TO ALL EMPLOYEES

DEPARTMENTAL PARTIES BEING HELD
TO CELEBRATE SAFETY RECORDS

Several departments in the Refinery are realizing some "tasty" dividends for having rolled up a record of one year or more without a disabling injury. To date the Welders craft from the Engineering Field Department and the Utilities Department have held parties to celebrate the occasion. The Welders got together last week at Angel's Grill in Pasadena, while the Utilities employees held two parties - one at the Executive Country Club in Houston and the other at the Angel's Grill - to allow their shift employees an opportunity to attend. The parties continue with two more scheduled this weekend. Tonight's gathering will be at the Executive Country Club and will honor the Insulators craft. Tomorrow the Labor and Service crafts of the Engineering Field Department and Effluent Control Department will party at the Club Ebony in Houston. The roving eye of the SHELLEGRAPH camera was present at the Utilities party (see photos above)... and will be "flashing" scenes from future parties for publication in our newsletter.

As Refinery Mgr. L. T. Wilson said in addressing the Utilities group, These parties are yours, because the record you have accumulated is the result of the efforts of each one of you.....And we are proud of you for it."

SHELL ACQUIRES CONSTRUCTION COMPANY

Shell Oil Company has acquired the C. L. Guild Construction Company, of East Providence Rhode Island, including the right to utilize the sonic pile driving technique on a world-wide basis, J. E. Clark, Shell executive vice president, announced recently.

Mr. Clark said the acquisition is another step by Shell in the development of new possibilities in areas in which Shell has special knowledge and skills.

C. L. Guild will remain as president of the construction company, which will retain its separate identity and continue operations at its East Providence location, Mr. Clark said.
