

Congratulations Class of 1967

The SHELLEGRAPH is proud to salute "The Class of 1967" in this special issue. To the bright-eyed young folks pictured here, you can be assured that you have some very proud mothers and fathers too, just in case they haven't mentioned it. Sage advice at a magic moment like graduation is all too often buried in the excitement--and rightfully so. Someday though, when you catch your breath, it might give you a good feeling to know that the best wishes of some 1700 Shell Houston Refiners are with you. Of course, an education means a different thing to different people, but the following thought may make you more aware of the value of your accomplishment: "For every man the world is as fresh as it was at the first, and as full of untold novelties for him who has the eyes to see them." (From A Liberal Education, 1868.)

"On behalf of Shell and the Houston Refinery I want to extend my best wishes and congratulations to the sons and daughters of our employees who have recently achieved a milestone in their lives--graduation from high school or college. Judging by the achievements attained by the graduates, there is no doubt that they and their parents are indeed to be recognized for a job well done."

Arnold Watson

The SHELLEGRAPH would like to be kept informed about the future progress and achievements of the Houston Refinery employees' youngsters. A short letter or even just a telephone call to the paper's office will be sufficient.

Dear Editor,

My mother was going thru a box of old photos and found this old Shellgraph. Back in '67, I had no idea that someday I would be @ DPMC. I thought you might enjoy a look into the past
