Another flasher strikes UH

By ROBERT CAHILL
Staff Writer for The Cougar

A 33-year-old female reported a case of indecent exposure Tuesday in the Technology II Building raising this year's reported exposure total to 12, said Jay Evans, UH police captain.

The victim told police that she was sitting in the third floor hallway at 6:20 p.m. when a white male exposed himself.

The suspect was described as 22, five-feet, eight-inches tall, olive complexion, thin build and weighing about 165 pounds. He was wearing a brown waist-length jacket, a blue shirt, blue jeans and light colored sneakers.

The composite drawing of Tuesday's suspect (Case 79-0130) is pictured adjacent to this story.

"In checking with other law enforcement agencies, the exposing problem has definitely increased within the past few weeks," Evans said.

The majority of the reported exposures have occurred in the M.D. Anderson Memorial Library, Bates College of Law and the Technology Buildings.

He said that all the suspects are believed to be different people. The only common characteristic among these suspects is that they are all male.

Should a student be flashed, Evans said the student should pay particular attention to the suspect's facial features, his body build and his clothing.

He said, "We (UH police) have found the complainants in most cases to be most cooperative with descriptions and composites."

Those possessing information concerning Tuesday's suspect should call Evans at 749-2691.

Lewis Eakens, Texas Southern University police, said there have been three reported indecent exposures near TSU dormitories this semester.

Rice University has also had about five to ten reported exposures this semester. One individual, nicknamed the "Weenie-Waver," has repeatedly exposed himself in the Fondren Library, said Sgt. Willie Anderson of the Rice police.

Steve McCary, clinical psychologist, said the typical flasher is shy, quiet and unassuming, but is bothered by feelings of inadequacy and insecurity. The typical flasher has a poor sex life and doubts his masculinity, he added.

"Most flashers cause more of a menace or nuisance than pose a physical threat to the victim," McCary said.

He said that when confronted with a flasher, the victim should calmly ignore the act because the flasher gets a thrill by eliciting a response from the victim.

Eclipse

Solar eclipse Monday, but don't look at it

By DEBRA SOKOL
Staff Writer for The Cougar

The Houston area will have a chance to see its last visible solar eclipse of this century at 9:11 a.m. on Feb. 26.

The solar eclipse will pass through three phases, according to David Radabaugh of the UH physics department. The partial eclipse at 9:11 a.m. will lead into a mid eclipse at 10:23 a.m. and end with a final eclipse at 11:41 a.m., he said.

Mid eclipse will mark maximum coverage of the sun by the moon for the Houston area, Radabaugh said. "Though 58 percent of the sun will be obscured, this will not be enough to appreciably darken the sky," he said.

"You can literally burn a hole in the retina of your eye by looking directly at the sun (during the eclipse) for even a few seconds," according to Dr. Theodore Grosvenor, visiting professor of optometry.

Viewing a solar eclipse is as dangerous as viewing the full sun, Grosvenor said. The total area of the sunlight is reduced, but the intensity is not changed at all.

"It is only during eclipses that people are really motivated to look directly at the sun because at any other time it would be too painful," Grosvenor said.

The UH observatory will be open to all students at 8:30 a.m., Monday, to view the eclipse. A telescope will be used to project the image of the sun onto a screen, since direct viewing is too dangerous, Radabaugh said.

This image will show sunspots, if there are any. But if the sky is too cloudy it will be impossible to see anything, Radabaugh said.

Over 99 percent of the light must be blocked to be safe, Grosvenor said.

The only answer is "to use a surface so dark, you can't see anything else but the sun through it," he said. Three pieces of totally exposed (black) photographic film would give enough protection to the eyes.

The next visible solar eclipse is due for May 30, 1984, Radabaugh said. It will be what is called an annular eclipse since the moon will be too far away to cover the entire sun in perspective.

Food services might see changes soon

By SUSIE MAAS
Staff Writer for The Cougar

At the UC Policy Board meeting Thursday, Scott Curtis, chair of the Foods Committee said they have set a deadline of April 1 to decide whether to renew Mannings' contract or to provide a university-owned service for the University Center or to open bids for a new service.

Curtis said, as it stands now, the food program is more geared toward profit making than towards a service to the students. Our objective, Curtis said, is to reverse that situation.

Curtis said they plan to make the necessary changes in the food services by June 1, 1979.

Currently, Mannings' holds a 60-day contract with the UC.

Curtis said Mannings' turned in a proposal last August for renovations, but that the action was tabled because the contract would be for a five-year period and they were not sure it would be able to serve the students needs.

In response to the complaints that had been made against the food services, Melvin Busby, director of Mannings' Food Service, took action to insure that tables would be bussed, french fries would be cooked properly, and that only a certain amount of food would be allowed to be prepared in advance.

The Foods Committee proposed that more snack-type foods be provided in the evening at the Cougar Den. The service will go into effect March 26 during the hours from 3 to 10:30 p.m. Food items such as nachos, pizza rounds, corn dogs, po-boys and hamburgers will be served.

Curtis said they would like to provide a new lunch service in the Coffee house, one that is different from the snack bars and cafeterias on campus.

At the policy board meeting, the Budget and Revenue Committee received approval from the board to purchase a twelve-passenger Dodge sports van, and to get their other one repaired.

Also under consideration are the plans in regard to getting an outside travel agent to locate on campus. Areas under consideration for location of the agency are the current sales area in the UC Underground, or in the current gallery. The committee plans to begin their search for applicants to fill the travel agency and hopes to have everything under way by the fall of 1979.

MTA to discuss handicapped

The Metropolitan Transit Authority's (MTA) Citizen Advisory Committee for Handicapped Affairs will have its first meeting at 2 p.m. Feb. 24 in Room 4100-A of the City Hall Annex.

The purpose of the meeting is to discuss plans for service to handicapped people and review the work of the MTA's elected Citizen Advisory Board, according to Jim Beeson, board representative.

All members of the handicapped community living within the MTA boundaries are invited to attend. For more information contact David Warren at 222-5541.

Editorial:

Feds to awaken UH to transit problem

After awakening from his 20-year snooze, Rip Van Winkle found himself in a completely unfamiliar world. His outdated concepts of the world were no longer applicable, and he was forced to adapt to a new set of values and problems.

Similarly, the University of Houston seems to have slept through the development of urban transportation problems in this city. And the federal Environmental Protection Agency is getting ready to give the university a kick in the side to help it wake up.

Keeping consistent with the university motto "In Time," UH administrators have taken their own sweet time to begin carpooling programs among faculty and staff. Associate Chancellor Andrew Rudnick dismisses the idea of carpooling for students, and he apparently has not addressed the possibility of carpooling among faculty and staff.

The EPA has authority under the federal Clean Air Act to set forth regulations to combat air pollution. The rules are aimed at facilities which employ large numbers of persons, such as universities. One of the requirements is that such institutions conduct some sort of carpooling plan.

Institutions which fail to comply will be subject to court action by the EPA. A conviction could mean fines of up to $25,000 per day. But who knows—maybe we can afford it. We apparently could afford a $14.6 million "downward adjustment" after a multimillion-dollar investment scandal.

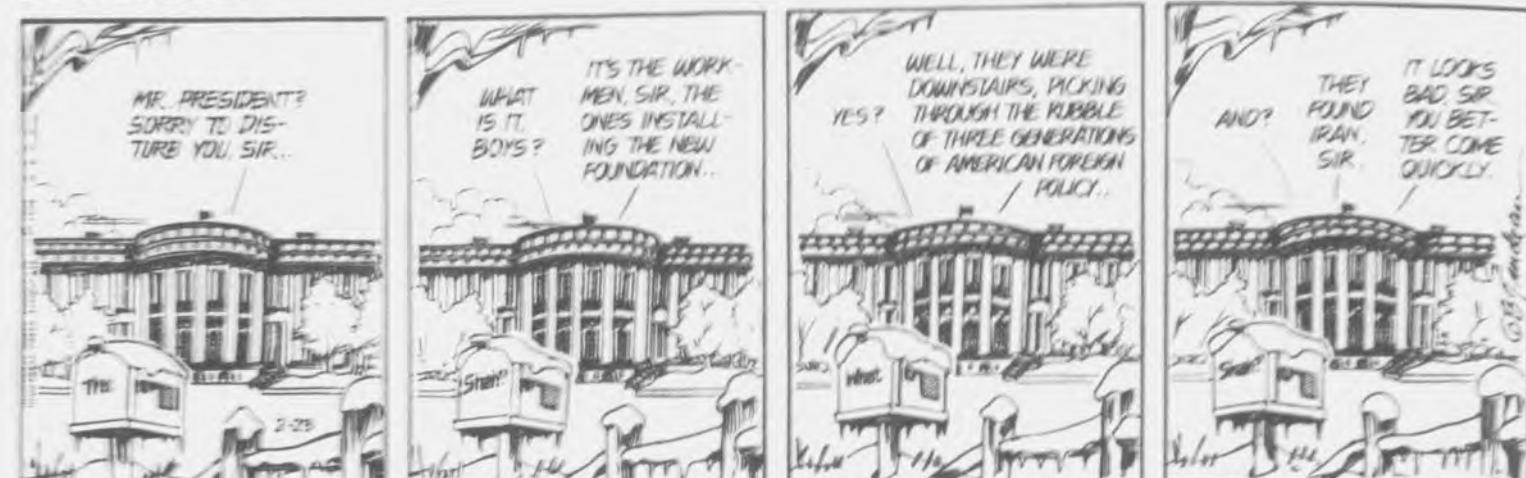

The legal aspect aside, the fact remains that UH is still behind the times with regards to the problems of mass transportation in Houston. Even if the law had not required such a plan, UH should have drawn up a faculty—staff carsharing plan for the sake of its own employees.

Many faculty and staff work 9 a.m. to 5 p.m., and it would seem to be easy to design a carpooling program for them. Demographic information is already available, and at the very least, a voluntary plan could be drawn up using zip code zones.

This would also ease the burden on our otherwise overcrowded centrally located parking lots. Invariably, when faculty and staff need more parking, it is taken from the best student parking. A good carpool program would ease the demand on parking.

Drawing up a carpool plan should not be difficult. It certainly would not be expensive. It's just a matter of administrators deciding to do their part in a community cause.

Commentary:

Mortgage increase threatening

By MICHAEL SMITH

This letter is in response to a commentary by Bill Jackson in the Feb. 16 issue of the Cougar under the headline "Higher Mortgage Ceiling Needed." Senate Bill 134 which is currently being considered in committee would increase the ceiling on mortgage loan interest rates from the present 10 percent maximum up to a 12 percent maximum. Mr. Jackson argues in favor of this increase for several reasons. His arguments, however, are not entirely valid.

First, Mr. Jackson argues that if the interest rate ceiling is raised to 12 percent, it does not necessarily mean that rates will in fact jump to 12 percent. However, in testimony presented in favor of the bill, Gibraltar Savings and Loan, which is the largest savings institution in Texas, has stated that if the ceiling were raised to 12 percent, they would charge from between 11 1/2 percent to 12 percent on the loans they issue.

Mr. Jackson goes on to argue that Texas lending institutions are sending their money to other states such as California and Colorado where they can receive a higher interest rate. He links this ability to charge higher interest rates to an increase in the availability of new homes. But in California, which has no ceiling on mortgage interest rates, there has been a 50 percent decline in construction starts. This decline is due in large part to the high interest rates charged for mortgages. The increase in interest rates has indeed caused more institutions to make more mortgages available in California, but the consumers are unable to afford them at such high interest rates, so fewer houses are purchased.

Mr. Jackson's final argument in favor of raising the ceiling to 12 percent is that money is a commodity just like all other goods sold in our marketplace, so the price for money (interest) should increase just as the prices for all other goods have increased. I have several problems with this argument.

First, the average cost of money to the savings and loan institution is about 7 1/2 percent (that is what they must pay investors for the privilege of putting the investor's money to work). Savings and loans are presently allowed to charge 10 percent for that same money, so they are making a 2 1/2 percent spread (actually more when the practice of adding "points" on top of the 10 percent is taken into consideration) over what they paid for the money to start with. A spread of 1 1/2 percent is considered profitable in the savings and loan industry. Savings and loan institutions are making more than is considered profitable yet they want more. Perhaps it is this greedy attitude that is the real problem behind our inflated economy.

Consumers BEWARE! The savings and loan lobby in Austin drafted Senate Bill 134. They outspent all other lobby organizations in campaign contributions in last fall's election. And they are presently making the passage of Senate Bill 134 the main target of their lobby effort.

Secondly, President Carter has asked all of us to help fight inflation by limiting wage and price increases to no more than 7 1/2 percent. But Senate Bill 134 would allow mortgage interest rates to increase by 20 percent. When you and I are limited to a 7 1/2 percent increase in the prices we get for our labor and goods, why should the savings and loan institutions be allowed a 20 percent increase in the price they get from us for their money?

There is no valid reason to allow the savings and loans to increase the plentiful profits they are presently reaping. Just because they can get a better profit elsewhere does not call for the "solution" that Senate Bill 134 claims to offer. The bill will only increase the burden that we, the consumers, are forced to bear in our inflated economy. The savings and loan institutions are making more than is considered profitable yet they want more. Perhaps it is this greedy attitude that is the real problem behind our inflated economy.

Consumers BEWARE! The savings and loan lobby in Austin drafted Senate Bill 134. They outspent all other lobby organizations in campaign contributions in last fall's election. And they are presently making the passage of Senate Bill 134 the main target of their lobby effort. If things go as they usually do in our "representative" government, the big bucks will prevail over the silent consumer.

Letter:

Don't put all professors into similar categories

To the Editor:

Mr. Poser (Letters: Feb. 12) has a point when he notes that this university places "students last in the list of people who deserve consideration." However, there are some of us "profs" who have placed our careers in jeopardy by attempting to point out this trend and by working to counter it. It is discouraging to be damned by association with those who show "disgust over teaching intro courses." There are still some faculty around who care what happens to the freshman, and I submit that rather than a blanket condemnation it would be better to name the "disgusted" faculty he has in mind. Let me assure you that student response is the only reward the University of Houston provides for teaching the "intro" courses, and it is discouraging to be lumped with those who offend me as much as they do the student.

MUNICH, West Germany (AP)—A Munich court has ordered a halt to production of toilet paper with cartoons depicting prominent German politicians.

Attorneys for the cartoonist sought the court order, claiming the Nueremberg company that makes the toilet paper did not have the artist's permission.

Caricatures included those of Chancellor Helmut Schmidt, opposition leader Helmut Kohl and Bavarian Governor Franz Josef Strauss.

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—James Earl Ray will not get a hearing on the appeal of his conviction for escaping from the Brushy Mountain Penitentiary in 1977, the Tennessee Supreme Court ruled.

The court delivered a one-sentence memorandum which said the Court of Criminal Appeals reached the correct decision in affirming Ray's conviction. Ray was captured 54 hours after his June 10, 1977 escape. He was serving 99 years for the 1966 murder of civil rights leader Martin Luther King Jr., and was sentenced to an additional one to two years in prison for the breakout.

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—Police escalated their six-day-old strike against the city Thursday, throwing up picket lines that kept garbage workers from making their rounds.

The walkout has already prompted cancellation of all Mardi Gras parades in the city, and a group of merchants announced Thursday it was suing the union for $30 million in damages because of Carnival and Mardi Gras losses.

Legality doubted

Residents ratify constitution

By BRIAN FORD
Staff Writer for The Cougar

The Residence Halls Policy Board ratified the RHPB constitution in its first meeting in the dining room of Oberholtzer Hall at 9 p.m. Wednesday, but one student said the ratification may not be constitutional.

Mike Zurkammer, a dorm student who hopes to be appointed to the RHPB by the Student Senate, said he doubts the constitutionality of the ratification because not all of the positions in the RHPB have been filled.

Roy DeLoach, a member of the RHPB, said only five members showed up at the meeting, but since the Student Senate has failed to appoint four other student members to the RHPB, it was decided by the five RHPB members present that they would constitute a quorum to vote on the constitution.

DeLoach said although the constitution was "poorly written" it was decided by board members to vote on it anyway with a provision for later amendments. Zurkammer said the constitution does not define what constitutes a quorum.

Kevin Walker, a member of the RHPB, said that passing a budget for the residence halls and looking into the quality of dorm food services would be the major issues confronting the RHPB this semester. The budget for the residence halls in 1977-78 was $2,715,295.

Zurkammer said, "The likelihood of getting food services improved in the dorms this semester is very slim." Zurkammer said it will take "a lot of time and study" to better food services in the dorms. ARA Foods Service Company supplies all UH dormitories.

Eleven members of the RHPB, including four students, four members of the faculty and administration and three non-voting members, have yet to be appointed.

The next meeting of the RHPB will be at 8 p.m., March 4 in the seminar room of the south Moody Tower.

Faculty unions

Court to hear teachers' case

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Supreme Court has agreed to study a legal question the government says will go far in determining the role of labor unions on college campuses.

The court said Wednesday they will hear a case in which the National Labor Relations Board, NLRB, and a teachers' group seek permission for Yeshiva University's faculty members to form a union.

A federal appeals court last year ruled that the New York City school's 209 full-time faculty members held supervisory and managerial responsibilities and therefore are not covered by federal labor law.

The Second U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals said, "The issue here is the extensive control of Yeshiva's faculty over what courses are taught in the institution, who teaches them, the number of teaching hours required of the faculty, and the rank, salary and tenure status of other faculty members."

In overturning an NLRB order that had followed the Yeshiva University Faculty Association to represent the faculty members in collective bargaining, the appeals court added, "When faculty members have such power... they are, in effect, substantially and pervasively operating the enterprise."

The NLRB's Supreme Court appeal contends that the lower court ruling has created "uncertainty as to whether faculty bargaining units at other educational institutions are entitled" to exist.

If the appeals court decision is allowed to stand, government lawyers argued, "the stability of numerous established bargaining relationships" may be jeopardized.

Yeshiva, a four-year private university with 2,500 students attending four New York campuses, contends that its organizational set-up is unique because faculty members have more control over a wide variety of university affairs than at most schools. The appeals court ruling would have no effect on other universities or colleges, lawyers for Yeshiva claim.

Fem cagers reach semi-finals

By JACKIE MOSCARELLI

The UH women's basketball team advanced to the semi-finals of the Texas Intercollegiate Association of Women's Athletics (TIAW) basketball championship games Thursday with two wins.

The Coogs beat Sam Houston State in the tourney's first game Thursday morning, 78-60. The Coogs had a large half-time lead of 43-29.

The Coogs' leading scorer was none other than Kip Anderson with 16 points. Anderson came into Thursday's game leading the UH in scoring, averaging 15 points a game.

Anderson was followed by teammates Cheryl Gardley with 14 points, Brenda Lee with 13 and Lillie Giles with 11.

In the second game Thursday afternoon, UH beat top-ranked North Texas State (NTS) 71-59.

Giant coach Perkins new

EAST RUTHERFORD, N.J. (AP) —The New York Giants, cellar dwellers five of the last six National Football League seasons, hired San Diego Chargers offensive coordinator Ray Perkins on Thursday as their fifth head coach in the past decade.

Perkins, 37, succeeds John McVay, fired Dec. 18 following a 6-10 season. Perkins was selected for the job by General Manager George Young, who was hired one week ago by the club. The Giants had been searching for a director of operations and coach for two months.

The length and terms of Perkins' contract were not revealed, although it's believed he signed for three years.

"I'm just a country boy from Mississippi who went to Alabama and played a little bit at Baltimore," said Perkins, who inherits a club that hasn't qualified for the National Football League playoffs in 15 years. "I've had aspirations to be a head coach since high school and seriously since my sophomore year in college."

Perkins is regarded as an offensive football genius and is given much of the credit for San Diego's offensive revival in the second half of last season.

Cougars will play SMU here

The UH Cougar basketball team's fate was literally decided by the flip of a coin Wednesday night.

Southern Methodist beat Texas Christian, but a coin had to be flipped to decide whether Southern Methodist or UH would get the home court advantage in the first round of the SWC tournament Saturday. Both teams have a SWC record of 6-10, and are tied for sixth place in the conference.

Saturday's first round game will begin at 12:40 p.m. in Hofheinz Pavilion.

All seats are reserved. Student, faculty and staff tickets are $2 (limit one with own ID). All other tickets are $4.

Tickets are now on sale at the Hofheinz Pavilion ticket office. Office hours are 8:30 a.m. until 4:30 p.m. today, and 9 a.m. until game time on Saturday. Plenty of tickets are still left.

Beyond specifications receivers with the same specifications but from different manufacturers sound different. Some make orchestral instruments sound suspiciously like one another. Others sound spacious, with each instrument articulated clearly. They sound musical.

Harman Kardon makes musical sounding receivers.

A clue to the exceptional performance of Harman Kardon receivers lies in those qualities usually ignored by other manufacturers. Like ultrawideband frequency response, low transient intermodulation distortion (TIM) and low slew-induced distortion (SID).

Most important, Harman Kardon components are designed as much by ear as by specs. Not only do receivers with the same specs sound different, transistors and resistors do too. Harman Kardon engineers listen at every stage of development for the subtle differences in component parts that make the immeasurable difference in the end product—in effect tuning the receiver until the sound is exactly right.

The results of this labor, going far beyond conventional specifications, can be heard in our listening room now.

You're cordially invited.

UH men netters fall to Trinity Tigers, 7-1

By JANET WELLS
Sports Writer for The Cougar

SAN ANTONIO, Texas — It appeared as though the UH men's netters might pull a coup over the Trinity Tigers after four of the first six sets were won by Cougars, but it was not to be. The Cougar netters fell in team competition to Trinity University Thursday, 7-1.

In singles, Joel Hoffman fell to Trinity's Tony Giammalva, 6-7, 4-6.

David Dowlen of UH dropped sets 4-6, 6-4, 2-6, to the Tiger's Larry Gotfried.

Senior Robert Buchalter waged a hard battle against Erick Iskersky, but fell to the sophomore 6-2, 3-6, 6-4, while teammate Dan Valentincic lost to Ben McKown, 6-4, 4-6, 2-6.

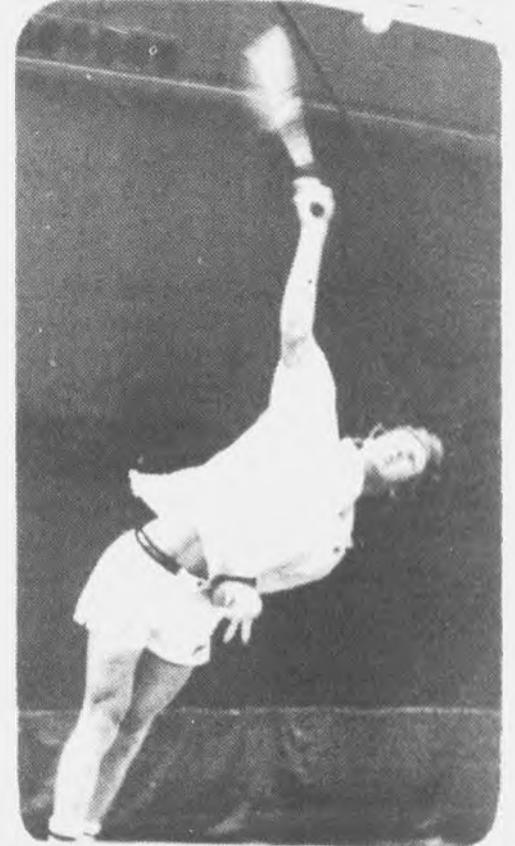

Rounding out the singles competition were defeats dealt to junior Bobby Dowlen (David's brother), and Van Manning. Dowlen lost to Trinity's John Benson 6-1, 6-1, while Manning lost to Mike Davidson, 6-4, 3-6, 3-6.

In doubles, the Cougar team of Buchalter-Hoffman lost to Trinity's Benson-Giammalva, 6-4, 4-6, 3-6.

Cougar teammate D. Dowlen-Valentincic downed the team of Iskersky-McKown, 6-0, 6-3.

The third doubles match was canceled because of darkness.

The Cougars, ranked eighth in a national pre-season poll, will open their home competition at 1:30 p.m. today, at the John Hoff courts against Lamar University.

Weekend sports action

Baseball

The UH baseball team has opened the 1979 season by taking three out of four games, not a surprising fact to most followers of Cougar baseball. However, there have been a few surprises for coach Roland Walton.

"I'm pleased with the pitching," Walton said. The Coog mound staff has registered three complete games through Tuesday's double-header and three of the four starters in Walton's pitching rotation already have a victory to their credit.

Another surprise attraction for UH is outfielder Robbie Von Tungeln. "He's (Von Tungeln) done real well this spring. I've been using him as a late inning replacement for Jay Beard, but he's the surprise of the spring," Walton said.

Von Tungeln has hammered opposition pitching for four hits in six times at bat for a .666 average. The Cougars boast six players with .300 or better batting averages so far this season, but the team average is only .268.

The Cougars will attempt to find some solid hitting to back their stingy pitching this Friday and Saturday against the Lamar Cardinals. The Cardinals enter the four game series with a record of 1-2.

Lamar won 40 games last year while finishing second in the Southland Conference (SLC). Coach Jim Gilligan predicts this year's team will be his best in six years at Lamar, and with good reason. The Cardinals have six starters returning who hit better than .300 last year, plus Mike Morgal and a host of other capable arms to choose from. Morgal's 10-1 record and microscopic 1.87 earned run average last year was tops in the SLC.

Morgal and righthander Carl Pankratz are probable starting pitchers for Friday's 1 p.m. double-header at Cougar field. The Coogs will counter with Tom Lukish (1-0) and Mark Krampitz (1-0).

Saturday's double header is also slated to begin at 1 p.m. in Beaumont.

Women's tennis

The women travel to Baton Rouge today to take on Louisiana State University, Auburn and Ole Miss at 2 p.m.

UH swept a 9-0 match from Baylor Tuesday at the Northwest Tennis Center in Houston.

Lacrosse

The UH lacrosse team will play Texas A&M at 1 p.m. on Little Robertson field.

The Coogs are coming off their first win—a 9-7 defeat of Louisiana State University last Saturday at Baton Rouge.

Women tracksters long on strong

By JACKIE MOSCARELLI
Sports Writer for The Cougar

The UH women's track team opens its 1979 season today in a one-day college invitational meet at San Jacinto Junior College.

Along with UH, the seven-team meet includes Lamar University, Texas A&I, Prairie View, A&M, Texas Southern, San Jacinto and Wiley Junior College.

The first event begins at 10 a.m. and the last event ends at 2:40 p.m.

Baughman and Dames set two HBU records

In the annual Houston Baptist University Relays, seven records were set as UH and the Lamar University Cardinals battled for the championship.

The Cougars were led by Mark Baughman in the discus competition as he set a new meet record of 93 feet, 3 inches. Pole-vaulter Brett Dames also established a new meet record as his leap of sixteen feet, six-inches

"We look real strong and should be among the top three teams at the meet," said UH coach Nancy Laird. "We'll participate in every event."

Last year's team was ranked fourth in Texas, and had national qualifying times in the 400-meter dash and the four-mile relay.

Laird is very confident that this year's 19-member squad will perform just as well. "As far as national potential, I see it in two or three field events, at least two relays and several individual running events," she said.

"We have such a balanced team where we are strong in all areas, we'll have qualifying performances in each area," she stated.

Among last year's returning team are two seniors, Captain Diane Mull, who runs the 800-mile run, and Natalie Russel, voted Most Valuable in 1976 and 1978, who runs the 800- and 1600-mile relay.

The Coogs have one long jumper in Amy Davis, and one javelin thrower in Trish Wright. The rest of the team members run at least one relay, and other running events.

"I look for a lot of personal bests as usual and a lot of school records to be broken early in the season," Laird said. "That's how strong we are."

broke the previous height.

Another meet record at the HBU Relays was established by Mike Collins in the javelin. His toss of 215 feet, 11 inches was the tops at the invitational.

Charles Whigman won the 200-meter hurdles in a blazing time of 14.1 seconds, and then in the 400-meter hurdles, his time of 28.1 seconds earned him first place.
