Coogs close to Cotton, whip Horns

by t. edward bell

AUSTIN—As I peered out of the press box window prior to Saturday's UH-UT game I spotted some buffoon wearing an orange basegall cap with horns growing out of it. That's right...HORNS, for chrissake! Then I spotted another, and another. Suddenly the stadium was filled with people—grown men and women—wearing these stupid hats.

Following the final gun, which saw the Cougars squeeze past the Longhorns, 10-7, the hats quickly disappeared. But not the UH fans. They stormed the field and stayed there for an hour after game time wallowing in their victory, gloating as only a perennial-underdog Cougar fan can. Some merely stood and stared disbelievingly at the Fred Steinmark Memorial Scoreboard that adorns the south end of the plush UT stadium.

Despite the importance of the game, which was played before 83,053 fans, the largest crowd ever to see a sporting event in Texas, it was not exactly a textbook example of the way football should be played.

There were turnovers and missed assignments throughout the game, but the Cougars were the ones who capitalized on them most.

A two-yard touchdown run by Emmett King put the lid on the first Cougar score, capping a 57 yard scoring drive with a little less than 10 minutes left in the third quarter. King took a pitchout from quarterback Danny Davis after a beautiful fake by back Randy Love.

But the win actually came at the hands—or rather, foot—of junior cornerback-kicker Kenny Hatfield, who captured a fumble by UT freshman quarterback Donny Little on the UH 33. The Cougars then drove

by janet wells

The Student Publications Committee (SPC) elected Pat Schier, manager of the Student News Service, and Judith McGinnis to serve as chair and vice chair, respectively, on Friday and voted to hold a meeting at 4 p.m. today in the conference room of the Communication Building to discuss charges brought against The Daily Cougar Editor Lori Korleski.

At the request of Korleski, today's meeting will be open only to report the findings of the committee. The SPC will meet in executive session to hear testimony from Korleski and from Wayne Scott, the Publications business manager, who filed the five-count complaint.

Persons wishing to provide testimony or to speak on the charges must present a reasonable proposal to any SPC member before the meeting convenes.

SPC members are Schier, McGinnis, David

Toney, Phyllis Smith and Sheila Lidstone. Faculty and administrative advisers on the committee are Bob Heath, professor of speech; Tom Hudson, associate professor of physics; and Dr. Andrew J. Thacker.

Ex officio members of the committee are Scott, Audree Komorny, Korleski and Alicia Garcia.

The committee also discussed the upcoming applications for the job of Cougar spring editor. By a unanimous vote, the committee decided to begin accepting applications today.

Application forms may be picked up at the Student Publications business office in the Communication Building. Applications must be returned by Nov. 11, with the applicants appearing before the SPC on Dec. 4. SPC members will then select a new editor on the basis of their applications and answers to the committee's questions.

The Daily Cougar is the official student paper of the University of Houston Central Campus, 4800 Calhoun, Houston, Texas 77004. It is published Monday through Friday, September through April. Opinions expressed in this paper are those of the writer or cartoonist and do not necessarily reflect those of The Daily Cougar, the administration or anyone else on this campus for that matter. News, editorial—749-4141. Advertising—749-1212.

Art Fest photo made him chuckle

To the Editor:

I read the Daily Cougar issue containing the spread on the Westheimer Colony Fall Arts Festival. I was impressed by the accurate description of the goings on there, i.e., the suburbanites come to see the weirdos and the weirdos come to out weird one another. Then I noticed the picture of the young man exposing himself. It caused me to chuckle and simultaneously think how appropriate the picture was to the words.

Yes, I chuckle while others chide; clearly an example of the proclivity of individuals to view the exact same phenomenon differently. Yet who among us is qualified to determine with ultimate authority and complete correctness the wrong or the right in this issue. While I concede that God is qualified, I think He is reserving His judgment until the very last day.

Meanwhile there are men and women attempting to decide wrong and right; people like Barry Munitz, Chancellor; Campbell B. Titchener, chair of the Publications Committee; Wayne Scott, manager of Student Publications; as well as a plethora of students and maybe even Geneva Kirk Brooks.

All I hope and pray is that Ms. Lori Korleski, editor, is not punished for or held responsible for the manner in which one, two, or 10,000 choose to perceive a photograph.

No one-sided picture for her

To the editor:

Hip, hip, hooray for the student who wrote the article "Sex is problem" (Nov. 9). I like what he wrote: "if we see a world in the news we don't like, we should change that world, not the news showing it." Now if we all do our part in our own place, that is, the place where we are living (i.e. the world) my city (Houston) might be a little better off.

Phil Marcus took a photo (printed Oct. 24 in The Daily Cougar) of something real, someone doing something way out to get attention. Maybe because hellos and smiles don't get attention anymore.

No, it is not a very nice picture. It shows something happening in this city that causes people not to behave in a very nice way.

I don't want a one-sided picture. Photographer Phil Marcus, you keep taking pictures that show me what's going on in my city: the good, the bad, the happy and the sad. I might be shocked and angered, but at least I know the whole picture—the real world.

Depraved ideas

To the Editor:

I am also one of those people who was disappointed and disgusted by the photograph of the man exposing himself which was printed in the Oct. 24 issue of the Daily Cougar. I did not become angry enough, however, to put my feelings down on paper until I saw the Oct. 31 issue of the Daily Cougar.

Even if it was Halloween, I felt that the majority of the "articles" were in very poor taste. I was especially offended by the "cartoon" depicting the barbeque of Shasta. It would maybe be appropriate if it were a "Longhorn", "Razorback", "Bear" or "Horned Frog" being roasted, but not our Shasta. To me, that showed a total lack of any school spirit.

The "Name Droppings" by Myra Bidet (T. Edward Bell) was disgusting. I see no humor at all in that article. In fact, there was no humor in any of those articles.

As a former UH student, and now a staff member, I am saddened by the "journalism" being printed as the Daily Cougar. It is no longer a student newspaper, reflecting student views. There seems to be a select few writers who are making the paper a place to vent their depraved ideas.

I am personally tired of reading such trash. I think that action should be taken against the editor and managing editors immediately. The Daily Cougar no longer is representative of our university. These people lack pride in our university, and I resent this. I feel that they should no longer be allowed to be the voice of this campus.

Cowardly act spurs disgust

To the Editor:

I can only feel disgusted by the cowardly disavowal of its approval by the "Houstonian" staff in the Nov. 7 edition of the Cougar. Only an idiot would connect the controversy over inclusion of nudes in the 1978 "Houstonian" with the photograph published in the now infamous Oct. 24 edition of the Cougar and view it as a plot by the two publications to "GET A NUDE IN PRINT."

Has the paranoia over this trivial incident become so great that denials are necessary before accusations are made? If so, then an ugly, dangerous climate is forming, one in which student publications will tread eggshells for constant fear of administrative censorship.

The "Houstonian" staff is setting a dangerous precedent with its "good children" facade. Rather than fearfully echo administrative sentiment, it should stand by its fellow publication and support, if not its actions, its rights.

Courage, spunk

To the Editor:

I don't know if you remember me. I was a co-worker of yours at the Chronicle in the summer of 1977.

I want to offer my support for you. By publishing that picture you were doing what every professional journalist should do—entertain the public. Every time I pick up copies of the dull, gray Houston Chronicle and Houston Post I wish they had even one reporter or editor with your courage and spunk. We readers need journalists like you to spice up our morbid reading material. Keep it up!

If there is anything I can do to help your cause, don't hesitate to call me. I'll do anything to help you. Don't let 'em get you down!

Roof endangers valuable presses

To the Editor:

I am taking lithography, a printing class in the Fine Arts Building. We use antique French presses that our instructor Mr. Horak owns. Part of the ceiling in Room 226 is coming down over one of the presses. When it rains, it leaks on the press, which is beginning to rust.

Mr. Horak has complained, but the roof has not been repaired yet. Please look into this.

Mr. Hoark, a master printer originally from Czechoslovakia, brought these presses and the stones that we print on with him from France. The presses are antiques and are almost priceless as far as historical value.

Resource Conference brings ideas together

by tai leung

The International Conference on Bio Resource for Development held in the Continuing Education Center ended Friday with some concluding remarks by three co-chairs and two Russian scientists.

"Bio resources make the world feel more hopeful than before as they provide the answer for equity on a global issue," said Harlan Cleveland, one of the co-chairs of the conference.

Cleveland, formerly a U.S. Ambassador to NATO and assistant secretary of state under President Kennedy, is the director of international affairs at the Aspen Institute for Humanistic Studies.

He said the main threat to world peace is from a global fairness revolution, which he says is a global rush for a better world.

"Two-thirds of the people have less than one-third of the goods and services," he said. "If we don't move toward equity, we will move toward war."

Co-Chair Alexander King, chair of the Board of Trustees for the International Federation of Institutes for Advanced Study (IFIAS) in Paris, said the conference was very rich in ideas.

He said many new ideas are still in a preliminary form. For instance, IFIAS is operating new projects in India, Israel and other places where both solar energy and new biological methods will be used to provide energy for remote villages.

Co-Chair J.R. Porter, Microbiology Professor at the University of Iowa and President-Elect of the International Microbiological Association, said as petroleum runs out, solar energy can be converted into biomass which could then be converted into biogas upon fermentation by micro-organisms.

He also said another idea is to convert carbohydrate into protein food on a large scale in the future if the latter becomes scarce.

Russian representatives at the conference were I.V. Berezin, dean of the department of chemistry at Moscow State University, and K.A. Kalunianta, director of the All-Union Research Bio-Technical Institute.

Berezin said that the conference was quite a success and that the ideology of systematic approach was being executed.

He praised the idea of bringing together politicians, sociologists and scientists from different fields to discuss the problems of global interest.

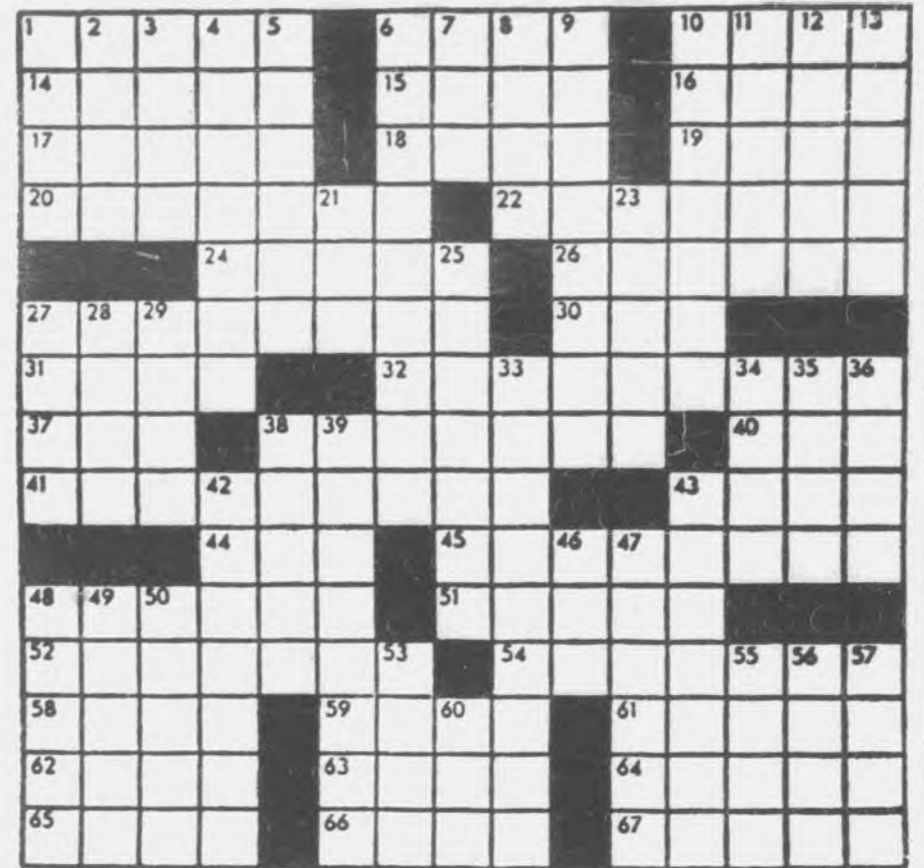

Kalunianta said the conference was well-organized and gave the scientists a kind of new outlook on the commitment between science, technology and people.

Their current interests are in the study of bio-electrical processes, such as the enzymatic reaction on the surface of electrodes to generate electrical energy.

Owls lose again, Frogs too

In other Southwest Conference action Saturday, Arkansas kept its bowl hopes alive with a 27-14 victory over Baylor while SMU buried Rice 58-0 and Texas Tech edged TCU 27-17.

Representatives of seven bowls watched Arkansas roll up a 27-0 lead before Baylor could get its passing attack rolling in the fourth quarter and produce two touchdowns.

The Hogs, who amassed 363 yards in total offense, were aided by eight Bear turnovers but kept the game close with five miscues of their own.

Asked if he had any explanation for his team's mistakes, the Bears' head coach said, "Don't ask me, I just work here. This is most baffling and frustrating. I never had a more frustrating year in my life."

Arkansas pushed its record to 6-2 with the win while Baylor's mark fell to 2-7, which includes five losses by a total of only 22 points.

"We're 6-2," said Hog Coach Lou Holtz. "That means a winning season. That's what we came here for. The polls and bowls will take care of themselves. It's like getting married if you are a girl. You get all prettied up and wait for someone to invite you."

Rumors have been circulating that this will be Holtz' last season at Arkansas. Speculation has it that Holtz could be heading to Ohio State to replace Woody Hayes, who is under some pressure to retire after this season because of his age.

The SMU-Rice game was billed as a passing duel between the top two passers in the SWC, Mike Ford and Randy Hertel. Ford lived up to his reputation by completing 18 of 29 passes for 315 yards and two touchdowns. However, Hertel managed to connect on only 8 of 17 passes for a meager 55 yards.

SMU, noted for its passing attack, also gained 272 yards on the ground while rolling up a school record 624 yards total offense against the hapless Owls.

"We made every mistake in the book," said Rice Coach Ray Alborn after the massacre. "I take full responsibility. It was my fault."

Emanuel Tolbert, the Mustangs' gifted receiver, caught seven passes for 179 yards, the same amount of real estate that the entire Owl team managed on a bleak day at Rice Stadium.

Finally, in a game meaningful to only players and alumni of the two schools, Texas Tech overcame TCU behind the bruising runs of James Hadnot 27-17.

Hadnot, the leading rusher in the SWC, gained 164 yards to push his season total to 1,025 yards, becoming the first back in the SWC to reach the 1,000 yard plateau this fall.

Hadnot is also only 41 yards shy of the Tech single-season rushing record set by Doug McCutcheon.

The win moved Tech into a tie for third place in the SWC with a 3-2 mark. TCU now needs only one more loss to clinch a tie for the SWC cellar this year and will probably get it in their game against Texas next Saturday.

down to the Longhorn 17. With one second remaining in the third period Hatfield came back on to boot a 33-yard field goal. That kick turned out to be the deciding factor of the game.

The victory over the sixth-ranked Longhorns almost assures the Cougars of their second Cotton Bowl appearance in their first three years in the Southwest Conference. They are now 6-0 in conference play and 8-1 overall, ranked eighth in both UPI and AP polls. The Cougars still have Texas Tech and Rice remaining on their schedule.

The first half of the game was scoreless and, like most of the game, a brutal defensive battle, with neither team getting near scoring range.

The UT scoring drive came on their first possession after Hatfield's fateful field goal. Little, who came in to replace starting quarterback Randy McEachern, engineered the drive from the UH 18, and drove the Longhorns 82 yards in four minutes, 22 seconds.

Little hit tight end Lawrence Sampleton with a 29-yard pass to put the Horns on the UH one. Running back A.J. "Jam" Jones then tacked on the six points going over the left side for the score.

Davis threw what could have been a disastrous interception when a pass intended for Garrett Jurgajtis fell into the hands of UT defensive back Ricky Churchman in the endzone. The resulting Longhorn drive sputtered, however, with 2:18 left to play.

The Cougars had one more possession before punting back to the Longhorns with half a minute remaining. The UH defensive secondary and line hounded Little relentlessly and the final Longhorn drive went nowhere.

Cougar defensive linemen Leonard Mitchell, Hosea Taylor and Grady Ebensberger showed their distaste for opposing offensive players by holding the Longhorns close to midfield most of the day.

Maybe it was just those dumb-looking caps with the horns that seemed to irk the Cougars so badly. Whatever fire drove them, they must now stop "Thinking Cotton" and start thinking "Winning Cotton."

Would you help this kid?

When the dam broke at Buffalo Creek, West Virginia, a lot of people weren't as lucky as this little guy.

Jamie and the rest of the Mosley family made it up the hill just in the nick of time. Seconds later, a wall of water swept all their earthly possessions away.

Here you see Jamie in the Red Cross shelter, thinking it all over.

One look at that face, and we're awfully glad we were there to help.

Every year, you know, Red Cross touches the lives of millions upon millions of Americans. Rich. Poor. Average. Black. White. Christian and Jew. With support. With comfort. With a helping hand when they need it.

So when you open your heart, with your time or your money, you can be certain it's in the right place.

Mules laden with Blue Maguey pinas on their way to Cuervo's La Rojena plant.

Since 1795 we've gathered our Blue Magueys for Cuervo Gold the gentle way.

It's the old way. And still the best.

At Cuervo we know that there is only one way to make Cuervo Gold perfect. The way we've been doing it for more than 180 years.

That's why people still nurture our fields of Blue Maguey plants. And why mules are still used to bring these precious plants to our distillery. For tradition is still the most important ingredient in Cuervo Gold.

This is what makes Cuervo Gold truly special. Neat, on the rocks, with a splash of soda, in a perfect Sunrise or Margarita, Cuervo Gold will bring you back to a time when quality ruled the world.

Cuervo. The Gold standard since 1795.

Dallas College helps nearly blind students

by fran rice

Three students and their professor made a special trip from Mountain View College (MVC) in Dallas to UH to present over $300 to Rosma and Flor de Maria, who are nearly blind from a hereditary disease.

The sisters from Guatemala received the money from Ralph Hughes, vice president of the National Honor Society; Susan Laruer, business major; Claudria Bryan, P.E. major and president of the MVC Student Council; and Dr. Jeff Grimes, MVC English professor. The ceremony was conducted in the Student Life Building last Tuesday.

Grimes learned about the girls through Carlos Monsanto, associate professor of Spanish and other languages, and through an article published in the Cougar last year.

The students were planning a benefit dance and were trying to find someone who was in need of the proceeds. After viewing slides and hearing about Rosma and Flor, they decided to use the money to help them.
