Wishing you a very happy Holiday Season!

Christmas Trees Decorated

Sandy Womack decorates the chemical administration lobby Christmas tree in hopes that St. Nick will drop by with gifts galore.

Sandy, a speciality typist in Services, was assisted in decorating the tree by Faye Maas, also a typist in Services.

Services employees Margaret Holiday, senior clerk, and Pat Bezdek, head mail clerk, admire the Christmas tree displayed in the GS&F building where a smiling Margaret greets visitors.

Stockings Await Santa's Arrival

A stocking for each member of the chemical cafeteria crew awaits the generosity of Santa and his many helpers. Come Christmas morning the stockings will be filled with treats for each to share.

Daughters Choose

Wise Men Robed

The dip-and-drape technique was used by Doris Gillum to robe these "Three Wise Men." Doris, wife of Kent Gillum, senior lab technician, Refinery Laboratory, teaches arts and crafts in her Houston shop, the Farmhouse Craft Shop, where these models are on display.

Augie Plays Santa

Training representative A. P. "Augie" Augustine did the honors again this year for SCORA's annual "Breakfast with Santa" event. Augie does such a fine job impersonating "the Saint of Olde" that even his four- and seven-year-old granddaughters fail to recognize their grandpa behind the snowy white whiskers and red Santa suit.
