Health Center seeks $1 fee increase

By BRIAN FORD

Staff Writer for The Cougar

The Health Center Policy Board (HCPB) voted unanimously Monday in its last spring meeting to recommend to the UH Board of Regents an increase of student health service fees by $1 for next fall semester.

The board met at noon in the Student Life Building. Brian Berry, chair of the HCPB, said he had received a letter from vice chancellor of Finance and Operations Fred Drake that recommended a $1 increase in student health service fees. The increase will raise fall and spring student health fees to $8, 12-week summer term fees to $6 and 6-week summer term fees to $4.

The board sent a letter to Drake three weeks ago asking him to recommend one of three options considered by the board concerning the Health Center budget. Greg Edwards, chair of the Health Center Budget Committee, said the Health Center budget needed an additional $25,000 to make up for inflation and increased personnel salaries.

One of the options considered by the board to raise the budget was to increase student health fees by $1. This option could raise the budget by $6,000. Another option was to raise student health fees by 40 cents for the fall and spring semesters and 20 cents for the summer semesters. Connie Wallace, assistant dean of students, said, "This increase would raise the Health Center budget approximately to the amount needed next year. Wallace said she spoke with Robert Stewart, UH cashier and assistant controller, concerning the 40-cent and 20-cent fee hike. She said he told her that problems in accounting student fees would arise if student health fees were implemented by less than $1.

A third option was for the Health Center to deficit spend.

In his reply to the HCPB, Drake said any money left over from the $1 increase would go into a fund balance to help prevent further student health fee hikes in the near future. Berry said that while he believed there would be no increase in student health fees for 1980, "I would hedge on saying student health fees will not go up in two years." Helyn Patterson, assistant to the director of the Health Center, said, "The doctors are already asking for more money." Berry said, "Next year's raises in doctors' fees will definitely be a priority." He said that Health Center doctors make one-half the amount of money that they could make elsewhere.

The decision of the HCPB to raise student health service fees $1 will go before the UH Board of Regents during the summer.

The board also voted to raise student health insurance premiums from $77.50 to $79.50 per year.

Frank Cockman, chair of the Insurance Committee, said the increase because of inflation. The board also voted to reinstate a tuberculosis exclusion clause in the UH student insurance policy. Cockman said the exclusion clause was removed from the policy a year ago because no one had reported having tuberculosis at UH for several years.

Wallace said she had heard complaints from International Student Service staff members concerning the exclusion clause. She said the staff members believed that the exclusion tarnished the image of international students because of the belief that international students may be more likely to carry diseases such as tuberculosis than native students. She said the staff members believed that tuberculosis should be covered by the Health Center insurance policy.

Last year a student came to the Health Center with tuberculosis. Wallace said at the time Health Center insurance still excluded tuberculosis as a claim.

The board also voted to increase from $85 to $95 per day the amount of money the university insurance can pay a student for hospital room and board.

Egypt says attacks may adversely affect Mideast peace pact

(AP)—Israeli warplanes blasted Palestinian targets in southern Lebanon at sundown Tuesday and Israeli gunboats completed two days of pounding Lebanese coastal towns that have been used as bases for terror attacks against Israel, the military command in Tel Aviv said.

Egypt condemned Israeli attacks on the Palestinians and said the action could have a negative effect on the Israeli-Egyptian peace treaty.

Hundreds of families headed north from southern Lebanon fleeing the shelling, Lebanese officials said.

The air attack was directed against artillery positions north of the Litani River near Beaufort Castle and the towns of Arnoun and Nabatiyeh, the Israeli military said. That is about 20 miles inland from the Mediterranean towns hit by the navy.

The Egyptian statement deplored the cycle of violence between Israel and the Palestinians, but did not condemn the Palestinian terror strike that killed four Israelis in the coastal town of Nahariya Sunday and was believed to have sparked the Israeli attack.

"The government of Egypt condemns with all its strength the aggressive Israeli action which contradicts the efforts to establish a comprehensive peace in the Middle East," the statement said.

The actions "also have a negative effect on the implementation of the agreements reached regarding an Egyptian-Israeli peace treaty and the efforts to achieve a just settlement of the Palestinian issue," it added.

As Cairo was condemning Israel, the official Egyptian Mideast News agency said Israeli Defense Minister Ezer Weizman would arrive in Cairo Wednesday for talks on military provisions of the treaty.

Israeli officials said, meanwhile, that Egypt and Israel would exchange ratification documents for their treaty on Wednesday as planned in the Sinai Desert.

These seemingly contradictory developments followed an Egyptian pattern established after President Anwar Sadat's visit to Jerusalem in 1977, of condemning specific Israeli actions while continuing to seek peace.

Lebanese officials said six people were killed by the Israeli shelling overnight, raising the reported toll to 13 Lebanese and Palestinian dead in northern and southern Lebanon since the guerrilla attack in Nahariya.

Sirens wailed though Israel this morning, rush-hour traffic halted and pedestrians paused for two minutes to honor the memory of the 6 million Jews killed by Nazis during the "holocaust" of World War II.

Holocaust Remembrance Day, 24 hours marked by solemnity, began in Israel at sundown Monday and ends at sundown today.

Meanwhile, Egypt ordered its diplomats home from Saudi Arabia and Kuwait after the Arab states, which had propped up Egypt's economy with billions of dollars in aid, cut diplomatic and political relations with Egypt to protest the peace treaty, an Egyptian Foreign Ministry spokesman said today.

Police Advisory Board passes additions to campus parking rules

By RICHARD CONNELLY

Staff Writer for the Cougar

The Campus Police Advisory Board (CPAB) passed two additions to next year's proposed parking rules and regulations Tuesday. The additions dealt with university policy on towing and Houston city citations.

The board did not approve a final, complete draft of rules and regulations. The board will try to do that this Thursday when they will consider three different versions of the rules—one from the University Police Department (UHPD), one from board member Grady Cockrell and one from board member Edgar Crane. The proposal will then be sent to the Board of Regents for final approval.

The two additions the board agreed to include in the final draft were both proposed by Cockrell. The proposal dealing with city citations states that any city citation given to a car with current UH registration can be exchanged for a university ticket within five working days.

Non-registered vehicles that receive citations may go to municipal court or try to explain the ticket to UHPD, according to the proposal.

A section of the proposal that would allow non-registered cars to plead guilty to a university citation of the same violation, and pay the University fine (usually cheaper than the city's fine) was tabled until Thursday, when the legal aspects of it will be cleared up through the university counselor.

One of the legal aspects troubling the board members is whether the university could legally take parking fines from visitors.

The towing proposal led to some sharp debate between the members, centering on the question of access to the car after it had been towed. Although the board finally settled on making the towed vehicles available from 7 a.m. to 11 p.m. (office hours for the UHPD), Crane said vehicles should be available 24 hours a day, seven days a week.

"You're doing this (using the UHPD office hours) for the convenience of the police, not the students," he said.

Chair Sol Tannenbaum disagreed. He said the university did not have a punitive towing policy, and cars would be towed only if they created blockages in emergencies.

"We may create some inconvenience, but it's for people who have put others in the position of being inconvenienced," he said.

Under the proposal, towed vehicles would be taken to a protected lot on campus. According to Pam Braunig, assistant to the Campus Police Chief, "very, very little" towing has been done in the past by UH. She did not have any exact figures to give to the board.

The CPAB also discussed the legality of hearing complaints from students, faculty and staff. Tannenbaum said he had met with UH counsel Pat Bailey who, he said, told him that "We should not provide a public forum for nonrebutted charges, and we shouldn't act precipitously on information like that without rebuttal."

Correction

In Tuesday's article concerning Nobel laureate Dr. Archer J.P. Martin, Dean Hugh Walker of the College of Natural Sciences and Mathematics was misquoted on grievance procedures. The quote should read he "believes (he) did talk to Martin (about) oral indications received that Martin was not acceptably active and productive member of the department." The Cougar regrets the error.

Editorial:

UH System abolition something to consider

The Faculty Senate has come up with a fascinating idea: the abolishment of the UH System. What the senate proposes is the redistribution of authority among all the University of Houston campuses, with the responsibility for problems concerning all four campuses to rest with the Central Campus administration.

The idea of decentralizing power seems to be widespread. We have seen it in Clear Lake City, which has fought annexation by the City of Houston. We have also seen it in the proposed Westheimer Independent School District, which fought to maintain local control over the education of its children. In both instances, the massive Houston government was seen as too far removed from the needs of local interests, and that those interests would be met by local governance.

The question arises: Does the decentralization theory apply to the UH system? Currently, each UH campus—Central, Clear Lake City, Victoria and Downtown—is responsible for the administration of its own academic, financial and student life functions (its own "local affairs"). There is a separate entity—the UH Systems office—which deals with issues concerning all the campuses, such as legislative appropriations.

Generally, there is little overlapping between the system and the campuses, at least in theory. The sheer size of the Central Campus usually prohibits such an overlap, since the resources of the campus are much greater than that of the system. However, the smaller Victoria campus has learned from past experience that the UH Systems office does have the ability to extend its sphere of influence into the "local affairs" of the smaller campuses.

In 1977, when the decision was made to cut back a number of academic programs and faculty positions at the Victoria Campus, the UH Systems office provided the impetus for those cutbacks. Residents and businesses of the Victoria area joined the Victoria campus faculty in vehemently protesting the cutbacks, saying that the distant UH System in Houston did not realize the function of the UH campus in the Victoria community. The cuts were made over those protests.

Without further study, it cannot be said conclusively whether or not UH would be better off without a centralized systems office. But the idea is not completely without merit. We are looking forward to the debate.

DOONESBURY

by Garry Trudeau

With the announcement a few months ago that UH president Philip Hoffman would retire in 1980, the board of regents is now faced with the task of finding someone to replace him. It is a decidedly difficult task, since many people give Hoffman the bulk of credit for turning UH from a second-rate community college into a major institution.

However, I do have few suggestions for the regents to aid them in the task before them. First of all, I don't think it absolutely necessary that UH be limited to making the selection from homo sapiens. People seem to be obsessed with the idea that high offices should all be filled by humans. I think the top position could be filled quite adequately by, say, a bucket of mud. We could save the sixty-odd thousand dollars per year we pay Hoffman. All we would have to do would be to toss in some water from time to time to keep our new president from turning back into dirt.

Or, we would do quite well to choose someone from the animal kingdom. I certainly see nothing wrong with turning over the reins of administrative responsibility to someone like Shasta IV. I mean, what could be more symbolic for a school which was founded largely on frivolity and corporate greed than a vicious wild animal. Again we would get out of the salary, only having to clean up the mess and feed her.

Personally, I would be perfectly happy to have the regents go down to Jensen Drive and choose our president from the legion of prostitutes who hold forth on the corners of that colorful street. Naturally, we would not want an expensive, $100-per-night call girl, merely a nice, streetwise hooker. Oh, sure, some of the stuffy local academics might object, but once they saw how she could enliven those dull administrative parties, they would eventually accept the idea.

Since we here at UH are not too interested in providing overly taxing curricula, a nice slim volume of Rod McKuen poetry would make an excellent president. Whenever some lonely, confused student wished to comforted, all he or she would have to do is travel up to the second floor of E. Cullen and read the president. No more making appointments six months in advance.

Perhaps we should have a president that would symbolize the middle-class, commuter nature of our great institution of higher learning. A shiny new Weed Eater may fill the bill. Even better than a Weed Eater would be a antiseptic, chrome and white Cuisinart. Imagine the glee with which we could show off our new president to visiting dignitaries, pointing proudly and saying, "It's so handy; I just don't know how we did without one for so long."

Now, I'm sure the regents won't listen to these suggestions. Come 1980, the president's office will once again be occupied by a scholarly white-haired man in his late fifties. We will all go about the usual business of forgetting his name and exactly what he does to earn his money, and none of us will have the privilege of saying in later years, "Yes, my alma mater had a distinguished Evinrude outboard motor for a president."

Letters:

Firing of Martin upsetting

To the Editor:

I was shocked to read from the Daily Cougar Tuesday that UH was trying to fire Dr. Archer J.P. Martin, the only Nobel Prize winner that UH has had on its faculty for at least the last five years.

Martin is indeed one of the rare souls of this generation. He has conferred the greatest benefit to mankind in the field of chemistry. In recognition of that, he was awarded the Nobel Prize in 1952.

We ought to understand that the behavior of a genius, like Martin, is distinctly different from that of most people. Perhaps UH lost its patience and found it difficult to tolerate his behavior any longer.

However, if Martin is retired by UH, it will create an unfavorable atmosphere for recruiting famed scientists to serve at UH in the future. And it will be devastating to the UH image especially at a time when UH is trying to build up its reputation in research throughout the country.

In view of Martin's stature and the respect shown to him by those who know of his work, it is hoped that UH would let him stay here and continue his research work if he so desires.

Cougar missed ISO election

To the Editor:

Up until some time ago, The Daily Cougar was an outstanding source of news for the campus. Recently it has been serving as a commercial paper more than a news source; hence, some of our most exciting events have not been covered thoroughly or not at all. I am referring in particular to last month's International Week and the recent Officer's Elections for the International Student Organization. These are two events where so much effort, in the way of energy, time and money, were put forth for the International Students and were two events which were left unreported this year.

As you know, International Students make up a good percentage of the UH community and failing to report these events is either due to your weakness of not knowing how to run your department or your disrespect for International Students which in each case results in a failure to your responsibilities.

However, if your answer is that these events were covered—which took a week or two after their actual happenings, then they are not news anymore, are they?

SALISBURY, Rhodesia (AP)—Bishop Abel Muzorewa was elected the first black prime minister of Rhodesia as his party easily swept 51 out of 72 black seats in parliamentary elections.

The United African National Council, led by the 54-year-old Methodist bishop, captured more than four times as many parliamentary seats as any of his black opponents.

Muzorewa will form the first black-majority government in Rhodesia after nine decades of exclusive rule by the white minority.

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States is heading for a serious recession unless swift action—including imposition of mandatory wage and price controls, if necessary—is taken to control inflation, the president of the AFL-CIO Building and Construction Trades Department said Monday.

In remarks prepared for the opening session of the department's annual legislative conference, Robert A. Georgine complained that labor is being asked to bear the brunt of the nation's economic problems.

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate today rejected an effort to balance the federal budget in 1980, apparently fearing such deep spending cuts would shock the economy into a recession.

By a 67-23 vote, the Senate rejected an amendment by Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., that sought to restrict spending to the amount of revenues collected in fiscal 1980, the 12 months beginning next Oct. 1.

Proxmire said a decision now to balance the budget would have a great psychological effect, sending out "one clear unmistakable signal that this government means business about inflation."

The spending plan recommended by the Senate Budget Committee would leave the 1980 budget with a $28.8 billion deficit.

AUSTIN, TEXAS (AP)—Gov. Bill Clements Monday stood by his call to limit teacher pay increases to 5.1 percent and called a 7 percent raise approved Friday by the House "not in order."

Clements said his proposal for a 5.1 percent annual teacher pay increase "is the right number" and called the House-approved measure "a bad mistake."

HOUSTON (AP)—With increased revenues from chemicals, natural gas and petroleum products, Shell Oil Co. reported Tuesday a 16 percent increase for first quarter earnings.

A net income of $224 million or $1.47 a share compared with $193 million or $1.31 a share the same period last year.

Revenues totaling $3.1 billion were 19 percent above the $2.6 billion recorded in 1978.

SA approves holiday increase

By BRIAN FORD

Staff Writer for the Cougar

The Students' Association (SA) Senate voted unanimously Monday night to increase the fall of 1981 Thanksgiving holidays from two to five days.

SA President Ed Watt, author of the resolution, said the SA Academic Committee planned for two Thanksgiving holidays to allow for reading days in December before final examinations. He said the committee had received complaints from students wanting to know why the spring semester had reading days when the fall semester did not.

Watt later said he found out there will be only two days for the Thanksgiving holidays for the fall of 1979 to allow for reading days before finals. He said the holiday schedule for 1979 was approved by the committee without debate.

Watt said, "As it stands right now, it is probably too late for us to do much about it because it (the academic calendar) was passed about a year ago."

Earlier in the meeting, Watt asked for a hand count to get senate opinion on either increasing the 1980 Thanksgiving holidays to five or have two days for holidays and three reading days. All but one senator were in favor of extending the holidays to five and eliminating the reading days.

However, the senators were unanimously in favor of starting the fall semester two or three days earlier than scheduled so as to allow for five Thanksgiving holidays and reading days before finals.

SA Treasurer Keith Cornelius gave a report in which he said SA had $3,000 in outstanding bills. He said the SA budget balance is currently $33,965. Cornelius said, "These figures are probably off by $1,000." He said he would have more accurate figures in May.

The senate approved several appointments to boards and committees. Teri Larks was approved as chair of the Campus Governance Committee, Greg Edwards to chair the Student Life Committee, Myrna Herrera to chair the Education Educational Affairs Committee, and Cedric Herring to chair the Fiscal and Governmental Committee.

Shelly McMillion (also appointed director of Special and Organizational Concerns), Susan Sicking (also appointed director of Personnel and Information) and Susanne Demchak were appointed to the Committee on the Status of Women.

Sheila Baker was appointed as alternate justice on the Student Traffic Court and Greg Maxwell was appointed senator of the College of Business as a replacement for Keith Cornelius, who resigned his seat to become SA treasurer.

Author to speak at conference on battered wives and shelters

By LEA GALANTER
Staff Writer for The Cougar

Erin Pizze, author of "Scream Quietly or the Neighbors Will Hear," will be the featured speaker at a conference on battered women titled "Battered Women: Legal and Social Aspects" on May 12.

Pizze is to give the morning keynote speech also titled "Scream Quietly or the Neighbors will Hear," and talk about "A Community Model" in the afternoon. A film, "The Chiswick Experience," will also be shown.

The community conference will focus on the problems of battered women and coordinate efforts between the various agencies involved.

Pizze is director of Chiswick Women's Aid, a shelter she founded in London in 1971. The shelter houses and supports 36 women and children. She is also involved in setting up a network of 20 shelters in England.

The shelter concept, now known as "the Chiswick way," departed from the piecemeal arrangements offered by other agencies. In the concept of a shelter, a woman is provided with a supportive community in which she can regain her strength and reconstruct her life.

Other speakers will be Carol S. Vance, Harris County district attorney to discuss legal aspects with Robert M. Collie Jr., Houston city attorney. Hon. Bruce W. Wetman, family district court judge, will provide a "View From the Bench."

Houston Area Women's Center President Nikki Van Hightower will be one of three speakers to discuss social aspects. UH professor Alex G. Zaphiris (graduate school of social work) and Karen Howes Coleman, a Houston marriage and family therapist, will also speak.

Legal sponsors of the one-day conference include Harris County District Attorney Office, Gulf Coast Legal Foundation, the Houston Bar Association and Houston Lawyer's Association.

Social sponsors are the Texas Council on Family Violence, Houston Area Women's Center and the UH Graduate School of Social Work.

The conference will take place at Garland Walker Auditorium, South Texas College of Law (1303 San Jacinto at Polk), and has been submitted to The Texas Board of Legal Specialization, State Bar of Texas for attendance credit toward continuing legal education requirements.

While there is no registration fee, a donation of $10 is suggested to benefit shelter programs. Checks made payable to the Houston Area Women's Center are tax deductible and will be accepted at the conference.

Lodging for out-of-towners can be reserved at Texas Women's University Residence Hall. Double dormitory rooms are available for $6 per person and guests must supply their own linens. Box lunches can be purchased for $3.50.

For registration forms and more information contact Susan Eggert at 792-4441 or write to her, care of the Houston Area Women's Center, Room E-401, P.O. Box 20186, Houston, Texas 77025.

The UH Ceramic Association will be sponsoring the UH semi-annual pottery sale from 1 to 10 p.m. on April 29 and from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. on April 30 in Room 119 of the Art Annex.

Linda Woods, senior ceramics major, said functional as well as decorative items will be available for purchase. The prices she said will range from $2 to $30.

Woods said the money from the sale will go toward the purchase of new equipment for the ceramics lab.

Vet population to grow

American military veterans now number more than 30 million, and they will increase in number for at least the next few months, W. Myatt, director of Houston's Veteran Administration (VA) Regional Office said.

Last year, VA placed the number of living veterans in the nation at 29,879,000, while the estimate at the end of last November was 30,023,000. According to VA, Texas has 1.5 million veterans.

Myatt said the vet population is still increasing because discharges from military service is greater than vet deaths.

Bilingual education

Senate votes down extension

AUSTIN, Texas (AP)—An additional two years of bilingual education could hinder a Spanish-speaking child's ability to learn English, a senator told his colleagues Tuesday.

"I have a lot of sympathy with bilingual education through the third grade, but it's a crime to carry it any further," said Sen. Bill Moore, D-Bryan. "Educators tell me they can learn it in four years, from kindergarten to third grade."

Enough senators agreed with Moore to block consideration of Sen. Carlos Truan's bill that would force school districts to add bilingual education in the fourth and fifth grades if enough children need it.

The sponsor needed 21 votes to bring up the bill, but senators voted 19-12.

"The whole purpose of the program is to help children stay in school, become fluent in English and do good in school," said Truan, D-Corpus Christi.

"We're not mandating something," Truan added. "The local school district still would identify the children who need the program."

Local schools must provide access to bilingual instruction in kindergarten through the third grade if there are at least 20 children within a grade level who need it. The State Board of Education refused to extend the program in November.

Truan's bill would cost the state an additional $2 million in 1980 and $2.5 million in 1981. In addition to extending bilingual instruction, it would authorize schools to offer English improvement courses to Spanish-speaking pupils in sixth to 12th grades.

Sen. Jack Ogg, D-Houston, joined with Truan, who was then a House member, to sponsor the original bilingual education bills.

"In 1973, when the first bilingual program passed, it was agreed it would go through the third grade on a trial basis," Ogg said. "We've seen that kindergarten through the third grade will still not bring all of them into the mainstream."

After the vote, Truan said he will try to switch two votes and probably will ask the Senate to reconsider his bill soon.

"I thought I had 20 votes firm," he said. "I was hoping that one of the four Republicans would vote with me. I was hopeful that the governor's endorsement would have helped."

Executive says PUC fails in duties

AUSTIN, Texas (AP)—The Public Utility Commission (PUC) has failed to fulfill its legal duty to regulate transactions among electric companies, the Texas Municipal League executive director has charged.

Dick Brown criticized the commission's decision last Friday in a case involving three subsidiaries of Texas Utilities—Texas Electric Service Co. (TESCO), Dallas Power & Light and Texas Power & Light (TP&L).

Commissioners ordered the companies to return $3.2 million to customers, compared with the $20 million in refunds recommended by commission staff.

The order came following a lengthy investigation of energy transactions among the companies, especially involving trading of ownership shares of the Martin Lake lignite power plant near Henderson.

"If the PUC's Friday decision is left to stand, every utility holding company in Texas will view it as a license to engage in internal brother-in-lawing without limitation—and the consuming public will suffer accordingly," Brown said Monday.

"These sweetheart swaps and trades by TESCO and TP&L created an inequitable situation in which the customers of one company benefitted at the expense of customers of another," Brown added.

Rate consultants to cities served by the utilities discovered the transactions during a TP&L rate hike request, Brown added.

"The PUC's decision subverts the obvious intent of the Legislature when it passed the 1975 Public Utility Regulatory Act to severely restrict financial backscratching by members of the same corporate utility family," he said.

Brown urged the companies' customer cities to appeal the commission order in district court.

Commissioners also ordered their staff to propose a different way for companies to recover energy supply costs than through the fuel adjustment clause.

"The cities have consistently pointed to abuses of the present fuel adjustment clause," Brown said. "However, the only action forthcoming from the commission is an acknowledgement of the abuse which has been pointed out repeatedly."

UH to host Mini-Indy contest

The UH College of Engineering together with the UH chapter of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers (ASME) will host a Mini-Indy May 18-19 on the UH campus.

Each of the 15 universities entered in the competition, including UH, will present a scaled-down, Indianapolis-type vehicle which will be judged in five categories. A panel of eight volunteers from industries throughout the nation will judge the event.

The final list of entries includes: University of Delaware, Memphis State University, Brigham Young University, University of Texas at El Paso, New Mexico State University and University of Nebraska at Lincoln.

Competing universities will give oral presentations May 18, from 8:30 a.m. until 3:30 p.m. in Lecture 2-D behind the Cullen College of Engineering. Judging in the categories of appearances, safety, cost and design will be at this time.

All vehicles will be on display in the first floor lobby of the Cullen College of Engineering after 2 p.m. on May 17. The public is invited to attend all events.

Competition in vehicle performance will begin May 19, with a briefing at 8:30 a.m. in lecture room 2-D. The competition will take place in parking lots on campus.

Private, group and industrial donations have funded the event. ASME members will sell souvenir patches and T-shirts during the competition May 18 and 19.

The ASME will also sponsor a barbecue May 19 from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. Tickets can be purchased in advance in the Mechanical Engineering office on the second floor of the Cullen College of Engineering. Tickets will also be sold by ASME members. The $4.50 donation includes barbecue, potato salad, slaw and bread. Drinks will also be available.

Do You Wear GLASSES ?

Here's an effective new eye-exercise program that can produce astonishing results in a very short time . . .

The Bettervision Eye Clinic is now offering a program of eye-exercises that can safely correct most cases of poor eyesight—so that glasses or contact lenses are no longer needed. Originally developed by Dr. William H. Bates of the New York Eye Hospital, this method has been widely used by the Armed Forces, schools, clinics, and thousands of private individuals, for the treatment of:

- nearsightedness
- farsightedness
- astigmatism
- middle-age sight

For many years it was thought that poor eyesight was just bad luck, or something you inherit from your parents. Scientists now know that most eyesight problems are caused by accumulated stress and tension—which squeeze the eyeball out of shape, and affect the muscles that do the focusing. The result is the eye cannot form a clear image, and the world appears to be blurry. In people over 40, the natural aging process is also an important factor.

No matter what your eyesight problem the Bates Method can help you. This is a health care program, and will benefit everyone who follows it—children, adults, and seniors.

It is important to understand that glasses do not cure a visual problem. They are simply a compensating device—like crutches. In fact, glasses usually make the condition worse. Because they make the eyes weak and lazy, a minor problem often develops into a lifetime of wearing glasses.

The Bates Method corrects poor eyesight by strengthening the eye-muscles and relaxing the eyeball. You do simple easy exercises that increase your focusing power, eliminate eyestrain, and bring your eyesight back to normal.

Because the Bates Method deals with the basic cause of your eyesight problem, you can expect to see a definite improvement in as little as 1 or 2 weeks. Even if you have worn glasses all your life—things will become clearer and clearer, and you will have flashes of good vision . . . as you go through the program, these flashes become longer and more frequent, gradually blending into permanent better sight—at which point the exercises are no longer necessary.

We usually find that people whose eyesight is not too bad can return to 20/20 vision in about a month. Even if your eyesight is really poor, within 2 to 3 months you should be able to put away your glasses, once and for all. Read these case histories:

Aldous Huxley—Nobel Author
"My vision was getting steadily worse, even with greatly strengthened glasses. To my dismay I realized I was going blind. On the advice of my Doctor I decided to try the Bates Method. There was an immediate improvement. After only 2 months I was able to read clearly without glasses. Better still, the cataract which had covered part of one eye for over 16 years was beginning to clear up."

Rev. Frederick A. Milos, M.S.
"By following the simple exercises given in this program, I have completely recovered my vision. Now I can read for long periods without my glasses."

Ron Moore—Technician
"I originally went to the Clinic to deliver some equipment—and ended up trying their eye-exercise program. I am nearsighted, and have worn glasses for 15 yrs. In just 3 weeks after starting the program, my eyesight has already improved to the point where I can now drive, do business, and watch T.V.—all without my glasses!"

This program has been specially designed for the individual to exercise at home. Written in simple non-technical language, it gives you all the guidance you need to regain natural healthy vision in just 1/2 hour a day: illustrated booklet, complete step-by-step instructions, plus special charts and displays to ensure you make rapid progress. The program is fully guaranteed and there's nothing more to buy.

By following this program, you will soon be able to see clearly without glasses. It's up to you. Ordering the Bates Method can be one of the best decisions you ever made. So do it now—before you get sidetracked and forget. Fill out the order coupon, attach your check for $9.95 plus $1 for postage and handling, and mail it to us today!

If you have any questions regarding this program, please call us at (415) 753-6699. Our qualified operator will be glad to help you.

The Bates Method can mark a turning point in your life—better eyesight without glasses or contact lenses. The program is guaranteed. Try it for 30 days, and if you're not fully satisfied, return it for an immediate refund.

UH student robbed, unharmed

A 19-year-old Moody Tower resident reported she was robbed by an unidentified black male Monday night in Lynn Eusan Park, said Jay Evans, UH captain.

The victim told UH police she was walking through the park at 9:55 p.m. when the suspect jumped on her back and forced her to the ground.

The suspect reportedly took her purse and fled the scene of the incident, she said. Her purse was later found and returned to the UH Information Booth. However, the victim estimated that approximately $125 in property was missing from the purse.

The victim described the suspect as 18 to 20 years of age, six feet and wearing a dark-colored tank top with cut-off shorts.

The UH student was uninjured in Monday's incident, Evans said.

The UH police have no suspects at this time, but are continuing the investigation, he said.

A 20-year-old black male wearing only a pair of white socks and brown shoes reportedly ran from an entrance by the Moody Towers to parking Lot 3A by the Bates College of Law Monday at 10:12 p.m., where he was arrested by UH police, he said.

The suspect was taken to the city jail, and charged with disorderly conduct (indecent exposure), he said.

Evans said the suspect declined to say why he was running naked through the campus parking lots facing Calhoun Road.

There have been 17 reported exposures on the central campus this semester.

Marching band to get new uniforms for fall

Measurements for new band uniforms for the fall semester will be taken today from 9:30 a.m. to noon in the band annex.

Dr. Bill Moffitt, director of the marching band said the cost of the new uniforms was being sponsored by the "Cougar Band Dads," in which LeRoy Melcher was in charge.

Moffitt said the last time new uniforms were obtained was 15 years ago and have been through a couple of Cotton Bows as well as the Bluebonnet Bowl.

Moffitt said a decision has not been made on the particular style of the uniform, but that the Nissinger Company would be handling arrangements and manufacturing the uniforms.

The marching band, flag carriers, Houston letters and the Cougar Dads will all receive new uniforms, but must come to be measured if they want a tailored fit.

2 Carter advisers urge against lifting Rhodesian sanctions

WASHINGTON (AP)—Two of President Carter's most senior Africa policy advisers are recommending that the administration resist growing domestic pressures to lift U.S. economic and political sanctions against Rhodesia, informed sources say.

Officially the administration is reserving judgment on the recent five-day election in Rhodesia that will lead to the installation of the first black-majority government in that country's history.

But the sources, who asked not be quoted by name, say Richard M. Moose, assistant secretary of state for African affairs, and Ambassador Donald McHenry, a top adviser to United Nations Ambassador Andrew Young, believe the election was a fraud and that the sanctions should remain.

The Carter administration has tried to steer a neutral course between Rhodesia's so-called internal forces led by Prime Minister Ian Smith and the externally-based Patriotic Front guerrilla group.

Officials acknowledge that the administration will come under heavy domestic pressure to endorse Smith's black-majority plan.

House passes budget bill

AUSTIN, Texas (AP)—A $20.5 billion budget bill that barely exceeds Gov. Bill Clements' recommendations won final House approval Tuesday, but only after a fight over abortion.

The bill passed, 87-51, with all but one of the 23 House Republicans voting against it.

Next stop is the Senate, where that chamber's version of the 1980-81 general appropriation bill has yet to reach the floor.

The final bill to fund government operations through Aug. 31, 1981, will be written by a House-Senate conference committee and submitted to each chamber for an up or down vote.

Clements, who will get the final word at the bill with his veto power, remained silent Tuesday about the House version, which tops his budget recommendation by some $500 million.

The House bill leaves $261 million available for tax cuts, school finance or other expenditures in 1980-81.

Also "on the table" is another $269 million, but legislative leaders have earmarked it to avoid a scheduled rise in local expenditures and taxes for the Foundation School Program.

Before the final vote, Rep. Clay Smothers, D-Dallas, unsuccessfully tried to add a rider prohibiting expenditure of state money for abortions for women on welfare.

(A Reminder From Advent)

You Can Buy Superb Sound Equipment And Have Money Left Over For Records To Play On It.

If you would like your not-all-that-easily-come-by money to produce an absolute maximum return in sound, Advent equipment is worth investigating. It is designed to produce satisfying-to-unbeatable sound at a price that doesn't keep you from buying records for months or years thereafter.

The New Advent Loudspeaker, the new version of this country's best-selling speaker, is one example of how much you can buy for how little. At a fraction of the going price for its level of performance, the New Advent offers the full ten-octave audible range of sound—produced with exceptional clarity, musical definition, and a tonal balance that sounds natural not just on one kind of music or recording but on the whole range of musical and recording techniques that you will be hearing at home. Its bass response is approached by few speakers at any price, and its sound has an overall "rightness" that keeps prompting people to go out of their way to write us about their satisfaction. For $155 to $190* (depending on cabinet finish and how far it has been shipped), the New Advent offers everything you probably have ever wanted in a speaker.

If you can give up 2½ dB of response at 30 Hz (a barely noticeable amount at the seldom-recorded bottom of the frequency range) the Advent/1 is a smaller, less expensive version of the New Advent that offers virtually identical overall sound. It uses the same drivers as the New Advent, its power handling is essentially the same, and its efficiency is high enough for satisfying use with moderate power amplifiers and receivers. If you are looking for the greatest possible performance-per-dollar in a speaker, we think the Advent/1 is an unbeatable choice. It costs $120 to $142* (again, depending on cabinet finish and how far it has been shipped), and it sounds like many times the price.

If you want to do as much as you possibly can on a limited (deliberately or otherwise) budget, the Advent/2 and Advent/3 are the speakers to consider. Both offer sound very similar to our best, lacking only the final half-octave of bottom bass. The Advent/2 offers more power handling than the Advent/3 and is more efficient, but the latter offers absolutely amazing sound in a $50-class speaker and is small enough to fit almost anywhere. The Advent/2 costs $89 to $95* (depending on how far it has had to travel), while the Advent/3 is $65 to $69*.

As for the electronics of a sound system, we offer the Advent Model 300 Stereo Receiver—the unique alternative to all receivers that look (and cost) as if they belong in a space shuttle. Within its power limits, the Model 300 sound compares, for $289 to $295*, with the best you can get from separate amplifiers and preamps. (One super-critical non-commercial audio publication said its phono preamp sounds better than an $1,800 separate preamp.) While it will not put out enough power to dissolve a skyscraper, it will drive most popular speakers (including ours) very nicely under the usual conditions of home listening. And its FM performance is the equal of many far more expensive receivers'.

We realize that it may be hard to believe, in these days of gold-plated equipment (and advertising) that moderately-priced stereo equipment can be genuinely satisfying—without some hidden lack that will eventually force you to spend thousands more. But Advent equipment is designed to satisfy, leaving out only those things that have more to do with selling equipment than with buying it. Every Advent product is designed to offer exceptional performance and value, and we believe you can't go wrong buying any of the products we make.

For more information, including a list of Advent dealers, please send in the coupon.

Thank you.

Rains end allowing thousands

Many attend biannual Westheimer Colony Art Festival over weekend

The rain stopped and skies cleared last weekend enabling thousands to attend the biannual Westheimer Colony Art Festival.

Happily, Thursday's thunderstorms, which shelved the PC "Spring Affair," dissipated by Friday.

Hundreds of artists and an occasional huckster displayed their creations along the 100 to 1000 block of Westheimer.

But as usual some of the more interesting items on display were the people themselves. Those in attendance feasted on Baccha shishkabobs and Il Padrino pizza, and of course downed a lot of beer.

Here, photographer Alain Millon attempts to recapture some of the festival's scenes.

Turner always keeps things jumpin'

By KARA CHRISTIAN
Sports Writer for The Cougar

Although this is Greg Turner's first semester at UH he has made a name for himself in the world of track and bigger things are still to come.

Turner came to UH from Alameda Junior College in Oakland, Calif., where he holds the school record in the long jump with a distance of 25'3" and was a member of the National Amateur Athletic Union record-holding 400

- meter relay team.

Turner, a junior, came to UH because he liked the campus when he visited and because he would be able to work with UH coach Tom Tellez who is the U.S. Olympic track coach and has coached world class jumpers in the past.

Turner is primarily a long jumper, but he started as a sprinter when he was 11-years-old. "I ran the 100-yard dash until one meet when I tried the long jump. I did pretty well and I started long jumping," said Turner.

Turner combines the hang and half-hitch kick style of long jumping. He has never tried the somersault technique of jumping. Turner said, "I could do that off a diving board, but not in the sand!"

Running is a big part of the practice sessions Turner goes through. "I need to start a strong weight program, but I came here during indoor season and haven't started a weight program yet," he said. "I run extra hard to make up for it."

"The hardest thing for me about jumping is maintaining my speed so I am at my maximum when I get to the takeoff board. It's hard to get your steps down so you don't foul," Turner remarked.

Turner has not been pleased with his performances this year although he has finished high in each meet he has participated in. "I jumped 24'5" to win the conference last year and I've only been jumping 23'10" this year, so I'm starting out slow," Turner said. Turner jumped 25'2" at the Texas Relays two weeks ago.

Turner said, "Although I haven't had that special feeling yet, I don't let it get me down—I just train harder." Turner said that he doesn't feel he could over train.

Turner says that he doesn't have any real competition and that by May he shouldn't have much trouble winning the long jump in the Southwest conference outdoor championships.

"The lack of competition may be one reason why I haven't been jumping as well as I can. No competition takes the thrill out of it. I like to jump further again," Turner said.

Turner says he knows the second he hits the takeoff board whether or not the jump is a good one. "I love the feeling of a good jump—I know where I'm at and where I'm going," he said.

Turner said, "I go into each meet to win, but if I win I win and if I lose I lose. I don't let losing get me down. I go to win, but distance is really more important to me. The distance I jump is more important than what I might receive for winning." Twenty-five feet is the mark Turner likes to reach.

At a meet, Turner tries to relax and block out everything so he can concentrate on his jump. He said the lack of attention given to most long jumpers doesn't bother him. "When you land in the sand as the winner, people notice you," he stated.

Turner feels that if he combines weight training, running and good technique he can break the record which is 27'4" held by Randy Williams. "I'll have to keep my head clear of problems, and train hard, but I think the record can be mine," he said.

Turner's goals for the upcoming Penn Relays this weekend is to qualify for Nationals. When he graduates he hopes to compete with the Bay Area Striders.

"I don't know if I want to coach, but I know some young people who are interested in jumping and I'd like to share with them what I know," he said.

"I don't know when I'll stop jumping, I'll jump until my last jump," Turner said.

Greg Turner wears a small gold earring. It might be there to remind him of the gold that could be waiting for him at the end of one of his winning jumps.

Institutional cash

Investments made in big business

NEW YORK (AP)—Ask a stockbroker these days why he or she is bullish on the market outlook, and chances are you'll get something about "institutional cash reserves" for an answer.

The institutions in question are the nation's pension funds, and other such places where large pools of money tend to collect.

In recent years, New York Stock Exchange figures show that institutions have accounted for more than half the total dollar value of stocks bought and sold on the Big Board.

Because of their very size, and because of legal constraints requiring them to be "prudent," most institutions operate under a different set of circumstances than those which typically confront the individual investor of modest means.

But it's considered a good idea for any follower of the stock market to keep an eye on these elephants of the investment jungle, if only so as to be standing in a safe place should they start a stampede.

One common measure of the mood of institutional money managers is the percentage of their assets they are keeping in "cash"—which in the jargon of business refers not to nickels, dimes and quarters stored in a vault somewhere, but to short-term money-market securities such as Treasury bills.

Traditionally, the institutions have used these money-market securities as a sort of parking place for money, where it can earn interest while they decide when and where to invest it for the longer term.

In theory, the more cash they have in reserve at any given time, the greater the potential future demand for stocks. And right now those reserves are very large.

Thus the Value Line Investment Survey, the country's largest investment advisory service, argues, "The combination of the widely agreed-upon cheapness of stocks, coupled with the enormous cash reserves know to be awaiting the 'right moment' to begin to return to the equities market, puts pressure on the holders of cash reserves not to miss the boat."

Merrill Lynch, Pierce, Fenner & Smith analysts noted that mutual funds had 13.3 percent of their assets in cash as of February. That stood as the largest percentage since a 13.5 percent figure in September 1974, just before the end of a severe bear market.

"Further buying interest could come from the nation's pension funds, which have been accumulating new money at a $20 billion annual rate," the brokerage firm said.

"In 1978 these funds placed only 9 percent of their new money into equities versus 20 percent to 50 percent in recent years, further reducing the portion of their assets in stocks to 52 percent from the 1972 high of 73 percent.

'Robber' provides fine entertainment

By JUDITH K. MCGINNIS
Amusements Writer for the Cougar

THE ROBBER BRIDEGROOM- A musical based on the novella by Eudora Welty; book and lyrics: Alfred Uhry; composer, arranger: Robert Waldman; director: Sidney Berger; choreography: Leigh Christiansen; mime: Claude Caux; set: Gary Kruse; costumes: Jerry A. Wolf; lighting: Steven Cole; musical direction: Robert Nelson.

There was once a positive, fresh energy in this country, when its creative flow was not jammed by a false sense of propriety. America was shaping its own style, its own distinctive image, totally unimitative of European "culture."

Out of this period came American folk-tales such as the "The Robber Bridegroom." This powerful and joyous musical, based on the novella by Eudora Welty, is currently being presented by the UH Drama Department, and nothing of its life and vibrance has been lost in translation.

The Lab Theatre was charged with excitement as a small proficient cast drew the audience into their tale, in the manner of a skilled sage or storyteller. Their physical closeness made each raised eyebrow, tilted head or lifted hand significant to the story's progress.

Brett Cullen played Jaime Lockhart, a cunning rogue with a split personality; on one hand a gentleman and the other a Bandit of the Woods. Both however aspire to wealth, love and happiness—all stolen from someone else.

He intends to con wealthy planter Clement Musgrove (Steven Weldon) out of both his money and beautiful daughter, Rosamund (Sally Mayes). This must be accomplished before Rosamund's stepmother Salome (Dallas Purdy) can do away with her.

And the plot gets more complex from here.

Vocals in this presentation held a level of overall excellence. Rosamund's songs are haunting and lovely (Rosamund's Dream, Sleepy Man) and Mayes delivered them with rare tonal depth.

Cullen's voice is pleasingly unpolished, so we are not forced to accept the convention of a rugged, outdoor man with a finely honed operatic voice. Purdy brings down the house with the comic offering "Pricklepear Bloom."

Also to be congratulated for excellent supporting performances are Richard Hamner as Little Harp; Greg Baldwin as Goat, the town simpleton, and Alicia B. Church as the Raven. All were creative with their roles, bringing color and life to many scenes.

Leigh Christiansen choreographed rollicking dance numbers in a seemingly small area, accomplishing an amazing sense of freedom. Set design by Gary Kruse showed remarkable ingenuity, especially the orchestra loft set seven feet above stage level.

The Mississippi Mesquite Band was fabulous. More cannot be said.

Although "The Robber Bridegroom" is not entertainment for the entire family, adults will more than enjoy the energetic, bawdy, creative musical. Performances continue through April 28.

'American Chase' shows best of Jones

By H.N. GRAHAM

Amusements Writer for the Cougar

THE GREAT AMERICAN CHASE

Director: Chuck Jones; writer: Michael Maltese; from Warner Brothers.

There are good cartoons and bad cartoons, but as far as animated short gag cartoons went, everyone on my block knew that Bugs Bunny and the Roadrunner and characters in the six minute Warner Brothers shorts, with the looney-tunes music at the beginning and the closing black iris at the end, these were the kings.

There were some other cartoons of quality: George of the Jungle (with Tom Slick and Super Chicken), Bullwinkle (great absurdist writing that dignified crappy animation work, and they had Dudley Do-Right too), Mr. Magoo, Johnny Quest, the Go-Go Gophers, some of the earlier Pink Panther shorts (remember when the panther got connected to the magical skates that wouldn't stop, like an insane version of "The Red Shoes?"). But what could compete with the sublime indolence of "Ehhhh, what's up, doc?" or the utter contempt of normal concepts of acceleration that were expressed in the Roadrunner's "Thip-tip tip-tip—bee-beep" (and then—whoosh)?

If you ever read the credits at the end of the shows, the name Chuck Jones came up. Jones was the man in charge of this lunacy. Jones was the man who created the Roadrunner. He was the man who had Bugs drive the snotty opera singer out of his mind. He was the man who did "One Froggy Evening," about the singing, dancing frog.

But for years the only place you could see any of these cartoons was in reruns in the afternoon (after school hours) courtesy of the various UHF channels, or early Saturday mornings in the network hour, edited for space and to avoid anti-violence bitching.

Well, the people at Warner Brothers have finally wised up, and now we've got a movie that collects some of the better of those cartoons in one spot, in theaters, on the big screen, which does make a difference. They put it together with a pseudo-lecture from Bugs about the history of the chase, but it isn't too long, so it's easily ignorable.

There is the snotty opera singer, getting his comeuppance. There is Daffy Duck as Duck Dodgers in the 24 1/4 Century. There are half a dozen Roadrunner cartoons put together into one looonnnngggg chase, including the Acme Earthquake Pills, the Acme Catapult, the Acme Rocketsled, and many others. There is the seven minute version of Wagner's "Ring of the Niebelungen" with Elmer Fudd as Siegfried and Bugs as Brunhilde.

There is very little else that I can rationally say about the film. Any fan of Bugs Bunny, the Roadrunner, Elmer Fudd, Pepe LePew, or Daffy Duck should not miss it.

John Atkinson

Spring is sprung

Spring term always seems to end after its beginning and middle. Profundity is my game.

Spring time here at UH Central Campus is basically dullsville except for the honeysuckle scattered around, but with its biggest concentration at the Roy Gustav Cullen Building.

Roses are everywhere. So are bluebonnets (our state flower, non-residents).

The flip side of the beauty of spring is not necessarily more beauty. It is not really ugly either.

UH fared well considering how some other folks did. I only had to walk two or three miles to escape from the moated campus.

Business was swell on campus. The Coffeehouse did a lot. They could have given away beer, they made so much money. Where does that money go? Certainly not into new decor for the Coffeehouse.

There is something very symbolic about the campus nearly getting washed off the map again. It's sort of like a warning.

But a warning of what, you may well ask? It is a hard question to come to terms with. There is something intangible about it.

Students don't have to confront it very often. The faculty is another world except for the occasional beer hall comradery or an actual friendship.

So, the faculty as a whole is, in fact, concrete, but the idea of the whole faculty remains somewhat intangible as something that would suddenly appear in your backyard.

All that acumen and expertise in one backyard seems impossible. Trying to think of the faculty in Platonic terms (the idea of the faculty as being ideal) does not work either.

Faculty are people. They have their foibles. Some of them drink. Some overeat. Some smoke dope.

Some of them win Nobel Prizes.

Winning Nobel Prizes is not the same as drinking, swearing, fornication or knitting. Some faculty members knit.

One faculty member, ONE, on this campus has won a Nobel Prize. According to the copyrighted story in Tuesday's Cougar, "UH officials are trying to fire UH's only Nobel Laureate."

I don't know this guy from Adam. He could be a total wastrel. I don't care. This guy won a Nobel Prize and he is the only faculty member that has one.

(Dr. Archer J.P. Martin is a member of the Chemistry Department, is being removed for not producing enough research, if you can imagine something more ridiculous than that. How much research and of what caliber do most Nobel winners put in, I wonder. Probably a lot more than most of the other faculty on this campus, and talking quality is kind of joke, isn't it? Martin won the prize for his work with paper partition chromatography which made advances in medicine and life chemicals more accessible.)

Try to imagine for a moment that William Faulkner (another Nobel laureate, this time an American literary giant) was still alive and had been somehow induced by the administration to come to this campus. He is the only Nobel winner on campus. He is an old man and is all tired out. He doesn't even have the strength for a short story. Dirty limericks come hard.

Somebody in Administration gets the idea that Faulkner isn't fulfilling his fame as a UH faculty member by constantly selling stories to Esquire. There is a move to expunge him from the faculty.

One example is in the concrete world of chemicals. Another is in the slightly less concrete world of letters. Both are appalling lapses in reason.

If the University of Houston gets rid of its only Nobel laureate, it will be another sad day in the life of this place. Worse even than the treatment of the English poetical giant Stephen Spender by the English Department. A friend of mine who had him to dinner once told me later that the great poet was stuck in his dorm room most of the term he was on campus.
