BIOGRAPHY

The Odd Squad started "getting busy" as a group, since the Summer of 1990. The name "Odd Squad" was chosen because of the odd ideas and track selections they have put together. Each member writes his own lyrics to display different styles. While Rob is producing, suggestions are made within the group for titles and song patterns.

With everyone having previous audience experience, they concentrate on their creative time by staying together and producing demos. The group judges their progress on the number of quality songs they create and by the public's reaction. To learn more about the music business, Dexter and Devin are now attending classes at the Art Institute of Houston, while Robert is attending Prairie View A&M University. The group is influenced by artists such as: Tribe Called Quest, Rakim, Ice Cube, Two Live Crew and Bran Nubian.
