Club cleans up sickle cell

By ROBERTO OCHOA

A UH organization, the Black Intercommunal Club (BIC), has provided another stepping-stone linking the UH campus with the Houston community.

Harry Taylor, a coordinator for the club and pre-med sophomore said, "A group of students proposed actually doing something for the black community. They came to me because of my affiliation with the Black Panthers and because I've done work on campus relating to benefiting the black community such as the free breakfast for school children, another of the BIC's programs."

"It is an organization made of UH students that feel they have an obligation to the community to help alleviate problems that plague us all," Taylor said.

BIC's present project concerns the testing of black community members for sickle cell anemia. During the latter part of September the club was organized and began a fund-raising campaign from which the donations went into training testers and administering the tests.

Taylor said Saturday approximately a thousand tests will be made on the parking lot of Weingartens at the corner of Lockwood and the North Loop Freeway from 3 to 7 p.m. "The blood tests are analyzed on the spot. It all takes about five minutes," Taylor said.

Already over 7,000 tests have been analyzed. Taylor said the statistics show 10 of every hundred black people carry the sickle cell trait and one of 300 to 400 actually have the disease.

"Every 2,000 tests cost about $1,300," Taylor said. The UH student population contributed about $500 to $600, the rest coming from contributions from the black community and small businesses, Taylor said.

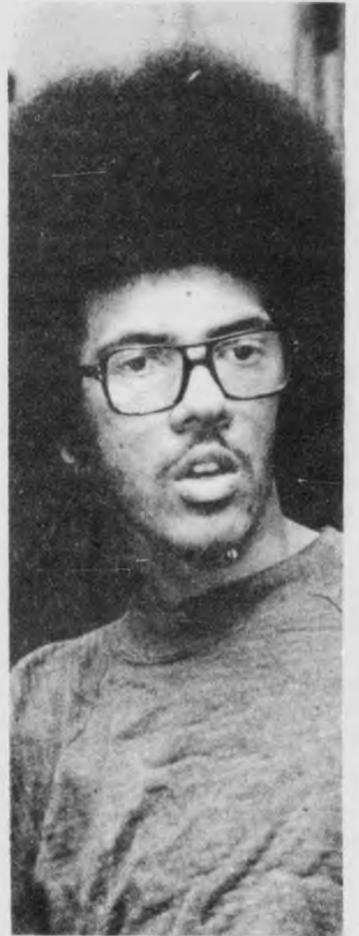

He said the persons administering the tests were trained by the Houston Black Panther Party and the Kennedy Clinic while the Black Panthers and BIC are presently giving genetic counseling to all black people who have sickle cell anemia or the sickle cell trait.

Taylor, who has been with the Black Panther Party for over a year, said the party and the BIC have a free pest control program to rid disease carrying pests from the communities.

"We hope in the future to pull people off the campus to have them, become involved on a person-to-person basis with the people in the community," Taylor said.

Today is the last day BIC will have its fund-raising project on campus, but Taylor said any future donations may be sent to the Carl Hampton Foundation at the Riverside Bank in Houston. For information on future sickle cell testing, contact Ruby Morgan at the Black Panther Party office, 225-6090.

Casey airs education policies in Congress

By DONNA BARR

Congressman Bob Casey, of the Houston-area 22nd Congressional District, spoke on "Current Legislation Affecting Education" at the Phi Delta Kappa noon luncheon-meeting Thursday in the Kiva, Education Building.

Casey, who had just returned from Washington, D.C., said the federal Government's involvement in education has become quite pronounced as compared to the small interest that existed when he first went to Congress in 1959.

Casey also referred to the proposal vetoed by Congress Tuesday which would have given the president full authority to withhold needed funds. The present system requires authorization from Congress before funds can be withheld. Casey said if the measure had passed, Pres. Richard Nixon would have hit education first.

According to Casey, Nixon will still be able to withhold needed funds, even though some money will be released to education as a political measure as election time nears.

A member of the powerful House Appropriations Committee, Casey commented on the weaknesses of the present system. He said there should be more flexibility, more funds for

Goldwater rally set for Monday

Sen. Barry Goldwater (R-Ariz.) will speak Saturday at 10 a.m. in Hermann Park's Miller Outdoor Theater. Goldwater is stumping for Nixon's re-election in Texas cities: Dallas, Tyler and Harlingen.

Statewide Nixon headquarters said Goldwater will appear before a meeting of certified accountants in Houston at 7 p.m. Friday evening.

educational research and more contact with the people who run the programs in the field. "Funds should be distributed when initiative is shown, not just because a program has good public relations personnel," he said.

Casey ended his address with a plea for help from the individual communities. "You can help by letting me know what needs to be changed."

A short question and answer session followed the Congressman's remarks.

Forum to unite campus groups

October 24 is the day for the 278 recognized campus organizations and the Students' Association (SA) to get it all together.

Presidents Forum will meet from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m. October 24 in the Fort Worth Room, UC.

Paul Rogers, SA president, will open the meeting. Representatives from the Student Services Fees Allocation and Planning Committee, Governance Committee and Student Life Division will all be present to give reports and answer questions, Annette Bartz, SA information director, said Thursday.

"The meeting is open to officers of all recognized campus organizations," Bartz said. "A representative from each group should be present if the president can't come."

SA sent out letters to all the organizations Thursday.

"The purpose of the forum is to try to coordinate all campus activities, so we can work together," Bartz said. "It's supposed to be held every semester, but this is the first time one has been held in the four years I've been here," she added.

U. S. REPRESENTATIVE - 7th District

Jim Brady Democrat
Age 51
Occupation: Attorney

Please describe your training and experience that contribute to your qualifications for this office.

LL.B. and Doctor of Jurisprudence degrees from Drake University. Former assistant District Attorney. Served as officer and director of local and state Bar Assns. 25 years in active practice of law. Former editor, writer and lecturer. Served in the Military Intelligence officer in Army. Past president of local security firm, bank director and serve on Board of Directors of several prominent Houston business firms. Active in Lions Club work, American Legion, and member of Drug Abuse and constitutional law committees of Houston Bar Assn. Served 5 yrs on Democratic Executive Committee.

What do you consider the top three national priorities for the next Congress? Why?

1. Control our runaway inflation... place food and drugs under price control.
2. Reform welfare on all levels, and require welfare recipients to accept jobs in public works, urban renewal, mass transportation programs for Houston & other cities.
3. Strengthen national defense with more anti-ballistic missiles, but with economies in other areas, but we should clearly maintain strategic sufficiency to remain 1st rate power.
4. Tax Reform to reduce income tax for middle income families, elimination of corporate tax loopholes.
5. Congressional reform and strong meaningful Code of Ethics bill to require complete disclosure by ALL congressmen and candidates every two years. Abolish seniority system or drastically curtail it, and end use of Congressional Record and franking privilege for the personal advantage of incumbents.
6. Set ceiling on high interest rates to home buyers to stimulate construction and help slow down inflation.
7. Replace Job Corps with effective programs to build mass transportation systems in Houston and other major cities to ease congestion.
8. Adopt revenue sharing programs with states and cities, without provision that Texas and other states adopt a state income tax law.
9. Introduce bill to establish national presidential primaries and eliminate ridiculously high cost of running for public office on all levels.
10. Oppose further increase in our national debt, and balance our budget.
11. Remove members of congress who miss 25 per cent or more of roll call votes in any single session of Congress.
12. Amend and strengthen laws on pollution and make enforcement of EPA and other agencies mandatory on all industrial and other polluters.

Bill Archer, M.C. Republican
Age 44
Occupation: U.S. Representative

Please describe your training and experience that contribute to your qualifications for this office.

Legal and business background gained prior to entering Congress.
12 years of legislative experience. 4 years a member of Texas Legislature, 2 years a Member of Congress.
Member of the House Committee on Banking and Currency.
Member of sub-committees on such important areas as domestic finance, steel, business needs, bank supervision and insurance, and national housing legislation.

Member of the Republican Task Force on Energy and Resources. The Task Force is studying ways to alleviate the impending energy crisis, in a manner which is consistent with the nation's vital need to improve and maintain environmental quality.

What do you consider the top three national priorities for the next Congress? Why?

1. CONTROL OF RUNAWAY FEDERAL SPENDING. Congress must end chronic deficit spending, which continues to be the chief cause of inflation. Unless this responsibility is met, the burdensome system of wage and price controls could continue indefinitely.
2. COORDINATION OF ENVIRONMENTAL QUALITY PROGRAMS. Many positive steps have been taken as part of the task to improve the quality of our environment, but Congress must proceed in an orderly, knowledgeable fashion. The creation in Congress of a standing Committee on the Environment to study the problems of pollution is vital to the future of this country.
3. DEFENSE POSTURE, THE KEY TO PEACE. If we are to maintain a credible defense deterrent, upon which the global peace of this past quarter century has depended, we must proceed with the appropriate strategic programs that have been called for by the President. If the second round of the SALT talks are to have any chance for success, the United States must negotiate from a position of strength. What programs would you support to improve the administration of criminal justice and the penal system in the United States?
I have and will continue to support the goal of improving the American network of state correctional facilities, in large part, through the initiative of the Law Enforcement Assistance Administration. The Federal System must also be scrutinized for reform with the accent on efficient rehabilitation. Adoption of many of the programs now in use in Texas could measurably help the Federal Penitentiaries.

U. S. REPRESENTATIVE - 8th District

Bob Eckhardt Democrat
Age 59
Occupation: U.S. Congressman

Please describe your training and experience that contribute to your qualifications for this office.

Six years in the U.S. Congress and eight years in the Texas House of Representatives have kept me aware of the needs of my district, the legislative process, and the officials I must work with to serve the 8th District. My years as a practicing attorney before entering the U.S. House have been invaluable in my work.

What do you consider the top three national priorities for the next Congress? Why?

- A. Action to end the war in Vietnam. It has brought on a moral corruption in government and an economic crisis in the nation.
  - B. Legislation so the consumer will know the product purchased will be safe, do what was expected of it and work for a reasonable amount of time. Also legislation to require safe, easy to repair automobiles covered by consumer-oriented insurance.
  - C. Economic policies which will allow reforms in the tax system, increased employment and a halt to inflation.
- What programs would you support to improve the administration of criminal justice and the penal system in the United States?
I would support the creation of additional judgeships to cut the court case load and reduce the time an accused person must wait for trial. We must reform the penal system. Prisons are too often a place to learn criminal techniques rather than a place to rehabilitate criminals. We also need new prison facilities to eliminate out-dated, over-crowded prisons. A program of leader grants to the States would be a possibility for this.

Lewis W. Emerich Republican
Age 48
Occupation: Advertising Consultant

Please describe your training and experience that contribute to your qualifications for this office.

Graduated from the University of Houston with a degree in Government and Political Science, 1949. Active in the Houston area Civic, Business, Veteran and Social organizations for over 25 years. Served as 8th District Commander of the American Legion 1963-64, State Commander 1965, and National Vice Commander 1967. I have been an active precinct Chairman in the Republican Party since 1962.

What do you consider the top three national priorities for the next Congress? Why?

Busing. Because the 93rd Congress has not been able to cope with it and millions of concerned parents across this nation want this question resolved even if it takes a Constitutional Amendment, I would support a Constitutional Amendment to support a Constitutional Amendment.

Defense. Now that the Viet Nam War is winding down and massive troops and equipment are no longer needed, we must budget enough money to insure our countries defense system... Only a first rate defense system will keep our country safe.

Tax Reform. The people are demanding equal taxation and have a right to expect it from the 94th Congress.

What programs would you support to improve the administration of criminal justice and the penal system in the United States?

If we are going to defeat violence in our country... we are going to have to improve law enforcement, speed up the judicial processes and improve our prison system. These three seem to work in separate worlds with no one on a local level really able to co-ordinate them. I would support legislation to keep local agencies better informed, better trained and better public information of their progress.

portrait of a dean

The search committee to find a new dean of students has been reviewing prospects for almost three months and they tell us now that the final selection may not come this semester.

The questionnaire below may help the committee in their search by redefining the role of the dean as perceived by the students.

If all students who have had occasion in the past to deal with the student life division of UH answer the questionnaire, we may find that Mickey Mouse is the ideal choice for the new dean.

Let's see.

To the Editor:

Re: Jack Matthews' letter to the editor.

My statement that "men like 237767 should mind their own business" was not intended to mean that people shouldn't express their opinions on abortion. We in the abortion-law repeal movement are anxious to debate the issue so we can win an even greater majority to our point of view. According to the latest polls, 64 per cent of the American people already support a woman's right to abortion.

My statement was directed at comments made by 237767 such as "These women demand a 'right to choose'. How about exercising that right before you get into bed." The point is that we are tired of men telling us what to do. We're tired of the double standard. And we're tired of not being able to make our own decisions over matters concerning our sexual lives. Abortion should be a woman's right to choose.

All those interested in hearing our side and finding out why the abortion laws should be repealed are urged to attend the picket line from 4 to 5 p.m. October 20 at the Federal Building, where we will indict those who will be tried the following day; and the Tribunal on Abortion, Contraception and Forced Sterilization to be held at noon October 21 in Krost Hall Auditorium, Bates School of Law. Similar tribunals will be taking place around the country at which testimony and evidence will be heard concerning why the abortion laws constitute crimes against women.

To the Editor,

With all the things wrong with the world, with all the things people need to do to make the world a better place, I wonder why dorms students must waste their time and energy watching fellow dormies make pigs of themselves on local television and on the front page of the Daily Cougar.

Don't they have anything better to do?

Hoffman OKs request by SA to sell rings

A Students' Association (SA) request for use of the school seal from Pres. Philip G. Hoffman today will mark the beginning of a competitor for the UH senior ring sales.

"We will begin accepting bids from companies, and we will charge 0 per cent mark-up," Paul Rogers, SA president, said Thursday.

Rogers said he talked to Dean Kirkpatrick, director, Alumni Federation, and Kirkpatrick refused to come down on ring prices. Promising to find students a good ring, Rogers said it would be cheaper than rings offered by the Alumni Federation.

In a recent letter to Rogers, the Alumni Federation said they wanted to keep the ring business to have contact with UH seniors, and used their profit to pay general business expenses.

"I have had complaints from students, and I could not conscientiously let this go any longer," Rogers said.

CONGRESSMAN BOB CASEY spoke at the Phi Delta Kappa luncheon Thursday in the Kiva, Education Building. He discussed "Legislation Affecting Education."

Birthright introduces abortion alternative

An alternative to abortion is now available in Houston through the efforts of Birthright. The three-week old Houston chapter is affiliated with the national organization of the same name.

Birthright's purpose is to help girls who are pregnant, but do not want an abortion. The organization serves as a liaison between the girl and the community agencies which help her, such as hospitals, homes for unwed mothers and adoption agencies. The non-sectarian organization will also attempt to find employment when it is desired.

Birthright is operated by nonprofessional volunteers who donate their time. A staff of doctors, psychologists and psychiatrists also works closely with the agency.

Patricia Patterson, Birthright's Houston director, says she hopes the organization will provide both sides of the abortion issue and enable pregnant girls to make intelligent decisions.

Those who need advice or other help may contact the agency Monday through Friday, 9:30 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. at 529-7273. A 24-hour answering service is also available at that number.

Birthright's office is located in Room 117 of the Alabama Building, 3317 Montrose Blvd. Student volunteers are needed and are urged to come by or call 529-7273.

Austin attorney arrested for marijuana possession

John W. Flanagan, 48, well-known Austin attorney, was arrested Tuesday in San Diego, Texas, by Customs agents and charged with smuggling marijuana. Flanagan was flying a stolen airplane containing 486 pounds of marijuana.

He is presently in the custody of the U.S. Marshal in Corpus Christi, Tex. Flanagan has been a fugitive since October 1971 when the Supreme Court refused to grant a hearing on his appeal from his conviction for evading his income taxes for the years 1963 and 1964.

Flanagan was convicted of income tax evasion in Austin on June 18, 1970, after a twelve day trial. He was found guilty of evading income taxes of $13,876 on unreported income of $34,184 in 1963 and with evading taxes of $8,395 on unreported income of $31,280 in 1964.

Flanagan was sentenced by Judge Jack Roberts on July 31, 1970, to serve three-years imprisonment and to pay a fine of $5,000. He was also placed on three-year probation with supervision after the serving of the sentence.

Engineers study research grant

By CONNIE COOPER

Engineering consultants assembled Thursday in the World Affairs Room, UC, to review progress on a UH research project funded by a National Science Foundation grant.

The grant, awarded in June, 1972 to both the College of Business and College of Engineering, received approximately $250,000 to conduct a Research Applied to National Needs (RANN) project.

Departments involved in the RANN project were the Department of Quantitative Management Science in the College of Business and Chemical Engineering and Industrial Systems Engineering departments in the College of Engineering.

Dr. William H. Prengle, Jr., chemical engineering professor who headed the project along with another chemical engineering professor, Joseph R. Crump, said the purpose of the research was to study water use and wastewater treatment in various fields of industry.

The progress review continues today in the Palo Duro Room, UC. Principle investigator Dr. Russel G. Thompson of the Business College and a monitor representative from the National Science Foundation will preside over the closing events.

SPACE RENTAL

Board approves prices

By JOHN TEMPLETON

UH Policy Board unanimously approved an amendment to UC space rental policy on Tuesday.

The amended policy calls for a $2 refundable deposit on keys issued for UC space. There will be a 50 cent charge for each additional key excluding those for mail lockers. A $1 charge will be required for each additional mail locker key.

Bowling locker fees will be $1.50 per semester and 12-week summer session. Rent on these lockers will be $3.50 per year. There will be a five cent charge on all other lockers.

Requests controlled

Recognized campus organizations will be excluded from charges for storage bins, file drawers, semi-private Campus Activities desks and furnished office space. According to the amendment, "requests for these items will be controlled through requests to the Space Allocations Committee of the UC Policy Board."

'Pool' tabled

UH Billiards Association (UHBA) request for free use of the UC billiard tables or a reduction in the price was tabled until the next board meeting.

UHBA also requested the right to reserve five pool tables, one billiard and one snooker table between 8 and 9 a.m. Monday through Friday. The president of UHBA would be held responsible for association payments. UHBA

President, Nguyen Chi, said, "The purpose of this request is to promote the game of billiards. We want to improve the game."

Chi said association members will be instructed in the game. A 50 cent per month charge is required of students wishing to join the association.

A UH Mental Health Retardation Center request for use of UC facilities in a three-day Olympic program May 17-19 was unanimously approved. Approximately 2000 handicapped persons of all ages will participate in the event. The board amended this request to sponsor the event at UC cost.

Bill Scott, UC director, said, "This program is certainly a worthwhile project."

THE GREAT COVER-UP TRICK!

Barefoot Sanders is running a campaign of personal attacks against Senator John Tower. This is designed to cover up Sanders' own record. He attacks the Senator's attendance record, yet, during a four-year period when Sanders was serving in the Legislature, he missed 266 votes in 224 legislative days, as reported by The Dallas Morning News. Sanders voted three times against ethics and reform measures, including a critical vote against an ethics amendment that required legislators to disclose their sources of income. If the disclosure proposal had been passed, instead of being killed with the aid of Barefoot Sanders, the Sharpstown bank fraud and scandal probably never would have happened.

When the Sharpstown case broke open last year, according to the federal court docket of January 22, 1971, Sanders was the attorney of record for the former Speaker of the House with whom he served in the Legislature.

John Tower is a man of proven ability and integrity. Let's keep him working for Texas in the U.S. Senate.

UH meets Miami

By MIKE STACY
Sports Editor

It's off to sunny Miami for the Houston Cougars this Saturday night to take on the fast improving University of Miami Hurricanes.

Coached by former All-American quarterback Fran Curci, the Hurricanes won their first game in five last week, edging Tulane 24-21 on an illegal fifth down play. Tulane officials asked Miami to forfeit after Miami officials admitted they had scored on a mistake by the officials, but Miami rightfully refused to forfeit.

Houston played its best game of the season, putting together scoring drives of 72, 84, 41, 81, 99 and 87 yards to beat previously unbeaten San Diego State 49-14 in the Astrodome.

Houston leads the series 5-1-0 including last year's 27-6 win in the Dome.

The Miami team which runs the Veer offense like the Coogs, is paced by 6-3 senior running back Chuck Foreman.

"I doubt if we'll see a better athlete this season than Foreman, said UH scout Don Todd after watching the Hurricanes whip Tulane.

Foreman, who holds practically all the Miami rushing records, had 16 carries and 148 yards and one touchdown at Houston last fall.

This season he leads the team with 283 yards rushing, in pass receiving with 13 catches for 167 yards and kickoff returns. Foreman is one of the last real triple threats remaining in football.

For the Coogs, the win over San Diego State was a costly one when tight end Miller Bassler suffered a shoulder separation and will be lost for the season. Bassler, a sophomore from Somerville, had eight catches this season for a 10.5 yards per catch average.

Soph Marty Watts will move into the starting lineup in Bassler's place and Coach Bill Yeoman promoted freshman Mike Welch to the varsity to back up Watts.

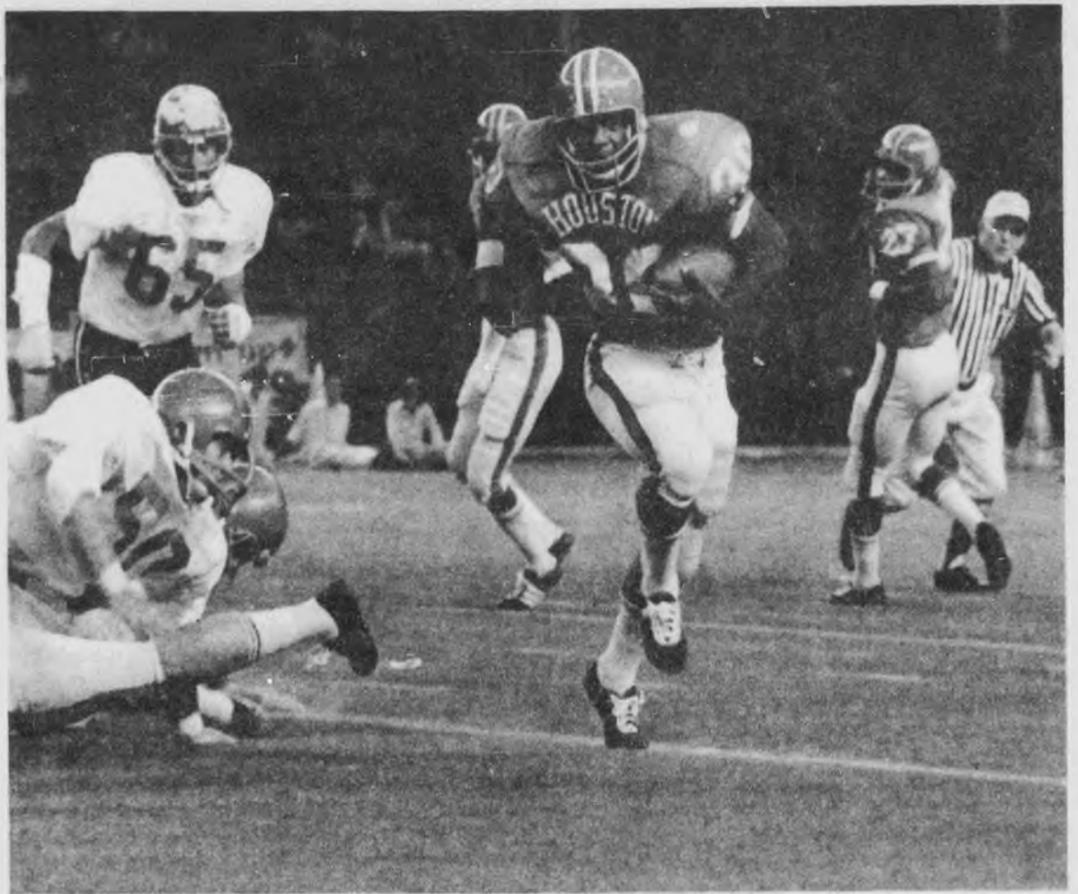

With 601 total yards against the Aztecs last week, the Cougars have picked up their per game average to 429.4 yards.

D.C. Nobles, the Cougar quarterback, has hit 65 of 136 passes for 865 yards and nine touchdowns. Nobles has been intercepted only twice. Houston is averaging 208 yards a game through the airways.

On the ground the Coogs are paced by the efforts by fullback Puddin Jones with 482 yards and a fine 5.7 per carry average.

With his three TD performance last week, flanker Robert Ford is the leading pass receiver.

The Mad Dog defense playing like they have, Houston should squeeze past the Hurricanes by two touchdowns.

PUDDIN JONES (30) breaks loose for a sizeable hunk of yardage against San Diego State in Houston's 49-14 win over the Aztecs. For the year Jones has gained 482 yards on 85 tries for a 5.7 per carry average. Jones and his teammates take on the Miami Hurricanes Saturday night in the Orange Bowl as Houston attempts to improve on its 2-2-1 record.

UT-Hogs collide

As the 1972 football season nears midstride, the schedule calls for all SWC teams to be in action this weekend. Featured will be three conference games along with two non-conference tilts.

Headlining the list will be the Texas-Arkansas battle in Austin. The Razorbacks (4-1) beat Baylor last week, 31-20, while the Longhorns (3-1) suffered a 27-0 loss to No. 2 ranked Oklahoma. Texas Coach Darrell Royal has juggled his starting lineup, including the demotion of 1971 All-SWC guard Don Crosslin to second string, in hopes of finding the winning punch.

The Rice Owls (2-1-1) invade Dallas to take on the SMU Mustangs (3-1) as both teams open conference play.

It promises to be an offensive display, with Alvin Maxson, the SWC's No.1 rusher and scorer, leading the Mustangs against a Rice team that features the SWC total offense and passing leader, quarterback Bruce Gadd as well as the number one and two SWC receivers, Gary Butler and Edwin Collins.

For the second consecutive weekend, Texas A&M will host a conference opponent as the Horned Frogs of TCU (3-1) visit Aggieland. The Frogs whipped Tulsa, 35-9, last week while the Ags (1-4) lost to Texas Tech, 17-14.

TCU will be without the services of their number one quarterback, Kent Marshall, who suffered a broken collarbone in the Tulsa contest. Frog Coach Billy Tohill will be counting on halfback Mike Luttrell, the SWC second-leading scorer, to lead his offense against a tenacious Farmer defense. A&M Coach Emory Bellard's big question continues to be the anemic Aggie offense.

Kittens host LSU

An injury to Houston varsity tight end Miller Bassler has had its effect on the Cougar freshman football team.

Mike Welch, the leading pass receiver and punter for the frosh, was called up to the varsity this week by Head Coach Bill Yeoman to add depth to the tight end position.

Freshman Coach Bobby Baldwin made the following changes as the freshmen prepare for Saturday night's game in Pasadena Memorial Stadium against the LSU freshman team.

Tight end Bob Kingrey, a 6-5 Kinder, La. lad with seven catches for a 20.1 average, has moved to split end in Welch's place. San Antonio's Paul Rodgers has moved up to starting tight end from the second unit.

Shane Corrotto of Norman, Okla., will take over the punting duties. Welch had averaged 44.1 yards per kick and had grabbed 16 passes for 330 yards and four touchdowns.

Baldwin also made a few more changes. Houston's Ken Dunham, the team's leading rusher with 255 yards and a 5.8 average, has moved back to running back from fullback. Ronny Johnston, a 190-pounder from Dallas, will start at fullback. Johnston has 101 yards and a 7.2 per carry average, the best on the team.

Defensively, Corrotto will start at right linebacker in place of the injured Sid Cates of Dallas.

The high scoring Kittens, averaging 39.7 points per game, will meet LSU in the Shrine Bowl game Saturday night at 7:30 p.m. at Pasadena. Tickets are $1.00 for students and $2.00 for the general public. LSU lost to the Ole Miss frosh 6-0, but came back to even its season record at 1-1 with a 37-0 win over the Mississippi State freshman team.

'Pistol' here

The Houston Rockets are hoping the "real Pete Maravich" won't stand up when the Rockets open their home season here at Hofheinz Pavilion Friday night against the Atlanta Hawks. Game time is 8 p.m.

Last season the Rockets won all three games played in Houston between the two teams by resounding margins but Pistol Pete was less than himself in the two games in which he played here and missed the other due to the mononucleosis which plagued him most of last season. The Rockets split two games at Atlanta for a 4-1 series.

The Rockets have designated Friday night as "Ball Night" and all high school age and under will receive a coupon redeemable for a Rockets basketball.

The Rockets return to the N.B.A. wars the following night, Saturday, against the tough Chicago Bulls, whose 57-25 regular season mark last year ranked behind only Los Angeles and Chicago.

Saturday night is "Rockets Wrist Band" night and anyone 21 and under will receive a pair of the cotton bands imprinted with the Rockets logo.

Cross country

Houston's cross-country team will try to get back on the winning side of the ledger this week at the North Texas State Invitation in Denton.

The Cougars will compete in the six-mile Eagle meet at 11 a.m. Saturday.

UH was beaten by a former Cougar in last week's meet. Tim Patton, a UH varsity cross country runner in 1970 who transferred to Texas, won the invitation meet at Arlington last weekend.

Houston's top finisher was Mehdi Jaouhar, who covered the five miles in 25:59 for 11th place.

Other UH entries this week and their finish and time last week include: Bill Broadhead (12), 26:01; Jay Williams (14), 26:07; Tom Birch (18), 26:27; Bill Lührssen (30), 27:00; Conrad Black (45), 27:56; and George Taylor (56), 29:00.

Houston's 18-year cross-country record is now 107-11. UH has finished second in all of the meets it did not win.

UH will be at home again October 28 for the NCAA district championship meet at Glenbrook Golf Course.

Cage ducats

Season tickets are now on sale for Cougar basketball games, excluding the Bluebonnet Tournament, at the cashier's office in the basement of the Cullen Building. The price for the 16 home games is $20. Ticket book holders can buy extra tickets at half-price.

Subtle racial slurs abound in 'When Legends Die'

By ALAN C. KIMBALL
Amusements Writer

With the help of the Southern Ute tribe and the sweeping panorama of Colorado mountains, Stuart Millar has made a film that should have been made a long time ago.

"When The Legends Die" is the story of an Indian boy who has been raised in the hills in the manner of his ancestors. He is forced onto a reservation and into school when his father dies. He must then cope with the white man's world and he finds it very difficult.

Thomas Black Bull grows into a man who loves horses, but the white reservation foreman will not let him work with the animals.

"When The Legends Die" abounds in the kind of subtle racial slurs that Indians face every day. Thomas, played by newcomer Frederick Forrest, handles this prejudice very well. He simply beats the whites at their own games.

Richard Widmark plays a white rodeo manager slowly drinking himself to death. His performance seems excellent, but its true worth is hard to determine because the acting by everyone else is so flat and non-existent.

Director Millar gets carried away with the beautiful scenery and at times it surpasses the story, making the film too long.

Forrest plays Thomas with the Cheyenne trait of only speaking when he has something of great importance to say, which is not too often. As a result, his character is one-dimensional.

He goes through three major changes in his personality with the inscrutability of an Indian portrait on an old buffalo nickel.

The film is shallow, but serves a good purpose. It points out social slime native Americans must wade through.

However, Millar doesn't want to go too far, so he makes the ending strange. It undoes much that has built up during the movie.

Speaking from a red man's point of view, the ending is very dishonest.

New productions set for Houston stages

UH Drama Department, Theatre Suburbia and Jones Hall have announced their upcoming productions, opening soon.

Cecil Pickett will direct the second production of the UH Drama Department season. The landmark musical play, "Oklahoma," is set for performances at 8:30 p.m. November 15-18 in the Cullen Auditorium.

"Oklahoma" marked many firsts for the American musical stage. It was the first musical where plot outweighed the musical numbers, and numbers grew out of the plot line and even classical ballet was incorporated.

"Little Murders" opens October

27 at Theatre Suburbia and runs every Friday and Saturday night through November 18. It is a lethal satire of a troubled American family struggling for survival in a world, wild with violence. UH student Norman Fischer is in the cast of this entertaining and thought-provoking contemporary drama.

"No, No, Nanette" opens Tuesday at Jones Hall for an eight-performance engagement.

The company is a duplicate of the Broadway show starring Ruby Keeler. Costumes, sets, music, choreography and staging have been recreated by the same production staff.

Guess Who By B.B. King
on ABC Records

What does the world's greatest blues guitar player sound like when finally given his freedom? Listen to B.B. King's latest release, Guess Who, and hear King really play. His past albums have been controlled by various producers, but King controls this album and proves more knowledgeable than any of them.

He hauls in his own band instead of using studio musicians (such as have graced his past albums). The result is the tightest album he's ever recorded... and he's recorded 35 or more LP's.

King plays the songs in his own way, which means more B.B. King feeling than ever before. This not only separates Guess Who from all his other albums, but it also separates King from all other guitarists in his field. By selecting his own musicians and tunes, King communicates his emotions to those who have never even heard him before as he does in his live gigs. It is nearly impossible to describe the effect the album has on his loyal followers.

Last, he conveys a fine assortment of feelings to make you cry and laugh. He goes from downright confessions of love in the title song, to the pillow-weeping guitar licks of "Five Long Years" and "You Don't Know Nothin' About Love."

But listen to the whole album. The true mark of an artist is when he is capable of taking someone out of a mood and putting them into his. No one is better in this department than the King. K.H.

O'Keefe by Danny O'Keefe

Danny O'Keefe is a mountain man. Figuratively, that is. He is that grizzled loner surviving in the hills with a distasteful view of society in the towns below.

And O'Keefe is a poet. The quality of O'Keefe will immediately tell you that he is more poet than singer. This is not bad, though. Since he wrote all but one of the songs, you get a very clear view of his best writing, which is excellent.

He is currently riding high on the popularity of "Good Time Charlie's Got The Blues" which is the opening cut on the album. The same slightly country and western blues that pervades that song is present on all the others, from "Shooting Star" to "Roseland Taxi Dancer."

But the album is a little more than just kicker songs; they have that old Woody Guthrie flavor.

O'Keefe sounds very much the way Ramblin' Jack Elliot used to in cowtown bars. O'Keefe is honest folk. A.K.

Manchild 1. by Manchild

Manchild is four Louisiana bayou boys, David Bankston, Neale Lundgren, Sam Broussard and Sherman Bernard. They formed this group in Colorado in 1970 and Capitol has now presented their first album.

Manchild has a unique sound. Their songs are a blend of blues, gospel, rock and folk, only the blend is not in any proportion you might have heard before.

Each song on the album is a trip through the minds of the group. Although each is a personal statement, the way they are done lends them all distinctly spiritual religious overtones.

Manchild is a fresh breeze and we certainly should have more. A.K.

BONNIE KOLOC and John Prine will appear in concert at 8 p.m. Sunday in the Houston Room, UC. Prine, who has recently been accompanied in concert by Bob Dylan, is known mainly as a songwriter. Koloc enchanted an Orientation crowd at the Coffeehouse this past summer with her soft, but powerful voice.

Internationals mingle

By RIC SOOHOO

MARTHA RIGGS (r) music sophomore, and Lynn Bradfield, music freshman practice in the Music Department for string quartet recitals in November.

There have been some big changes in the "coffee-cookie" luncheons of the international students in 1965 compared to the banquets now.

In 1965 Laura Louise Woolsey, wife of Dr. Sam M. Woolsey, accounting professor, and Tom Lopez, a teaching fellow, worked through the campus ministry to bring the international students together. Mrs. Woolsey said, "They didn't recognize each other, there was no unity whatsoever."

Woolsey, then chairman of the United Church Women (now called Church Women United), thought a pot of coffee and some cookies might bring some of the students together. She obtained permission to use a room on the third floor of Oberholtzer Hall at noon, set up the coffee pot and laid out the cookies. Lopez and Woolsey waited and no one showed up.

"We had to go beat the bushes to find them," she said. Their first efforts produced less than 10 students.

The next meeting, Young brought a shoe box containing chicken salad sandwiches; thus, inaugurating the first actual luncheon.

Woolsey resigned her chairmanship late in 1965 to take care of her invalid mother. Vivian Oliver took over in January 1966. "By then," Oliver said, "we were feeding 50 to 75 students at each luncheon."

Since then, Church Women

United (CWU) have not missed one Wednesday luncheon with the internationals.

Each week a different group of women from a member church or churches prepare sandwiches, cookies, potato chips, soft drinks, vegetables, etc., for the international students.

More than 300 internationals now attend the Wednesday luncheons held from 11:30 a.m. to 1 p.m. The place has changed from Oberholtzer Hall to the perimeter rooms of the UC.

Bob Reeder, international student activities coordinator, said the only business of the luncheon is announcements and handing out the newsletter published by International Student Services. Then, the students intermingle with each other and international differences disappear, Reeder said. "The Church Women United do not push religion at the luncheons, but rather, they set an example," he added.

Next Wednesday's luncheon will be sponsored by the women of Fair Haven Methodist Church.
