Hillel rabbi calls Sadat forum biased

(L to R) Quataert, Razi and Stevens

By MIKE MONSON
News Editor

The "Ideas and Issues" panel discussion of the effects of Anwar Sadat's death ended Wednesday afternoon with Rabbi Osadchey of the UH Chapter of Hillel labeling the affair "highly pretentious and biased."

The Program Council sponsored event was held from 12:30 to 1:30 in the World Affairs Lounge of the UC. Participating panelists were: Associate Professor of History Dr. Donald Quataert, Associate Professor of Political Science Dr. G. Hossien Razi, and Associate Professor of Political Science Dr. Hugh Stevens. The panel was moderated by Dr. John Ettling, associate professor of history.

Each panelist talked for about 15 minutes, expressing their opinions on the background, causes and possible effects of Sadat's murder.

Then, four members of the audience of approximately 100 people participated in a question and answer session. As the last participant, Osadchey offered no question but asserted, "Implicit in the panelists' comments was an opposition to U.S. policy in the Mid East. They expressed no appreciation for Sadat. These three individuals have explained Sadat's death as being caused by the personality of Menachem Begin."

Stevens defended the panel by saying, "I don't see any bias here. This isn't a football game, we don't have any red and white shirts on."

Razi offered the possibility that Osadchey's bias was not represented and that was why he was disappointed in the discussion.

PC Ideas and Issues Committee chairman John Touchet, said no bias was intended, "It was just a matter of who I could get in the time allowed. I had to get the panel together before the media had blown the subject all out of proportion."

House vote goes against AWACS sale by wide margin; Senate vote nears

Washington (AP) — The House, as expected, overwhelmingly rejected President Reagan's proposed AWACS radar plane sale to Saudi Arabia today. The vote was 301-111.

Reagan, however, picked up support in his drive to salvage the sale in the Senate as five senators committed themselves to support him. Two had been leaning against approving the deal.

In the Senate, the latest Associated Press count is 33 for or leaning for the sale and 55 against or leaning that way. Twelve senators are uncommitted.

Both houses must veto the sale to stop it.

The White House had acknowledged even before the House vote that it would lose there.

"We don't expect to win," presidential spokesman Larry Speakes had told reporters.

As the House debated the matter before voting, opponents of the deal said putting the surveillance planes in Saudi hands would pose a threat to Israel and to the United States itself if the planes fell into unfriendly hands.

But supporters said a congressional veto of the sale would impinge on Reagan's conduct of foreign policy and hinder the U.S. strategy of helping to defend U.S. allies in the Mideast and bring peace to the region.

One opponent, Rep. William S. Broomfield, R-Mich., ranking Republican on the House Foreign Affairs Committee, said, "In the final analysis our defense concerns outweigh the effect of this sale on our relation with Saudi Arabia."

But Rep. Clement J. Zablocki, D-Wis., a supporter, said veto of the sale "would call into question U.S. reliability as a partner" both for defending the region and seeking a peace settlement for it.

In the face of the House vote, the White House summoned several senators for one-to-one meetings with the president.

After brief meetings with Reagan, four Republicans told reporters they would support the sale when it comes to a vote in the Senate next week. The Senate debate is scheduled to begin Tuesday and a vote is expected the next day.

The two most significant commitments came from Sens. Mack Mattingly of Georgia and Dan Quayle of Indiana. They met together with Reagan and then told reporters that his promise of written assurances on the issues of sharing AWACS data and the planes' security and maintenance had convinced them to vote for the sale.

The other commitments came from Sens. James Abdnor of South Dakota and John East of North Carolina, both of whom were regarded as likely backers of Reagan's position.

Texas Congressmen split on plane sale

Washington (AP) — Texas Congressmen were divided Wednesday in the House disapproval of aircraft sales to Saudi Arabia.

The House voted 301-111 against President Reagan's proposal that five E-3W AWACS aircraft and the F-15 enhancements be sent to Saudi Arabia.

The vote among the Texas delegation was 13 to ban the sale and 10 for it. One member, Jack Brooks, D-Beaumont, did not vote.

All five Texas Republicans voted against the proposal.

Support for the AWACS sale came from seven of the eight Texas members of the Conservative Democratic Forum — Phil Gramm of College Station, Sam Hall of Marshall, Kent Hance of Lubbock, Jack Hightower of Vernon, Marvin Leath of Marlin, Charles Stenholm of Stanford, and Richard White of El Paso. The eighth member — Rep. Ralph Hall of Rockwall — voted against the sale.

Also voting for the sale were Reps. Abraham Kazen of Laredo, Bill Patman of Ganado, and Charles Wilson of Lufkin.

Also voting against the proposed sale were Democrats Kika de la Garza of Mission, Martin Frost of Dallas, Henry B. Gonzalez of San Antonio, Mickey Leland of Houston, Jim Mattox of Dallas, Jake Pickle of Austin, and Jim Wright of Fort Worth.

The five Republicans who voted against the sale were Bill Archer of Houston, Jim Collins of Dallas, Jack Fields of Humble, Tom Loeffler of Hunt and Ron Paul of Lake Jackson.

Some schools able to process BEOG's

By CHRIS AMANTE
Writer for The Daily Cougar

Delays in processing Basic Education Opportunity Grant (BEOG) applications this semester have been blamed on staff cuts and a late payment schedule that was not received until mid-August, according to Kathleen Knolle, assistant director of Scholarships and Financial Aid.

Robert Sheridan, director of the Financial Aid Office, said his entire staff of "17 or 18" people worked on "nothing but" BEOG applications for two weeks.

The financial aid office at Stephen F. Austin State University used the tentative payment schedule published by the National Association of Financial Aid Administrators to determine the award payments made this semester, SFA Associate Director of financial aid Nancy Weyland said.

Grant money was available to SFA students at the start of registration on Aug. 27 after the office there processed 1,097 applications manually, Weyland said.

She said the office had "one full-time person working on that program." At certain times "we would have a second person, part-time." Some hours were put in by work-study students, she said.

According to Weyland, NASFAA is "usually very certain of information before they give it to us." When the final payment schedule did arrive, it was the same schedule published in the NASFAA bulletin, she said. In almost every case, NASFAA's tentative information has been correct, Weyland said.

UH is a member of NASFAA and the tentative schedule has been used in the past but this year it was not used, Provost George Magner said. Magner said he was not aware that any other Texas universities used the schedule this year.

Sam Houston State University manually processed over 1,000 BEOG applications. Jess Davis, director of SHSU's financial aid office, said the school received its payment schedule on Aug. 4, and students who qualified received their BEOG money by the start of the semester.

SHSU did not use the NASFAA tentative schedule. "We were just geared up and ready to assign payment," Davis said. One woman was assigned to work on the applications and Davis and an assistant helped.

Award payments were not delayed at the University of Texas at Austin because of a "sophisticated computer program that helped us make payments to students," Director Mike Novak said. The UT Office of Student Financial Aid received its copy of the payment schedule "around Aug. 1," he said.

Magner said, "We are far behind many institutions in the use of computers." Money has been put aside to develop data processing in admissions, financial aid and other student record areas, he said.

The university is considering programs developed by national companies or "we may develop our own," Magner said. "My guess is it is a couple of years away or more."

SFA students were responsible for bringing their Student Eligibility Reports to the financial aid office instead of having them mailed to the school as has been done.

Magner was asked about the possibility of setting up a system to the one at SFA. "What were the students' reactions?" They got their money on time. "Well, there's you, answer," he said.

Editorial

A pleasant change

A nice thing happened on this campus yesterday. Students and members of the UH community gathered peaceably in the Arbor of the University Center to participate in the Food Fair sponsored by the International Students' Association and the Program Council.

The political confrontations that marred the last fair were nowhere to be found. Instead, people had a good time, ate good food, and talked to each other rather than screamed at each other.

Given the recent political turmoil in Egypt, it was nice to see the issues could be kept out of the fair so people could participate in the true spirit of the event.

It was a pleasant change.

Letters

Abortion, take one

To the Editor:

This is in response to your letter concerning abortion which was in the 10-13-81 Cougar. Though I adamantly disagree with your basic stand on the issue, I did find a couple of statements with which I agree. Unfortunately, upon writing down the points you brought up with which I disagree, I found that I'd written five pages before I realized it.

Though hard for me to believe, I can accept the fact that you do not understand the controversy surrounding abortion, because there are people who, sadly, can see issues only as black or white. With regard to this particular issue, perhaps this view stems from the fact that you are male, and therefore will never have to worry about facing the dilemma posed to women by the question of abortion, and the trauma/responsibility accompanying the decision.

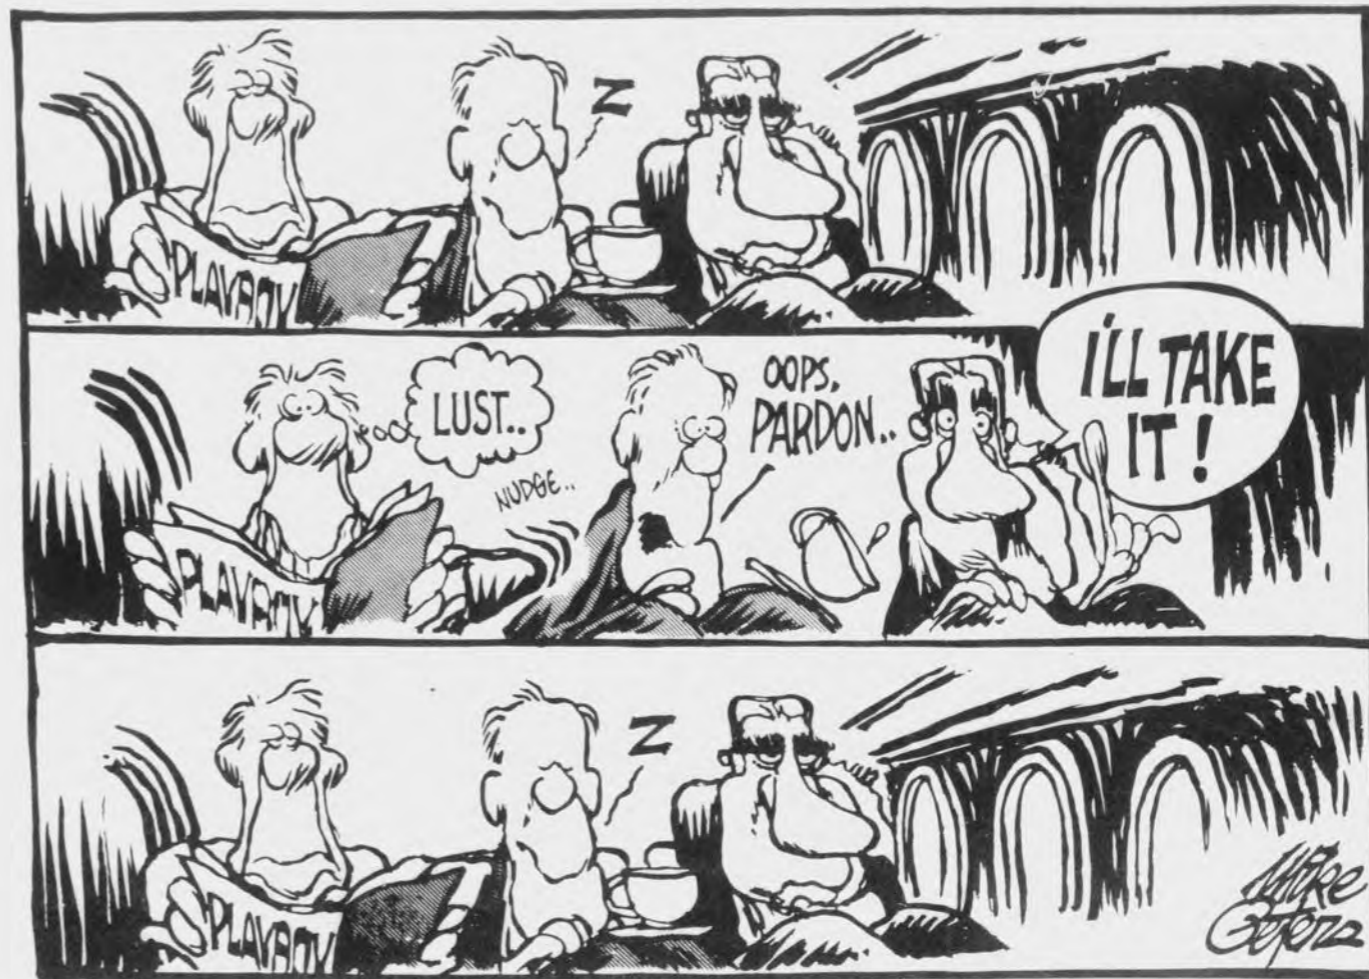

It made my day when you took it upon yourself to tell me my major problem. Your sincerity was truly touching, however, again we do not agree, because I cannot see NOT having the right to do what I want to with my body. THAT'S my major problem?? You should be so lucky.

I have no quarrel with the fact that you have an opinion and chose to express it. My disagreement came in conjunction with my realization of the fact that you sincerely believe that you are in the position to tell me what my major problem is — what I have and have not considered, what I see and don't see. I get the impression that since you see the issue as NO ABORTIONS. NO EXCEPTIONS; and I disagree with your opinion; I am therefore lumped into a nonexistent category of people who, in disagreeing with you, are assumed to be as adamantly pro, pro, pro as you are against. Because I support abortion in certain, individual cases is not to say that I think women should walk around with a hanger in their back pocket at all times.

Abortion is definitely not my answer to all pregnancy-related problems, however you must understand that there are many more factors to consider than solely the unborn child. There does not exist one magic answer to this question that would always be morally, legally, practically, and socially acceptable. It is a decision that I fervently hope I'll never have to face. Mr. Miranda, be thankful you won't ever have to.

Abortion, take two and more

To the Editor:

If this "Carlos Miranda" is serious, he is mentally disturbed. His self-righteous, open letter is the rationale of a rapist. His ignorant statements certainly don't help his cause, which is fine with me.

Is not the propositioner also to blame for the consequences if a woman does not say "no" to his suggestions? I guess not — in Miranda's world women are either dedicated brood cows or seductresses. I suggest that Miranda and others of his viewpoint be sterilized so that they'll have no deaths on their consciences, since they are accessories to the situation (unless they remain celibate). Plus, it would frustrate the fiendish plans of all those abortion-happy slatterns, wouldn't it? Miranda should also note that if abortions and rapes are a product of permissive society, there hasn't yet been a non-permissive society on this planet.

On a lighter note, the Financial Aid office should beware that the afternoon employees of the Satellite cafeteria are about to surpass them in incompetence.

Abortion, take three with final comments

To the Editor:

Regarding the "Fetuses are God's" letter of 10-13,:

I am one of millions of Americans who are "pro-choice," rather than "pro-abortion." This means that I prefer and support abortion as a choice to women, over the complete denial of it to women. I must agree absolutely with Mr. Miranda when he said he doesn't "know much about the whole thing," meaning the issue of abortion, and I think it's curious that someone who would probably call himself a "pro-life" person begins a letter with "dear Pro-abortionist: I say you are dead."

Corrections

In a story on page 1 of yesterday's Daily Cougar it was reported incorrectly that the Teaching Assistants, Teaching Fellows and Lecturers Association had joined the Texas United Faculties. The group actually joined the Texas Federation of Teachers.

The Cougar pleads guilty.

SMU's Dickerson and James will remember it well

By RICHARD BROWN
Sports Editor

It doesn't seem to matter that the SMU Mustangs are on NCAA-imposed probation and can't go to the Cotton Bowl this year. The probation seems to have sparked their desire to win, just to prove that they're better than the other teams.

The Ponies, undefeated after five games, are enjoying their best start since 1950. They lead the conference in total offense (419.6 yards per game) and rushing offense (321.6 yards), and are fifth nationally in scoring (39.6 points per game).

But if the Mad Dogs of Houston can close the gate on the pair primarily responsible for these totals, junior tailbacks Eric Dickerson and Craig James, the Cougars will have a hootin' homecoming for sure after Saturday's game.

Dickerson has been terrorizing opponents' secondaries with his rips up the turf this season. He is currently tied for second in total NCAA scoring with 12 touchdowns and leads the Southwest Conference in rushing with 703 yards on 125 carries, an average of 140.6 yards per game.

He has set a school record by knocking out over 100 yards for seven straight games, surpassing Doak Walker and Kyle Rote to move into fifth place in SMU career rushing with 2,108 yards.

James ranks third in the SWC with 556 yards on 116 carries, an 111.2 yard average, and has brought the ball into the endzone eight times.

The Mad Dogs, ranked fifth nationally against scoring with just 7.8 points allowed each game, in the past have made horsemeat of these studs of SMU's corral. Dickerson trotted out just three and 27 yards, while James hoofed gains of 11 and 18. The Cougars won both games, 37-10 and 13-11, giving UH a 4-2 lead in the series.

To shut out Dickerson and James this year, the Cougars will simply have to repeat the past.

"We will have to do all we can do trying to slow down that duo," UH Head Coach Bill Yeoman said. "We just cannot afford to give either one of those two a small crease or it is six points."

Junior nose guard Craig McGallion, who has made 22 total tackles this season, has heard all the hoopla on Dickerson and James, so he knows what to expect.

"We gave the big play up against Texas A&M and it killed us," McGallion said. "We can't afford to do that with SMU. James and Dickerson can do it all, so it's not like we don't know what is coming at us Saturday — a couple of guys who can run over you."

The Cougar charge, with sophomore quarterback Lionel Wilson leading the way, will have to contend with a Mustang defense that has held its opposition to 85.6 rushing yards and 12.6 points each game.

Wilson tops the Cougars in total offense with 754 yards, making him a prime target for the Ponies. Yeoman, though, wishes General Foods could develop a product that would help out his young quarterback.

"I wish I could pour hot water on him and he would have instant experience," Yeoman said, "but that is just not the way it is. That young man just needs to grab hold of something new every game."

When Wilson throws against SMU, he'll look for an open Lonell Phea or Mark Ford. Phea has made 19 receptions for 297 yards and Ford has 17 catches good for 241 yards and two touchdowns.

Wilson will also have keep an eye on SMU cornerback Russell Carter, who has returned five interceptions for 102 yards.

But if the past repeats itself in this game, Dickerson and James will be seeing Mad Dogs in their sleep.

Texas [4-0, 1-0 in SWC] at Arkansas [4-1, 1-1 in SWC]: This series dates back to 1894...Arkansas went from losing to TCU to beating Texas Tech 24-16, holding the Tech to -25 yards rushing...The winner of this one has won or shared the SWC title five of the last nine years...No. 1-ranked Texas leads the SWC in all three defensive categories, ranks fourth nationally in total defense and fifth in rushing defense...Hog quarterback Tom Jones, out with an injury since the TCU game, will start against the Longhorns...Texas has won eight of its last nine and 12 of the last 14 to take a 47-15 series lead, holding a 39-15 advantage in the SWC and 18-7 in games played in Arkansas — but the last four games have been decided by total of 20 points. Texas A&M [4-1, 2-0 in SWC] at Baylor [3-3, 1-2 in SWC]: Bears have beaten the Aggies three straight games but have never won four in a row...Aggies hold a 44-26-7 series lead...On defense, Aggies rank 11th nationally against the run at 92.8 yards per game, Bears are fourth in SWC pass defense at 167 per game...Four of the league's top 10 runners are in the contest — Aggies' Johnny Hector and Earnest Jackson rank fifth and sixth, Bears Walter Abercrombie and Dennis Gentry are seventh and 10th. Rice [2-3, 1-1 in SWC] at Texas Tech [1-4, 0-2 in SWC]: A Rice win would give the Owls their best start since 1967...Tech is suffering its worst SWC start since 1966...The series is knotted at 15-15-1, but Tech leads 7-4 in Lubbock and has won six straight since 1974...Rice surged from 15 points back to smash TCU 41-26, a week after the Frogs had beaten Arkansas...Bird quarterback Calhoun was the AP offensive player of the week...Tech defensive coordinator Jim Bates calls Calhoun "the best quarterback we have faced since I've been at Tech." Utah State [3-3] at TCU [2-3, 0-3 in SWC]: Utah State comes fresh off a 17-14 victory over Pacific while the Frogs try to rebound from a 41-28 thrashing by Rice...Stanley Washington, the nation's second leading pass receiver, suffered a broken rib in the Rice game.

Stokes improves average

Freshman punter Lonnie Stokes from Weatherford has settled down after being a little inconsistent over the first three games. He has averaged 43.3 yards on eight kicks in the past two games, and three of his punts have gone for more than 50 yards. Stokes' 42-yarder last Saturday against A&M took the Cougars out of bad field position in the third quarter.

Junior cornerback Butch LaCroix, a national leader in interceptions with five, says playing perfect against the Mustangs will win the games for the Cougars: "When you play against athletes like what SMU has, you can't afford to make any mistakes. You also can't afford to let them make you play their game. We have to set the tone Saturday night."

Freshman walk-on Mike Clendenon of LaPorte will handle the placements for the Cougars Saturday. Also, senior running back Eddie Wright will play after recovering from an ankle strain he sustained two weeks ago before the Baylor game. Wright has 212 yards rushing so far this season.

Senior right defensive end Leo

Truss has waited three seasons to start, and he is certainly taking advantage of the opportunity. Truss, third on the team in unassisted tackles with 29, was in on 10 tackles against the Aggies.

 tart

Our slightly naughty
 Margarita's a real sweet-tart.
 It's easy to get mixed up with
 'cause the liquor's already in it.
