

"Pair of Sixes" To Be Produced As First Senior Play

Casting Scheduled
For Show To Be Presented May 4-5

At a meeting Wednesday night a group of seniors voted to produce "Pair of Sixes" as the first University of Houston Senior play.

L. Standlee Mitchell, who will direct, gave a resume of the play which will be presented in the new auditorium May 4-5.

If script arrives in time the play will be cast at 9:30 Monday in the old auditorium. Notice will be posted on the library bulletin board naming date of tryouts, if the script does not arrive.

The story includes eight male parts and four feminine roles and is a comedy revolving about two young men who inherit a profitable business. The men can not get along together professionally and decide to play a hand of poker to determine who will manage the firm.

Future complications arise when both men fall in love with the same girl.

Plans are being made to have "between-acts," and all seniors who play musical instruments, sing or dance are asked to be present at the tryouts Monday, Mitchell said.

Graduation Fee Deadline Extended

The deadline on payment of graduation fees has been extended to April 15, it was announced by N. K. Dupre, dean. The original deadline was set for April 1. All students who are receiving degrees or diplomas in June or summer school are required to pay the fee by next Friday.

Spanish Club To Celebrate Pan-American Day

Pan-American Day, conceived following the World War to unite the bonds of friendship among the 21 republics of the western hemisphere, will be celebrated by El Foro Espanol, University Spanish Club, Sunday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Floy Soule, sponsor, 6017 Ardmore.

The program, according to members of the club, will be the best of the year, and includes talks by prominent Pan-American diplomats in Houston, songs, and other features of Spanish festivals.

P. V. Pennybacker To Speak At Meeting Of Engineers Club

Mr. P. V. Pennybacker, consulting engineer on the new bridge at Port Arthur on the Port Arthur-Orange highway, will speak to the University of Houston Society of Engineers. The talk will be a feature of the society's next meeting.

Mr. Pennybacker's subject will be "The Future of Construction Engineers." His talk will include descriptions of special features of construction on the new span. This bridge employs the latest scientific methods known to science and will be opened to traffic soon.

High Schools Elect Reception Royalty

Betty Finnegan Princess
From Lamar; Farrar Storm
To Represent Austin High

Miss Betty Finnegan will represent Lamar high school as princess in the annual University of Houston reception for high school seniors, April 28, at the city auditorium.

Also elected this week was Miss Farrar Storm, who will represent Austin high school.

Miss Finnegan was elected Friday from a group of 27 beauties, and was chosen in the final judging over Miss Rosalie Sullivan. Judges were J. R. Walters, principal of Washington school, A. C. Frey, of Hamilton junior high school, Helen Byington, superintendent of girls' athletics, M. Patrick and Mrs. Smith.

Dick Putnam, who will be Miss Finnegan's escort, was chosen by the princess.

Miss Storm was chosen by a group of four judges from five beauties who completed in the final elimination. Her escort will be Charles Moody.

Katherine Lee will represent Milby high school and will be escorted by James McGrew.

Beauties from the seven Houston high schools will compete for the honor of high school queen of the reception.

Intensive Student Building Fund Drive Is Opened at Meetings Of Classes and Student Organizations

Funds Raised By Drive Will Erect Activity Center

The $50,000 addition to the University of Houston building fund to the Alumni Association will be used to construct a student center.

The proposed student center will be for the use of students and alumni for club meetings, recreation, and other student activities, and will present a means for student receipt of funds donated to the fund.

All student club and class presidents are urged to be present at meeting at 9:30 p.m. today to complete plans for the undergraduate building fund rally to be held April 18, Wilbur Smith, Student Association president announced today.

The meeting will be open and all students have been invited to attend, Smith said. Smith also announced that there is a great need of building drive workers and asked that any students not on the appointed committees who are interested in aiding in the drive be present at a meeting at 7:15 p. m. today in the old auditorium.

Confusion on the part of many students was cleared by an announcement by Smith that the $15,000 student building fund goal is a part of the amount set by the alumni division.

Another Assembly To Be Held Monday

In response to numerous requests, another all-student assembly will be held at 9 p. m. Monday, Wilbur Smith president, said today.

Much secrecy has surrounded plans for the program, and a surprise for students is being arranged, Smith said.

Music, songs, and yells will be featured on the program in addition to the surprise event. Announcement concerning the student building fund rally will also be made.

Story Contest Will Close April 15

Annual Competition Is Sponsored By Le Bayou,
French Literary Review

April 15 was announced today as closing date for the short story essay contest conducted by Le Bayou, French literary review of Houston.

The story and essay contest is sponsored annually by the review and is open only to students of the University of Houston. All students may participate. First prize of $10 will be awarded to the writer of the best selection. Other prizes will be announced, Editor Jules Vern, said.

Since the magazine is widely read in France and Belgium by patrons who have no knowledge of this section of the country, the contest calls for subject matter confined to activities, anecdotes or customs of the people of the South, or 'local color' stories, Mr. Vern said.

Contest material should be given to one of the following judges: Mrs. B. M. Ebaugh, Miss Ruth Pennybacker, Dr. C. F. Hiller, or Jules A. Vern.

Freshmen and Sophs Name Committees; Meetings Are Today

With construction underway on the Roy Gustav Memorial building, first unit of the Greater University of Houston, University undergraduates and student organizations this week began a united effort to complete the student drive for funds in the $1,000,000 campaign.

Frosh and Sophs to Meet

Freshman and Sophomore class committees in charge of the student building fund drive will meet with Wilbur Smith, Student Association president tonight in the old auditorium to discuss plans for their part in the campaign.

The Freshman committees will meet from 7:15 to 8:30 p. m., and Sophomores from 8:30 to 9:30. All team captains and committee members are urged to attend, Smith said.

Plans for ways and means of co-operating in the drive will be discussed at a called meeting of University of Houston Squires at 9:30 tonight in room 210, T. W. Pearson, newly-elected president announced today.

At an unofficial meeting last Friday in the conservatory, Pearson reported that he had discussed with the downtown headquarters of the drive the most effective way in which the club might co-operate with the central committee. Suggestions of the head office will be presented at the meeting tonight.

Upperclassmen Co-operate

The first gun of the student campaign to raise $15,000 was fired Wednesday night in the old auditorium when Senior and Junior drive captains and their teams met to complete plans for their participation in the work.

DO YOU WANT TO BE AN ACTOR?

Why's and Wherefore's of Thespian Art Bared By "Skip" To Those Who Have Ambition To Go Behind Footlights

By Skip

(The characters and events in this lecture are fictitious, and any similarity to actual persons—especially the Red Masque Players—either living or dead, is entirely coincidental.)

The question for tonight is, "Do you want to be an actor?"

If the answer is affirmative, you MIGHT find the following lecture of interest.

(However, I have a somewhat guilty conscience in offering this little talk, for not only am I endangering the enrollment of Mr. Mitchell's drama classes by offering this bit of professional advice free, but I am also going to pass some of his instructions on to you as part of my lecture.)

First, all freshmen actors should begin by learning to diet. If, after about a week of fasting, you weaken and decide that you want a little something to eat, it will be permissible for you to eat only some HAM.

One of the first things that Mr. Mitchell teaches his "embryo emoters" is always to face the audience. Never turn your back on the cash customers if you can possibly avoid doing so. This pearl of wisdom is not promoted by any stray bit of consideration for the people "down front," but is offered to Mitchell's "pretending puppets" for their own protection.

You can never tell when the audience will start throwing things, and they will have at least a 50-50 chance if they can see what the customers throw.

Mr. Mitchell also refuses to let one of his "timid thespians" stand in front of another actor for any length of time and "screen" him

STUDENT CENTER

One of the most welcome pieces of 'building fund' news came this week in the announcement of the purpose for which the $50,000 alumni and under graduate fund will be used.

The student center which is to be constructed should prove to be one of the most popular units of the Greater University of Houston, and will provide a phase of student activity formerly lacking.

FRIENDLY OVERTURES

"Don't be what you ain't, just you be what you is, for if you ain't what you are, then you ain't what you is."

Harvey W. Harris carried out this idea in one of his lectures of friendly advice recently. You make yourself what you are but the good opinion of your friends keeps you there.

Each one of us has experienced the sensation of wanting to say "hello" to a person we have seen day after day at the same hour and place, but a frozen attitude or dead-pan expression on the part of the other person has kept us from making any overtures. So we just haven't bothered and have passed that person by time after time without even so much as a friendly nod. You think that that person is stuck-up, a prude, a boor, or what have you, and he thinks that you're a conceited independent cuss!

Why don't you both break down and say "Hello there" the next time you meet? The re-action will be amazing. Maybe you're two pretty nice people and will like one another immensely after you have broken the ice and get to know each other.

GAIN, TAKE, DISCARD

When the University of Houston moves to its new quarters, some new things will be gained, some old things will be taken along, and some obsolete things will be discarded.

Will a finer, more luxurious structure tend to build a cold, indifferent atmosphere, a false snobbery; in short, a different sort of student body?

Or will the spirit of co-operation, of helpfulness, which probably first began with the instructors, and in time become quickly assimilated by the students themselves. Will that spirit be taken along?

Will the feeling that each and every student is here for some individual need, for some definite purpose, disappear when the new university is completed, and more students register with the sole idea of pleasing their parents rather than a desire to learn?

Will that democratic attitude, the attitude of each individual respected, with no consideration given to race, creed, economic or social position, be taken along.

And those instructors who are giving indefatigably of their time, effort and money to make the new University a possibility rather than a fantastic dream; will they be remembered?

The "in futuro" answers remain with us—the student body.

What new things will be gained? What old things will be taken with us? And what obsolete things will be discarded?

THANK YOU

Many thanks to the Houston Education council for the $500 gift to the University building fund.

This is a splendid showing of the faith that the teachers, principals, and supervisors place in the University.

They realize also that the curriculum offered by the school enables many teachers to further their education.

We who have been graduated from Houston high schools, especially appreciative the fact that our former instructors are still interested in us, that they believe in higher education, and they are doing their part to make it available to us.

Guest Speaker Discusses Phases Of Journalism

Publishing a newspaper is probably the only business existing which could be manned entirely by volunteers.

This was the statement of Velma K. Soule, executive head of the woman's department of the Houston Post, in a talk to the Journalism 132 class Friday night.

Mrs. Soule enlarged upon her statement by pointing out that every day the newspaper editor has requests from many persons to be permitted to work on the staff for no salary.

"We do, however, get a little more than nothing," Mrs. Soule said.

In discussing newspaper work in general Mrs. Soule began with a 'de-bunking' of the average layman's conception of the work.

"It is the general idea that the life of a reporter is ideal; there is no routine, a by-line on every story, no complaints, and the opportunity to be the first at every fire," Mrs. Soule said. But she pointed out that the most characteristic aspect of the work is that one never fails to be surprised.

Painting a true picture of the life of the average reporter, the speaker traced the life of the "cub." They all must start at the bottom, she said, and this means running errands. From errand-runner, the would-be reporter graduates into the "morts"—mortuary column compiler—which is "the lowest form of animal life in a newspaper office."

The young journalistic aspirant is kicked about at will by the members of the staff, and his reward is long hours and low salary. His is a job which requires the highest intelligence with the lowest compensation.

Mrs. Soule, who has been in newspaper business for 15 years, then cited the future of the life of the reporter, and pointed out that only about one in 5,000 ever get past the general run of reporters. Those who do make the top, she said, have to go through many unpleasant situations, and it is no job for the sensitive.

Hard work, good sense of news values, maintaining confidence of news sources, and originality were cited as the attributes of those who keep places on the ladder of newspaper writers. Those who hold the highest places must have some "plus" quantity—more initiative, an entertaining style, or something out

CAMPUS CHATTER

By Simian Snoop

Pauline Stephens' musician friend, Jesse Harbin, of the Grove, decided he liked Pauline so well that he would stay over thru last Monday. He escorted the lass to classes Monday making at least two local guys slightly jealous.

The marvel of the week was that Mr. Mitchell didn't wear his air-conditioned hat to the ground-breaking. Think Talley must have disposed of it.

Faculty burlesque. . . Impersonation by Loughridge very comical. . . Mrs. Lewis took it all with a grin. . . Freeman Nixon's imitation of N. K. Dupre's walk a wow. . . Looked so typical of the dean.

After the show, majority of the cast went to Pig Stand, thence to Heidelberg. . . Venus Reddick didn't change from the Lord Fauntleroy costume, so the bud who escorted her to the second joint was just a little embarrassed of his date's attire.

With spring out all around, Jimmy Julian and Jerry Bentley are again aware of each others presence. Looks like it's bad. . . Louise Kost believes that she just has too many boy friends. She can't for the life of her figure who are and who aren't. So everybody's happy about the whole thing.

Harry Gohlman is one of these guys who are still worrying over a high school gal. Is it so important? . . . Chester Yankee and his girl friend, Clemmie Region, are at it again literally tooth and nail. Anyone who goes out with the Region dame had best take out accident insurance.

It seems like old home week for Charles O' Connor and Frank Warren, with both of them going back to their old flames. Frank makes frequent trips to Rice to take Sybil King to lunch.

Editor's notes. . . Stewart graduated from the dirt slinging to writing a music column this week, but some kind, energetic soul dug up a stickful or so of Chatter. . . (Personal to Stewart: Don't think there'll be enuff room for the music, but we'll put it in the permanent file. . . Thanks to E. L. Green for the correction. . . Fo'give us, please. . . Anyone knowing Francis Collins, editor-elect of the Rice Trasher, please thank him for the propaganda left at the printers' for y.v.t.

Chemistry 142 has two professors now—one is Prof. Drake and another one another one is Thomas Moore, better known as "Slide—rule." It seems that the "Pasadena flash" has actually told the class that the formula of water is really H-2-O, which is certainly a flash. Branching to physics, he also proudly tells how his crystal set runs a loud-speaker. With a mind like this, we suspect Oxford will soon be calling him. We haven't said what.

of the general run—the speaker said. Initiative is always at a premium, she continued, and it is always the hardest thing to find.

Telling of her experiences, Mrs. Soule cited two which she considered most vivid of her career. The first came when she was in the city room of the New York Evening Post and the news came that Lindbergh had crossed the Atlantic. The other event was the word that the New London school had been wrecked by explosion, killing nearly 400 persons.

Mrs. Soule described methods of covering "big" stories, and discussed interviews. An open forum followed her address.

U. of H. Listed To Get French Awards

The University of Houston will be among the American schools and universities to receive the 1938 book-awards and medals offered by the French government to students of French language for outstanding work during the year.

Announcement of the listing was made this week to Bill Shamblin, president of Les Mousquetaires, University French club, by M. Jean de la Greze, acting consul general of France at New Orleans.

In his letter to Shamblin, M. La Greze also says that following the club's request an effort will be made by the general consulate to have the French government donate French books to the University of Houston to serve as a nucleus for a library.

A report of the activity of the club has been sent to the French consul who says in his letter that he "learns with a great deal of pleasure of the praiseworthy efforts made by the French club of the University of Houston to encourage and develop the study of French."

B.S.U. To Sponsor Second Program

The Baptist Student Union of the University of Houston will sponsor its second student night next Tuesday at the Second Baptist Church, Milam at McGown.

The special program will be similar to the first student night held recently at the First Baptist Church. A section will be reserved for University students. The sermon will begin at 8 o'clock and program will be under the direction of Dr. Thorn.

Baptist students in the University will be solicited to attend by the same groups, and Miss Reba Martin, secretary has invited all student of other denominations to attend.

Elections for next fall will be held Sunday afternoon. H. J. Holt is faculty sponsor of the group.

University Singers In Reception Fete

The University Singers will be presented in the May Fete of the University high school senior reception, and in the commencement exercises in June.

Program for the first presentation is now being planned. Numbers at the graduations rites will be "Linda Lou," and "Morning."

from the audience. This is not a courteous gesture to fellow actors, but is more in the spirit of every man for himself.

When the missiles start to fly, it hardly seems cricket for one player to stand behind another for protection, so Mitchell has instructed his "histrionic hams" to stay out in the open and take it like little men.

However, fruit-throwing can be advantageous even to the actor. I once knew a member of the acting profession who picked up a tidy little sum on the side by selling from a push-cart between performances the fruit he collected on the stage.

While I am on the subject of throwing, I might add that in 1937 there were 6,844 heroes, 1,660 heroines, and but 525 villains struck by objects tossed by audiences throughout the country. This either proves that the American customers are slipping as marksmen, or that they are at last finding out that the leading man or lady is usually not so agile as the more athletic villain, despite the padded shoulders of the heart-throb, and so is much easier to hit.

Now, before the bell rings, let's get this thing straight. A good reporter always stands behind what he writes, but I'm not a good reporter and besides, Mr. Mitchell's tough-looking villains don't seem to be just ACTING when they look so mean on the stage. This whole thing is offered in the spirit of good, clean fun.

See, we'll just laugh it off.
Just the same, I wish somebody would walk home with me tonight.

CLUBS

By Carl Glynn Barnes

Two dances were being planned by University student organizations this week.

ROSARIAN CLUB

The Rosarian club, Catholic organization for college students, will hold its third annual Spring dance from 10 p. m. to 1 a. m. Friday, April 22, in the Rice Terrace ballroom. The Torres-Waters orchestra will play.

Miss Mary Catherine Schnell, ticket chairman, has announced that each member selling 10 tickets will be admitted to the dance free. Price of bids is $1.10 a couple.

Officers will be elected at a meeting at Rosary hall, April 19.

ENGLISH CLUB

The English club will sponsor a cake-walk dance at 9:30 p. m. April 22, in the girls' gymnasium. Advances tickets may be purchased three for 25 cents from Bonnie Luscher. Door tickets will be 10 cents, and each will include a chance on one of the cakes to be given away during the intermission.

Miss Luscher presided at the Tuesday meeting of the club when J. R. Whitaker, journalism instructor, and L. Standlee Mitchell were guest speakers. Mr. Whitaker discussed advanced journalism courses offered in colleges and Universities in the United States, and Mr. Mitchell pointed out the new trends in the dramatic field and the schools offering degrees in dramatics.

RADIO CLUB

Bill Manning and Earl Raiford, who have just returned from a tour with one of the Major Bowes traveling unit, were featured on a musical program of the Radio club Thursday.

Second half of the program was devoted to a discussion of art. Mrs. Cora Wilson spoke on the latest trends in art, and Mary Lou Carlton discussed the Houston Art Museum its benefits to Houston. Lenora Dodson reviewed a current best seller, and Mr. Dickson reviewed a movie. A poem and a one-act play were read respectively by Violet Nannos and Mrs. Denny Cralle.

HOUSTONIAN CLUB

All members of the Houstonian club who do not pay dues by April 22 will be dropped from the club roll, Louise Standley, president, announced today.

"We feel that we have been lenient in this matter," Miss Standley said, "but for club work to progress, we must have financial backing."

SQUIRES CLUB

The University of Houston Squires club will meet at 9:30 p. m. today in room 210 to make plans for an informal 'get-together' to be held Sunday afternoon.

Boyd Shinn announced today that orders for club pins had been sent to the engraver.

FENCING CLUB

Day School members of the Fencing club this week are planning a fencing tournament to be conducted under the direction of the instructor.

Members participating in the tournament are Johnny Nicosia, Henry Taub, Hill Feagin, T. W. Pearson, Frank Warren, Hollis Love, Earl Michalka, Clarence Linam, Conrad Mang, V. G. Smiley, Charles Kubricht, Wilson Morris, Frances Sherrill, and J. D. Hutchinson.

COUGAR COLLEGIANS

Proceeds from the home made candy sale, which is being held today in the conservatory from 4 to 9:30 p. m., will be added to the Cougar Collegian fund for a gift to the University of Houston building fund. Marjorie Baldwin is in charge of the sale.

Plans are being made for the bay party to be held in May at Casa Del Mar.

METHODIST STUDENT UNION

The Methodist Student Union will meet at 6 p. m. today when George Harbuck, president, is program leader. Change in meeting place is to be announced.

It has been announced that the gift subscription to "World Outlook" is now available to students in the library.

CIVILIZATION

"The human mind remains a dark continent, and our people are swayed by propaganda, not the facts. Civilization is calling for pioneers in mental efficiency. If our institutions of higher learning can furnish these there is a great future for them. If not, these institutions are doomed." Lafayette College's Press. William Mather Lewis points the collegiate road to success.

H. President E. E. Oberholtzer; Dr. W. W. Kemmerer, University vice president; Judge Roy Hofheinz, alumni drive chairman.

Committees Named

The Freshman drive committee is headed by Grace Tomlin, Student Council representative, and Henry Taub class president.

Group chairmen and members are:

T. W. Pearson, chairman, Mary Ann Griesenbeck, Jean Messimer, Wofford Tully, William O'Conner.

June Carter, chairman, Phyllis Greer, Della Belle Collier, Kitty Lou Dawson, Suzanne Larimer, Ferne Flaig.

Roy Campbell, Jr., chairman, Tommie De Walt, Jimmie Duncan, Edward Stockwell, Conrad Mang, John Hardy.

John J. Nicosia, chairman, James Taylor, John Stewart, Louis Jones, Louise Pridgen, Nanaline Williamson.

Boots Allen, chairman, Walton Fleming, Howard Bauer, Ralph Huebner, Margaret Rose McLelland, Marion Schapiro.

SPORT BRIEFS

By Ralph Disque

Wayne Sabin of Hollywood, Calif., a speedy, powerful little man, boosted his stock plenty in the tennis world, as he defeated a classy field in the River Oaks tournament here last week.

Every past winner of the meet has gone on to glory in the tennis game.

All except one of the previous champions have progressed to first ranking player in America, named by the U. S. Tennis association.

Vines, Stoffen, and Allison each were stars for the American Davis squad.

Sabin is ranked No. 7 at present, and his winning efforts here will come in for much recognition when the U. S. L. T. A. ranks the players for 1938.

Fred Wolcott of Rice will have the tongues wagging for many months to come, after his world record breaking performance of 13.9 in the 120 yard high hurdles at the Texas Relays last Saturday.

Because a stiff wind was at his back the record will probably not be acknowledged by the A. A. U. Several coaches are of the opinion that he will repeat the act before the season is ended. Wolcott will certainly be an outstanding individual when

Cralle, Loughridge Outstanding In Faculty Burlesque

By John Stewart

Presenting a show which was good in spots, but which was a disappointment to students who have witnessed similar productions in the past, the Red Masque Players staged "Time Stumbles On," annual faculty burlesque to an audience of 250. Friday in the auditorium.

Personal nomination for the most hilarious impersonations were Denny Cralle's portrayal of Prof. Alba Lee Kerbow, defender of the "broad method," and Vera Mae Loughridge's English-accented Mrs. N. R. Lewis. Vera Mae literally had the audience almost in the aisles by her explanation of the difference between the American and English "A," topping the performance with the statement in gangster-like brogue, "What's that, you don't understand my explanation? Why you heel, one more peep out of you and I'll give you the the woiks."

Freeman Nixon, veteran of the faculty burlesques, came up to his usual dramatic heights with his slow striding across the stage, hands in hip pockets, murmuring a la Dupre, the single word, "How—dy." Nixon then came back in the graduate's cap and gown and told in the Dean's supposed East Texas drawl, "Hello, Ma; hello, Pa. It was a tough fight, but I made it."

Harvey W. Harris, the "potato peelin' corporal" was shown hard at work peeling the spuds for Uncle Sam in the year 1918 by Bill Meier.

George Chaisson presented a composite photograph of L. Standlee Mitchell as Hamlet and Romeo. Norman Pollard lectured to the audience behind the title of Prof. Hutchinson on the subject of "How to make the best curves out of a simple equation." Della Belle Collier served as the illustration.

And Val Jean McCoy, evidently during his movie days, portrayed by Charles McLeroy was shown trying to bum a dime from a tramp to buy a "cupa cawfee."

Climaxing the show was the classic classroom scene in which Elsie Dial presided over a super-unruly composed of University faculty members.

the Inter-Collegiate championships are held this June.

Manager Fred Ankenman of the Houston Buffs is working late nights in an effort to bolster the home club for the 1938 Texas League race.

He has recently acquired Paul Dean, Dizzy's young brother, and Hal Epps, star of the '37 Buffs, has returned.

Two more former major league players who will earn their salaries with Houston this year are Al Cucinello and Jim Winford.

Kerbow To Lecture At Credit Meeting

A. L. Kerbow, education and psychology instructor, will lecture at 6:45 p. m. Monday at the Town Hall on the topic "The General Application of Psychology in Credit Work."

Mr. Kerbow will be the first speaker in the series of lectures sponsored by the Houston Retail Credit association.

Houston baseball fans have been hollering for other wonder teams of 1928 and 1930 and the prospects are that their wishes will be fulfilled this season.

U. Softball Team To Hold Practice Sunday Afternoon

The newly-organized softball team will practice at 3 p. m. Sunday on the San Jacinto diamond, Edward DeYoung, manager, has announced.

First practice of the season was held Sunday on the Sabine street field. Ted O'Leary was elected captain.

De Young, who is endeavoring to build a strong club, has announced that more interest will have to be shown before the team will be well organized.

"Each man who came to the practice last week is a good player, but we will have to have more men out this week," he said. "Any student who likes to play softball is urged to attend this week's practice."

Joe Camp, Johnnie Garcia, Meyer Wagner, Johnnie Nicosia, Henry Taub, O'Leary, and DeYoung were present at the opening session.
