THE WOMEN'S INTERNATIONAL LEAGUE FOR PEACE AND FREEDOM was founded in 1915, with Jane Addams as its first president. Its purpose is to work to establish by nonviolent means those political, social, and psychological conditions which can assure peace, freedom and justice for all.

PEACE is more than the absence of war or the maintenance of order through force. International peace is based on respect for the sovereignty of nations and the right of all people to a just share of the world's resources.

FREEDOM means equal rights and responsibilities for all under a system of law based on justice. Justice requires safeguarding minority rights and the right to dissent. All people have the right to participate in determining the political, economic, and social conditions under which they live.

WILPF WORKS FOR

- an economy that puts people before profits;
- an end to governmental surveillance and repression;
- an end to U.S. military and economic intervention abroad;
- a strong United Nations and universal disarmament;
- unconditional amnesty for war resisters;
- peace education in schools and communities;
- civil rights for all, regardless of race, sex, age.
