MAYOR HOFHEINZ ADDRESSES STUDENTS

HOUSTON'S PROBLEMS

Hofheinz cites progress

By DENNIS FRANCIS
Cougar Staff

In an attempt to appeal to the college voter, Mayor Fred Hofheinz fielded questions on subjects ranging from pay toilets to transportation at a collegiate press conference Thursday in City Hall.

Hofheinz spoke of the improvement in Houston's public transportation, citing the uniqueness of Houston in this area. "In two years," he said, "we can't remake a city designed around the automobile, but in two years we have made significant progress."

Vowing to continue this "improvement," he said the city will have 250 new buses next year to implement the "Park and Ride" program. He said more contra-flow bus lanes and high priority traffic lanes will be initiated.

"In order to get people out of their cars there must be an alternative," he said. The lowering of fares was done to make buses more attractive and not as a political move Hofheinz said.

In response to a question on single-member election districts he said Houston must have some form of single member elections. "We are in violation of federal law on this and we will have to change," he said. "Houston will have single member districts within two years."

But he stressed that the election of city council members by district, rather than city-wide, could hurt the inner city.

"I foresee that the council would be split five to three. The five members from the outer city would out vote the three members from the inner city everytime," he said.

This would in effect hurt the blacks, Chicanos, and poor who are most interested in trying to get the plan adopted, Hofheinz said.

He pointed out the uniqueness of Houston in comparison to the large cities of the east coast. "Houston is not a core city," he said. While Houston has as many poor people as Boston, it receives less than half the revenue-sharing funds of that city. "Houston is in effect being penalized for solving urban problems," he said.

He also spoke with pride about

Administrative powers major meeting topic

By ROBIN WRIGHT
Cougar Staff

The Texas College and University System Coordinating Board will meet at 9:30 a.m. today to consider revised rules and regulations under which Texas colleges and universities may obtain approval for construction of new facilities.

One of the main topics of the meeting will be whether the Coordinating Board has the authority to regulate the expenditure of funds in dealing with construction and rehabilitation projects proposed by institutions of higher education, or to consider costs as a factor in its approval or disapproval of proposed projects.

Texas Atty. Gen. John Hill has been asked to rule on the matter, but Cherry Griggin of the opinions division of the attorney general's office, said it will probably be a month or more before Hill will be able to give his opinion. "We have a large backlog of requests, and the nature of the question requires much research," she said.

The authority of the Coordinating Board has been under fire for the past two years. Alan Shivers of the University of Texas Board of Regents, said he has no intention of going to the Coordinating Board for approval. UT has begun plans for a new law school without submitting plans to the board.

Other major agenda items to be considered by the Board include:

- Requests from eight colleges and universities for endorsement of facilities construction and rehabilitation;
- Possible revision of the Coordinating Board policy paper on academic freedom, tenure and responsibility;
- Recommended rules to implement a new law designed to prevent operation of "degree mills" in Texas;

Board revises alcohol policy

By DARLA KLAUS
Cougar Staff

The UC Policy Board Thursday amended the alcohol policy adopted at its last meeting in order to clarify the hours mixed drinks could be served in the Coffeehouse.

The new policy specifies that the Coffeehouse may serve mixed drinks from 11 a.m. to 3 p.m. only with food purchases and from 3 p.m. to thirty minutes prior to closing with or without food service.

UH Pres. Philip G. Hoffman has not yet acted on the board's alcohol policy recommendation. According to UC Director William Scott, Dean of Students Harry Sharp presented the recommendation to Hoffman for consideration earlier this week.

"Hoffman has repeatedly said he would not like to see alcohol served on campus during primary instructional hours," Scott said.

The board also granted permission to the English Club to use the UC arbor for a book sale on Nov. 11. The profits of the sale are earmarked to help defray some of the expenses incurred when the husband of UH instructor Samye Cimerhanel was accidentally shot last year.

Several members of the board reported receiving some complaints about the removal of the jukebox from the Cougar Den. Chairman Rick Brass said the jukebox had been removed primarily because of complaints from Den customers about the excessive volume of the music.

Richard Gage, UC associate director, said the volume could be permanently set at an acceptable level.

Members of the board volunteered to survey Den customers regarding their feelings about whether they wanted the jukebox replaced. The board postponed action until its next meeting.

Scott reported receiving complaints from administrators regarding dirty silverware and dishes in the food service areas. A surprise inspection of the food service areas was made earlier this month by the UH health and safety department with the results of the inspection given to Mannings Inc. for action.

A second inspection by Scott and other administrators was made, and Scott reported cleaner conditions. He said most of the problems were due to a broken dishwasher in the cafeteria.

The board approved a request from the health and physical education department to use the bowling lanes in the UC from 12 to 1 p.m. for bowling classes beginning in the spring semester.

HPE currently uses these bowling lanes from 8 a.m. to 12 p.m. for classes. The approval is for one semester pending student reaction.

Computer fouls up

A malfunction of UH's computer system has resulted in a delay in issuance of financial aid checks until Oct. 27, the Office of Scholarships and Financial Aid announced Wednesday.

The office must now make a request for the checks to be produced through the university's accounting office on a manual system.

Students who anticipate needing funds for living expenses prior to Oct. 27 may apply for an emergency loan in the financial aid office.

Arrests given new meaning

By THE IRANIAN STUDENT ASSOCIATION

On Sept. 26, dozens of Houston policemen arrested 124 members and supporters of the Iranian Student Association while they protested peacefully downtown. Aside from the fact that arrests of this many Iranian students are rare, the actions of the police find much more significance once the reasons behind the incident are made clear.

Having to pay food prices as high as those in New York City, on a wage scale which even the Iranian regime's propagandists admit to be no more than $2.20 for a 12 to 14 hour workday (Tehran Economist, July 20, 1974), the Iranian working class suffers under ruthless exploitation. In Iran, strikes are illegal. Anyone taking part in one may receive three to 10 years imprisonment. For those who are more active, a life sentence is imposed, and those who organize or lead strikes are handed over to the firing squad. Why is this?

Shah exploits

The Shah of Iran, who owes his crown to a 1953 CIA-led coup (San Francisco Examiner, Feb. 16, 1975), has constantly tried to provide big U.S. corporations with cheap labor to gain profits. For this reason, the regime of the Shah has resorted to any and all methods to drive down wages, while intensifying its exploitation of the Iranian working class. This was true for the 2,000 workers of Shahi Textile Mills, which has gone on strike to get a few pennies more a day. The regime's answer to the demands for higher pay was: bloody repression. Sixteen workers were murdered and several hundred wounded. Is it not the height of treachery when, with $20 billion annual oil income, the fascist Shah shoots unarmed workers?

The Iranian government has been receiving $20 billion a year from the plunder of the country's rich natural oil resources. The money has been spent, and not one penny was used to better the living conditions of the oppressed people of Iran. $24 million was spent on arms (Newsweek) and the rest was handed to other reactionary countries in order to bolster U.S. economic and political interests throughout the world. This was done to draw these countries more and more towards the U.S. corporations who own the Iranian government.

One party system

Early in March 1975, the Shah announced that Iran would be adopting a "one party system" with compulsory membership for all. Membership requires adherence to the three principles of the Monarchy, the "White Revolution" and the Constitution. In short, everyone was told to either openly approve of their exploitation, or to prepare for even more repression.

It has become rather common these days for the U.S. and European media to call the fascist Franco regime in Spain a right-wing dictatorship because it has murdered five patriots in recent weeks, which brings its total executions in the last decade to 12. The Iranian regime has executed more than 260 patriots in the last three years and has tortured to death at least 12 individuals. The Iranian jails are filled with more than 40,000 political prisoners constantly tortured; and those outside the prison are not having it much better. In fact, the Shah recently announced that anyone opposed to the Monarchy will face either life imprisonment or death!

When ISA members and supporters try to point out these and other fascist measures the Iranian government has taken, the police attack our organizations and arrest the ISA-24! The Houston police claim to be enforcing the law. Have they forgotten that freedom of speech or assembly is supposed to be a part of the very same law? It seems only those who support the fascist Iranian government are "free" to voice their opinion.

The Houston Police have shown to all that they do not defend the people; instead they are there to protect big-business, the oil companies and their Third World reactionary puppets like the Shah. If the Houston police had been after the real criminals, they would have long ago arrested those who are carrying out such bloody repression: the big U.S. monopolies and their lackey, the Shah.

We appeal to all freedom-loving, working people of America to condemn the repressive actions of the Houston Police and demand that the charges against the ISA-124 be dropped. We further demand that harassment of Iranian students be stopped.

Editor's note: The Iranian Student Association is a recognized campus organization.

EDITORIAL

Foot in the door

Is the preliminary report of the Steering Committee for Mission Self-Study underplaying the importance of the undergraduate student?

How will the proposed enrollment ceiling affect the enrollment of minority students?

Will there, in fact, be a more comprehensive screening and evaluation of instructors?

These questions, and many others, must be asked and answered.

Thankfully, the sparks are beginning to fly. The Faculty Senate Wednesday took a few well-placed steps toward seeing the self-study report doesn't wing past the university unscathed when it questioned several segments it felt improperly phrased or wholly inadequate. It also brought up the justifiable idea that the faculty should play a much greater part in future university decision-making.

But let's carry that assertion one step further. Or rather, about 30,000 steps further. Let's include students in that decision-making. Yes, we already have some say-so, but not where it really matters: in course material, course emphasis, the evaluation of instructors, etc. Students have been too long overlooked in these, and other, important areas and some changes are in order.

But wait. With that kind of responsibility goes, well, certain responsibilities: like researching the problems; like paying a little attention to the education you buy; like showing you're not going through college with your eyes closed. If you do that, maybe you get your voice.

No, that voice doesn't come easy; just ask the Faculty Senate. Underlings usually have to shout to be heard by upper echelon ears, but the first echoes of that shouting can be heard through your comments and criticisms regarding the preliminary self-study report. If you want a share of the decision-making, you're going to have to show you want it badly enough to work for it.

Yes, the report is long and grey. Yes, it's hard reading. But fear not. Beginning Tuesday, the Cougar will publish a series of articles summarizing the report which will place at your fingertips its major points. You can take this synopsis with you when you attend the first of the open hearings on the report from 1 to 3 p.m. Oct. 21 and 22 in the fine Kiya Room of Farrish Hall.

The document, all 24 pages and 40,000 words of it, is a perfect example of what a committee can produce when it puts its mind to it. But don't look upon it as a chore. Look upon it as a chance for the students and faculty to get their feet in the door that opens into the room where the decisions are made. —T.C.

FEEDBACK

Get your facts straight

By TERRI ENGEL MOFFITT

In response to Phillip Hall's Oct. 14 letter about the lack of "show" in UH halftimes, I would like to give some facts about the Cougar Band and the Cougar Dolls.

A large part of the cheers and enthusiasm generated at Cougar football games starts with the Cougar Band. The Cougar Band enjoys good relationships with the athletic department, the cheerleaders, and other university departments—this is not true of many bands at other schools.

At the North Texas State game halftime, the UH band received a standing ovation which began in the middle of the NTSU student section. This is quite a compliment, considering the NTSU band received no such reception. And in the last few minutes of this game, the band was still cheering enthusiastically, even though the score was 28-0. As for our Cougar Dolls, they are a precision dance team whose techniques have been imitated in nine states, as well as in two foreign countries. If you want to see girls who shake, I suggest you try a lounge.

The SMU band, of which you think so highly, exhibits a type of enthusiasm which UH would not want to be associated with—poor sportsmanship. Before the SMU game, several SMU band members broke into the UH band annex and stole instruments which were returned after the game—damaged.

The Cougar Band and Cougar Dolls have performed in many states and at many schools and have always left a tradition of enthusiasm, good sportsmanship, and professionalism behind them. There is not one place where they would not be welcome to return—this is not true of some of the other Texas bands you mentioned. Furthermore, the Cougar Band has achieved a level of excellence and showmanship which is copied by many and equalled by none.

Mr. Hall, I suggest you check your facts before you draw any more conclusions. Ask any Cougar Band member why he is in the band and he will tell you it is a matter of pride. We believe in what we're doing and in what we're contributing to this school. I have loved every minute of my four years in the Cougar Band because I know that we're second to none!

Editor's note: Moffitt is captain of the Cougar Dolls.

Officials contradict Briscoe

Austin, Tex. (AP)—Five top state officials and former Supreme Court Chief Justice Robert W. Calvert replied Thursday to Gov. Dolph Briscoe's opposition to the new state constitution.

"Briscoe simply was wrong on several of his points," Calvert said, "including the notion that the new charter would somehow allow appellate judges to be appointed rather than elected."

Atty. Gen. John Hill said he would have preferred that Briscoe "would have spared us from generalities of inaccuracies." He said Briscoe merely used "phrases" when he talked of weakening "checks and balances" and when he said the new document would be subject to "endless court tests."

"I can prove from the record we're having a lot of court tests today," Hill said. The present constitution "is so long, such a patchwork, such a hodgepodge" that most state officials who seek his opinion on problems "don't even know that a constitutional question faces them."

Also speaking in favor of the new constitution at the joint Capitol news conference were Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby, Land Commissioner Bob Armstrong and Court of Criminal Appeals Judges Truman Roberts and Wendell Odom.

Calvert said Speaker Bill Clayton and Supreme Court Chief Justice Joe Greenhill wanted to be there but had other commitments.

Hobby said Sen. Oscar Mauzy, (D-Dallas,) who previously has publicly opposed the judiciary article of the new charter, telephoned him and said he "now fully supports all of the articles and will campaign for them."

Mauzy had switched "because of the governor's statement," Hobby said.

Calvert added, "He (Mauzy) said if this was going to be a shotgun deal, all or nothing, he would support it."

Briscoe opposed all eight propositions on the ballot at a Tuesday news conference.

BOARD

• A proposed priority list for projects to be funded under the Title I (HEA 1965) Community Service and Continuing Education Program; and,

• A recommended core curriculum for the agricultural sciences.

The eight institutions seeking Board endorsement of facilities construction at this meeting are: Texas A&M University, Texas A&I University, Texas Southern University, North Texas State University, Tarleton State University, South Plains College, San Antonio Union College District, and Stephen F. Austin University.

The board has received 79 proposals from 37 institutions.

Slavery series begins

A series of three lectures will be presented at UH Oct. 23 and 24 by the co-author of Time on the Cross, a controversial book on slavery in the United States.

Dr. Stanley L. Engerman, professor of economics and history at the University of Rochester, will give the lecture series sponsored by the UH Department of Economics.

The first session, "Time on the Cross and its Critics," will be presented at 2:30 p.m. Oct. 23 in room 116, Science and Research building.

The lectures continue with "United States and West Indian Slavery: A Comparison," at 10 a.m. Oct. 24 in the Pacific Room, UC.

"The Economics of Reconstruction: An Analysis of the Post Civil War South," will conclude the series at 2 p.m. Oct. 24 in room 116, Science and Research Building.

Solar workshop set

A two-day workshop, "New Horizons in Solar Heating and Cooling," will be held Dec. 15 and 16 at UH.

The workshop will deal with all uses of solar heating and cooling in Houston and the Gulf Coast area, according to Dr. John R. Howell, program manager for solar heating and cooling at the UH Solar Energy Laboratory.

Speakers at the workshop will include faculty from the Colleges of Architecture, Engineering and Law, as well as representatives from the Solar Energy Lab, outside agencies and other universities.

Three hundred representatives of the construction industry, building trades, lending institutions and architects are expected to attend the session held in the Continuing Education Center.

the growth of the Houston Police Department. The mayor cited figures for the increase in recruitment of officers and the crime rate for the city.

He said many of the problems with law enforcement stem from the "neglect" of previous administrations. Asked if the morale problem in the police department was solved he said, "I don't acknowledge that there was ever a morale problem."

By GARY CULPEPPER
Cougar Staff

The UH custom photo laboratory completed its move this week into a 12-room complex in the basement of the M.D. Anderson Memorial Library, Edwin G. Gyger, chief photographer, said Wednesday.

The laboratory, part of UH Audiovisual Productions, now occupies the old computer science classrooms. "Remodeling is nearly complete," Gyger said. "Four new developing sinks and a color-slide processing system are being installed this week."

The new laboratory is equipped with three darkrooms, two of which are now in use. Other new equipment includes a $1,500 table-mounted copy camera similar to the one used before the lab moved from its old two-room quarters on the first floor of the library.

The laboratory staff has been increased from two to five persons, including Ed Lawrence, assistant photographer. A recent UH communications graduate, Lawrence was the first photographer on the scene of last spring's Alfred Shen shooting. His photos of the incident were carried by the Associated Press.

One full-time lab assistant and two part-time students help process up to 50 custom orders per week. Much of the lab's work involves reproduction of graphs and maps for doctoral dissertations. "Orders for slide reproductions of several hundred are not uncommon," Gyger, who has run the AVP photo section since 1961, said.

He added that all of the equipment from the old lab has been saved and is still in use. The new lab is capable of producing anything from a retouched 35-mm slide to a four by eight-foot photographic mural.

The new lab also handles portraits and group shots of conventions and organizations on campus. A large classroom at the lab's end will later be used as a videotape production studio, Gyger said.

Gyger added the custom lab's new quarters are only temporary. When the M.D. Anderson Library's new wing is completed in two years the laboratory will move with the administrative and electronic sections of Audio-Visual Productions into the floor space of the library basement now occupied by the science stacks.

The new laboratory is not yet equipped to handle color prints, Gyger said. Students and faculty with film to be processed should bring their orders to the audiovisual administrative offices in room 2, library basement.

MARIONETTE MITCHELL, journalism senior and Houstonian staff member, is photographed by Stevens Studio photographer Dave Berg. Houstonian editor Karen Tate said the portrait-taking might end this week due to lack of student interest. If more students don't call or come by, Tate said, the photographer will leave several days early.

Ceramics exhibitions move into final week

For persons interested in sculpture and ceramic work, this week is the final opportunity to observe the works of two outstanding Houston artists whose works are on display in the Gallery in the UC Expansion.

The artists featured are Jim Allen, UH senior art major, and Rick Redd, a UH graduate now doing post-graduate work at East Texas State University.

Allen's displayed works include 40 pieces, featuring pots and functional structural ceramics.

Redd's works consist of sculptural ceramics. Redd works in 20 sculptural media, including bronze, stone, wood, stuffed fabric, sterling silver and brass.

After this week the Gallery will not feature any particular artist's works for several weeks. However, individual pieces by several artists will be displayed.

Club sponsors wine taste

Trespassing trial draws to end

Robert Beckles, the TSU law student charged with evading arrest while allegedly trespassing on the UH campus last April, still has one more day in court.

Beckles' trial on charges of evading arrest is set for Friday in Harris County Criminal Court.

The charges for trespassing were dismissed earlier this month because no one could define what constituted university grounds, Beckles' attorney, Pete Williamson, said Wednesday.

Beckles, who said he was on campus to visit a friend at Moody Towers, allegedly ran when approached by UH security officers and a chase ensued in which one of the officers was injured when he rammed his hand through a glass door.

Beckles was subsequently charged with assaulting a police officer in addition to the trespassing and evading arrest charges.

The charges for assaulting a police officer were dismissed in a hearing on May 27, Williamson said.

Williamson said.

The ACU-I Regional 12 Air Hockey Tournament will be held today and Saturday in the Satellite beginning at 2 p.m., Dick Gage, associate director of the UC, said.

Participants in this tourney will be winners of past air hockey tournaments held earlier this semester on college campuses in Arkansas, Louisiana and Texas. All participants must register between 8 a.m. and 12 p.m. today in the Satellite, Gage said.

Robert Mitchell (TCU), the Regional 12 ACU-I recreation coordinator will be in charge of Friday's tourney. "Spectators are more than welcome," Gage said. "Come on over and watch for a while. We know everyone will have a good time."

UH participants will be Chester Sawyer and Robert Poppenhusen, first and second place winners of the ACU-I Camps Air Hockey Tournament held Sept. 17 in the Satellite. They will be competing with the other participants for an all-expense paid trip to New York City to compete in the National ACU-I Finals, to be held at the Statler Hilton.

"All national finalists will receive awards, uniforms and merchandise," Gage explained. "Scholarship awards of $5,000, $1,000 and $500 will be given to the college scholarship fund of the champion, runner up and third-place finishers' schools, respectively," Gage continued.

Jerry Dooling, manager of the Satellite, invites people not only to come and watch the air hockey tourney but also to come and use the Satellite's game facilities.

"We have all types of indoor sports here for students to enjoy. There are pool tables, pinball machines, chess, checker and backgammon boards, foosball, shuffleboard and of course air hockey," Dooling said. "It's a relaxing place to come between classes or at the end of a hectic day. Besides," he added, "it's a great place to meet new friends."

Handicapped not restrained; enjoys swimming, camping

By BOB TUREAUD

"We're really just like other people. We have to readjust our way of doing things, that's all," Karen Scott, one of the 125 physically handicapped UH students, said. Scott is a resident of Moody Towers and majoring in elementary education. She was referring to the day-to-day routine in the life of UH handicapped students.

"People are a little reluctant to open doors or do things for us because they think it offends our sense of independence," Karen said. "Actually, we appreciate little courtesies like everyone else."

She said it was probably the chair that put people off. "Once they overcome this fear, they are quite surprised to discover we're real people. Most of us are very willing to discuss our disability too, so that need not be a source of awkwardness."

Chair students don't stay at home either. Karen enjoys swimming, camping and going to the beach. One of her handicapped friends recently went on a rubber raft river expedition.

It's a little difficult to get around off campus unless you have a van equipped with special hand controls, but there are several companies which specialize in this form of transport. However, the trouble is cost. A trip downtown, for instance, costs $6, a princely sum to most students.

"I have an old '63 Chevy van," Karen said, "but I can't afford to have the special controls fitted yet, so I am dependent on someone to take me around when I want to go off campus—at least for right now."

Karen is president of the UH Organization for the Handicapped, a group formed last fall to promote understanding and interaction with other students. "We have outings and parties. One weekend about 10 of us went shopping at Almeda Mall; we just loaded up the vans and really had a fantastic time."

"We also take new chair students around campus to familiarize them with the location of ramps and curb cuts," she said. The UH Department of Facilities and Planning has been very receptive in this area; they are planning to lower the elevator controls to make them reachable by chair students. "It's pretty frightening to be stuck in an elevator because you can't reach the buttons and no one else is around to push them for you. You just sit there," Karen said.

One of Karen's favorite organizations is the UH Tutorial Project, a volunteer group which tutors youngsters with learning problems. Tutoring is on a one-to-one basis, with each instructor taking a child and working closely with him or her. We go on outings, eat together and learn together. Through this process the child's feeling of hopelessness is replaced with a more positive attitude conducive to further learning.

Karen grew up in Florida and later moved to El Paso when her father, a hospital administrator, was transferred there. On a business trip to Houston he toured the UH campus and recommended it to her. "I came here two years ago and really love it. Everyone is so friendly," she smiled.

Working for the present; planning for the future. Isn't that just like us?

Silkscreen classes set

Classes in photo silkscreen printing will be offered beginning Nov. 4, in the Crafts Shop in the UC Expansion. The class will be held each Tuesday from 1 to 2:30 p.m. through Dec. 9.

There is a $20 fee for UH students, faculty and staff. The fee for others is $30. An additional $20 will be needed to cover the costs of materials.

The newest addition to the women's expanding athletic department is the swimming team. Coach Phil Hansel gives credit for the implementation of the team to Dr. Sue Garrison, women's athletic director.

There are twelve women already working out at the Melcher pool. Coach Hansel is pleased with the turnout, but would indeed like more participants.

There are no specific qualifications for team membership except that one must be an undergraduate and the rest is left up to Coach Hansel. Workouts are from 5 to 6 p.m., Monday through Friday, but as the competition begins and the women get into condition practice time will increase. "So far Coach Hansel said, "the women have

The first swim meet that UH women's team will participate in will be the UH Invitational Nov. 22. There are four divisions of competition: the butterfly stroke, breast stroke, freestyle and the back stroke.

Coach Hansel is entering his fourth year as the men's swimming coach. He has resided in Houston for the past 17 years. "We just started the women's swimming team and we need more interest from students as well as participation. We are not asking for super-swimmers," he said.

Slumping Cougars face Hurricanes

By BRIAN WICE
Asst. Sports Editor

If the University of Houston Cougars hope to get back on the winning track tonight against the winless Miami Hurricanes, they'd better hope history isn't in the mood to repeat itself.

It was exactly ten years ago that a hapless Cougar gridiron squad got off to a disastrous start by dropping three of their first four contests to Tulsa, Mississippi State, and Texas A&M with just a solitary victory coming at the expense of the Cincinnati Bearcats.

But optimism reigned supreme when the 1-3 Coogs met an apparently hapless Miami team with an equally mediocre 1-3 record in the confines of the Orange Bowl. Unfortunately for the optimists, as well as the Coogs, the Hurricanes took their frustrations out on their Texas rivals and rolled up their biggest point total of the year to UH a 44-12 shellacking.

Now a decade later, the situation is almost exactly the same. Houston once again takes a lackluster 1-3 record into Sun City and the Hurricanes, a la 1965, have hit rock bottom with a perfect 0-4 campaign. But the Hurricanes might very well be the best winless team in the country, a fact not lost on Head Coach Bill Yeoman and company.

The quartet of Miami losses have come at the hands of Georgia Tech, Nebraska, Colorado, and Oklahoma, whom the Hurricanes fought gamely till the final seconds before the Sooners barely escaped with a 20-17 victory. All told, the Hurricanes have faced four nationally-ranked elevens with a composite record of 16-2 while the Coogs have gone up against a foursome with a combined track record of 8-12.

Kary Baker, a 6-2, 190 lb. senior is the field general of the Hurricanes, who came into his own according to Miami Head Coach Carl Selmer during last season's Houston upset. Running out of the I formation, Baker will be handing off to either 5-11, 170 lb. Tim Morgan or tough-running Larry Bates, who boasted 5.7 yards every time he touched the ball last season.

The Canes have a trio of long-ball threats in wide receivers Mike Latimer, Phil August and tight end Charlie Claud as well as speed-burner Mike Adams whose brilliant over-the-shoulder catch almost turned the tide in the heartbreaking loss to Oklahoma.

On defense, the Hurricanes lost All-Everything Rubin Carter, one of the finest nose-guards in Miami history, but John McGriff, Eddie Edwards, and Steadman Scavella anchor a Hurricane front line that averages over 235 lbs.

The Miami linebacking trio is led by Greg Wallick and Craig Cosden while the defensive secondary, which has picked opposing quarterbacks clean for four interceptions is anchored by Plainville, Conn. native Jeff Palmer, a 6-1, 190 lb. junior.

Chris Dennis, who is in the Top Ten nationally in field goal kicking, added his sixth of the year last week against Colorado and is a proven threat anywhere inside the forty. Oddly enough, Dennis' understudy is 5-11 Brian Selmer, son of Miami Head Coach and former Nebraska assistant Carl Selmer.

As far as the Canes are concerned, the Houston contest falls at just about the right time, what with four opening games against the likes of Colorado, Nebraska, Oklahoma, and Georgia Tech. And it doesn't get any easier for Miami as Boston College, Notre Dame, and Florida are three of the Hurricanes second-half opponents.

And the oddsmakers seem to agree that the Canes will finally get a chance to fatten themselves up, making the Cougars anywhere from eighteen to twenty-four point underdogs.

BATES

History seems to say that such a point spread is entirely ludicrous but logic, and the results of the 1975 season seem to say otherwise.

BUBBA BREAKS FREE. . .UH quarterback Bubba McGallion (1) eludes two Rice defenders while halfback Alios

Blackwell (32) throws a key block. McGallion will be counted on heavily in tonight's contest against the Hurricanes.

Marti, a senior and Stark, a sophomore, dominated the first round of play Tuesday but could not continue their winning trend Wednesday. The second round was postponed Wednesday because of heavy rains on the par-72 course.

Other scores in the tourney for the Cougars include: Mike Klein, 76 and John Booker, 79.

Steve Whiteside finished in third place after the first round Wednesday. The Texas A&M junior shot a 75.

Soccer squad meets rugged Aggies

AZIZ ON THE MOVE—Aziz Khannifar, Cougar left-winger will play an important role in tomorrow's game with Texas A&M.

By RICHARD DEAN
Sports Staff

The undefeated UH soccer team will face two tough challenges this weekend in their bid to repeat as league champions. UH will host Texas A&M for "Homecoming" this Saturday afternoon at 2:00 at Little Jeppesen and then travel to Beaumont Sunday for an encounter with Lamar University.

The defending state champions are currently 4-0 this season and riding high on a 15 game winning streak. The Cougars have defeated Lamar, Rice, Stephen F. Austin, and Texas A&M by outscoring their opponents 26 goals to 2.

UH is first place in the Southeast division of the Texas Collegiate Soccer League ahead of second place Texas A&M. "The Aggies are a highly improved ball club and the Cougars should be prepared for a tough game," Bob Reeder, student adviser to the soccer team, said yesterday.

In the past the Cougars have relied mainly on a strong defensive team. This year the offense has been upgraded with the hiring of Bill Psifides. Psifides is a professional soccer player from Greece.

The Cougars are blessed with many fine outstanding freshmen to provide depth. Among these are forwards George Wood and Marcello Rosen, Goalie Eric Nielson, and fullbacks Dennis Arens and Joe Araujo. The future looks bright as UH is trying to build a competitive team year in and year out.

Presentations of trophies will be made at half-time of the University of Houston-Texas A&M game to those Houston athletes who made the 1974 All-State Team. Those receiving awards are Ali Shafizadeh, Jaime Ledergerber, Peter Cordo, Edwin Pereira, and Edward Araujo.

Students with athletic ticket booklets will be admitted without charge to the contest. Mannings food service at the UC Cafeteria is donating free tickets. Anyone going through the UC Cougar Den line will receive a free ticket

The UH's biggest test of the year is coming up November 15 of next month against SMU. The Mustangs are ranked No. 7 by the NCAA poll are so far this season undefeated.

PC's 'Fair For All' brings Van Zandt, full day of fun

By CHERYL GERSCH
Cougar Staff

In the tradition of "Strawberry Friedae," "A Life in the Day" and "Cheap Thrills," Program Council's (PC) Fall "Fair for All" presents a wide variety of well-known talent from the Houston area.

"We've sampled innumerable acts to come up with what we thought was representative of popular music of interest to the UH campus," Mark Johnson, PC Entertainment Committee chairperson, said.

Townes Van Zandt headlines today's show. Van Zandt, who has recently played the Old Quarter and Liberty Hall, has the unique ability to grab an audience's attention and hold it throughout his performance.

In the progressive jazz mode, the Fair For All begins at noon today in Lynn Eusan Memorial Park across from the UC with the UH Jazz Ensemble under the direction of John Parks.

Bubba Thomas, another jazz oriented band also performs. Thomas, the leader and drummer of the group which bears his name, has recently released a new album.

The High Time Octet, seen at the "Cheap Thrills" fair last spring, again performs their good time, foot-stomping hot licks.

Dramboui, of UH Coffeehouse and Anderson's Fair Retail Restaurant fame, has recently added a percussionist to form a quartet. They sing high-flying harmonies on their original material and blend accoustical arrangements of popular music into their act.

Wild Wood, a commercial club band currently playing at the Rail Head Restaurant, adeptly performs almost anything from the Beatles to Linda Ronstadt. The exuberant personalities of the four-piece band come through with well choreographed sets.

Van ZANDT

LionHart, seen locally at Damian's Club, performs original and contemporary rock music, complemented by a light show. Formerly of Nairobi, Gary McClatchy is an extremely inventive percussionist and vocalist. Jon Wesley, formerly of Saturnalia, plays rhythm guitar and sings. Also from Saturnalia, vocalist Craig Bransfield, is an organized and ruthless perfectionist on lead guitar. Don Hubbard, on bass guitar and vocals, is a former member of Nairobi and helps to bring the group into musical significance. LionHart has released a new single entitled "Find Your Own Way Home."

Johnson explained PC's goals for the Fair.

"We are trying to have a good variety of music," he said. "The committee has tried to incorporate talent which would interest different cultural groups on campus."

Greasy Fingers and El Groupa Libre were chosen for this reason. Greasy Fingers performs commercial "Top Forty" rock and roll with a Latin twist. El Groupa Libre performs original Chicano music. Their singles have reached the top of the charts on Chicano stations throughout the Southwest. The group's hard Chicano sounds add flavor to soul, rock and country material. The band performs at the Stardust Ballroom and the Pan American Ballroom in Houston and has been a featured act on Channel 39's "Henry Pena" and "Carlos Garcia" shows.

"These very diverse styles of music complement the format of this fall's fair," Johnson explained. "All of the bands were given the Entertainment Committee Beer Drinking Contest to ensure that their music goes down well, chased with plenty of beer."

DOC SEVERINSEN is another of the many stars in the gala Nov. 1 benefit, Heart to Heart, which officially opens The Summit, Houston's new entertainment and sports arena in Greenway Plaza.

Crowd taken in by Labelle's strong soul

By HUGH RAGIN

Take a little gospel, rhythm and blues, hard rock and two soulful drummers. Add three female vocalists dressed like birds from another planet, and what do you get? LABELLE!

Labelle generated so much excitement at the Music Hall Wednesday night the audience gave them a standing ovation after the second number. With the remaining set and a second set left to go, the intensity of the show never ceased.

Formerly known as Patti Labelle and the Bluebelles, the group had two hits: "Down the Aisle" and "I sold my Heart to the Junkman."

In 1969, the group began to change their musical direction. With this change the group had a small crowd of regular followers in New York, but the group wanted a national hit that would reach everybody. They did it with their million-seller album Nightbirds and their million-seller single "Lady Marmalade."

At the concert the audience could sense Patti Labelle enjoyed what she was doing. In the second set she kicked off her shoes, rolled on the floor, persuaded people from the audience to come on stage and dance and had the band and group parade through the audience while the audience clapped in time. The vocal group finally left the stage by ascending beyond visibility.

Back up singers Sarah Dash and Nona Hendryx put the icing on the cake. Hendryx writes most of the tunes and takes credit for "Messin' With My Mind" which is currently in the top twenty all over the nation.

"Nobody follows Labelle" is the Epic label promotional slogan, and the group lived up to every word.

By LILA WATERS

IN THE SPOTLIGHT this weekend is the opening of Kerygma Players' production of the off-beat comedy "Tell Me That You Love Me, Junie Moon." Performances will be tomorrow and Saturday at Collins Methodist Church, corner of Eleventh and Harvard in the Heights. Starring are Ginger Bull, Ron Jones and Doug Holmes. Tickets are $1.75 at the door.

MUCH OF HOUSTON will be glued to their television sets this Friday (Channel 13, 8 p.m.) for the first television showing of "The Thief Who Came to Dinner." It was filmed here in Houston and many of our citizens, including communications professor Dr. Hawes, had "extra" parts in it. Starring is Ryan O'Neal.

IN THE WINGS at the Autrey House's Main Street Theatre is "Bad Habits," a pair of one-act plays. All the action takes place in a sex therapy clinic. Starring are Mimi Holloway and Susie Bielstein as Nurses Benson and Hedges, UH HPE instructor Brian Curry and Ira Black, KLIF announcer. Featured in the cast is Jose Montalbo of the UH Spanish department, and directing is Cash Tilton. "Bad Habits" will play for two weekends, opening Oct. 23.

OPENING NIGHT for Channing Players production of "Heartbreak House" is Friday night, curtain time 8:30, at First Unitarian Church, 5210 Fannin. It will play through Oct. 25. This is an interesting comedy-drama by George Bernard Shaw, directed by Carolyn Woodside.

VAUDEVILLE and the wild and woolly West will be combined when the Alley Theatre opens with "Indians" Oct. 23. The Alley is really going all out on this one.

"HAPPY BIRTHDAY PRODUCTIONS," the New Orleans-based outfit that sent out the press release we mentioned last week (the movie to be filmed in Houston) seems to have been a farce. People have sent resumes to the address given and they've been returned marked "no such address." BUT, Ross Hunter is planning to shoot his new film "The Money Changers" here in Houston in February. It's to be a film shot for television, based on Arthur Hailey's successful book.

WANT TO LEASE A THEATRE? It seats 700 and the stage is about 35 feet across, but it's pretty run-down and needs a lot of fixing. It's the old St. Agnes Academy at Cleburne and San Jacinto about three blocks from Leows Delman. If interested phone Mike Friedman at 529-4777.

OPENING this weekend and playing through Nov. 2 at the

What's after Who

Famed British rock group The Who will set two "firsts" in Houston Nov. 20.

That date marks the beginning of an extensive American tour for the group, Houston being their only Texas appearance. It also initiates the "Rock at the Summit" series at the new multi-million dollar sports and entertainment facility at Greenway Plaza. Tickets go on sale Nov. 1.

With all the other entertainment around and Who coming, What's next?

cast as the lead in the film being shot in Dallas entitled "Drive-In."

WATCH FOR THE GRAND OPENING of Steve Winberly's new restaurant "Elmer Gantry" on the corner of Ralph and Westheimer. It's in an old red brick church building. Steve and his friend Jim Brown are doing the renovating themselves. It will be decorated plushly, with the feel of a pre-prohibition saloon, will feature seafood and will open in about one month.

PLAYING Oct. 28 through Nov. 1 at Houston Baptist University's Denham Hall is HBU's production of "Spoon River Anthology." Curtain is at 8 p.m. One of the featured players is Debbie Prihoda, who won "Best Texas Actress" in competition last year.

HAVE YOU HEARD ABOUT THE "AQUABEARS" IN L.A.? Joey LeBourgeois will give the inside story this Saturday on Channel 39 a little after 9 a.m. What are "aquabears?" Tune in and find out!

Birth Control and Your Independence

You are young, but mature enough to make your own decisions. You know that sexual activity without birth control may result in pregnancy. Maybe you're not ready for that.

Selecting a birth control method is a responsibility, but your independence permits it. What if you are one who can't take the pill... or you simply don't want to. What then?

We suggest the BECAUSE® CONTRACEPTOR™—a sensible alternative to the pill. Six uses of birth control protection in one tampon-sized unit. Simple and pleasant to use. The BECAUSE CONTRACEPTOR is so convenient it can always be available.

Can you trust it? Yes. BECAUSE Birth Control Foam contains a highly effective spermicide, thoroughly tested and researched. It does not work through your system, so it won't alter your hormone balance or significantly affect your body chemistry.

BECAUSE was developed in consultation with doctors and birth control clinics to help you prevent unwanted pregnancy.

Available without prescription at drug counters and pharmacies. Suggested retail price $1.89. If you don't see it, ask for it.

The Because® Contraceptor™ a remarkable birth control invention containing six uses of medically tested and recommended birth control protection in one contraceptive unit. Nothing else is needed just Because.

Fem chem group taking applications for memberships

Iota Sigma Pi, the national honorary organization for women in chemistry, is now accepting applications for membership. All female students in chemistry and allied fields such as biology, biophysical sciences, mathematics, physics, pharmacy, geology and engineering are invited to apply for membership in the organization.

The qualifications for membership are a minimum of 16 credit hours in chemistry, a GPA of 3.0 in chemistry and an overall GPA of 3.0.

Applicants who meet the qualifications will be initiated into the Neptunium Chapter on the UH campus.

Applications may be picked up at the chemistry department office, room 138, Fleming Building. Last day for applying will be Oct. 24.

Symposium set

Pres. Philip G. Hoffman has invited a number of members of Congress, the White House staff and various federal agencies to participate in a symposium, the "Limits to Growth '75" conference, scheduled for Oct. 19 to 21 in The Woodlands, near Houston.

Hoffman's letter stressed the need for international debate on policies which would hamper "growth patterns that appear to have ominous characteristics." He urged them to attend and contribute to the scheduled debate forums.

Guest speakers of international stature include Dr. Jonas Salk, developer of the polio vaccine; U.S. Senators Jacob Javits (R-New York), John C. Culver (D-Iowa) and Mike Gravel (D-Alaska); Canadian Senator Maurice La Managne; and Dennis Meadows, author.

North Sea oil future effects subject of joint conference

The vast oil reservoir beneath the North Sea, now ready to tap for world markets, will probably fuel Europe to free that continent from OPEC control, a UH scientist says.

"This is not to say the United States will get zero oil from the North Sea," Dr. William Prengle, chemical engineering professor, said. "In international trade, with tradeoffs and swapping, some North Sea oil will probably end up on the Eastern seaboard of the United States."

Prengle is one member of the Houston Academic-Industrial group of engineers and scientists who have just returned from a conference in Norway. The conference, titled "The Environmental Aspects of the Petrochemical and Light Refinery Industry," was a joint venture sponsored by the UH chemical engineering department and the Foundation of Scientific and Industrial Research at the University of Trondheim.

The conference was attended by people from Western Europe and the Scandinavian countries, and was motivated by the fact Norway will soon be receiving North Sea oil for processing and chemical manufacture for Western Europe.

As a result of this projected expansion of Norway's chemical industry, a number of environmental problems are anticipated. The conference was organized to exchange information on such matters with the Houston group and to anticipate problems which might develop. The conference generated substantial interest in U.S. experience and methods, as well as projecting what might be the best routes to take in order to avoid contamination and air pollution of the atmosphere and hydrosphere.

The North Sea continues to be the world's most active off-shore exploration area, Prengle said, and a number of countries are sharing in the development: Great Britain, Norway, Denmark, Germany and the Netherlands. Oil is projected to flow in two to three years and the price should drop from the current rate of $12 to $13 per barrel and then stabilize, Prengle added.

"Everybody follows suit until supply exceeds demand. Then the Mid-East oil producers won't be able to sell at their high prices. They'll have to turn the valve down or store and you can't do that (store) for long," Prengle said.
