The Daily Cougar is the official student newspaper of the University of Houston Central Campus, 4800 Calhoun, Houston, Texas 77004. It is published Monday through Friday, September through April.

Looks different huh? Hopefully, the visual structure of this paper won't be the only thing changing this semester. As college students, you deserve more than the news—analysis of how decisions made by the administration, the Students' Association and others affect you, reports on new trends, profiles of interesting persons on campus and off, social commentary and articles that will cause you to reflect on what's happening in the world today. That's what we're aiming to do. But we, too, are students, with classes, homework, and responsibilities much like yours. We hope you will understand if we fall short of our ideal.

We also hope to amuse you. T. Edward Bell, our resident 23-year-old curmudgeon, will be back typing his little fingers off. The Cougar's pages will be graced not only with an occasional Sold Out, but T. Edward will also bring his literary talents to the football field as he follows the 1978 Cougars. Mayo has vowed to return with M.U. the Lost University, and Hubbell's Crabgrass has already started to sprout and spread. Lori K will be Pigging Out once again after nearly a year's hiatus, tantalizing your taste buds with reports of low-rolling, high-quality food joints.

The Friday edition will be completely new. Called Stepping Out, it will be full of ideas of things to do on the weekend, movie, record and book reviews and interviews with the stars. We also plan a few humor issues, but those we'll spring on you without warning. We seem to avoid being bombed that way.

In exchange, what we want is your input. Letters are fine if you want to get something off your chest, but a little note will do if you see something you really like or something that causes your stomach to turn. Have a question? Write it up and put it in one of the tip boxes (attached to the stand where you picked this up) and we'll see if we can get an answer in "Check it out." If you see something happening that might be news, give us a call at Ext. 4141. Does your organization have an event coming up? Fill out a press release form either at the Cougar office in the Humanities Building, or at the Campus Activities Desk in the UC Underground.

We can't please everyone all the time, and due to space and staff limitations, we probably won't even come close. However, we plan to have a good time putting out something we hope will entertain you and make you think.

And is that so different?

Society shrugging off crime

To the Editor:

Returning home from work last night, I found that the apartment of the lady downstairs had been broken into and her TV stolen. Aside from the obvious worries that we felt as to the possibilities of further losses and personal security, there is the issue of general concern and responsibility which must be examined.

Much of society seems to be only too ready to tolerate petty thievery, breaking and entering, burglary and armed robbery, not to mention assault and even murder. It is not an issue we can shrug off and assign responsibility to the police and the judges alone. How many have served on juries and made poor decisions based on sentiment, releasing those who have shown that only their wants and needs count, and heaven help those they want something from? Or refused to serve on juries?

How many have seen crimes committed and said nothing, done nothing? If so, how can you downgrade all police, when your own conscience is far from clear! True, some crimes are hard to prove or be legally prosecuted, but there has to be a way that citizens together can make their lives miserable, rather than making it too easy from them to take whatever they please.

Society has erred in protecting juveniles and others from taking the responsibility for their own actions, preferring to believe that a miracle will change someone who will injure another for their own profit into a compassionate person. Those who kill for profit (drug dealing also is a terrible form of murder—a longterm lease on a living hell) deserve nothing less than a death penalty that is swiftly carried out; they show less compassion to their victims.

The so called "petty" crimes can harm the actual lower-income people (not necessarily those who show up in government figures) far more than a bigger burglary can harm those individuals and businesses which can afford insurance to help with replacement. To a single woman, working at the take-home salary allowed by a "fair-minded" government, the loss of a TV or any item of value ($50 up) is a serious problem—and the guilt of the person stealing it is that much greater morally.

Until we decide we do not want to encourage the "jungle" morality, we will continue to suffer. If we do want to get out of the "jungle," then we each have to work at it individually, keeping our own wants to a reasonable level so that we do not take from others what they need to live. This is also true of wages—there are many across the state and across the land who make $9000 and under. Why should they continually be "hijacked" by strike threats of people who make 1½-2 times as much or more? Don't forget, it's our tax money that goes toward this blackmail, while they live a lot better than we do.

Eva McCabe, Secretary
Communication Disorders (SPAUD)

Habla espanol? State law protects bilinguals

AUSTIN—Habla espanol? Many Texans do, and for a large number of these citizens, Spanish is the preferred language for business dealings.

That makes it especially unfortunate that some merchants use their own facility in Spanish, or the fact that some consumers are less comfortable speaking, reading, or writing in English to operate unscrupulously.

Our Consumer Protection Division attorneys recently obtained a court judgment against a West Texas real estate firm that was placing bait-and-switch ads in Spanish in Spanish-language newspapers. When contacted by an interested party, the firm refused or was unable to sell homes at the advertised low price and flexible terms. In addition, the firm failed to deposit earnest money at title companies or banks as represented, failed to return the money, and failed to apply it to the real estate purchase.

In another case, a firm operating mainly in the Valley, and aiming much of its sales efforts toward Spanish-speaking migrant workers, has been ordered by a court to stop 'Any contract or receipt of sales should have provided such information in Spanish. The law requires that contracts or receipts must be in the same language used in the sales transaction.'

— Attorney General John Hill

misrepresenting their services. The firm was selling door-to-door what it called "aseguranza," or insurance, which salespersons assured purchasers would cover costs involved if they had an automobile wreck in any state in the country. In reality, what the consumers were sold amounted to membership in an auto club, for which they paid highly inflated fees and received very few services.

Since that company sold its services door-to-door, by law its sales representatives should have told consumers of their right to cancel any contract for more than $25 within three days by notifying the firm or its salespersons in writing.

In addition, since the sales pitches were made in Spanish, any contract or receipt of sales should have provided such information in Spanish. The law requires that contracts or receipts must be in the same language used in the sales transactions.

Our attorneys have received reports of magazine sales crews descending on barrios and using hard sell appeals in Spanish to get subscribers. They, too, must follow the provisions of the law by informing consumers of their right to cancel, and right to have the information in Spanish.

Our office has taken several steps to assure our Spanish-speaking citizens that they will be able to get consumer protection assistance and information in whichever language they prefer.

First, and foremost, our six regional offices in San Antonio, El Paso, McAllen, Houston, Dallas, and Lubbock, as well as our main office in Austin, have bilingual staff members and attorneys who can help with consumer complaints.

In addition, we provide bilingual consumer complaint forms in all of our offices, and have available a "Guia Practica para el Consumidor de Texas," a brochure describing common consumer frauds, as well as an English edition of the publication.

So, for assistance with a consumer complaint, in English or Spanish, consult the Attorney General's Consumer Protection Division in one of the above cities. If you live outside those areas, call this toll-free number: 1-800-252-9236.

Senate extends tuition aid to middle income families

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate, seeking to lighten the burden of rising higher education costs, passed a bill Wednesday that would extend federal college tuition aid for the first time to students from middle-income families.

The aid, similar to what President Carter proposed, was added by a vote of 68-28 to another program that would allow a college tuition tax credit of up to $500 per student. The Senate passed that program late Tuesday.

A version of the tax-credit bill already has passed the House, where prospects are good for approval of the Carter plan as well. The issue of tuition tax credits now goes to a conference committee for a compromise between the Senate bill, which does not include elementary and secondary education costs, and the House measure, which does.

Carter has said the nation cannot afford both programs, leading to speculation the president would veto the tax credit which he has criticized as unfair.

Both bills are aimed specifically at helping middle-class families foot the higher education bill.

Here are major elements of the Carter plan as approved by the Senate:

The basic provision would increase from $16,000 to $25,000 the maximum family income level for which tuition aid would be available. The grants would range from $1,800 a year at the $6,000 income level to $250 at the $25,000 level. Similar increases would be made in college loan programs. The size of the grant would depend on family size and the amount of disposable income available after the family's basic necessities are provided for.

An additional 1.2 million students would become eligible for such aid, with 64 percent of the benefits going to families with incomes of $15,000 to $25,000.

Before approving the tuition credit, the Senate ended three days of arguments over constitutionality by eliminating a provision that would have provided a credit for parents of pupils attending private elementary and secondary schools.

Another 182,000 middle-income students with "exceptional financial need" would be helped by expanded supplemental grants of up to $1,500. This program, administered by the colleges, assists mainly middle-income students who might qualify for a small basic grant or none at all. The college determines eligibility and must match the supplemental grant.

The guaranteed student loan program, currently the main federal aid to middle-income students, would be liberalized. The government would pay the interest on tuition loans while the needy student is in college regardless of how high his family income. The government would guarantee repayment of the loan.

The contribution to the college work-study program would be doubled. This pays 80 percent of the student's salary for a parttime job in college or another non-profit institution. The government now pays for about 750,000 such jobs; the bill would add about 200,000 more.

The tuition tax-credit bill would allow a student (or his parents if he is a dependent) to reduce his income taxes by as much as $250 starting this year and up to $500 a year starting in 1980. The credit would offset college tuition and fees.

A student's ability to claim the tuition credit would be reduced by any aid received from the government grants.

Sen. Lloyd Bentsen, D-Tex., voted for the tax credit while Sen. John Tower, R-Tex., cast his vote against it.

1978 - 1979 SEASON

THE COMPLETE SERIES

Thursday, Friday, Saturday evenings at 8:00 p.m.

September 21, 22, 23, 1978 THE LADY AND THE FOOL
This is Houston Ballet's first work by the legendary choreographer of the Stuttgart Ballet, John Cranko. Set to the music of Verdi, THE LADY AND THE FOOL tells the story of a young woman who is courted by elegant suitors at a glittering ball, but chooses instead two shabby clowns in the street. This program will also include the world premiere of a ballet by American choreographer Norman Walker and Barry Moreland's haunting SUMMER SOLSTICE.

September 28, 29, 30, 1978 THE SLEEPING BEAUTY
Artistic Director Ben Stevenson has previously staged this spellbinding tale for the National Ballet of Washington and for Margot Fonteyn in Venice. Peter Farmer (who designed sets and costumes for Houston Ballet's CINDERELLA) will create the mythical kingdom in which Princess Aurora pricks her finger and sleeps for 100 years. Music by Tchaikovsky.

Order tickets now for Houston's holiday tradition, presented this year in sparkling new sets and costumes, and a new staging by Ben Stevenson. Where else does it snow every year in Houston?

February 8, 9, 10, 1979 PAPILLON
With a musical score by Jacques Offenbach, this full-length ballet has not been performed since its original production in Paris in 1860. Choreographed by Ronald Hynd, who recently staged THE MERRY WIDOW for the

April 12, 13, 14, 1979

Australian Ballet, PAPILLON is the enchanting story of a maiden transformed into a butterfly (in French papillon). This landmark world premiere will make a major contribution to the international repertoire.

PRODIGAL SON (in ragtime)
The blockbuster of the 1977-78 season returns with its fast-paced 20th century scenario and its snappy Scott Joplin score. The evening will begin with a world premiere work by Chinese-American choreographer, Choo San Goh.

May 24, 25, 26, 1979

SWAN LAKE
This dark and romantic ballet has become Houston Ballet's most acclaimed work, earning critical recognition across the country. Tchaikovsky's immortal music, William Pitkin's breathtaking settings, and Ben Stevenson's brilliant choreography make this production "a giant leap for Houston Ballet."

Four new routes help ease UH transport woes

by Janet Wells

JOHN WOODBURY

The addition of four new bus routes to the Central Campus should help commuter students considerably, according to Bobby Brownstein, Off-campus Housing and Transportation director.

The Braes Bayou-Crosstown route is the first route which goes directly to UH without going downtown.

"This is a trial route," said Billy Duckett, a spokesman for HouTran, the bus company responsible for operating the route. "As we see how the population is spread out over the route, we will probably change it to make it more convenient for the majority of the riders," said Duckett.

The route begins at the intersection of Bob White Boulevard and Willowbend, and ends at the transit stop on Cullen Boulevard.

Three other bus routes are being coordinated by the Office of Off-campus Housing and Transportation. The buses, leased through the 7K Bus Company, run to apartment complexes owned by Landmark Management Corporation and Johnstown Properties.

"Right now, these two companies are funding the entire operation of the UH Shuttle bus. We hope to expand the services to other complexes who are willing to contribute to the cost of operating the buses. As I see it, UH will have to fund some of it in the future," Brownstein said.

The UH shuttle buses run to the Mederia East, Willowcreek, Smith Square, Paseo and the Gardens complexes.

"We hope to expand the program during the semester, as we see the need and opportunity for them. The university is really trying to show more interest in the commuter student who makes up around 90 percent of UH's student population," said Brownstein.

"Our office is trying to coordinate the off-campus housing and transportation problems. There's really nothing that a student can do if he doesn't have a car and if (on-campus) housing is full, and we certainly don't want to tell the student that we're sorry but if you don't live on campus and can't find a car, you're going to have to go somewhere else. With these routes opening up, we'll be able to give students and faculty a choice," Brownstein said.

Grand jury to probe funds

by Phyllis Smith

A Harris County grand jury is expected to meet within three weeks to hear testimony regarding missing cash funds from the UH Continuing Education Center, according to Ross Rommel, assistant district attorney in the special crimes division.

An investigation of the center by Rommel's office is nearly finished, he said. The district attorney's office is waiting for subpoenaed material to arrive within the next three weeks, Rommel added.

The district attorney's office became involved in the investigation of the missing cash funds in late June at the request of Barry Munitz, Central Campus chancellor.

The funds involved cash received for a real estate course offered by the center. According to a UH internal audit report, up to $20,000 in cash could be missing from the account for the real estate courses since Jan. 1, 1978, Munitz said.

Three persons are expected to give testimony when the grand jury meets. Rommel would not identify them.

Rommel also declined to say whether the death of Dr. George Young, assistant dean of the center was connected with the missing funds.

Young, 42, was found dead at a friend's apartment at 1710 Branard on June 13, the day after UH began an investigation into certain center funds. His death was ruled a suicide.

The UH investigation was begun in the first week of June by Munitz after allegations of the missing funds was reported by radio station KULF.

HEWLETT-PACKARD INTRODUCES PROFESSIONAL CALCULATORS FOR A STUDENT'S BUDGET.

THE PRICE OF EXCELLENCE NOW STARTS AT $60*

They're here. Hewlett-Packard's new Series E. Five professional calculating instruments designed for a student's needs and budget.

NEW FEATURES.

Easy-to-read display. Larger, brighter LED display with commas to separate thousands.
Built-in diagnostic systems. Tells you: 1) when you've performed an incorrect operation; 2) why it was incorrect; 3) if the calculator isn't working properly.
Accuracy. Improved algorithms give you confidence that your answers are more precise and complete.

FOR SCIENCE AND ENGINEERING.

The HP-31E—Scientific. $60* Trigonometric, exponential and math functions. Metric conversions. Fixed and scientific display modes. Full 10-digit display. 4 separate user memories.

The HP-32E—Advanced Scientific with Statistics. $80* All HP-31E functions plus hyperbolic, comprehensive statistics. More math and metric capabilities. Decimal degree conversions ENG, SCI and FIX display modes. 15 user memories.

The HP-33E—Programmable Scientific. $100* Scientific, math and statistics with programmability. Editing, control and conditional keys. 49 lines of fully merged key-codes. 8 user memories.

FOR BUSINESS AND FINANCE.

The HP-37E—Business Management. $75* Basic business/finance. Gives Present Value, Payments and Future Value calculations simultaneously. Discounts, %s, mark-ups, and amortization schedules. Statistics with trend-line forecasting. 5 financial and 7 user memories.

The HP-38E—Advanced Financial Programmable. $120* Solves routine and complex problems at the touch of a key—no previous programming experience necessary. Internal Rate of Return and Net Present Value for up to 1,980 cash flows in 20 groups. 2000-year calendar. 5 financial and 20 user memories. Up to 99 program lines.

HEWLETT-PACKARD IS WITHOUT EQUAL.

All Series E calculators use RPN logic exclusively. If you've never tried it you're in for a big surprise. It lets you solve problems the way you naturally do in your mind. Straightforward. Logical. No worrying about complicated hierarchies or parentheses. RPN is the shortest possible distance between the question and the answer.

SEE FOR YOURSELF.

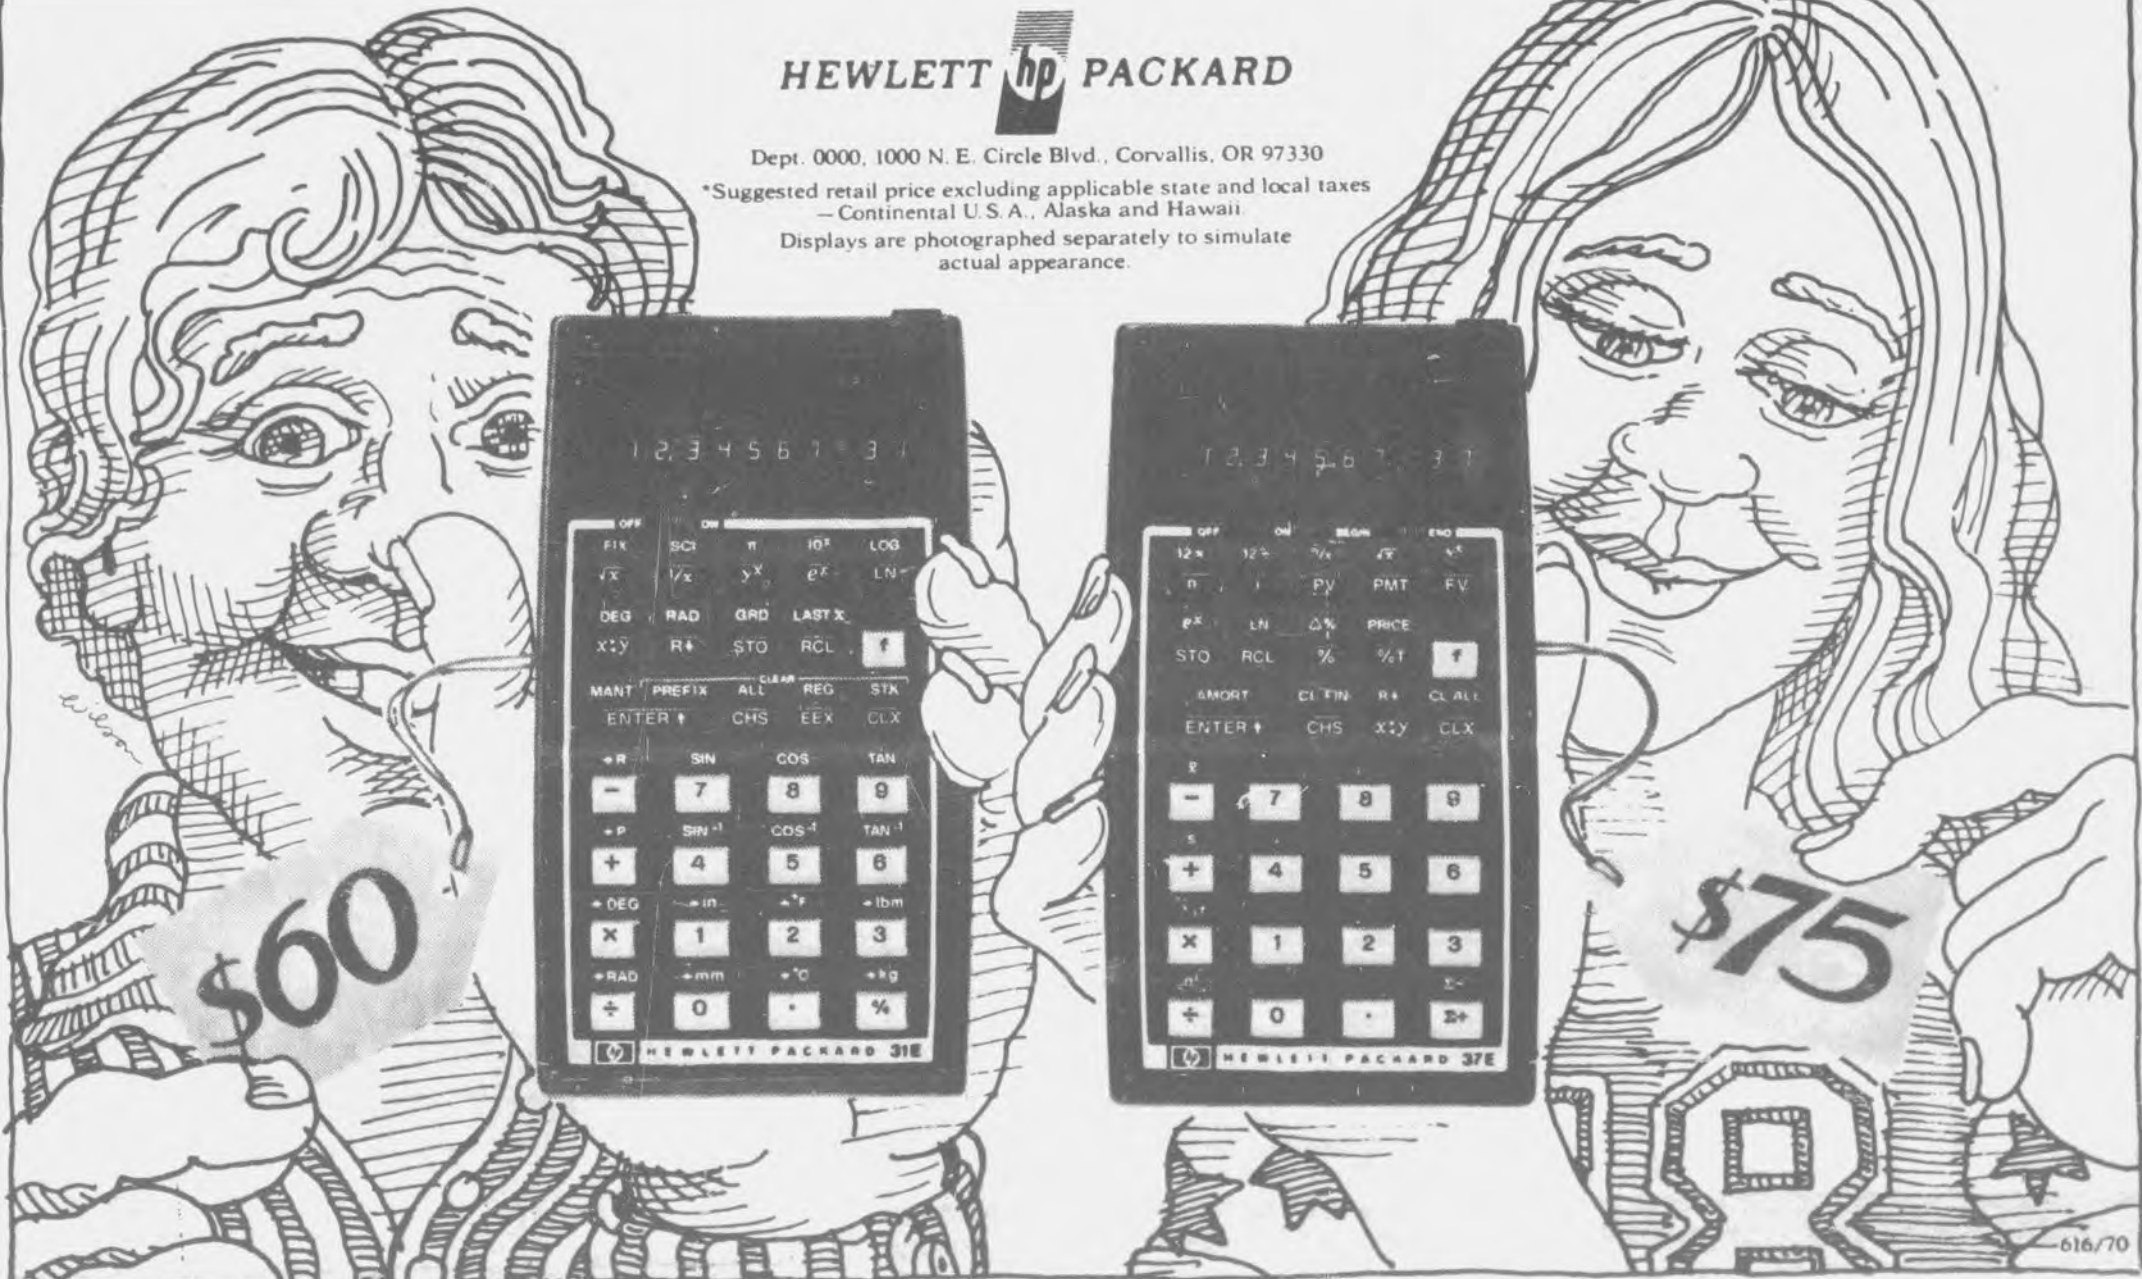

To help you select the calculator that's right for you, we've prepared a booklet entitled, "The Student's Choice... the Logical Choice." Pick up a free copy at your bookstore or nearest Hewlett-Packard dealer when you stop by to see Series E. For the nearest dealer, CALL TOLL-FREE 800-648-4711 except from Hawaii or Alaska. In Nevada call 800-992-5710.

While you're there, be sure to see our advanced programmable HP-29C and HP-19C with printer and HP-67 mag-card programmable.

Do it soon. A Hewlett-Packard professional calculator starting at just $60* is something you can't afford to pass up.

NATIONAL LAMPOON'S ANIMAL HOUSE
 Director: John Landis; writers: Harold Ramis, Douglas Kenney, Chris Miller; producers: Maffy Simmons, Ivan Reitman; A Universal Film.

"National Lampoon's Animal House" is a very fun film. If any argument is Belushi. . .

. . . what an animal

made that the film has any deep theme or moral that it's trying to put across, it would have to be, (in the words of screenwriter Chris Miller) "Fun is good."

The setting is mythical Faber College, in 1962.

First, you get some outrageously snotty baddies to hiss at and be against: the affluent fraternity Omega Theta Pi, and dean of students Wormer (John Vernon). They're all squeaky-clean, fascist, puritan snobs who can't stand to see anyone else having a good time.

Then the film gives you some iconoclastic, fun-loving good guys to identify with and root for: the members of Delta Tau Chi. The Deltas drink, belch, screw, ignore their classes, have wild parties, and otherwise enjoy themselves immensely.

The film is a very simple conflict between the good guys and the bad guys. Dean Wormer and the Omegas have decided that this is the semester they are going to get rid of the Deltas.

The film is funny indeed. A lot has been made of the film as large-scale slapstick, and it does have that. But there is also a good deal more to recommend it.

The characters, good and bad alike, are wonderfully drawn and acted, without exception.

The showpiece role, by both size and effectiveness, belongs to John Belushi. Belushi plays Bluto, an incredibly sloppy, beer-guzzling slob, with the precision of an Errol Flynn. He can make you laugh by the movement of an eyebrow. Bluto would have been easy to overplay, but Belushi keeps a part that was meant to be excessive from going too far.

The 'inmates' of 'Animal House'

Ensemble acting work, where all the actors and actresses in a production manage to help each other along and play off each other, depends a lot on the director, and "Animal House" has John Landis.

This is only Landis's third film (at the ripe old age of 27) and the man is obviously going places. Part of that is luck, but most of it is talent. In this case Landis is directing the script of somebody else, and he makes a definite contribution. Given half a joke, Landis can make it work in the telling. He knows when to tread lightly for a laugh, and when to mug broadly. He keeps the film so firmly in hand that there doesn't seem to be a single misstep in the telling.

Landis is helped by having a good story to tell. The screenplay is the work of Chris Miller, Douglas Kenney, and Harold Ramis. All have been involved, to various degrees, with the National Lampoon. Ramis co-wrote and acted in the "National Lampoon Show" stage revue and the "National Lampoon Radio Hour." Kenney was the founding editor of the Harvard Lampoon and stayed on for six years. Miller is a contributing editor.

Final note about the film, don't take the association with the National Lampoon too seriously. While some of this film has the crass tastelessness the Lampoon is famous for (and proud of), basically, this is just a good, thorough-going comedy that goes only a bit farther out than many recent comedies.

Galerie readies show: the lithos of Horak

The Galerie Sur La Terre begins its fall season Friday with the lithographs of Bohuslav Horak, associate professor of art on the Central Campus.

Horak is a native of Prague, Czechoslovakia, who has reached eminence as a master lithographer.

After work with the Tamarind Lithography Workshop in Los Angeles, Horak was lured to the UH Art Department largely through the efforts of Dr. Peter Guenther.

The exhibit, though not yet officially open to the campus population and public, is in the Galerie and is presently being installed by art directors Everett Evans and Jack Cody. The exhibit will run through Oct. 6 and will be followed by an exhibit of antique post cards, tentatively scheduled for Oct. 9 through Nov. 3.

The Rag

August 29, 1978

Vol. 1 No. 3

Students' Association Newsletter

The Rag is a new publication by the Students' Association. The first issue was printed on July 12, 1978. It will continue to appear regularly in The Daily Cougar. The Rag is an effort to open two-way communication between students and their voice into the administration. It is an active attempt to reach and inform the student and solicit involvement and participation. Bring your ideas and comments to Room N-19 UC Underground or call Jo Anne Zarowny at 749-1366.

TSA works for students

For the past several years the University of Houston Students' Association has played a major role in the Texas Student Association. TSA is an organization composed of representatives from most of the student governments of Texas universities and colleges. TSA serves as a coordinating organization for information flow between the various member campuses as well as providing a unified lobbying voice for students in Austin.

At the 1978 Spring convention TSA decided to reorganize their operating procedure to better serve the needs of the member schools. The reorganization resulted in seven offices: President, Vice President, Secretary, Service Information Director, Legislative Information Director, Rules Committee Chair and Budget Committee Chair. The two positions created by this reorganization which have the most potential for affecting the students of the member schools are the Legislative Information Director and the Service Information Director. These two positions are designed to provide direct services to the member schools.

The Service Information Director (SID) is responsible for providing information to TSA schools regarding the nature and organization of services available to other TSA schools. When a TSA school wants information on a particular topic, say co-ops, they send a request to the SID and that office compiles information gathered from throughout the state and forwards it to the requesting school.

The Legislative Information Director (LID) coordinates lobbying and provides information to member schools on legislative issues. UHSA's Director of External Affairs, Tom Deliganis, is LID for TSA. Deliganis in conjunction with Steve Morrel, the TSA legislative advocate, has identified some areas of concern for the member schools at this time. The issues so far identified are: faculty development, student regents as voting members of Boards of Regents, State financial aid, Student Service Fee levels, graduate teaching assistants and faculty tenure.

TSA has had a fairly successful record of legislative advocacy and there is every indication that its record should improve in the next session. As the Legislative Advocate identifies and or creates relevant information in Austin, the LID will pass this information on to the member schools to help lobby for student issues and also keep their student bodies informed as to the latest legislative news.

TSA also plans a monthly newsletter. TSA Vice President Dana Boehm from Sam Houston University will be editor of the publication. TSA promises to be one of the most productive state student organizations in the nation. As with any organization, however, TSA will only be as good as its members, and TSA needs student volunteers to help with the Newsletter, testify for LID in Austin and work with the SID in developing student services. If you are interested contact Tom Deliganis at 749-1366 or come by the Student Association office in the UC Underground and discuss issues over a cup of coffee.

Need a place to study?

As a student one of your priorities is to study. But where? The same table in the library gets pretty old after awhile. What happens when you're half-way across campus from the library, you want to use the free hour between classes wisely, but if you hike to M. D. Anderson there will be no time left to study!

Students' Association Department of Information has gathered the following data for your convenience. Spaces defined as Study Areas should be equipped with tables, chairs, and adequate lighting. Lounge areas are places with vending machines as well as tables.

Our aim is to help you have a good semester. If you find problems with these areas, please call the UHSA office at 749-1366 or come by Room N-19 UC Underground and tell us what's happening. Together we can insure administrative responsiveness to student needs.

Steering your way thru traffic court

So you've received a traffic ticket while on campus. What do you do NOW? According to Student Life Policy you have three alternatives. You may (1) pay the ticket, or (2) take suspended parking and driving privileges for a specified period of time, or, (3) request a hearing. Should you decide on the third alternative you need to submit your request for a hearing in writing, as well as your decision to personally appear in Traffic Court. If you decide not to appear you must state the basis of, or your reason for, the hearing on the Hearing Request Form.

Hearing Request forms may be picked up at the Students' Association office at N-19 in the UC Underground or at the University Security Office on Elgin Street. All completed hearing request forms must be turned in to the University Security Office within 14 days from the date the ticket was issued. Traffic Court will inform you of its decision within seven days from the date of the hearing.

Track waits for signees

by pam anderson

The indoor track season begins in January and it may be that long before Coach Tom Tellez knows if all those he recruited will be here to perform.

"The problem is that a number of the recruits won't be here until the beginning of the winter term," he said.

The Cougar thinclads lost two top athletes to graduation and will lose a third after the indoor season. Mark Baughman, two-time outdoor and one-time indoor conference champion in the shot put, and Steve Alexander, school record holder in the decathlon will not return this fall.

Kevin Nance, among the best short distance runners in the SWC, will be eligible for the indoor season but will lose his eligibility before the outdoor season.

Assistant Coach John Hammack said the two most important athletes to building for the future can't sign letters of intent because of a rule which prohibits them from signing more than one letter of intent.

Among those who have signed with UH, is Texas' state discus champion Kerry Adkinson.

"He's the top discus recruit in the nation with the possible exception of one other kid," Hammack said. "He could possibly throw 190 feet as a freshman."

Adkinson, who was all-state in football, is from the Denton area. He is expected to throw better than any freshman UH has had in previous years, Hammack said.

Also expected to come to UH in the fall is Ken Gross of Jefferson, Texas. Gross won the 110 meter high hurdles at the high school state meet this year.

Rick Carey, a three-time state high jump champion in New York, has signed a letter of intent with UH. Carey was the 1977 Junior Amateur Athletic Union meet runner-up in the high jump.

"We've signed some really good kids. The thing is we haven't stopped recruiting yet. We've got six kids we're still recruiting," Hammack said.

Hammack said his philosophy is to recruit athletes to replace graduating seniors. "That's why we got Kerry for Baughman," he said.

Tellez has been at UH for two years and has a two-year winning streak going in the SWC indoor championship meet. "I don't think we'll lose the indoors. Eric Lathrop is the last one from the former coach's team so Tellez will start working with his own guys now," Hammack said.

Hammack thinks the team's strength is in the distance events. "With all the distance runners we have, we'll score some points. There are seven distance events in each meet.

"There's Eric (Lathrop) obviously. Don Speranza did well to place sixth in the Junior AAU's and Tom Kimbark can contribute at the indoor level," Hammack said of the distance runners.

Hammack said Baylor will be tough to compete against at the SWC meet "because they really gear up for it," although he didn't leave out the possibility of Texas providing some stiff competition.

Kevin Nance... receives baton

Sports info both useful and useless

Time to catch up on some of the useful and useless information that floats across the sports desk between semesters:

Most of the info floating around these days deals with football. For example, did you know that the Coogs rank 18th nationally in overall defense? According to some recent stats put out by the National Collegiate Athletic Association (NCAA) the Coogs were 10th against the rush and 22nd nation-wide in scoring defense. The offense, too, has received national ranking, placing second in overall offensive power. The NCAA statistics cover the 10-year period from 1968-1977.

This performance by the Cougars has moved coach Bill Yeoman into the No. 10 spot among active coaches. Yeoman now has a career total of 105 victories and leads all current SWC coaches in that category.

Honors have come to UH pitcher Tom Lukish. Lukish, a junior this year, was selected to play for the United States in this month's World Amateur Baseball Tournament in Italy. Picked for his control and strikeout record, Lukish joins five other SWC players who participated in the tour-namment. The squad this year is coached by Tom Chandler the head coach at A&M.

From baseball we bounce to basketball. The fourth annual Super Charity Basketball Classic will be held Saturday, Sept. 2, in Hofeinz Pavilion. The game, played to benefit Project PULL, will feature many of the NBA's top stars including Houston Rockets' Rudy Tomjonavich, Moses Malone, and Calvin Murphy. Tickets are available at Hofeinz Pavilion as well as Foley's, Top Ticket, Lovick Drugs and Ticket Tic locations.

Speaking of tickets, Mike Mullis, UH ticket manager, says that tickets are available for most of the Cougar home games but that both A&M and the Arkansas games have only limited seating available. While on the topic of tickets, UH students who want to buy season passes may do so at the Hofeinz Pavilion ticket office. It would be to your benefit to do so, since this year the Coogs have only five home games.

While on the subject of the Coogs, their first game this year is scheduled for Sept. 16, at Memphis State. The rest of September finds the Cougars playing Utah at the Dome on Sept. 23 and at Florida State on the 30th. October is the only month that the Cougars play four games. Oct. 7, finds them at Baylor, while Oct. 21 they travel to SMU. The UH home games in October are against A&M on Oct. 14 and against Arkansas Oct. 28. The Arkansas game is homecoming and could also play a major role in determining the SWC champion (The Razorbacks are favored by many analysts to win the conference title). The rest of the schedule finds UH at home Nov. 4, against TCU, and Dec. 2 against cross-town rival Rice Owls. Their two November road games are at Texas on the 11th and Tech on the 25th. They have a week off Nov. 18.

SWC is four-team race this season

by paul marcus

A recent poll of sportswriters conducted by TCU showed that this fall's battle for the cotton should be a close four-team race. According to SWC sportswriters, the top teams to watch this year (in order) are Arkansas, Texas, Texas A&M and Houston. Now it's my turn to tell you why they are wrong.

Once again the old bowl-weevil will eat up any chance that the Owls (Rice) or the Horned Frogs (TCU) will have to enjoy the taste of cotton. Two new teams will also have problems from the old beetle, Texas Tech and The Aggies from Texas A&M. The Red Raiders from Lubbock, the cotton capital, have lost too much punch and with a new head coach added to thier player losses they have too much to overcome. The Aggies on the other hand only lost one player—George Woodard. My question is how do you replace a 6-foot, 260-pound halfback who's as hard to tackle as a horse?

The battle for fourth place will be between the two remaining independent schools, Baylor and SMU, with the nod going to the SMU Mustangs because of greater experience in the key slots.

This brings us to Texas, Arkansas, and Houston to decide the right to pick cotton on Jan. 1.

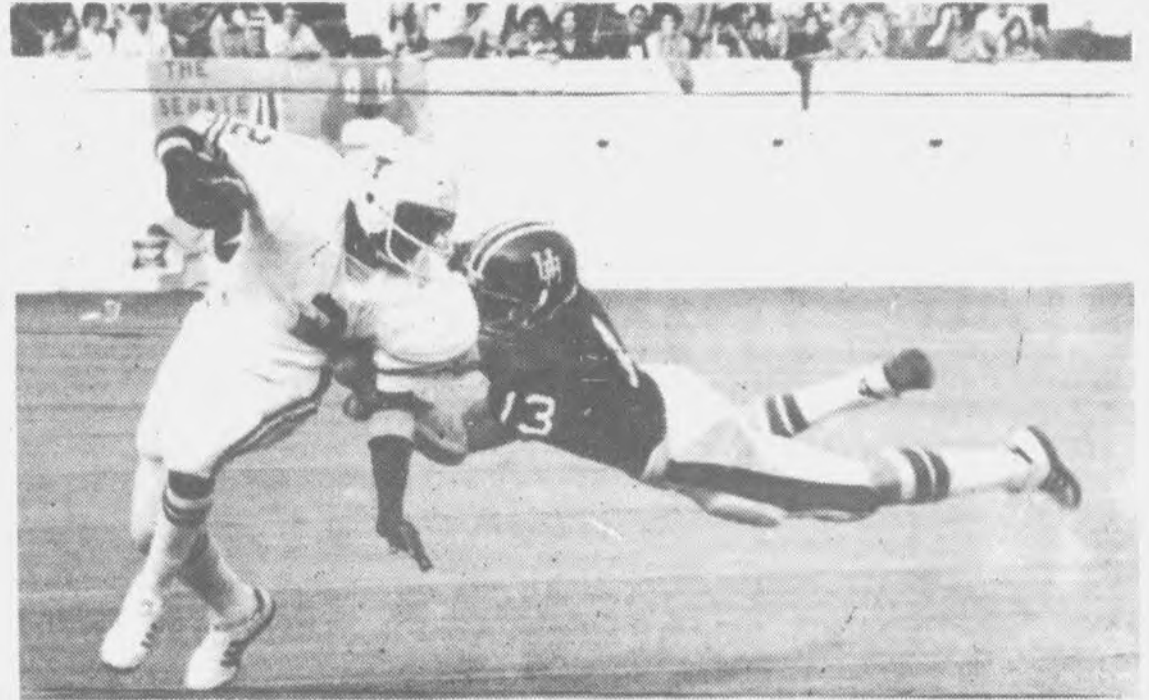

Texas—Last year's surprise team will not be this year's champion. First off, the Longhorns under last year's SWC coach of the year Fred Ackers caught the rest of conference by surprise and by the time the rest of the league realized what was happening, momentum was on the side of the Longhorns. Secondly, an important part of the Longhorn attack is now a Houston Oiler. Earl Campbell led the Texas running game on his way to winning the Heisman Trophy, symbolic of the most outstanding collegiate player in the country. Taking Campbell away from the Longhorns should make them that much easier to defend against.

Arkansas—Last year's Razorbacks lost only one SWC game and that was to the Longhorns 13-9. The fact that the Razorbacks lost very little to graduation makes them an extremely strong contender for the trip to Dallas. The biggest drawback that they will face is front office turmoil caused by Athletic Director Frank Broyles disagreements with the rest of the SWC over treatment that he feels the Razorbacks receive. This could carry over onto the playing field in a very negative way, either in the attitudes of Razorback players or in the use as fuel by the opposition to build up an edge.

Houston—The Cougars should return to the Cotton Bowl this year following last year's disappointing injury filled fourth place finish. What should help the Cougars most is the return of Danny Davis to the quarterback slot and to his very important roll of team leader. The defense should also be strengthened by the return of All-American line backer David Hodge.

COUGAR MILITARY SCIENCE

Cougar Military Science III is designed to help freshmen (and all other interested persons) enjoy college life while they participate in a challenging academic experience.

Cougar Military Science III used to be a typical ROTC course but now it is for everyone. Nothing is required but your time in class which will be fun and beneficial. You will be introduced to the military and learn management principles.

In Lab you can choose between leadership training (water survival, rappelling, drill, and hand-to-hand combat), war gaming, orienteering or Ranger techniques.

There are no uniform or haircut requirements, and no military obligations at all. All you have to do is select a section plus a lab at any of these times:
