Rehnquist to delay Evans electrocution for additional week

ATMORE, Ala. (AP) — John Louis Evans III was spared from death in the electric chair Thursday night when U.S. Supreme Court Justice William Rehnquist stayed the sentence for one week on an appeal by Evans' mother.

John Carroll, attorney for the killer who had said he wanted to die, said less than six hours before the scheduled 12:01 a.m. CST execution that the Supreme Court justice had delayed it until April 13.

"All we know is that the electrocution is off," said Carroll. "We have no details yet."

Rehnquist said in Washington that the sentence was stayed for "further consideration of the application of Betty Evans," mother of the convicted murderer.

Evans, who had refused to fight his death sentence for the slaying of a Mobile, Ala., pawn shop owner, had no immediate comment.

The Beaumont, Texas native was sentenced to die for the slaying of a Mobile pawn shop owner, Edward Nassar, who was gunned down in a robbery with his two young daughters close by.

The last person to be executed in the United States was Gary Gilmore, whose death before a Utah firing squad Jan. 17, 1977, marked the first time in a decade that a death sentence was carried out in the United States.

Evans told his trial court and later asserted repeatedly on death row that he has "an obsession with freedom. If I can't have it, I'd rather be dead."

James, meanwhile, did not rule out the possibility of a clemency hearing after listening to personal pleas from Evans' mother, one of her attorneys and a local Catholic priest, the Rev. Kevin Duignan.

Evans was surprised when his mother paid him an unexpected visit at the prison Wednesday. She urged him to seek a clemency hearing and reportedly said he would consider it.

Duignan also discussed a change of heart with Evans on Thursday, as did a black state legislator, Rep. Thomas Reed of Tuskegee, who said he feared the electrocution would mark "open season" for executions of blacks in America. Evans himself is white.

On Wednesday, Evans stood on the prison lawn and read a statement urging young people to avoid lives of crime like his own.

"Don't do it," he said. "It is a waste. I've led a wasted life."

He also had asked that his electrocution be videotaped to dramatize "the barbarity of capital punishment and as a lesson to young criminals." But state and prison officials ruled that out.

Evans' mother, through a friend, released a public statement to her son prior to the stay: "No matter what happens, it's God's will. I say to you now, Johnny, if I lose you Friday, I accept that as God's will."

"If we do not, if it stops, you continue to fight and hang in there, we are with you."

Divestments of business in South Africa urged

State Representative Al Edwards, D-Houston, will speak at 1 p.m. today in the World Affairs Lounge, UC Underground on his bill to restrict state universities from investing in South African-related stock.

The speech is sponsored by the UH Coalition Against University Investments in South Africa (UHCAUISA), which will also sponsor various programs concerning South African investments April 6 through 11.

House Bill No. 1330 states, "The governing board of an institution of higher learning education may not invest funds controlled by the board in a corporation or other business enterprises that has investments or conducts business in South Africa."

On April 9 slides on U.S. corporations in South Africa will be shown in the UC Arbor from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. Also on April 9, a film titled "Last Grave at Dimbaza," will be shown in the Caribbean Room, UC Underground at 7 p.m.

On April 10 a mock debate will be presented by Dr. Thomas De Gregori, UH professor of economics and Dr. John Indakwa, director of the UH African American Studies Program and a UHCAUISA member. Also a film on South African apartheid will be shown repeatedly April 10 from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. in the UC Arbor.

On April 11 David Sibeko, a member of the Pan-African Congress and observer to the United Nations will speak at 3 p.m. and 7 p.m. in the Pacific Room, UC Underground. The Pan-African Congress is dedicated to the liberation of South Africa.

UHCAUISA recently became a member of the North East Coalition for the Liberation of South Africa (NECLSA).

Mexican American studies

Certification hours decreased

The Undergraduate Studies Committee of the College of Humanities and Fine Arts recently reduced the number of hours required for a certificate in Mexican-American Studies.

Dr. Margarita Melville, Director of Mexican-American Studies, said the required hours have been reduced from 36 to 24.

"We dropped the number of hours required to get the certificate because we thought they were a little prohibiting," said Dr. Tatcho Minidola of the UH sociology department. "Some students don't need that many hours for their majors."

The certificate is verification that a student has taken a required number of Mexican-American courses. The certificate can also be valuable in seeking employment according to a spokesperson for the program. "Some employers look for people with a background in Mexican-American Studies," the spokesperson said.

Graduating students who have accumulated 24 hours of Mexican-American Studies courses should contact the Mexican-American Studies office at 610 Agnes Arnold Hall to apply for the certificate.

Schlesinger speaks on Kennedy years tonight

Pulitzer Prize winning historian Arthur M. Schlesinger, Jr. will speak at 8 p.m. tonight at Krost Hall, Bates College of Law.

Schlesinger, an Albert Schweitzer Professor at the City University of New York, is the author of "A Thousand Days: John F. Kennedy at the White House" and "The Age of Jackson." He received a Pulitzer for each of those works.

His current book, "Robert Kennedy and His Times," is on the best seller list. Schlesinger will speak tonight on "The Kennedy Years: Foreign and Domestic Policy."

Tickets may be purchased at the door or at the ticket office in the UC Underground. Prices are $4 for the public and $2 for UH students.

Schlesinger

Editorials:

Schlesinger to speak on Kennedy's Camelot

"Even the workaday business of Washington was glamorized by a whole new breed of government servant—men as young and brainy and as full of vigor as the Kennedys themselves. They came from Harvard, and MIT, from Boston and Detroit, and they shared the President's belief that true happiness lay 'in the full use of your powers along lines of excellence.'"

—from "The Fatal Years"

Arthur M. Schlesinger Jr. was one of those Harvard men who served in the presidency some people have sentimentally called "Camelot." He served as special assistant to the late President John F. Kennedy.

Schlesinger will speak here today on the Kennedy years, giving an inside look at decision-making during one of the most crucial periods in the history of the world. We urge students, faculty and other interested persons to attend the lecture. It promises to be a highly informative event, given from the perspective of Kennedy's top advisers.

Program Council is sponsoring Schlesinger's speech here, which will be at 8 p.m. in Krost Hall, UH College of Law.

In addition to being an adviser to Kennedy, Schlesinger is also an author, historian and scholar. His book, "The Age of Jackson," won the Pulitzer Prize for history in 1946, and his biography on John F. Kennedy received the Pulitzer Prize for biography in 1966.

Schlesinger's speech tonight will be a rare privilege for anyone with an interest in the history of American government.

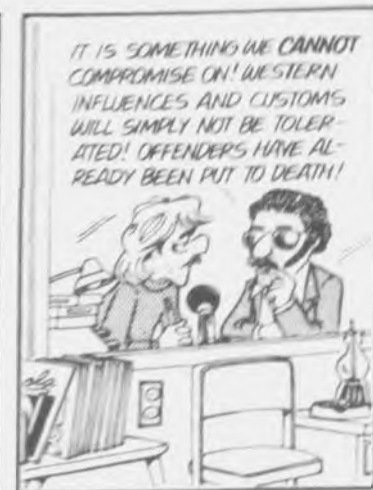

Casino Night benefits all

Casino Night '79 begins at 7 p.m. tomorrow night in Oberholtzer Hall. The project is being sponsored by the UH Residence Halls as a fund-raising effort for Camp Cougar, a special summer camp for retarded youths in the Houston area.

Camp Cougar takes place during the summer in the UH Residence Halls. Families with retarded children usually must pay tuition for the camp, but money raised by Casino Night will be used to defray the costs to needy families.

Casino Night is always a big social event on campus each year. Everyone who participates will find that their recreational time is well-spent, and it's all for a good cause.

Commentary:

UH misses Jefferson's ideal

By MARK POWER

"Education is the defense of the state"

Thomas Jefferson, 1809

More than 150 years ago, Thomas Jefferson made that statement while trying to convince a Virginia legislature of the importance of education. He retired as third president of the United States that year to devote the rest of his life to the establishment of a state university that could serve as a model for future universities.

Most students of political science are astutely aware of the fundamental principles of Jeffersonian democracy, including the right of every free man to an education. What Jefferson envisioned in those early years of education was a far cry from what he would find today.

Jefferson argued that education should "train the free-thinking man to use his mind to benefit society" and that the most skilled educators should be employed by any institution to make it successful.

If he were to be named today as a replacement for the retiring president of the UH system, Jefferson would be amazed to find such deterioration and bastardization of the educational system, and shocked at the comments of current faculty and administrators who have said, "If a professor does not want to do research, then his place is not at a university."

If the primary importance of an educational institution is to train free-thinking minds, then why does the record here show the administration dedicated to research rather than educational skills?

It should be pointed out here that the academic conflict of research versus teaching is not a new problem to the UH community, nor to the academic world at large. An article in Saturday Review last year told of professors of international repute who paid graduate students to teach their classes, which were advertised to prospective students as being taught by Nobel prize winners.

How do we make a distinction between teaching and research? That administrators seek to improve a sagging university image is understandable, but stressing research over teaching ignores a significant factor toward a different kind of positive image—the potential graduate.

When Jefferson spoke of education as the defense of the state, he was talking about the graduates of institutes of higher learning and their reasoning capabilities in a struggling society. The image of a university then, is also based on the success or failure of its graduates.

Training of free-thinking men requires a meeting of the minds. To cope in an increasingly complex society requires the results of research and experts on transmitting that knowledge to the next man. But what hinders this Jeffersonian process at UH is an open conflict based on fear between administration officials and the faculty. The desire to improve UH's image on the part of this administration is overriding all other responsibilities.

To keep future graduates from failing in society and being a reflection on this institution, UH needs to get back to the basics. Being in favor of research does not have to mean being against teacher excellence.

We need both types of faculty, with an administration attitude that encourages both, and believes in the coexistence of research and teaching.

This will not be easy. The pendulum has been forced in one direction, and hostilities exist. But faculty, staff and students are willing and can work for the common goal of a great university. But the emphasis must first come from the top.

Letters:

Cougar pages improve

To the Editor:

I want to congratulate you on the continuing improvement of the quality of the stories printed in the Cougar this semester. You and your staff are doing a great job at saving a paper that was going down the tube!

I was especially impressed with the article written on Mannings Food Service and the possible options. I would enjoy reading a follow up story on that!

Many other articles have been just as good. The article on cross country skiing, students who made student parking spaces from faculty parking spaces, the story on Sigma Nu Bike Race... I have really enjoyed reading about the happenings here at UH!

You and your staff have done a great job, keep up the good work! I look forward to reading the future issues of the Cougar, with its news of the nation and UH!

Concern for pool voiced

To the Editor:

Students who plan to live here on campus in the dormitories this summer are concerned about the swimming pool located on the grounds between the Moody Towers and the Quadrangle. This swimming pool serves as one of the only recreational outlets for campus residents during the summer. Currently the pool is not in usable condition. If this pool is to be functional by the summer, who is going to repair it, and when? It seems that someone is doing a fine job of landscaping UH's library plaza; how about fixing our pool? In seeking answers to questions on who is responsible for this, I hope that this letter might gain some response.

CAIRO, Egypt (AP) — Terrorist bombers struck in Jerusalem and against Egyptian and Israeli targets in Cyprus Thursday, and President Anwar Sadat vowed that each such "slap" against his country will be answered with "one hundred and one thousand slaps."

In Israeli-occupied Arab East Jerusalem, authorities reported a bomb blast near a bus stop wounded 10 Arabs and three Jews, none seriously. In Nicosia, Cyprus, the Israeli Embassy and the Egyptian airline office were bombed, but no casualties and only light damage were reported.

All three attacks apparently were carried out by foes of the Egyptian-Israeli treaty.

NAIROBI, Kenya (AP) — Uganda government radio said President Idi Amin made a dramatic reappearance in his beleaguered capital of Kampala today and told a group of soldiers, "I'm still going strong and am physically fit."

The account could not be independently confirmed, but it fitted Amin's flair for the flamboyant gesture. As Tanzanian and Ugandan rebel forces closed in on Kampala in recent days, speculation had grown over the whereabouts of Amin, who on Tuesday was reported touring towns in eastern Uganda.

Kampala residents described the city as a deserted and silent no-man's land today, with Amin's Libyan allies retreating on one side and the invasion force massed on the other.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The same central Pennsylvania consumers whose health and welfare were threatened now face electric bill increases of up to 35 percent as a result of the Three Mile Island nuclear power plant accident, federal officials told Congress

Thursday.

Hazel Rollins, an Energy Department official, told the Joint Economic Committee that residents living near Harrisburg, Pa., who now pay an average electric bill of $35 to $40 a month can expect to pay at least $7.50 more.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Carter administration spokesperson said Wednesday that former Wisconsin Gov. Patrick Lucey will continue as U.S. Ambassador to Mexico, dashing speculation that former Rep. Bob Krueger of Texas would be named to the post.

Carter and Secretary of State Cyrus Vance have repeatedly denied that the administration was dissatisfied with Lucey's performance.

The decision to retain Lucey produced some sparks from Mexican-American leaders.

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Members of the Mexican-American Legislative Caucus met with Gov. Bill Clements on Wednesday to protest his decision to abolish the Governor's Office of Migrant Affairs.

They later issued a brief statement quoting Clements as saying he had not done away with any commitment to programs to help train migrant workers for better jobs.

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — The federal government should investigate whether Texas could reduce future dependence on nuclear energy if the state's electric grid system were connected with other states, a consumer group spokesman said, Monday.

The Federal Energy Regulatory Commission, not the Texas Public Utility Commission, should investigate the matter, Jack Hopper of Electric Consumers of Texas told a news conference.

The Comanche Peak nuclear plant at Glen Rose and the South Texas Nuclear Project in Matagorda County are under construction but might not be needed, he added.

Electric companies in Texas are linked in an intrastate network, Hopper explained. Two of those companies—Texas Utilities and Houston Lighting & Power (HL&P)—are fighting a proposed connection with utilities in New Mexico, Louisiana, Oklahoma and Arkansas.

Chicanos to speak on conflicts

The problems between Chicano youth and society will be discussed in a seminar, "Juvenile Justice-The Challenges Facing Chicano Youth" today and Saturday in the Jupiter Foyer of the Continuing Education Center.

The seminar is sponsored by Trabajadores Sociales De Aztlan and the UH Graduate School of Social Work.

Dr. Marta Sotomayor, chief director of the Manpower Training Program and the National Institute of Mental Health, will speak today from 10 to 11 a.m. on nationwide Chicano youth trends.

A juvenile probation colloquium will take place from 11:15 a.m. to 1 p.m. Henry Azios, a field supervisor at the Harris County Probation Center, will speak on his work with Chicano youth at the center. Felix Recio, director of volunteers at the Harris County Probation Center, will speak on the civil rights of Chicano youth.

Mamie Garcia, special assistant for Mexican-American affairs at the Houston Police Department, will discuss the situation between Chicano youth and the police department. Bertha Rendum, coordinator for youth services at Ripley House, will speak on the barrio resources available to Chicano youth.

Four workshops on Chicano youth will take place from 2 to 3:30 p.m.

On Saturday several Chicano youths will speak on their experiences with various services and programs in Houston in a youth colloquium from 9:30 to 11 a.m. The seminar will adjourn at 12:45 p.m.

The registration fee for non-students at the seminar is $7.50 and $5 for students.

Markoe serves as interim director

Judith A. Markoe, assistant director of the University Center, is serving as interim director of Continuing Education while a search for a full-time director is conducted, according to UH Central Campus Chancellor Barry Munitz.

A search committee has been formed, with Dr. James Taylor serving as advisor, Munitz said. Taylor is dean of the UH Conrad Hilton College of Hotel and Restaurant Management. He has given up his role as dean of Continuing Education to turn his full-time administrative attention to deanship of the College of Hotel and Restaurant Management, Munitz added.

Dr. David Gottlieb is heading the search committee. Gottlieb is dean of the College of Social Sciences and executive director of the UH study committee on non-traditional education.

"Dr. Gottlieb's committee on non-traditional education will be exploring all the possibilities for extended education through both credit and non-credit courses in all areas of the university," Munitz said.

Markoe has been with UH since 1973. The Campus Activities department, including Program Council, Ethnic Affairs and all campus organizations are under her direction. Also, Markoe serves as coordinator for Sundry School, a program of non-credit courses open to the public.

Bhutto execution protests continue

NEW DELHI, India (AP)—Violent protests over the execution of former Pakistani Prime Minister Zulfikar Ali Bhutto erupted for the second day Thursday in Kashmir, and the leader of India's predominantly Moslem state appealed for calm.

The United News of India (UNI), the nation's domestic news service, said police fired tear gas to disperse 9,000 protesters who tried to set fire to the Ahmediya Mosque in central Srinagar, the capital of Kashmir. There was no immediate word on injuries or arrests.

Protest strikes were being observed throughout the Kashmir Valley on the Pakistani border in northern India, the reports said.

UNI said three persons were killed and at least seven seriously injured in rioting and demonstrations in Kashmir on Wednesday, the day Bhutto was hanged.

Kashmir's chief minister, Sheik

Mohammed Abdullah, told the state assembly that the people of Kashmir were genuinely grief-stricken by Bhutto's hanging, but he said "anti-social elements" were taking advantage of the situation.

Anderson library flashed-back

A 21-year-old UH student reported another indecent exposure which occurred Wednesday afternoon on the fourth floor of the M.D. Anderson Memorial Library, said Jay Evans, Campus Police captain.

There have been 13 reported exposures on the central campus this semester.

The UH female described the suspect as a black male, 30 to 35 years of age, five feet, seven inches to five feet, nine inches in height, and wearing a dark brown suit.

The victim told police that the suspect escaped through one of the floor's elevators before she could summon assistance.

The UH police have no suspects at this time, but are continuing the investigation, Evans said.

Gay activities show increase

There are approximately 2 1/4 million people in Houston and according to Charles Gillis of the Gay Political Caucus, six to ten percent of those persons are members of the gay community. Gillis also said, "many of these persons are students, thus the percentage figure is around the same for UH.

Members of the gay community have never been socially accepted because of their homosexual lifestyle and have remained silent about their plight for many years, but now they are becoming more politically and socially active.

On the UH campus there is the Gay Resource Services (GRS) which provides services such as lectures, workshops and a campus hotline for depressed people. John Crocker of GRS said, "locally we are working for single member districts to achieve more minority representation on the city council." Crocker also said that work is being done with gay lobbyists in Austin to assist in reviewing legislation dealing with gay rights and activities in the state.

Gillis said that even though some progress has been made in bettering the situation, there is still work to be done. The caucus is working on the harassment of gays by the police and repelling the Vernon's Anotated Texas Statutes law 21.06 which makes homosexual activity in the state of Texas illegal. "People use this law as a basis to discriminate against gays but the police cannot arrest gays for homosexual activity unless they stakeout their bedrooms."

Socially, there are places such as The Spirit Cafe, Numbers, Baja Sam's and Mary's where members of the gay community can go to eat, dance and just relax without much fear of being harassed or ridiculed. There is also the newly opened Montrose activities center.

Members of the gay community can participate in various activities with other members of the gay community.

Just how good is wholesome?

There are fashions in foods just as there are fashions in clothing. Currently the "in" foods are those which are seen to be highly nutritious and in their natural state. Advertisements for food products stress words like wholesome, natural, nutritious, and organic to create the association between their product and glowing health and/or the "good old days." Just for fun sometimes, you might try counting the number of old farmhouses, grandmothers, or athletes that appear on your television in a single evening. Just how meaningful are these advertising terms which are splashed on practically every box in the supermarket?

"Wholesome" means conducive to sound health, nourishing, supporting life and growth. Humans need six basic nutrients: protein, fat, carbohydrate, vitamins, minerals and water. Any food containing any of these nutrients can be said to be contributing to life and health.

Wholesome food also must be free from contamination by harmful organisms like bacteria. Government agencies carefully regulate the cleanliness of foods and "unwholesome" foods are not allowed for sale. The term "nutritious" is as general as "wholesome"; anything containing some of the above six nutrients can be called "nutritious."

"Natural" is perhaps the most popular claim today. Natural applies to anything present in or produced by nature—that safely includes most of the planet! When the term is applied to food it implies that the food is not altered, treated, or disguised. If that were taken literally, the only natural foods would be fresh produce still in their original rinds and peels.

Checking the ingredient list is safer than believing the word "natural." Organic foods are those supposedly grown in soil to which no chemical fertilizers have been added and which have not been treated with chemical pesticides. It is not a statement of quality, nutritional or otherwise.

When choosing foods, read the ingredient list and the nutritional data before making your selection. A products' "natural old-fashioned nourishing goodness" can be as misleading as its claim to have a "crisp delightful taste combination which your whole family will enjoy!" Remember that no single food is a special "health food" and that a varied diet is important.

WHAT IS A PARALEGAL CAREER?

A paralegal career is one of the most exciting new careers going! A paralegal is a lawyer's assistant who is able to do many tasks traditionally done by attorneys. Not a clerical or secretarial role, the paralegal is a new legal specialty with excellent job opportunities in law firms, corporate legal departments and banks.

Three months of intensive training in courses taught by law professors and lawyers can give you the skills to interview witnesses, conduct legal research, prepare pleadings, draft transaction documents and prepare cases for trial under the supervision of an attorney.

The Basic Legal Assistant Course begins June 4, 1979; the fall session begins September 10, 1979. In addition to the three-month daytime programs, the same course will also be offered two nights per week for eight months starting September 24, 1979.

A representative will be on campus Tuesday, April 10, 1979 at the Career Planning and Placement Center. Sign-ups for interviews are available now. For a catalogue and further information, call or write:

Astros outlast Cougars in Dome, 3-2

Terry Byrum

RICK MCFARLAND

By JIM MOLONY
Sports Writer for The Cougar

The University of Houston Cougars out-hit and out-fielded, but did not out-score, the Houston Astros in the Astrodome Thursday night to bow 3-2 to the Astros in an exhibition contest.

Bob Watson's two-run double in the fifth inning capped an Astro rally against Cougar starter John Shannon.

Shannon threw six hard innings against the Spacemen, allowing six hits and all three runs, while his teammates backed him with seven hits and errorless fielding. The Astros were charged with two errors.

"I wasn't nervous until I saw them (Astros) taking batting practice before the game," Shannon said afterwards. "They were hitting ropes."

Shannon kept the Astros on the ropes most of the evening. The junior righthander was reached for a pair of singles by Craig Reynolds and Enos Cabell around a walk to Cesar Ceden in the Houston first to account for the first Astro run.

The Cougars came back with a run in the top of the second on singles by Jeff Copeland and Alvin Ruben and an error by Astro left-fielder Terry Puhl. Jay Beard's triple in the sixth inning scored Rusty Snyder for the Cougars' final run.

"I thought we played real good," UH coach Rolan Walton said. "It's hard to play the Astros tough, we have to play our absolute best to even have a chance to beat them," he added.

The Cougar hitters drew the unfortunate assignment of facing a dearth of Astro pitching hopefuls. Manager Bill Virdon used Vern Ruhle, Joaquin Andujar, Joe Sambito, and Frank Riccelli against the Coogs in a tune-up tactic for his mound staff.

Shannon stayed on while his counterparts departed, as Walton felt his fastball was "keeping him out of trouble."

"He (Shannon) was really nervous at first, but his hummer kept him out of trouble," Walton said. "But he settled down."

With the exhibition out of the way, the Astros will settle down to a 162-game National League season while the Cougars will continue their Southwest Conference season today in Dallas.

The Cougars will take on the SMU Mustangs at 7:30 p.m. today at Reverchon Park in Dallas. The two teams will meet again tomorrow for a 1 p.m. double-header.

UH women netters defeat hapless Owls

The UH women's tennis team downed the Rice Owl women 6-3, in a dual match played Thursday at Hoff courts.

The Cougars' Karen Hausman continued her excellent spring by defeating Kay Abrahams of Rice 6-2, 6-1.

Melissa Zoelle of the Coogs lost to Debra Melass of Rice in two sets, 6-3, 6-4, while her teammate Beth Paulin had an easy win against Sue Taylor of Rice 6-4, 6-3.

Becky Grissom of UH defeated Jennifer Kraft of the Owls in straight sets 6-1, 6-0, and Rhonda Lewis was pushed to three sets in defeating Lisa Blackburn of Rice, 3-6, 7-5, 6-4.

Cindy Scott of Rice outlasted Mary Sasser of UH in three sets after losing the first, 2-6, 6-3, 6-3.

In the doubles competition, the No. 1 doubles team of Hausman and Grissom of UH outlasted Rice's Melass and Taylor 6-0, 7-5.

Zoelle and Paulin of UH were pushed to three sets yet they withstood the challenge of Rice's Sue Collins and Cindy Scott, 4-6, 6-2, 6-4.

The team of Kraft and Abrahams of Rice defeated UH's Sasser and Lewis 6-2, 6-2, in the final doubles action.

With the victory over Rice, UH will face highly regarded Louisiana State next Wednesday at Hoff Courts at 1:30 p.m. Coach Karen Linden's team really deserves the support of UH fans against the Cajuns of LSU.

UH takes lead over Arizona St. in AAIL

By DONNA PEARSON

Sports Writer for The Cougar

The UH golf team pulled from a second place behind leader Arizona State to grab a two shot lead over Oklahoma State and Arizona State in the 12th annual AAIL tourney.

The scores at Atascocita county club were close, with UH's Fred Couples, Bob Tway from Oklahoma State, and Oklahoma University's Mark Brooks tying for first place individual.

Couples who posted a low 66 on Wednesday to tie with Arizona State's Scott Watkins, once again pulled out front and finished with a par 72. Tway posted a low 68 while Mark Brooks matched Couples 72.

UH finished the day shooting a 289 team score for the day, while Georgia finished third also with a 289 which left them with a two-day total four strokes behind Houston.

The weather could not have been better, and the course couldn't have been rougher, some of the players said. Couples who speaks as well as he plays, said, "I played pretty good. I started out doing good. But then I bogied on 12, and double bogied on 14. The first day, I started good and I attacked the course. I released today that I had to play better after I came off the holes three over par," Couples said.

Teammate sophomore Blaine McAllister, who posted a 73, summed up the team's feelings about the tourney: "This is the best we've ever felt—when Fred plays good, the team plays good," McAllister said.

Other UH scores include John Horne with a 71, Ray Barr 73, and Terry Snodgrass with a 73.

The Cougars will take the two shot lead into today's third round which should begin around 10 a.m.

Milos Formans's 'Hair' shines

By H.N. GRAHAM
Amusements Writer for the Cougar

HAIR
Director: Milos Forman; screenplay: Michael Weller; based on the play, book and lyrics by Gerome Ragni, James Rado; music by Galt MacDermot; choreographer: Twyla Tharp; cinematographer: Miroslav Ondricek; producers: Lester Persky, Michael Butler; a CIP film, from United Artists.

Turning the 60's rock musical "Hair" into a movie was not the act of sane people.

It was ten years after its big days as one of the earliest public signs that the times, they were a-changin', and only two years after a disastrous revival on Broadway that barely lasted long enough for the critics to describe fully how badly "Hair" had held up.

The play had no plot to speak of. It was a collection of some pretty good songs that captured the energy and happy optimism of the 60's, grouped together into what passed for political commentary in the 60's—slogans about as deep as "What if they gave a war and nobody came?" "Make love, not war," or "May the Force be with you."

Well, they pulled it off. Milos Forman, who directed, and Michael Weller, who wrote the screenplay, have turned "Hair" into a period piece-odyssey-fantasy in which everything seems to work without any effort at all. More than just a film that wasn't the dog it was expected to be, they have, in fact, made a very good film.

The film focuses on a hick from Oklahoma named Claude, who comes to New York for a few days of rest and recreation before going into the army. In Central Park he meets four nonconformist drop-outs, and sees a young woman on a horse who interests him a good deal.

With these people and this setting, Forman and Weller fashion a memorable weekend for Claude, who has more things happen to him than have before in his entire life.

The musical numbers fall in place near magically. "Colored Spade" gets sung by Dorsey Wright when a point is made about his blackness, Treat Williams sings "I Got Life" to a debutante ball they crash, and you should see the movie if only to see "Black Boys-White Boys" sung by three white dancers and three black dancers—and a draft board.

A lot of the effectiveness of the music, and of the film itself, is due to the dancing. Twyla Tharp, who choreographed the film, is responsible for that, and it is a lot to be responsible for. Strangers leap joyously from behind trees and engage in a mad game of leap-frog, paying no attention to common sense or gravity. In one number some horses join in.

It is interesting to compare the arranged mass movement that passes for choreography in "Grease" to Tharp's carefully thought out transformation of the street peoples' shaggy, loose-jointed motion into real, honest-to-god dance for this film. It makes you appreciate what a choreographer can do.

The cast is a collection of tremendously talented people you will probably never have heard of before. John Savage, from "The Deer Hunter," plays Claude. The four hairy outcasts he meets and befriends are played by Treat Williams (who was in "Grease" on Broadway), Annie Golden, Dorsey Wright (who had a bit part in "The Warriors"), and Don Dacus (from the rock band Chicago). Claude's WASP girlfriend is played by Beverly D'Angelo, who was in "Every Which Way But Loose." Cheryl Barnes, who comes out of nowhere, plays the fiancée of Dorsey Wright.

One more collaborator in the film deserves special mention: Miroslav Ondricek, who did the cinematography. From Czechoslovakia, like Forman, Ondricek is a superbly competent cinematographer technically who just happens to have a flare for bright, sunlit days outdoors. He is precisely right for "Hair."

Forman, with his various collaborators, has fashioned a kind and affectionate film about the 60's out of "Hair," a movie far better than any memory you might have about how the play was. I recommend it strongly.

'Your Turn' runs true to French form

By JOHN ATKINSON
Amusements Writer for The Cougar

YOUR TURN, MY TURN

Director: Francois Leterrier; screenplay: Daniele Thompson, Francoise Dorin, Francois Leterrier; from the novel by Francoise Dorin; a Gaumont-New Yorker Films Release; color; French with English subtitles; at the Greenway III.

The French are perhaps more relaxed than any other nationality on the face of the earth when it comes to infidelity.

At least this is the perspective of a person whose only contact with the French (to this point) is the French cinema. "Your Turn My Turn" follows the general pattern of its spiritual ancestors like "Cousin, Cousine," and all the way back to Jean Renoir's "Rules of the Game."

Marlene Jobert is Agnes, the wife of a French rock promoter (Daniel Duval) who simply doesn't have the time to devote to this happy little family. She has graduated from art school and resumed a career interrupted by her child's birth and growing up.

Her job as an interior decorator entangles her in the problems of her boss, whose daughter is a dope head, but this is secondary.

She meets a divorced man with a daughter at a wild animal preserve, and their affair gets off to a slow start. When Jobert takes her son to a spa and finds that she thinks constantly of Philippe Leotard, her lover, she phones him and he shows up at the spa, meeting her "accidentally," for appearances sake.

The outcome of the couple's very hot love affair is that they decide that Jobert should leave her husband. Duval doesn't go for that at all, and warns her that he will fight for custody of the son. This changes the situation, and Jobert decides that she must continue the marriage, though willing to continue the affair. Leotard decides that the best place for him is far away, in this case, Canada.

Also by this time, the boss's daughter has conked out from a drug overdose. This is just sort of thrown in to add real life to the situation, for it serves no other purpose.

This all sounds very melodramatic, right? It's not that poorly done, and is on the whole fairly satisfying as a light comedy-drama. It doesn't even come close to the French film next door, "Get Out Your Handkerchiefs," but they can't all be that good.

The fetching Jobert is very good in her role, though anything is a comedown after a debut in a Jean-Luc Godard film. Leotard, last seen here in "Cat and Mouse," portrays his character with some warmth, particularly the scenes in which he must contend with Jobert's dislike of his character who the child sees as a natural interloper.

Marlene Jobert and Philippe Leotard

ATTENTION

OPPORTUNITY TRAINING BENEFITS

If you have been refused employment because you were too young or lacked experience and have settled for work that does not pay well... consider this fine job opportunity. If you are ambitious and would like to get ahead, we will train you. Work where neither youth nor age is a disadvantage. No strikes or layoffs. Plenty of work. One year of college preferred.
