Message

From

The President

Today I have assumed the responsibilities of the Office of President of the University of Houston. It is appropriate that my first action is to extend greetings and best wishes to the loyal alumni of this institution. I do so with an appreciative awareness of the vital role you have played in the progress of your university. Your respective contributions have been made at different periods as you have joined with faculty, administration and community in helping your University to meet its responsibilities effectively and well.

Today it is especially fitting that we acknowledge with pride the accomplishments of the past while looking forward confidently to sustained progress in the future. You have been an essential factor in the building of this institution during the past 27 years. The future, of vital concern to today's and tomorrow's students, will also be vitally affected by you. I wish to comment briefly on this alliance of past, present and future students in the development of the University.

While students of the future will continue to benefit from the foundations laid by you, it is equally true that you will benefit from tomorrow's progress. However great your satisfaction with the University as it has served your needs in the past, you recognize that universities cannot stand still—that they must constantly improve in order to fulfill their mission in a dynamic, changing world. Continuing qualitative improvement of any institution benefits its alumni and enhances the value of their degrees as directly as accruing interest and dividends benefit the depositor and investor. Conversely, the continuing individual and collective success of the alumni cannot fail to add lustre and be of practical value to alma mater.

We are thus engaged in a mutually reciprocal relationship in which the best efforts of alumni, present and future students, faculty and administration will be challenged to the benefit of all. The results of these efforts must contribute to an even better University, state and nation.

Mrs. Hoffman and I join in sending our cordial best wishes to every University of Houston alumnus.

Senator and Mrs. Baker, Shipley, and Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Hollan at the head table.

Senator Robert Baker and Speaker James Turman confer amidst the crowd.

Pizza and Politicians

Recently at the University Club the Board of Directors of the Alumni Association honored Harris County Legislators for their efforts in behalf of the University of Houston. Also present was Speaker of the House James A. Turman.

Turman, Harris County Representative Don Shipley, and Collins find something funny.

Representative Bill Pieratt, from Giddings, with Representative Sam Collins, from Tullahoma.

Sideliners To Hear Gaston, Hamblen

Finus Gaston, publicity director of the University of Alabama, and Jake Hamblen, chairman of the board of Southern Electric Supply Company, will be among the guest speakers for the Sideline Coaches Association's fall program.

All meetings will be held in Oberholtzer Hall except the Freshman football-basketball barbecue to be held on campus at 6:30 PM, September 13.

The Association will meet each Wednesday night except the November 21 Varsity Night meeting to be held on Tuesday due to the Thanksgiving holidays.

Hamblen will speak at the first regular meeting after the barbecue, September 20, at 6 PM. Gaston will speak October 25.

Ladies night will be October 18, November 15 and December 6. The latter evening will be the final meeting of the season and will include the awards presentation.

No meeting will be held November 8. The remaining meeting dates are September 27, October 4, 11, November 1 and 29.

O'Leary forsees a greater challange than mere quantitative growth.

The Challenging

Each year during a given period, traditionally in the Fall, the Alumni Association asks you to support its program by becoming a member. The job of institutional support is the prime motivation of the Association and it requires a broad base, not only to supply the necessary monies but to insure that its interests parallel the interests of the greatest number of alumni possible.

In the coming years the course of the University of Houston will greatly depend on the influences and opinions of its Alumni more than ever before. This is currently true of schools in the state system. As you well know the position and image of the University of Texas, Texas A & M and others is maintained in the minds of the public through the alumni of those schools. This influence certainly affects the opinion of the legislature in the determination of the entire educational program of the State.

The alumni of the University of Houston are increasingly important in the affairs of the State. Although less than thirty-years-old as an institution the University of Houston numbers among its alumni several judges, many attorneys, pharmacists, optometrists and other specialized professional persons.

Finest Young Men

The Cullen College of Engineering has produced some of the finest young men in the field, many of whom now direct such responsible positions as director of nuclear research for a major aircraft firm, chief project engineer for environmental research of one of the area's major laboratories, and chief engineer for space instrumentation in one of the top NASA contract companies on the west coast. Businesses, particularly in the Houston area, are liberally sprinkled through with middle and top management personnel from the UH; and our radio-tv department supplies the training for more than half of the employees of local stations as well as a goodly portion of the rest of the state.

It would be possible to go on at length about all the areas we are affecting but to mention just one more, we must include the dramatic impact that our teachers from the College of Education have on just the Houston and nearby areas. One estimate of accurate nature stated that fifty per cent of the teachers in the immediate Houston area have received their bachelors, masters or a heavy percentage of their training at the University of Houston.

The alumni association needs your support. Throughout this issue of the magazine you can read about some of the projects, programs and activities conducted and guided by the Association. If the Association did not do this someone else probably would, we must consider that the school depends on the ALUMNI to do them and not someone else.

Our membership program is designed to fit your particular circumstances and to allow you to give according to your desires. I am sure that you who do become members will select the class of membership that is best suited to you, and I also know that you will do your utmost to increase your membership as the years go by.

Show Genuine Concern

Every time you make the extra effort to take a participating membership in place of a regular, or a sustaining over a participating, the ability of the Alumni Association to assist the University is increased. In addition the Alumni Association is grateful to those who can and do exceed the minimum Sustaining fee of $25.00. These gifts are tax deductible and beyond that, show a genuine concern for the University of Houston, for we in the Association know that many memberships of all classes from regular to sustaining represent a real sacrifice.

Many times we are asked the difference between the memberships listed on the form on page 15. Actually the difference is only in the individuals desire to assist. There is no method by which the Association can judge your ability to give and a $5 membership from one person may be a greater sacrifice than a $15, $25 or $100 membership from someone else. Therefore the Association considers each and every gift an equal expression of an individuals interest in the institution and we sincerely hope that when a person is able he will increase his membership.

We are also asked what benefits are given with this membership. Naturally we are sometimes tempted to say that it is not what you get, but what you give, that's important, but this is not entirely true. You do get certain benefits and privileges of membership in addition to the feeling that you have helped support a worthy program.

The privilege of using the very fine M.D. Anderson Library on the campus is not inconsiderable; the swimming pool privileges can make an excellent recreation facility for your family and we sincerely hope that reading about the University and its faculty as well as your schoolmates makes the Extra magazine worthwhile. Other programs such as the cultural program (see page 10-11) and the University Club will also serve in many ways to determine, "what you get".

Won't you please fill out the membership form on page 15 now and join in the ever important job of institutional support for higher education and the University of Houston.

Thank You,
John C. O'Leary

As the Association enters its second year of independent status and the third under a dues system, I feel we should call to mind some significant items before us. In just twenty-one months our University will become a unit in the Texas System of Higher Education. I use the term "unit" deliberately to point out that we will be only one of twenty and although second in size, woefully short in experience in the mechanics of the State System.

I do not mean to imply in any sense that the System will be inequitable or unfair, only that we must accept and understand the principle of State supported education. The Legislature will supply the "meat and potatoes" financing; the remainder of the nourishment of the University must come from other sources. We, the alumni, are one of those sources.

To provide the needed assistance the Alumni Association must become a strong force, both financially and influentially. This strengthening cannot be accomplished by small numbers. A broad base of opinion and support throughout the State is the essential ingredient that will maintain the position and respect of the University of Houston. The Alumni Association is dedicated to that cause and the direct aid of the University through its programs. Will you join us?

If you do join in these efforts then we will be able to do more and more for our school. In addition, through the influence of the Association and the University your degree will have an enhanced value and you individually will have the real and precious knowledge that you have helped insure a fine educational facility for generations to come.

Montoya Concert

The verbal eloquence of Shakespeare and the musical eloquence of Carlos Montoya's flamenco guitar will comprise the Alumni Association's cultural program for 1961.

Montoya, internationally renowned guitarist, will be presented at Cullen Auditorium November 3 at 8:15 p.m.

Shakespeare's "King Richard III" will be presented December 6 at a 3 p.m. matinee, and at 8:15 p.m. in Cullen Auditorium. The play will be performed by Players Incorporated of Catholic University of America in Washington, D. C.

Both events are under the auspices of the Alumni Association.

Montoya, who played at the University last year, as well as the Catholic Players, is consistently a sellout performer. He was a child prodigy at the age of eight, although his immediate family was not a musical one. His uncle, Ramon Montoya, however, was a famous flamenco guitarist.

Shortly after spending three years in the Spanish Army, Carlos was invited by La Argentina, the famous Buenos Aires Spanish dancer, to accompany her, as guitarist, on her European Tour. He subsequently toured Europe with the dancers Vincente Escudero and, later, Teresina. The outbreak of World War II found him in New York where he remained.

Own Arrangements

Since flamenco music comes from the Spanish gypsies, there generally has been no written music for it. Therefore, the songs and dances that Montoya presents in his concerts are his own arrangements of old themes with his own compositions in typical gypsy rhythm.

It is one thing to strum a guitar. Montoya, however, has two other things in his favor: his unbelievable ability with the guitar and the flamenco medium in which he plays. All of this lends itself to a great variety of music which pours out of that instrument.

Players Incorporated enjoys an international reputation. Each year's schedule includes a tour of Europe.

Tickets range from $1.50 to $3.50 and are on sale at the H & H Music Stores in Houston and Bellaire and the UH Alumni office on the University of Houston campus.

Cover Artist

Harris Milam, who has spent 16 of his 22 years gathering experience and an extraordinary range of skills in the visual arts, designed this month's cover and the series of cartoons on pages 8-9.

Six years of formal lessons at Houston's Museum of Fine Arts when he was a youngster, combined with years of practical experience, have produced a rather youthful specialist in cartoons, movies, television slides, film strips, advertisements, etc.

Milam has worked with the Alley Theatre on scenery, lighting and sound, the latter of which he has learned by practice. He has also done work with the Houston Independent School District and with the Little Red Schoolhouse Theatre at Lamar High School.

Currently, he and others are working on short-length movies to be used on television.

Faculty loss

Curtis L. Farrington, associate professor of Spanish and chairman of the foreign languages at the University, died of a heart attack July 14.

Professor Farrington joined the University faculty in 1951. He was a graduate of Rice University and the University of Texas. In addition to teaching Spanish and other foreign languages, he was Foreign Student Advisor at the University.

NEWS IN BRIEF

Visiting scientists

Five University of Houston professors are among 135 college professors from throughout Texas named to the Visiting Scientist program of the Texas Academy of Science.

The Visiting Scientist Program is sponsored by the National Science Foundation. Its purpose is to provide a select group of scientists to speak on scientific topics for schools, business organizations and service clubs.

The five University scientists chosen for the program are Dr. Richard I. Evans, professor of psychology; Dr. R. E. Collins, associate professor of physics; Dr. G. E. Peterson, associate professor of biology; Dr. H. K. Reynolds, associate professor of physics; and Dr. Martin Wright, professor of mathematics.

Each participant in the program will speak on five topics during the next year.

New book

Communist propaganda is revealed as the major objective of the Soviet Union during negotiations on the international control of atomic energy in a recent book by Dr. Joseph L. Nogee, assistant professor of political science at the University of Houston.

Dr. Nogee's book, Soviet Policy Toward International Control of Atomic Energy, published by Notre Dame Press July 22, is a study of negotiations techniques used by the Soviets during the atomic energy conferences.

A condensation and revision of Dr. Nogee's doctoral dissertation completed at Yale University in 1958, the volume surveys the course of atomic energy negotiations from 1945 to 1960, and analyzes specifically those which dealt with international control of atomic energy. These were disbanded around 1953.

With the University since September, 1958, Dr. Nogee, 32, holds a Bachelor of Science in Foreign Service from Georgetown School of Foreign Service, a masters degree from the University of Chicago, and a Ph.D. from Yale University.

Spanish award

Robert Saenz, 22, a student at the University of Houston, has been awarded a scholarship by the Spanish Consulate enabling him to spend his junior year at the University of Madrid in Spain.

Saenz recently received the Pan Geo Atlas Corporation award for the outstanding foreign languages student at the University with a Spanish background.

Last summer he studied at the Institute of Technology in Monterrey, Mexico, under a Carnegie Foundation Scholarship.

DR. HILL
To France

Fulbright grant

Dr. John Hugh Hill, professor of medieval history at the University, has been awarded a Fulbright Senior Research Grant for study in France during 1962.

Dr. Hill will conduct research on "The Origins of the Crusades in Southern France," at the University of Toulouse in Southern France, from February to August, 1962.

This will be a continuation of research by Dr. Hill on the Crusades, which has been published in the U. S., France, and Belgium by him and his wife, Dr. Laurita L. Hill, lecturer in English at the University.

Dr. Hill has been on the University of Houston faculty for one year. Previously, he was professor of history at the Texas A&M College, and Guest Professor of Medieval History at the University of Texas.

A graduate of Austin College, Dr. Hill received his master's degree from the University of California, and his doctorate from the University of Texas.

Cougars Face

Tough Season

COACH HAROLD LAHAR
Tough team faces tough season

By TED NANCE
Sports Editor

More than 200 colleges fielded football teams last fall. Only 25 major college teams won more games than Coach Harold Lahar's Cougar squad.

Chances for a repeat or improvement of the 1960 record of six wins and four losses are good. With 26 lettermen on hand, U. H. has been rated as high as 11th in the United States in pre-season polls, the highest ever for a Big Red team.

However, the Cougars will be playing the toughest schedule in the school's history. "We have reached the point where we can play anybody in the United States and welcome the chance to play them," Lahar explains.

Ironically, the team that could be the toughest of them all has been picked for the 1961 homecoming game. That team is the Alabama Crimson Tide, coached by Paul (Bear) Bryant.

Fiery Aggie Coach

Neither Bryant nor 'Bama are strangers to Houston football fans. Bryant gained an all-time place in Southwest football history as the fiery coach of the great Texas Aggie teams of the mid-fifties. Since moving to Alabama he has edged Houston in two bitter battles and played Texas a tie before 70,000 fans in the Bluebonnet Bowl last December.

The nation's most stubborn defense, two dozen lettermen, and a new pass offense have led experts to peg Alabama as a title contender for the national championship and a candidate for a third consecutive bowl trip.

It's no wonder that a sellout crowd is already expected for the U. H.—Alabama homecoming game at 8 p.m. on October 28. This game is the highlight of the 1961 season for Houston football fans and could be an important factor in the national picture.

Another team from the Southeast Conference will provide the opposition in the season's home opener, September 30 at Rice Stadium. The Mississippi State Bulldogs will come to Houston for the second game of a four-year series.

The remaining three home games have a "coast-to-coast" taste. Following the Mississippi State opener the Cougars will tangle with the Boston College Eagles for the first time. That game will be October 7 at 8 p.m. in Rice Stadium.

Only Day Game

After the big Alabama homecoming and a pair of road games, Houston takes on Florida State's Seminoles from the Southern coast of the U. S. The game with the Tallahassee school will be the only day game on the '61 home slate.

The regular season finale will find Rose Bowl candidate and Northwest Coast power Oregon State on hand for an 8 p.m. game December 2 in Rice Stadium.

Boston College, Florida State, and Oregon State, are all noted for their wide-open offenses and passing attacks.

Opposition away from home figures to be just as rugged.

The traditional game with Texas A&M will open the season in College Station, September 23. The Cougars have never beaten the Aggies at Kyle Field. A win this year could even the all-time series standing to four wins for each team.

The first win of the series with Ole Miss is U. H.'s goal on October 14 in Memphis.

The next weekend the Cougars will provide the homecoming opposition for the Cincinnati Bearcats in the Ohio city.

The road schedule will wind up the second two weeks in November after an open date November 4. The Cougars will play Tulsa in Tulsa on November 11 and return to Oklahoma the next weekend for a game in Stillwater with Oklahoma State University.

A big and mobile interior line headed by tackle Murdoch Hooper, tackle Jim Norris, guard Joe Bob Isbell, and center Danny Birdwell is one of the reasons for the optimistic pre-season U. H. football outlook.

Please list me as a member of the Alumni Association for the coming year.

Quarterback Don Sessions, who set a school record for pass completions in a season last year; halfback Ken Bolin, who set a school record with his 7.2 yards per carry rushing average last year; halfback Larry Lindsey, who set a school record with his 38.9 yard punting average last year; and fullback Charlie Rieves, the leading ground-gainer two years ago and second behind Bolin last season; all return to add experience to the backfield.

Bolin's 542 yards gained rushing was tops for a major college back in the state of Texas last fall.

With a minimum of injuries and a few breaks, Houston could field its toughest team to take on its toughest schedule.
