

NATIONAL WOMAN'S LIBERTY LOAN
COMMITTEE

TREASURY DEPARTMENT

WASHINGTON

May 28, 1918.

Mrs. Minnie Fisher Cunningham:
306 Trust Building,
Galveston, Texas.

My dear Mrs. Cunningham:

I take this occasion to extend to you the congratulations of the National Woman's Liberty Loan Committee upon the inspiring campaign just closed in Texas under your leadership.

The total in dollars and cents of the achievements of American women in selling Liberty Bonds is a notable and far-reaching one. The spirit of loyalty and democracy that has been demonstrated by the tens of thousands who have contributed their time and ability marks a milestone in the advancement of women.

It was my privilege during the last campaign to visit a number of the states. I never was so profoundly impressed as by the army of women devoting themselves with such ability and selflessness to this great task.

Let me express for my Committee and for myself personally the privilege we feel in being associated with you in this service for our country.

Yours most sincerely,

(Mrs. W. G. McAdoo)
Chairman.
