CSPES clashes with CARP

By KELLEY GRIFFIN
News Editor

A rally yesterday to protest U.S. involvement in El Salvador turned into a conflict when members of a second group heckled the speakers and called for continued aid to the Salvadoran junta.

While the Committee in Solidarity with the People of El Salvador (CSPES) sponsored speakers in front of the UC Satellite to demand an end to U.S. aid to El Salvador, about 30 members of Collegiate Association for the Research of Principles (CARP) carried signs and chanted in an attempt to drown out the speakers.

Both CSPES and CARP are officially recognized campus organizations. CARP is the student organization for the Unification Church.

The CARP members continued chanting during the 90-minute-long rally. UHPD Captain Luther Parker said six uniformed officers and some Cougar Patrol patrolled among the crowd. He said most of the officers covering the rally normally cover that area of campus.

Two men in the crowd of about 350 were taken to UH police headquarters after shouting between them led to a fight, Parker said. The two were released without charges. One of the two men involved in the scuffle was identified as a UH student by Parker who said his case will be referred to Student Court.

After a CARP members dropped paper from the top of the Satellite where they were demonstrating and used amplification equipment, UHPD officers made them stand away from the rail. Sergeant T. George said they did not break up the counter-rally even though organizers did not have a permit, because "we don't want to disturb the rights of these people (CARP members) to disagree with the philosophies presented today."

However, Julius Gordon, associate dean of students, said that they would have to be removed if even a single piece of paper was thrown over the rail, and he forbade CARP to use sound equipment during the speeches.

Dennis Jamison, a CARP organizer, said members of his organization were trying to disrupt the rally because they had "been thrown out" of CSPES meetings. He said they did not disrupt the meetings, but were open about their disagreement with CSPES beliefs.

According to another CARP member, David Claypatch, most of the people heckling the speakers were not UH students. He said they were members of a travelling group known as International Folk Ballet, a Unification Church sponsored organization.

Jamison added that a reporter from World Student Times, a CARP publication, was harassed and had his tape of a CSPES meeting erased by CSPES members.

A member of CSPES, Dr. Armando Gutierrez, said the meeting which they would not allow the CARP members to attend was a planning meeting of the executive committee of CSPES.

A scuffle between members of CARP and CSPES broke out a few minutes after yesterday's rally began. UHPD took two men into custody, but there were no charges filed and the men were released. (Photo by James Lefieste)

Program Council Executive applications due April 10th

By ROBBIN MARTIN
News Reporter

The UH Program Council is now accepting applications for the positions of Vice President of Financial Affairs and Chairpersons for various committees, Susan Demchak, PC president said.

Newly appointed officers are Steve Scholl, president; Chris Jones, vice president internal and Terry Marsaw, vice president external. They will take office April 25. Applications for Vice President of Financial Affairs are due by April 3 and Chairperson applications are due by April 10.

PC officers receive $350 a month for about 40 hours of work a week. Applicants for officer positions must be a student and have been a committee chairperson or a treasurer. The applicants for chairperson must be a student and have been a committee member.

Demchak said the committee member qualification can be waived if the person proves to have knowledge in a special field.

Positions are available for the chairs of the Coffee House Committee and the Collegecon Committee. Demchak said the Collegecon Committee is in charge of events such as The Science Fiction, Fact and Fantasy Convention. This year's convention will include speakers such as Leonard Nimoy, who played Dr. Spock on the television series "Star Trek," moon rock displays and over 50 films, Demchak said. The Coffee Committee is responsible for bringing acts to the Coffee House.

The Films Committee and the Fine Arts Committee are also accepting chairman applications. The Fine Arts Committee sponsors poetry readings and jazz concerts (as those featuring the Rag Street Rascal group); Demchak said. The Film Committee brings movies and film series to campus.

Demchak said other committees accepting applications are the Ideas and Issues Committee, which brings speakers to campus, and the Recreation Committee which arranges small local travel trips to places such as the New Orleans Mardi Gras, the Texas Prison Rodeo and Colorado Outward Bound.

Three other committees are open for applications, the Special Events Committee, Summer Council Committee and Video Tape Committee. The Special Events Committee handles concerts and the UH Free Fair held every year. Demchak said this year's theme is "Savoirfaire," and it will be held on April 25. The Summer Council handles everything that happens in the summer Demchak said. Including the lemonade committee, film series, concerts and art exhibits. The Video Tape Committee helps in the operation of Channel 6.

Job agencies can help prospective employees if used in proper manner

By DAVID B. SMALL
Director,
Career Planning and Placement
Center

Employment agencies are a one-billion dollar industry. There are approximately 7500 agencies in this country with advertising budgets of over 100 million dollars.

As you ready yourself to enter the labor market as an entry-level or returning job candidate, you become a human commodity subject to free pricing in the marketplace. You will be free to package, price and auction yourself to the highest — or first — bidder. You may choose from among the traditional or more novel approaches in selling your wares, i.e., direct mail, want-ads, campus recruitment, faculty referrals, the "grapevine," placement office listings, information interviewing, the cold call, the hidden job market, ad infinitum.

For most college graduates, a combination of approaches works best.

If you include employment agencies in your job search arsenal, be prepared to know just what they can do for you and what they cannot do. The following is not the book on employment agencies, but it covers the major chapters:

Employment agencies are primarily for mid-level job hunters. They are not effective for entry-level candidates, except in the very high-demand fields.

Do not believe ads by employment agencies; they are used primarily as "come-ons."

Be aware of the agent who sends you out on interviews for which you are not qualified. This is a technique used to break down your self-image and render you more pliable.

Be aware of the agent who sends you out on interviews for which you are overqualified. This is a technique used to place you and collect a commission as quickly as possible.

Make sure the employer pays all of the job placement fee. It's tax deductible for them.

Many employment agencies specialize in a professional field such as accounting, engineering, education, etc. Others utilize specialists in various fields. If you do use an agency, it is to your advantage to seek out an agency or specialist in your field. If your agent holds a degree in your specialty, so much the better. Chances are these people know their industry's leaders, follow its developments, belong to its trade associations, and attend its conventions. Also, many of the top-notch employment agencies belong to national intercity placement networks. In these networks, agencies in every major market share job orders from employers with fellow members in every other market.

Thus, some agencies can be very helpful to the geographically mobile job seeker.

Don't waste your time contacting professional search firms. They are also known variously as executive search consultants, headhunters, and flesh peddlers. Unlike employment agencies which find jobs for people, headhunters find a person (usually a gainfully-employed, successful executive) for a specific job. Their credo is "don't contact us, we'll contact you." When, and if, they do contact you, be flattered. It probably means that they consider you a rising star in your field. Try turning a profit-losing division around first. Then wait.

It is a good idea to interview each employment agency you may be considering to satisfy yourself that it has the kind of people you'd like to work with. A call to the local Better Business Bureau may also help.

In today's elaborate game of job-market musical chairs, check out and utilize all of the avenues open to you. Employment agencies can be helpful depending on your degree, your experience, and the type of job campaign you are conducting. Be selective and be aware of the shortcomings of employment agencies. And don't be left standing when the music stops.

CARP offers odd democracy

by b. engler

"Democracy," wrote Henry Louis Mencken, "is the theory that the common people know what they want, and deserve to get it good and hard." If the ideological confrontation in front of the Satellite yesterday was any indication of what the 4 million common people of El Salvador can expect, they will indeed get it good and hard.

The Committee in Solidarity with the People of El Salvador sponsored the demonstration. Speakers who had done time in El Salvador decried American intervention there. They denounced acts foisted on Salvadorans by the military junta and its minions. No longer, each in turn said, will the people of El Salvador, or any Third World nation, sit idly by and allow itself to be oppressed by outside powers. "Let the people of El Salvador determine their own history, their own future," shouted Ernie McMillan, one of the speakers.

If Mencken could not argue with that, I certainly will not. If the people of El Salvador want to get it good and hard, fine. The United States has no business in El Salvador. But maybe, as it has been suggested, this is a war the United States can win, and that notion brought a groundswell of idiocy from our friends the Moonies.

Ah, the Moonies. Or Carpies. Whatever. Tell me: what does stemming the tide of communist expansion in banana republics have to do with peace and love? The Moonies are so far to the right they would make Joe McCarthy proud. But that is not what I find disturbing about the Moonies because everyone in this country is entitled to whatever political persuasion he or she finds palatable, be it Nazism or anarchism. But there is something about the Moonies that is not quite right.

First a little background on the UH chapter of the Moonies. Here, and at campuses around the country, Moonies refer to themselves as CARP, the Collegiate Association for the Research of Principles. CARP is a front organization for the Unification Church whose leader is Rev. Sun Myung Moon. Rev. Moon is a very well-to-do person in a country known for political repression, South Korea. For instance, in South Korea about a year ago, an entire town rallied against the repression and the Korean government occupied the town with paratroopers, armored vehicles and foot soldiers. South Korean soldiers were ordered to kill South Korean civilians, and they did.

I wonder if that is the kind of democracy the CARP people want for the Salvadorans. If their chants of yesterday mean anything, that is exactly what they want — an American-supplied military, ordered by an American-supported government that can and will be used to keep civilians in line.

The CARP people operate similarly to the South Korean government, only they've not yet been given weapons. To prop up the two or three CARP flunkies who are enrolled as students here, the Moonies maintain a road show that travels from campus to campus. It's known as the International Folk Ballet. Its members put on shows when they are not carrying placards and shouting down speakers, kind of like a USO show whose troupers are troopers.

I almost felt a twinge of sympathy for the CARPies when I first came across the species last year. They told me they were for goodness and light and they said they were not rabble rousers. They said they were being repressed by others. Yesterday, they called for war. They are the oppressors.

The Moonies — and all of that ilk — are losers. They have no focus except a Korean fat-cat, an arms manufacturer, who preaches peace from one side of his mouth and urges war from the other. The world is confusing enough without this kind of nonsense — especially from an individual who claims divine inspiration.

But Rev. Moon will die someday and his following, like that of the other great cult leader, Jim Jones, will be destroyed.

U.S. must support shuttle to keep status as world leader

By RICHARD BURCKHARDT

There has been a lot of talk in the news media lately that NASA is putting a great deal of hope in the success of the space shuttle as the means of recapturing public and congressional support. Recent developments, however, have almost insured that Congress will be putting a lot more support behind NASA regardless of the success or failure of the first shuttle flight.

The USSR has successfully launched and tested a satellite killer. This is a weapon that homes in on satellites in orbit and destroys them with a laser beam. This sounds like science fiction, but is actually science fact. With this weapon, the Russians could play havoc with our communications and defense systems.

The defense department has known about the Russian plans for a satellite killer for several years and have depended on the space shuttle as a counter-weapon. Unlike the earlier manned space efforts, the space shuttle will be a tool for defense as well as science. This is probably the reason NASA has been allocated as much funding as it has in recent years ($5.4 billion in 1981), which has still been insufficient.

It has been said that history repeats itself. This is certainly the situation now. It took a Russian satellite called "Sputnik" to sufficiently alarm Washington in 1957 to establish a competing space program. America took the lead by landing men on the moon in 1969, but lost that lead in a very short time. We haven't sent a man into space in six years while the Russians have sent 19 who have set all kinds of records in space.

In 1981, the names have changed, but the scenario is the same. The Russians have again sent a satellite into space that has scared Washington. This time, however, the satellite is the most destructive object ever sent into space. Undoubtedly, Washington will once again throw its support behind our only means of defense against the Russians, the space program. This time the race will not be for the moon, unfortunately. It will be for control of the skies above us.

We should all be optimistic about the first shuttle flight in April, but regardless of the success or failure of the mission, we need to realize that America will have to support the space program if we are to maintain our standing as a world leader. The Russians have seen to it that NASA will be getting new support from all sides.

Senate scraps dairy support boost

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate handed President Reagan his first congressional floor-vote victory on a proposed spending cut Wednesday, approving a bill to scrap an April 1 boost in dairy price supports.

The Senate passed the measure, 88-5, ending more than a week of uncertainty in which supporters of dairy industry interests succeeded repeatedly in putting off a final vote.

The bill was sent to the House where Speaker Thomas P. O'Neill has predicted smooth sailing when the measure is put to a vote, probably Thursday.

Sen. John Melcher, D-Mont., who championed the cause of U.S. dairy interests, cleared the way for the roll call by withdrawing a proposed amendment to require the Agriculture Department to outline its safeguards for preventing the spread to this country of foot-and-mouth disease from contaminated cattle in Great Britain.

He said the outbreak there raised a risk that imported casein, a milk protein, could carry the disease. The disease is not dangerous to humans but is highly contagious to cattle.

Casein, which is not produced domestically, is used widely in dairy substitutes, such as powdered coffee creamers, dessert toppings and imitation cheese.

Melcher, who had tried unsuccessfully to attach a rider to the price support measure cutting yearly casein imports in half, said he was reassured by a promise from the Department of Agriculture that it would report on its safeguard procedures against foot-and-mouth disease in 30 days.

"I'm delighted," said Melcher.

Sen. Jesse Helms, R-N.C., a sponsor of the price support rollback, read a letter from Agriculture Secretary John Block promising to "leave no stone unturned," in prevent the spread of foot-and-mouth disease here.

The department banned imports of livestock from Great Britain on Monday.

The administration said eliminating the April 1 increase in dairy product subsidies would save the government an estimated $147 million and also would spare consumers from paying an extra 7½ cents for a gallon of milk, a dime more per pound of butter and 9 cents more for a pound of cheese.

The Senate on Wednesday also attached amendments to the price-support measure expressing its displeasure with the continued embargo on grain sales to the Soviet Union. They only state Senate sentiment and do not compel Reagan to take any action.

It was not clear whether the grain embargo amendments will cause further delays in final congressional passage of the bill when it reaches the House floor.

High school students play roles at model UN

About 600 students from area high schools masquerading as United Nations ambassadors will convene in the Houston Room in the UC today.

These students will be part of the sixth annual model United Nations sponsored by the United Nations organization and the Language Cultural Center, and will run from Thursday, March 26, through March 28.

The model UN will include general assemblies, an international court of justice, committee debates, and a keynote speaker, Dr. Nabil Elarby, Egyptian ambassador.

"All roles involved in the model UN such as ambassadors, justices, committee members, and even witnesses will be played by the students," said Jennie Szeto, model United Nations organization president.

Elarby will speak Friday at 5 p.m. to the general assembly.

Szeto said all area high schools are sent invitations and those who respond are screened and assigned a country to represent.

"We make sure that no school represents the same country two years in a row," Szeto said, "and the school is also given an advisor who is from the country the school will represent."

"The advisor is usually an international student here at UH and sometimes comes to us through the Language Cultural Center," Szeto said.

"The high school students attend several regional meetings before the model UN is held, Szeto said, "and they are briefed on parliamentary and debate procedures used in UN assembly meetings."

"Also during the regional meetings, the advisor presents the culture and political views of the country the school will represent so the students can play their roles well," Szeto said.

The international court of justice will be deciding on the Beagle Island dispute which involves Argentina and Chile. The dispute is over ownership of the island.

Various committees will be debating four different topics: "Rights of the Diplomatic Community," "Indian Ocean Zone of Peace," "Censorship," and "Cartels."

All sessions are free and open to the public. For further information call Jennie Szeto, 270-1276.

Salvadoran violence leaves marks

SUCHITOTO, El Salvador (AP)—A ditch, two-feet wide, cuts across the highway, blocking traffic 10 miles south of here. Buildings are pock-marked with bullet holes. The charred wreckage of an ambushed military vehicle sits on the roadside.

These are the calling cards of anti-junta guerrillas, who are seldom seen but proclaim, in hand-scrawled, yellow-lettered signs, control of the area.

Five miles from the ditch, army troops loyal to the ruling civilian-military junta are positioned behind rocks on either side of the road. An armored personnel carrier arrives, troops empty out and begin tromping down a dirt side road in the muggy morning heat.

"Sunday, the guerrillas blew up a truckload of our men heading to Suchitoto. One lost an arm, another a leg. After the mine exploded, the guerrillas began shooting at the truck," said the company leader watching his heavily armed crew head out on patrol.

The soldiers are between 17 and 19 years old, about the age of the leftist-dominated guerrillas who have been fighting for power for more than a year.

Six soldiers were wounded in the ambush. Their truck stands about 200 yards away, a wreck. Around it, the roadway is littered with broken glass and burned rubber.

Overhead, an army helicopter circles, beyond the reach of automatic weapons fire. Its occupants are searching for guerrillas.

Lower, a bunch of buzzards circle, in search of bodies of guerrillas or slain peasants to scour.

Occasionally, pick-up trucks loaded with somber-faced people from the area rumble down the highway toward San Salvador, 25 miles south, stopping now and then to pick up or drop off a field hands from the hillside ranches.

Last week, there was fighting around Suchitoto every day until Friday when the army gained control of the area after uncovering a clandestine guerrilla hospital and caves loaded with foodstuffs.

There are reports that heavy fighting still continues high up in the surrounding hills.

A patrol in search of guerrillas returns to the roadside army post, reports it encountered no guerrillas, rests and heads out on another mission.

Reagan insists Haig is number one

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Reagan insisted Wednesday that Alexander M. Haig, Jr. remains his "chief adviser on foreign affairs," but other officials said the secretary of state clearly has lost prestige and authority because of Vice President George Bush's appointment as crisis manager.

Reagan's affirmation followed a talk with Haig on the third consecutive day the secretary has visited the White House. The president denied any suggestion that Haig had threatened to quit over the new role for Bush, one which he wanted for himself.

But one informed official said privately that while Haig, who went public with his unhappiness on Tuesday, wouldn't resign this time, any further "public rebukes" from the White House might cause the strong-willed secretary to leave.

Another official, who also did not want to be identified, said under the new division of responsibility Haig will lack the authority of former secretaries of state Henry Kissinger, Dean Acheson and John Foster Dulles, all of whom had responsibility for managing crisis in the foreign field.

Presidential press secretary James Brady predicted even greater cooperation between the White House and the State Department, saying he now expects Haig to participate in Reagan's daily national security briefing. That role previously has fallen to security adviser Richard V. Allen, but apparently now will be shared.

"He probably will be here most days," Brady said of Haig. "He's there to enhance cooperation."

Asked whether that development was merely a face-saving device for Haig, Brady declared: "I don't think General Haig needs to save face."

Bush, meanwhile, said he envisions the job of crisis management as sitting in the White House situation room "until the president gets there," and foresees no conflict with Haig. "Secretary Haig and I get along very well indeed," Bush told reporters.

Bush said Haig is "the chief adviser on foreign policy, that's clear; he's going to be the general manager of that policy, that's clear; and excellent secretary of state, that's very clear."

Asked how he would define a crisis, the vice president said: "We'll know it when the president sees it." And Bush said the labor strife in Poland and the power struggle in El Salvador are "absolutely not" on his list of crises.

Brady confirmed that Haig and the president had conferred several times in the last two days, but refused to be more specific.

Although speculation focused on Allen as the one who orchestrated the Bush appointment, another official said he thought it was less Allen's doing than that of Reagan's California advisers who view with suspicion the attention Haig had been getting.

The president's decision, announced late Tuesday after Haig already had complained about the prospective appointment on Capitol Hill, cast doubt upon Haig's own claim on his first day in office that he would be "the vicar" of American foreign policy.

Volleyball coach Nelson resigns, will assume similar post at LSU

By TIM McKIAN
Sports Editor

UH volleyball coach Ruth Nelson announced her resignation effective May 15. The 31-year-old Nelson has taken a similar position at Louisiana State University.

"I really like having a challenge and I really feel at the University of Houston I've done everything I can do," Nelson said. "I'm interested in developing a similar program so I'm going somewhere I can help another program."

"My reaction was one of shock when I saw her letter of resignation," Assistant Athletic Director Dolores Copeland said. "A few days prior to that we were talking about our invitational tournament for next year and her recruitment plans so at that time she did not give any indication she was going to be moving. She did inform us she wanted to interview with LSU and certainly anytime anyone sees another opportunity for advancement or personal and professional growth we want them to look into those options."

Nelson is completing her seventh year at Houston. Her first team in 1974 placed fourth in the national tournament. The Cougars have won the state tournament, regional tournament, finished third and fourth in the nationals, while placing two players on olympic teams during Nelson's tenure.

The 1970 Northern Colorado graduate set a number of school records as UH head coach. Houston teams set marks for most wins in a season (55) in 1977, most consecutive matches won (15) in 1979, and most consecutive games won (17) in 1978. She has also coached several national teams and played on the 1972 national squad.

Another reason Nelson cited for her resignation are the development programs in Texas high schools. According to the Nelson, Texas high school volleyball players are limited to the number of camps and workshops they can attend which limits youth development in this sport.

"I'm going to a state where there are really no rules for high school players," she said. "They can participate on Sunday, they can go to camps, workshops and clinics all year round. I get to a point where I want to be the best and I feel maybe some rules limit certain ways of becoming the best."

Nelson feels the UH athletic department has been most supportive of the volleyball program, especially financially.

"I don't think there's probably a better backed financial volleyball program in the country," Nelson said. "I don't think there's any other team in the country that travels as much as we do. There's lots of benefits at the University of Houston."

She also said LSU has financial backing and the total budget will be similar to what she had at UH.

"It's a very much community supported sports program," she said. "There are no professional sports there. I would say, in this situation we'll play in, it's less expensive for me to play in the main arena than it is in our pavilion. It's very expensive to play here. In fact, we really don't have the same type of situation as I'm going to have over there."

"I don't think the community has backed any women's sports in the eight years I've been at the University of Houston," Nelson continued. "It's extremely difficult to get to the news media and television."

UH beats Gophers, faces UT Saturday

By ALPHONSO
MALDONADO III
Sports Writer

The UH baseball team defeated the Golden Gophers of Minnesota in a nine inning contest by a score of 7-3.

Junior Brent Bentley picked up his third win against no losses for the season, and Doug Drabek

"I know I have been involved with television through the olympic team and also as a player when our women's team was based in Pasadena, Texas. We were on television there and we were in the newspaper there and I don't know where the breakdown is. I know I'm lucky to get my volleyball scores in the newspaper. I think that that probably is something that really had been my biggest concern and it really has not gotten better in seven years."

picked up his first save for his relief effort.

Minnesota led 1-0 in the top half of the fourth inning, and threatened for three more runs but only managed to score one runner when Cougar catcher Scott Huntsman was charged with catchers interference by the home plate umpire.

The bottom half of the inning saw Houston knot the tally by scoring its first run of the afternoon. Designated hitter Mike Minturn led off the inning with a double to left center field and moved to third on a wild pitch. Minturn then scored on Wesley Gregersen's rbi single to right-field.

Gopher head coach George Thomas lifted his starter in the seventh inning as the Cougars mounted a threat, and Minnesota fireman Jim Francour extinguished the Coog rally.

UH took the lead for good as they sent 10 men to the plate and exploded for 6 runs in the eighth stanza. Right fielder Raynor Noble opened the Coogs' rally with a walk from the Gopher's third pitcher of the afternoon. All-SWC player Mike Breslin drilled a frozen rope down the third base line. When the dust settled, there were men in red standing at the corners and the Gophers had yet to get a man out. Gopher hurler Krueger, perhaps sensing danger, handed a free pass to DH Minturn to stack them all the way around the diamond. Minnesota moved their infield in to the grass hoping for an out at home while preventing a run from scoring.

Trackmen ready for meets Sat.; Women will visit A&M

RICHARD BROWN
Sports Writer

Carl Lewis, Charles Young, Deven Lewis, and Larry Brown will represent UH on March 28 in the 400 and 800 meter relays at the Florida Relays in Gainesville, Florida.

Meanwhile the UH men's track team will travel to Lafayette, La. to compete in the Southwestern Louisiana University Invitational Meet on that same Saturday.

"We're hoping to run a lot better than we showed this past Thursday," assistant coach Clyde Duncan said. UH was downed 95-56 by Tennessee while the Cougar women fell to the Volunteers 70-56 in the March 19 Robertson stadium meet.

26 feet, 6 inches in that match to beat challenger Jason Grimes in the long jump.

"I was glad to win it," Lewis said. "It has been an off week for me. It was my first outdoor meet this year and I was satisfied."

Lewis was not completely satisfied after the 100 meter dash, however. A slow start off the blocks caused an upset win by Jeff Phillips in a photo finish. Both runners were hand timed at a quick 10.1 seconds. Lewis' previous best was 10.25 seconds in the 100 meters which he set last year at Robertson stadium. Coach Duncan feels there is no cause for alarm.

Despite Lewis' lack of concentration, he managed to set NCAA qualifying marks in both events.

Freshman Scott Budnick put in a 6-foot-10 inch effort in the high jump but the walk-on athlete has his aims set higher. Budnick said he wants to jump 7 feet, 2 inches but stated he will be happy qualifying for the NCAA championships with a 7-foot leap.

Houston senior Don Speranza lagged behind other runners in the 800 and 1500 meter dashes and pulled out in front to win both events. His marks were 1:52.42 and 3:47.85 respectively.

Sophomore Dan Foley did well finishing second in the 1500 meter (3:48.95) and 5000 meter (14:40.95) dashes.

Although the lady Cougars lost their end of the meet, Houston won four events.

Patsy Walker took the high jump competition as the Californian put in a 5-foot-7 inch effort. Karen Hill tied Walker in this event as she matched the jump with a 5-foot-7 inch leap of her own.

Dana Olson won the discus event by tossing the iron frisbee 152 feet, 9 inches. Lisa Ferry of UH placed second in that event with a 145-foot-4 inch throw.

Houston swept the 200 meter event when Tara Mastin posted a winning time of 24.17. Darlene Jefferson finished right behind her teammate at 24.19 while Bridgette Singleton pulled up with a 25.44 mark.

UH's final winner was Dana again when she won the javelin throw with a 179-foot-8 inch toss. Her performance qualified her for the AIAW javelin event which will be held during the national meet in Austin May 28th-30th.

The women's track team will compete in a dual meet with Texas A&M in Robertson Stadium on March 28 with the first event beginning at 1 p.m.

Byrum leaves UH to join Oakland A's

HALDI HUTSON
Sports Writer

Terry Byrum, former Cougar second baseman, probably does not regret that he will be watching the 1981 Cougars Southwest Conference play against the Texas Longhorns this weekend. Instead of wearing Cougar red and white, Byrum will don the green and gold of the Oakland Athletics this year.

The All-Southwest Conference player left Houston Feb. 28 for major league spring training with the A's in Scottsdale, Arizona.

After Byrum completed his third year with UH last June, Oakland drafted him.

He considers his invitation to major league spring training an honor. Other minor leaguers will join Byrum in Scottsdale later this month.

"I think it's just marvelous," UH baseball coach Rolan Walton said of his former player's success. "Oakland is a good team to go to because they're a young, building ballclub."

Besides being named All-SWC last year as a junior, Byrum was also selected All-Tournament Player at the SWC tournament in 1978. The Houston Madison graduate received The Houston Post's Clark Nealon Award for his academic and athletic abilities while in high school.

According to Walton, Byrum was drafted out of high school by the Houston Astros. The New York Mets wanted his services and drafted him following his sophomore year at UH but the Mets did not make him a good offer.

New grand jury reviews Wood case

Federal agents rumored to have solved killing

SAN ANTONIO (AP)—A new special grand jury convened Wednesday amid a swirl of published reports that federal agents are close to solving the assassination of U.S. District Judge John Wood Jr.

The 23-member panel, to serve up to 18 months, takes up where another special grand jury left off in the investigation of Wood's death and the shooting assault on a federal prosecutor here a few months earlier. The other grand jury, formed in mid-1980 with a 36-month life span, will focus on other cases.

Chief U.S. District Judge William S. Sessions empaneled the jurors and instructed them on secrecy before they started work under tight security.

Wood, 63, was killed outside his San Antonio apartment on May 29, 1980, six months after an attempt to slay Assistant U.S. Attorney James Kerr was unsuccessful on Nov. 21, 1978.

Sessions made no reference to the Wood case during his 15 minutes of instructions.

Published reports in Dallas, San Antonio and El Paso have quoted federal sources as saying the investigation focuses on two brothers, Joe and Jimmy Chagra of El Paso, and a convicted hit man, Charles V. Harrelson.

Wood was known as "Maximum John" for the stiff sentences he gave in drug cases. Jimmy Chagra, a gambler, was to have appeared before Wood on drug smuggling indictments the day Wood was killed.

Chagra is now serving a 30-year sentence at Leavenworth, Kan., on those indictments following a trial in Austin last year.

His brother Joe Chagra, a lawyer, said publicly he expects to be indicted in connection with the Wood slaying, either for conspiracy in the killing, or obstructing the investigation.

Harrelson, 42, has been held without bond in the Harris County jail in Houston since he was captured at Van Horn in West Texas last Sept. 1. He faces state charges of possessing narcotics, firearms, possessing gambling paraphernalia and bond jumping.

Among those subpoenaed Wednesday were Harrelson's stepdaughter, Theresa Starr Jasper of Houston; George Edward "Pete" Kay of Huntsville, a longtime associate of Harrelson; Virginia Farah of El Paso, who employed Harrelson as a bodyguard while he was a fugitive last year, and Hampton and Joann Robinson on Houston, acquaintances of Harrelson.

Any conspiracy case against Jimmy Chagra and Harrelson may depend heavily on indictment of their lawyer, Joe Chagra, The Dallas Times Herald reported Wednesday.

Although it is unusual for a lawyer to be indicted in an action involving a client, one source told the newspaper that material gathered in the case will be worthless unless prosecutors can prove Joe Chagra was part of a conspiracy in the judge's death.

If Chagra can sustain the argument that his only involvement in the case came as an attorney diligently defending his clients, then wiretaps and other material confiscated in an FBI raid on his El Paso home in February will be protected by the lawyer-client privilege and will not be admitted in court.

"I'm afraid the government has placed itself in a position where it has to indict Joe Chagra in order to indict anyone else," the source told the Times Herald. "They need wiretaps and the evidence from the house."

Among that evidence is supposed to be a map detailing the burial site of the rifle used to kill Wood.

Chagra is going to great lengths to avoid indictment. He was in Dallas Wednesday for a second polygraph test after taking one in California several weeks ago, trying to establish his innocence. He underwent five hours of questioning in San Antonio by federal agents last Friday.

The Dallas Morning News reported Wednesday that a convicted killer says the attempt on Kerr's life and the assassination were ordered by the same persons.

The convict, who was not identified, described a secret 1978 meeting at which the killing of a "top federal official" was discussed, the newspaper said in a copyright story.

The News said the man has become a secret witness in the Wood case and is under heavy security at a federal prison after being convicted of state and federal charges — including several killings.

He was rebuffed when he first offered his information in late 1979, but investigators later believed his story and offered protection in return for his testimony, the newspaper said.

"What he has said has proven out straight down the line," the newspaper quoted an unnamed investigator as saying.

"It also says something when he doesn't ask for the reward money until there's a conviction."

A group of attorneys has posted a $125,000 reward in the Wood case.

The witness said he attended a meeting two weeks before Kerr was attacked at which a group of men talked about killing "somebody big," the newspaper said.

He said he was offered $100,000 and a cocaine source if he would supply the weapons and dispose of them later, but he declined, the News said.

At another meeting shortly after the Kerr attempt, the same man said "a bigger hit" was in the works, "bigger than the Kerr deal," the newspaper said.

The newspaper said law enforcement agents have seized photographs and identified several people who were at those meetings.

COSW to meet today in UC

By ROBBIE JOHNSON
News Reporter

The Committee on the Status of Women will sponsor a brown bag luncheon today with two speakers discussing the job market on campus and in Houston.

Sara Goodwin, UH employment manager of personnel services and Amanda Mims, senior consultant coordinator for M. David Lowe employment services, will discuss "Where the Jobs Are," from noon to 1 p.m. in the Embassy Room in the UC.

There will also be a panel of faculty members, professional staff, office workers and clerical staff to answer questions.

Goodwin will speak on career counseling. "One should look upon his job as a challenge and an opportunity," Goodwin said. Goodwin will also speak on how everyone on campus can do their jobs better by developing their personalities.

"Learn as much as possible about the total operation, meet as many people and interact with as many offices as possible and then you can get ahead," she said.

Mims will speak on the job opportunities off-campus. Her discussion will center around the job market, types of positions and finding positions. She will also talk about business trends, breaking into the job market and career changes.

Mims will discuss the advantages of using agencies for finding employment and how particular backgrounds fit into the job market.

It is an illusion. To get it, we had to build a model, light it from the inside, light it from the outside, position it on the actual building site (in this case, in Dallas), and then photograph it.

WILLIAM M. BURWELL, INC. has been building scale models and display models for the past eight years (formerly as Kinetic Systems, Inc.). ## Muniz to speak at UC about Chicano politics

Ramsey Muniz, recently paroled from prison in Tarrant County after serving three years of a ten year sentence for conspiring to transport marijuana from Mexico into the United States, will speak on his prison experiences and the position of the Chicano in American politics.

The talk will be given in the Parliament Room of the University Center today from 12 until 2 p.m. The speech is sponsored by the Concilio de Organizaciones Chicanas and the Mexican-American Studies program at UH.

Muniz was released from prison in December 1980 and can only leave Tarrant County once a month as a condition of his parole, according to Marcos Mena of the Mexican-American Studies program. This speech will mark the first time since 1977 that Muniz will be able to present to Houstonians his side of the charges brought against him, his trial and subsequent imprisonment, Mena said.

Muniz, who now works as a paralegal assistant for a law firm in Dallas, ran for Governor of Texas on the Raza Unida party ticket in 1972 and 1974. He gathered approximately 6.5 percent of the vote each time, according to Mena. He is one of the founders of the Raza Unida party and has been active in civil rights causes. Muniz holds a doctorate in law from Baylor University.

Due to U.S. Olympic Boycott, we are stuck with this huge inventory of athletic travel bags that NEVER MADE IT TO THE OLYMPICS.

After a year of costly storage fees and negotiations with the marketing directors, we finally got a release to liquidate these bags to the students and faculty at invoice cost. We're not looking for profit, just the money that we put into this project in the first place. And we can no longer afford to let these bags sit and collect dust.
