trifle even if the walls of yonder Capitol were to crumble, if its lofty pillars should fall, and its gorgeous decorations be all covered by the dust of the valley. All these may be rebuilt.

"But who shall reconstruct the fabric of a demolished Government? Who shall rear again the well-proportioned columns of constitutional liberty? Who shall frame together the skillful architecture which unites national sovereignty and State rights, individual security and public prosperity?

"No, if these columns fall, they will be raised not again. Like the Coliseum and the Parthenon, they will be destined to a mournful and melancholy immortality. Bitter tears, however, will flow over them than ever were shed over the monuments of Rome or Grecian art; for they will be monuments of a more glorious edifice than Greece or Rome ever saw, the edifice of constitutional American liberty."

THE SOVIET SOCIAL PATTERN IS FORCED ON THE PEOPLE OF OREGON

Portland, Oregon, may not have more subversives per capita than any other city of similar size in the United States but an active minority there is fast transforming that city into a Mongrel Paradise where the Communist ideal of compulsory mixing of the white and black races is rapidly becoming realized.

For this demoralization of the beautiful Northwest Pacific metropolis, the people of that area can thank the Urban League whose propaganda for mongrelization has become so notorious as to cause even Hodding Carter the Mississippi "Liberal" to admit in a recent magazine article: "Racial tension and hate organizations flourish in areas where the Urban League is popular."

In proof of Carter's prophetic warning, racial hatred in Portland, where the Urban League is a powerful factor, is assuming alarming proportions and recently burning crosses have made their appearance near the homes of Negroes who have moved into white neighborhoods.

Oregon is also the Mecca of "Progressive" educators, a stronghold of the National Council of Churches and the "cultural" influence of Harry Bridges' Longshoreman's Union is strongly exerted in that section. Two local left-of-center newspapers have also contributed to the nauseous and unwholesome atmosphere prevailing in the Oregon city.

In its propaganda literature put out by the Portland Division of the Urban League, accomplishments in breaking down the color line are listed and the boast is made that Negroes are now admitted to white hotels, swimming pools, schools, YMCA's, churches, residential districts and all other places with the exception of a few private clubs.

To cap it all, these combined forces have put through the Oregon legislature a Civil Rights bill which puts into effect the dictates of Moscow's Party line and undertakes to bring about mongrelization of the white race through statutory enactment.

The respectable element of Portland's population, however, has not taken this assault on human dignity lying down and a strong and influential group there is reported to be working as a sort of unofficial and non-sectarian Legion of Decency to combat further steps which may be taken to install additional Communist practices and customs in Portland's institutions and way of life.

Under the leadership of Reverend Elbert D. Riddick, a highly respected Episcopal Rector, an effort was made to get a referendum vote on the Civil Rights bill in order that the people of Oregon might decide the matter, but as more than 23,000 signatures to such a petition would have been required, the movement had to be abandoned for lack of time. The majority of the citizens of Oregon are understood to be unalterably opposed to the Civil Rights bill.

The fight for mongrelization and miscegenation was led by Episcopal Bishop Benjamin D. Dagwell who plugged throughout the state for the indiscriminate mixing of the white and colored races although he, himself, lives in an exclusive Portland club where Negroes are not allowed.

Bishop Dagwell has, of course, been cited as a member of several Communist fronts and his name has appeared in the Daily Worker, official Communist publication in the United States, showing his activity in connection with such organizations.

During the campaign Portland newspapers carried vicious attacks on Rev. Riddick by Bishop Dagwell, but not only refused to print Rev. Riddick's reply as an interview but also refused to accept a paid advertisement embodying his answer to the Bishop.

George Dixon, one of our favorite columnists, sees nothing but irony in the fact that Harry Truman will get special treatment from the Treasury in the matter of tax payments on his memoirs. It is, he claims, a flagrant miscarriage of justice. "The head of the party that imposed these Frankenstein taxes on us is being given extraordinary permission to escape from the clutches of his own monster," he wails.

The United States government has contributed more than one hundred million dollars to Israel. We are searching the Constitution to find authority for this and similar gifts to foreign countries but so far we have been unable to find it. Perhaps some more intelligent student of government can tell us where to look for this authority.

Telephone operators in Austin and San Antonio, Texas, recently walked off their jobs in an effort to compel the telephone company by force to install air conditioning. And yet it is a safe bet that not one of these girls came from a home which is air-conditioned. They were ordered to walk out by the CIO which bosses its members as if they were so many sheep.

CALIFORNIA COMMUNIST FIGHTER GIVEN HONORARY AWARD

Korea was the first war fought and lost by the United Nations, Senator Jack B. Tenney, California's pioneer in the exposure of Communist infiltration, told the summer graduating class at Sequoia University in Los Angeles recently.

Senator Tenney charged that, so far as United Nations' collective action against Communist aggression is concerned, the result is a total failure.

Pointing out that MacArthur, Ridgway and Van Fleet would have won the war if they had not been stopped by United Nations' directives, Tenney asserted that "the utter stupidity of letting the Communist-appeasing United Nations kill American boys and squander billions of American dollars, is shown by the fact that a Soviet General of the United Nations sat in the Military Commission of the Security Council supposedly fighting against the Communists."

Following the address an Honorary Degree of Doctor of Humanities was awarded Senator Tenney by Dr. Joseph W. Hough, president of Sequoia.

Mutilation Of Taft-Hartley Law Would Be Tragic Mistake

Victor Riesel, newspaper columnist, makes the observation that the president has been badly briefed on the labor front.

He quotes an undisclosed cabinet member as charging that the president is being deliberately deceived by some of his own confidential advisers who are "plotting" to sell him a labor policy which would have been too radical for Roosevelt or Truman to accept.

Mr. Riesel's observations, however, were made before the recent double-cross of the president by the Fair Deal Secretary of Labor and perhaps this incident has opened the president's eyes as to the length to which labor bosses will go in seeking class legislation for their group.

It is to be hoped that the president will give long and earnest consideration to any suggestions for destroying the effectiveness of the Taft-Hartley law.

Tragedy Of Yalta May Be Repeated In Korea

The American Council of Christian Churches which serves as a sort of antidote to the poison put out by the National Council of Churches of Christ sent a cablegram to Dr. Syngman Rhee, president of the Republic of Korea, at the time the truce was being signed which said:

"We fully sympathize with your apprehension and that of all South Koreans as you consent, largely out of friendship for the U.S.A., to the present truce. It is our fear also that another Yalta or Tehran is about to be enacted. Experiences have emphasized repeatedly that agreements acceptable to communists are always such as they can and will use to further their ends and achieve large advantages for

Canadian Religious Sect Wins Its Point Through Passive Resistance

A religious sect out in Western Canada seems to have evolved a system of behavior which enables them to win bouts with authorities of the law by the simple expedient of silence.

Their methods constitute a sort of cross between those of Lady Godiva and Mahatma Gandhi.

When they run afoul of the law and are threatened with arrest, they take off their clothes and march naked around town. If tax authorities get too insistent, the Doukhobors strike a match and set fire to their homes or whatever property is involved, and burn it down. In the meantime, they never speak a word and might be deaf and dumb for all practical purposes.

Harrassed Canadian officials have been tearing their hair out for years from frustration because of the antics of this queer sect and are reported to be trying to induce them to move to a South American country, lock, stock and barrel. So far such efforts, however, have met only with an eloquent silence.

Many years ago, we witnessed an amusing instance of the Doukhobors' capacity for holding out against superior forces and for emerging victoriously from a situation by merely sitting it out and doing nothing about it.

A big, husky old "Douk", weighing perhaps 250 pounds, with long black hair and waist-length whiskers, boarded a crack Canadian Pacific train at Edmonton and calmly took his seat in an unoccupied Pullman berth just across the aisle from us.

When the conductor came for his ticket, the old bird said nothing, stared him down and gave a forceful version of a one-man sit-down strike. All efforts to extract his fare failed ignominiously and since he could not put the elderly man off in the middle of the Canadian wilderness, the trainman finally gave up in disgust and despair.

On arrival in British Columbia, the tongue-tied freeloader calmly got off the train without having uttered a word during the entire trip and silently went his way.

communism at the expense of the free world.

"Communists will never, through conferences, grant what they refuse to grant when facing military action. We thank God for your courageous stand for a principle at any cost. We are praying that men of honor in this country and in other free lands will insist that within a short period all Chinese Communists leave Korea and your country be united, or such objectives failing of realization by peaceful collaboration, that they will demand that hostilities be renewed with large assignment of men and supplies from all free United Nations countries thrown into the conflict for a speedy and smashing victory."

The church officials signing the cablegram were Dr. W. W. Breckhill, president and Dr. William H. Bordeaux, general secretary

One Way To Prevent A Decrease In Population

A measure designed to discourage any extensive travel on the part of its citizens has been adopted in Bulgaria.

This is in the form of a law passed by their governing body last February which provides that any person in that country who attempts to leave its borders shall be executed.

We imagine that this law has sort of put a crimp in the activities of Sofia travel bureaus.

America's Number One Patriot Takes A Wife

Recently, Senator Joseph R. McCarthy took time out from his strenuous duties in connection with his job of exposing Communists in the American government to marry Miss Jean Kerr of Washington, D. C.

We wish many years of happiness and good luck to this matchless American and his lovely wife.

If the Socialist Democrats are hoping to win any new seats in the Eighty-Fourth Congress, they had better first muzzle a certain little mongrel yapper or tie him up in the kennel.

J. B. Matthews Is Loaded For Bear

Rev. J. B. Matthews who will appear before the House Committee on un-American Activities in October says that he is not retreating one step in his recent assertion that the largest single group supporting the Communist apparatus in the United States today is composed of Protestant preachers.

Rev. Matthews adds that he can, and will, support that charge with 2,000 pages and 10,000 photostats of documentary material on Red influences in American churches.

He claims that the Communist Party since 1948 has placed more and more reliance upon the ranks of the clergy to provide the Party's subversive apparatus with its agents, dupes and fellow travelers.

No good American will be pleased when Doctor Matthews proves his charges before the Committee as this defection on the part of religious forces constitutes one of the greatest tragedies of the ages.

If this small minority among great majority of Christian ministers of the gospel could be reconverted to Christianity and reclaimed from subversion, it could become a powerful force for salvaging the American government just as it is now tipping the scales in favor of the enemies of the United States.

Rev. Matthews' part in this exposure must be tinged with sadness, and a certain amount of shame, for he, too, once occupied a pulpit as a proponent of the gospel of Jesus Christ while secretly collaborating with Communist fronts.

His actions now are part of his atonement for the irreparable wrong he did to the cause of Christianity and for his part in promoting Communism among his followers who trusted him as a man of God.

From a member of the National Press Club, Washington, D. C., which receives one hundred complimentary copies of the Southern Conservative each month: "The Southern Conservative is the most popular paper that comes to the Press Club. Within two or three hours after it appears on the 'hand-out' table, every last one is gone. Other publications stay piled up all week with few takers."

The Montreal Star reports that a flourishing business is now being carried on by smugglers of human flesh in which Communist underground workers from behind the Iron Curtain cross the border into the United States at the rate of 20 per day. Recently the head of this international smuggling ring was arrested by Canadian Immigration authorities but later escaped and is now in the United States, according to the Star.

The United Nations flag has been planted on top of Mount Everest. That's the only place in the world where it's certain new plantings of white crosses won't follow.—Chicago Tribune.

ILLINOIS PAPER GIVES CORRECT VERSION OF THE OXNAM HEARING

When Bishop G. Bromley Oxnam appeared before the House Committee on un-American Activities some time ago with a lot of fanfare and bringing along his own cheering squad, the incident was distorted in practically all press reports of the affair.

An exception is an editorial appearing in the Peoria, Illinois, Star, which gives these plain, unvarnished facts in the matter:

"The hearing of Methodist Bishop G. Bromley Oxnam before the House Committee on un-American Activities rated a front page spot in most American newspapers and therefore may be considered important news. As such, it is important that it be conveyed honestly and intelligently to newspaper readers.

"But apparently reporters for both United Press and Associated Press fell short of the qualifications necessary to tell the story straight. Whether they neglected to get all the facts or preferred to 'slant' the story, we don't know. But we do know that the Oxnam affair has been as badly distorted in the news as was the Robeson affair in Peoria six years ago.

"One AP story stated: 'Methodist Bishop G. Bromley Oxnam won a concession from the House un-American Activities Committee Wednesday. The committee declared that it had no record of any Communist Party membership or affiliation by the Bishop'.

"Another AP story led off with this paragraph: 'The House Committee on un-American Activities voted Bishop G. Bromley Oxnam a clean bill of health early today so far as any record of Communist Party affiliation is concerned'.

"A United Press story started: 'The House un-American Activities Committee today cleared Methodist Bishop G. Bromley Oxnam of Communist ties'.

"Newspapermen who wrote headlines naturally composed heads that corresponded with the lead paragraphs of these stories and we saw in large type such lines as: 'Bishop Oxnam cleared of Red Party membership charge. Oxnam cleared of Party ties. No evidence is found of Oxnam-Red linkup.'

"We submit to the thoughtful consideration of any open-minded person this belief: that most readers would get the impression from those stories and headlines that the House Committee on un-American Activities had accused Bishop Oxnam of having been a member of the Communist Party, but, on being challenged by him, had repudiated the charges and admitted that there was no evidence of party membership.

"People who reached that conclusion were grossly deceived because, in the words of one committee member, Representative Jackson of California, 'No accusation of Communist party membership had ever been leveled against him (Oxnam) by any member of the committee or its staff'.

"The story that Bishop Oxnam had been cleared of party membership charges was not only a false statement, but it served to obscure the more important fact that he had been accused of membership in Communist front organizations but denied that he knew the character and purpose of the front groups when he joined.

"The significance of Bishop Oxnam's appearance before the committee is not in the committee's statement that there was no evidence of party membership. The real story is summed up in these words by Democratic Representative Walter of Pennsylvania, ranking minority member of the committee: 'I think we demonstrated very clearly that the Communists are using well-known and highly-placed people, willing or otherwise, as dupes and that the bigger the name, the better for their cause. I place Bishop Oxnam in that category.'

"Many persons will have missed that important point. Why? Because they read news stories that were pernicious half-truths."

The National Education Association, defender of the right of Communists to teach in American schools in a bulletin last Fall tried to make the point that the Soviet Union was hostile to UNESCO, one of the NEA's pet projects. They have had nothing further to say about the matter now that Russia has endorsed UNESCO.

WE AIDED RUSSIA TO ACHIEVE SUPERIORITY IN ATOMIC BOMBS

Our national leaders are expressing concern that Russia may have a greater supply of atomic bombs and other death-dealing weapons than we.

This, of course, is only speculation but if true, there is no excuse for it and it is our own fault.

For a long time we were leaders in this race for superiority in scientific instruments for winning wars but, in keeping with our policies for many years, we finally managed to tip the scales in favor of Russia.

This was done in two ways; first, domestic traitors stole secret information and formulae from our laboratories and sneaked it to Russian agents and no one knows how many of these human cobras have gone undetected and unpunished. Bringing American traitors to justice has been almost impossible in the face of opposition from the White House as was proved in the case of Alger Hiss whom two presidents saved from prosecution for treason.

Second, we have persisted in the indefensible policy of channelling billions of dollars from the pockets of American taxpayers into the coffers of foreign countries whose regard for Russia exceeded their respect for the United States which, in the final analysis, means we have indirectly helped Russia to out-distance us in the atomic bomb race.

The fact that we may be behind in the matter of the production of these bombs does not mean that we have not given and thrown away enough money to have put us far ahead in the contest.

Boiling it down to coldblooded facts, we have, through our traitors and our policies, contributed to Russia's defense while neglecting our own.

Eleanor Urged To Knit Socks For Boa Constrictors Of Brazil

The inimitable Lynn Landrum, widely-read columnist in the Dallas Morning News, in a spirit of kindly consideration for his fellow Americans, suggests that Eleanor Roosevelt retire from her public activities and start knitting socks for the boa constrictors of Brazil.

In defense of this proposal, he points out the long neglect of these denizens of the illiberal jungle and insists that it is high time some bleeding heart bled for the boas.

"How would you like to be a boa and not have a stitch of knitting to your name," Mr. Landrum inquires of his readers.

In a more serious vein, he makes this charitable appraisal of the ubiquitous pink lady: "Eleanor Roosevelt is a well-meaning bumble-wit, a woman of courage without comprehension, of affection without discipline, of charity without common sense. She has brought some good to the world and has done untold harm to her own country."

Herbert Philbrick, former FBI undercover agent, testified before the House Un-American Committee early in September that in a super-secret Communist cell in Boston there were seven or eight clergymen who were "dedicated, hardened, steeled Communists." Theodore Roosevelt, son of a former president and a member of the responsible branch of the family testified before the same committee that he was "horrified" by the extent of Communist infiltration of the churches.

"Property rights preceded government and government was created to protect our property rights," says Mary Cain the fighting Mississippian.

From an attorney in Fort Valley, Georgia: "I congratulate the United States on your recovery from your fall. Your accident seems to have even added sparkle to your pen, though none was needed. The Southern Conservative is better than ever. More power to your typewriter and printing press. This country is greatly indebted to you."

The great Foundations need to be sent to the laundry in the opinion of G. H. Shults of Los Angeles who adds that "these Foundations were built up by over-charging customers for goods and are now contaminating and trying to wreck our schools and the government."

A Negro has made application for admission to Virginia Military Academy even though the president of the Academy says that the courses he wants are available at Howard University, Negro University near Washington. It is probably the work of the trouble-making organization, the NAACP. In San Antonio a Negro prizefighter feels that his "civil rights" are being violated so he has filed a suit in that city challenging the state boxing law which prohibits bouts between white and colored people. Stalin really started something when he instructed his followers in this country to stir up the Negroes of the South.
