HETAG Newsletter No. 48, May 2021

HETAG IS BACK!

Though we never really went away.

On Saturday, April 24, we had our first in-person HETAG meeting in over a year. Many, many thanks to Art League Houston for making that possible, and especially to HETAGer

Sarah Beth Wilson McKeel, ALH Director of Exhibitions and Curatorial Projects, for hosting HETAG-only tours to the exhibitions of work by

ALH 2020 Artist of the Year

Rick Lowe: New Paintings and Drawings

and

ALH 2020 Lifetime Achievement Award Winner Celia Álvarez Muñoz: Obras

What a treat it was to see the art in the company of other HETAGers (a few-at-a-time, with COVID precautions, of course).

It's been a long and painful slog, but maybe we're coming to the other side. It's possible now to go to museums and even galleries (see inside for some COVID protocol observant offerings), but we're not quite all the way to the other side yet. So there'll still be a place for virtual Early Texas Art events in the foreseeable future. Both HETAG and CASETA will be having online only events in the coming months (more info inside). But if we all are good HETAG citizens and get our vaccinations, we'll be gathering again soon for more of those rollicking HETAG meetings we remember so fondly from the before times.

Until then, stay well, and See you on Zoom!

What you've all be waiting for.

A HETAG Zoom Meeting!

Sunday, June 13, 2021

Frank Freed Eyes of the City c1970, Museum of Fine Arts, Houston, Gift of the Eleanor and Frank Freed Foundation.

The Artist as Citizen: Frank Freed's Lessons on the Importance of Social Commentary Carmen Champion presenting

Carmen Champion says: "Houston based artist Frank Freed took to painting late in life executing mostly representational works of art documenting his life experiences. Although the diversity of subject matter and range of execution is evident, he has generally been dismissed as a "Sunday painter." This presentation will attempt to defy that suggestion by arguing the importance of Freed's work in revealing critical social tensions and anxieties during some of the most tumultuous times in history."

Bio: Carmen Champion holds a full-time faculty position as Professor of Art History and Gallery Director at San Jacinto College Central Campus. She earned an MA in Art History from the University of Houston where her art historical focus centered on Early Texas Art and Culture. She has worked in the curatorial departments of major academic and public museums and is an Associate member of the Appraisers Association of America.

Registration details to follow.

SAVE THE DATE

CASETA MEMBERS AND ALL PASSIONATE EARLY TEXAS ART LOVERS

2021 CASETA VIRTUAL FALL FORUM OCTOBER 1 & 2

With virtual talks and virtual collection tours.

The focus will be on Houston, since the 2020 CASETA Symposium and Texas Art Fair in our city had to be cancelled.

October 1: Friday evening opening program

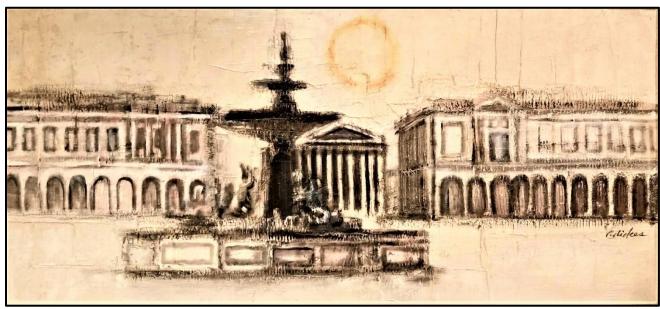

October 2: Saturday sessions throughout the day

Dick Rembrandt Houston Skyline 1963

More information to come!

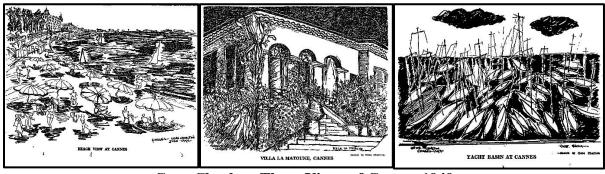

Keep an eye on the CASETA website.

David Adickes Place de la Concorde, Paris c1960

Return to Europe, 2021 - Through paintings from the past by Houston Artists.

By now we're all eager to travel again – just as Houstonians of the past have been, when other world-shaking occurrences (flu pandemics, world wars, economic depressions) disrupted what had come to seem a God-given right to see the world. But, as has happened in the past, "this too shall pass," and one day soon (we hope) we'll be complaining about cramped airplanes and jet lag again. We'll be hitting the road again, just as our Houston artists did in the years and decades following World War II. Here are some of the pictures they made then, of the places they were returning to. Here's hoping we'll be walking in their footsteps ourselves in just a little while. This too shall pass!

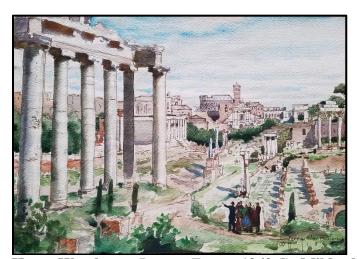

Gene Charlton Three Views of Cannes 1949

Bill Condon Amsterdam 1960 (l); Erik Sprohge [A little Homesick] mid-1950s (c); Frank Freed Paris Rooftops n.d. (r)

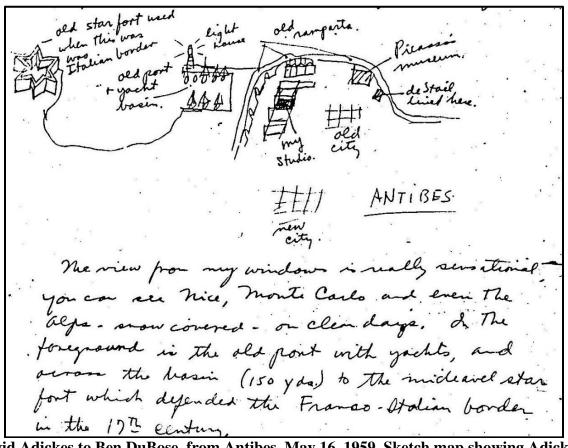

Harry Worthman Roman Forum 1962 (l); Mildred Wood Dixon Rome 1954 (r)

David Adickes Rome 1965

David Adickes to Ben DuBose, from Antibes, May 16, 1959. Sketch map showing Adickes's new studio in relation to other local landmarks – the Picasso Museum, the former residence of artist, Nicolas de Staël. A few years later, Houston artist, Herb Mears and family, borrowed the studio for a "sabbatical" in France.

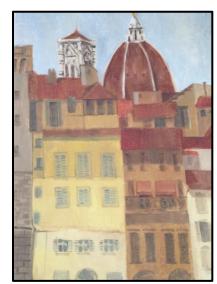

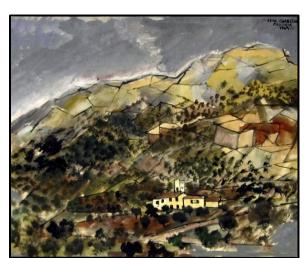

David Adickes Port of Antibes 1963 (1); Herb Mears Old Port, Antibes 1966 (r)

HETAG: The Houston Earlier Texas Art Group

Henri Gadbois House on Nurnbergstrasse 1955, and Florence c1960.

Gene Charlton Majorca and Majorcans 1949

Eugene Charlton-Rafalsky Views of Amalfi 1974; Mildred Wood Dixon Amalfi Coast 1954

Ready for an outing to look at fabulous Early Texas Art?

Toni LaSelle (1901-2002) in 1946, and her paintings Space Movements, Still Life 1946 (l) and Untitled (From a Still-life) 1948 (r).

Toni LaSelle: A State of Becoming
April 6 – May 15, 2021
Inman Gallery
3901 Main Street / Houston 77002

713-526-7800

(Tuesday – Thursday by appointment; Friday & Saturday no appointment required, but gallery capacity limited.)

You can also tour the exhibition via the online "viewing room," which includes additional images/information about all the works in the show, as well as essays by

Frank Spicer, Inman Gallery Associate Director, and Alison de Lima Greene, curator of Contemporary Art and Special Projects at Museum of Fine Arts, Houston.

Toni LaSelle Santa Cruz 1967 Notebook, 1967-70.

Michael Tracy Season in Hell Painting, Sculpture, and Film 1990 - 2021

May 1st-June 27th.2021
Opening Reception Saturday May 1st, 4-6PM
Bill Arning Exhibitions
604 West Alabama Houston, TX 77006
Thursday through Sunday Noon to Six PM
Parking directly outside

Dallas Meadows Museum

"Fossils to Film: The Best of SMU's Collections" NOW - JUN 20, 2021

Fossils to Film celebrates the Meadows Museum's unique relationship with the university by displaying highlights from the collections of nine different campus museums and libraries. Image:

Florence Elliott McClung Junius Street, Dallas n.d.

The Texas art on view comes from the Bywaters Special Collections and the University Art Collection. Some of the BSC objects include prints by Florence McClung, Janet Turner, Everett Spruceand Barbara Maples; a self-portrait sketch by Jerry Bywaters; and a series of bronze sculptures by Otis

Dozier. The University Art Collection is comprised of art donated by alumni and friends of SMU, including former students and faculty members who have established themselves in the art world. Objects that will be on view from the UAC include paintings by Horace Oakley Robertson, Jerry Bywaters, Florence McClung, Otis Dozier, Janet Turner, Everett Spruce and Barbara Maples.

Lowell Daunt Collins St. Peter's, Rome 1958 (l); Mildred Wood Dixon Piazza San Marco, Venice 1954 (r)

The mission of HETAG is to illuminate Houston's art history by providing viewing opportunities for art, by supporting and doing research on the artists and art communities working in Houston through the years, and by spreading the word.

Back issues of the HETAG Newsletter are available via the University of Houston Libraries Digital Library

and

The Portal to Texas History

Randy Tibbits, coordinator HETAG: The Houston Earlier Texas Art Group tibbits@rice.edu