Complex folks look forward to 1983

Editor's note: As 1983 drew near, several DPMC folks, selected at random, were kind enough to share their New Year's resolutions with Shellegram and the Complex at large.

Louis Bryant, Maintenance South — To be the best father I can. We're due to have our second child soon, and it's been 12 years since our first one was born.

Doreen Armstrong, Administrative Services — The Lord willing, keep healthy and self-confident. Keep happy by giving as much of myself to others as I can. Try to improve on how I use my time to be more productive. Become a true list maker.

Randy Davis, CA Plant — To try to learn to be more patient with, and more understanding of, my fellow workers and others.

Theresa Sandles, Personnel Services — I want to get more organized, at home and in the office.

Alicia Sanchez, Refinery Lab — I absolutely will not lose my temper again.

Sandy Bryant, Administrative Services — I'm going to get myself in better shape. Might even run a marathon.

N.A. (Shep) Shepherd, Pressure Equipment — I intend to learn how to dance within the year. I'll be taking lessons for all kinds of dancing.

Don Straitwell, Maintenance South — Will try not to be so short with people in the coming year.

Gwen Lyons, Aromatics East — My resolution is not to make one, because I break them every year.

R.J. (Porky) Kondas, R.G. (Snake) Brown, and T.W. (Why) Keeling, all Automotive North — We "boost boys" of the garage will do everything we can to upgrade ourselves to the position of garage mechanic number one, like "Perch," "Ali," and "Elvis."
