GULF SETTLES

As you may have caught in this morning's news, Gulf Oil Company and OCAW have come to an agreement on terms of a settlement after some additional discussions through the weekend to clear up differences in final contract language. DPMC's scheduled Saturday meeting with OCAW Local 4-367 was cancelled since at that time OCAW still had not settled with a major oil company. Shell is now studying the terms of the Gulf/OCAW settlement. At this time, no meetings have been scheduled between DPMC and Local Union 4-367.

ST. PATRICK'S DAY

If you're wondering why so many insiders are wearing green today, it's because it's St. Patrick's Day--the perfect time to be Irish. In keeping with the spirit of the occasion, the folks in the cafeteria served up some mouth-watering corned beef and cabbage and Irish stew that was so authentically Irish it could've been flown in from Dublin. Rumor has it there were also a lot of shamrocks and leprechauns spied around the Complex. In case you want to continue celebrating, Wednesday is St. Joseph's (a patron saint of Poles and Italians we understand) Day. We understand the proper color for the occasion is red and the proper food to be served is Polish sausage.

RADIO REMINDER

A reminder from Maintenance: Using company radios without a manufacturer's tag or license number on the back is illegal. If you have such a radio, call Maintenance at 6621.

ANOTHER WINNER

J. R. Laws of the Inspection Department has won a Red D. Worker jacket, having scored with 849. Today's number, which was drawn by insiders at Engineering Support, is 022.

SAFETY TRAINING

Safety training remains a high priority item at the DPMC. Refresher courses in respirator training have been in full swing for weeks. As a result, only about 20 Refinery employees have not received the refresher training, with about 25 Chemical Plant employees awaiting the courses. Also concerning safety, six days of simulated fire training are scheduled to start at the Refinery on Monday, March 24.
